They came from far and wide; from lands as distant as Mexico and as close as Weston, Mass. Fifteen young boys descended on the Realm not knowing what was in store for them. Together with the PJ staff, those fifteen prepared to take Robin Hood by storm as the Polite, Jovial, Perfect, Jolly, Pager-Jugglers of 1992.

Hey, PJ´s, do you remember the first day? Unpacking everything...meeting all the counselors...the last arrivals--Jose, Jorge, and Oscar waking everyone up...going to orientation...seeing all the activities and meeting all the staff...eleven kids swim their 16 laps with Uzay, and Corky swims with them...feeding grass to the horses...finding out the red and white riding groups...the night at the Outpost...telling stories...Andy´s golf cart...falling rocks...riddles.. tinfoil dinners...are these stories true?...eating all the candy...adding Steve Randle to our list of Steves...how many are there?

Remember all our activities...Jose, Adam, Oscar, Michael, Jeff, and John kayak all the way to the island...crafts with Diane--David makes a teddy bear...Paul, Adam, Jose, Matt L., Michael, and Brad pass the swimming test with John at SCUBA...Woodshop with Tom--the electric sander...the PJ´s definitely love their target sports...archery with Bob and Steve (another one) and especially riflery with the Big Bear, Steve Barndt...Matt R. already has a head start in riflery...everyone loves tennis, since we have our own tennis counselor (Woody) in the bunk...does everyone love waterfront as much?...the tennis ladder, with Jeff and David #1...all the challenge matches...softball and kickball on the Homerun Diamond...why can´t the counselors hit the trees?...all the PJ special activities...bocce, wiffleball, t-golf, spud...waterfights (NOT), pillow fights (NOT)...making plaster casts with Joan in ceramics... waterskiing with Greg and Michelle... everyone wants to go on the boom...Dane is the first to get up on two skis...GOOD JOB!

Remember when the PJ´s went out of camp...Major Mt. Major with Drew leading us up...Jeremy carrying the pack up the entire way...SLawson carrying everyone´s water...eating lunch at the top...where´s Matt Rosenfeld?...then climbing Mt. Willard....Drew leading us up a wet path...Jeremy staying at the bottom with David the whole time...Ben and Corky miss the hike with a day off--AGAIN!....dinner at McDonalds...our day at Ogunquit Beach...renting boogie boards...the water is SO COLD...shopping on the boardwalk...get as much candy as you want, but it´s not going on the bus..hourly check-ins...going to the circus with the Jesters...everybody buys popcorn and snow cones... Bucky the Clown...singing on the bus ride home...Do you know how to Gigolo?...I said a boom-chicka-boom... going to Yankee Smokehouse for iœ cream...meeting the Bows...which group has a better count-off?...finally, the long-awaited trip to Pizza Barn...eating ALL the pizza...Corky and Benjy playing pool...playing video games...Benjy talking to all the waitresses.

Remember...the earthquakes...Oscar´s bed on the ping-pong table, Brad´s bed across David´s, Matt L. into Derbyshire...all the PJ injuries...our basketball games against Winaukee...our fun playday at West End...toy airplanes...how the PJ´s were the first group off the tower...Woody, Oscar, and Jorge in the sailboat, and Woody´s sailing lesson...Chris and Brad talking in their sleep...when Steve Lawson left--WE´ll MISS YOU!...making a card for Steve...Surprise! SLawson´s back!...bangy, bangy, bangy; stabby, stabby, stabby....everything we couldn´t touch...Benjy´s juggling equipment, Corky´s hats, Jeremy´s CD player (WHO LEFT THE SPEAKERS ON?)..."Rosenfitness" and "Irlando Magic"...the Junior Camp Sports League...our Founder´s Day gift--the new Jr. Camp horseshoe pits... our skit for Chuck D. on Founder´s Day...all the PJ´s first-year water bottles.

Remember Green and White...when´s it going to break?...all those awful fake breaks...finally, Turbo the Magnificent really breaks it...Green and White confetti everywhere...David and Todd as captains, Brad and Adam as co-captains...doing the events with the Jesters...very close contest, like the 1-0 soccer game and the final dodgeball game...late nights for the staff...waking early for song practice.. the score is dead even after two days...but in the end, it´s Green 2224, White 2096...everyone together at the end, and one group again...good job, everybody!

Then we went on excursion...uh-oh, the bus won't start...packing the bus and the car...finally we leave...our unscheduled stop in Plymouth, NH..on to Polar Caves...going through the Lemon Squeeze and the Orange Crush...everyone buys cap guns...lunch on the bus...three hours of fun at Whale's Tale...where's Michael Squires?...the long drive to the campground... where's the gas station?...making a fire and cooking steaks...careful with that knife, Jeremy...finally, a well-deserved night of sleep...Day 2...Corky and Benjy bring in donuts...packing up the tents and moving out...the play ground in North Conway...then on to Attitash...great weather for once this summer...the long waits for the Alpine Slide...after that we headed to Fun Factory...the staff pool championship...another water slide for Michael and Matt...on to the mall and McDonalds...back to camp to change and get ready for "Honey, I Blew Up the Kid"...what a great time!

Remember the hammocks...the chipmunk trap...chocolate chip cookies in the mail...the PJ NEWS...the Super Soakersand water balloons...letter-writing days...our team activities on Parents' Weekend...softball on the faraway diamond, newcomb on the Junior Camp court...the number nine target at archery...Mr. soda can and Mr. water balloon...why can't we have hockey again, Corky?...Steve's gun magazines...Ben's three cubbies...Jeremy's alarm clock...David E.'s unused shelves...Is Woody squeegying the courts again?...sleeping bags and comforters...Mr. Poker Face...Todd's dart board...the ping-pong tournaments...checking hands and blowing out the candle...the mini basketball...rope swings... moccasins...the medicine table at breakfast...the fireplace after dinner.

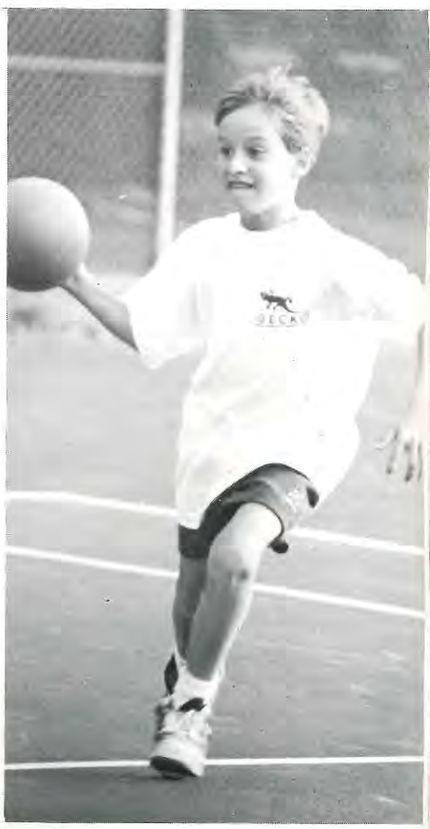

Remember when it wasn't cold at night...when the PJ's weren't playing Gameboy or Gamegear or poker...when Jose and Oscar weren't at photo...when Dane wasn't helping out...when Paul had a clean shirt on...when David and Todd weren't talking to the girls...when Chris and Michael got along...when Adam wanted to take a shower...when Matt L.'s area was clean...when Jorge and Brad weren't excelling at sports...when Matt R. missed a period at riflery...when Jeff wasn't tired...when John didn't want to go riding...when Jeremy wasn't umping or reffing or talking to the Scribes...when Steve Lawson wasn't fixing something...when Benjy didn't go to Pizza Barn...when Corky didn't wear a hat...when Woody or David E. could come to activities...when Jeff Sellman wasn't surrounded by campers...when the PJ's raised the flag instead of the Jesters...when the PJ's were first in the cereal line...WE DON'T!!!

Remember packing...having to get everything checked... getting everything down from the trunk rack... returning, trading and giving away clothes...packing up Peter, Bucky, Cal and Snoopy...the Awards Banquet.. Adam gets Inspection, Todd is Most Improved, Michael gets Service, Matt wins Fellowship, Dane gets Sportsmanship, and the biggie: Master Camper Todd Leebow.

Another summer has come to an end. It has been a year of firsts at Robin Hood: the first year of field hockey and volleyball as specialty activities, and the first year for group sportsmanship awards. Our faithful green truck got a new engine this summer, the rifle range got a new backstop, and the road that runs outside camp was finally resurfaced. It was also the first year for fourteen of our PJ's; the first of many years to come at Robin Hood, we hope. As you read this article in the spring of 1993, think back to all the wonderful times we had in the summer of 1992. Let us close now with a final thanks to Jeremy, to Ben and Corky, to Woody, David and Jeff; to Steve Lawson, Bob Kerr, Steve Barndt, Mark Webb, and Tom Boehm; to Liz and Dick, Joan and Diane, Mark Pitt, Michelle, Laurie, and Cara; to Uzay and to Drew Strauss and to everyone at Robin Hood who has made our first summer at camp so memorable. See you all in the summer of '93!

"The Herd, what's a Herd?" "Oh! You mean the Herd of Squarchers in 1992." "Yeah, how many were there?" "I don't know, I think 36." "THIRTY-SIX! No wonder you called them the Herd!" "Who were they, the short funny looking guys?" "No, they were a bunch of stylin' and profilin' dudes." "Let's see, there was Buffy, Lunk the Monkey, Jeff Smiley B., L.T., Drew-Vinnie, G, Davis, Dicker, Meatba...I mean Josh, Neb, Figgy-Stripper, Fekula, Brad Goofy, Ari G., Gabe-onator-alicious, Scot-tae, Lo-well, JAlex, Jaaaaaay, Din, Zach-Attack, Clue-Leaf, Noah-elf, Squeaks, Monkey, Matty, Slothy, Teddy, Sherman, Manuel-kay-yaking, Weiner, Willy, Wolfie, and Big Ben. Who was bold enough to run this Herd of animals? The A.G.L.--E.T., Coop, Gersh, Jabs, J.J., Bud, Ken Ken, Moskow, Mark, Steve Curly Kansas, and their G.L. Corbs."

Gentlemen, find yourself a comfortable chair, floor, or bed, situate yourself and prepare for a ride back in time to a wild summer where members of this Squarcher Herd roamed the Sherwood forest and ruled the Realm. Remember the 1st day, campers arriving from everywhere...California, Mexico Ceetee, Mass, Ohio, New York, New Jersey, Conn, New Hampshire, Wisconsin, and Texas. Alex arriving so early he helped the counselors set the bunks up. By nightfall we had the first 31 Squarchers, we introduced ourselves with a loud noise on the benches, said something about ourselves and we were off on our summer's adventure. Remember the first evening activity...a 20 on 20 soccer game.

Remember the next day of orientation with the signs to relieve our boredom ...the yawning sign and the laughing sign. Remember all the activities at the Realm, archery with Steve and Bub...all of the Squarchers are "stupid boys", remember using Lowell as a target...Wolfie said, "Bob, you'd get your picture on a dollar bill!"; remember Noah M. hitting the two arrows apart on the ground and taking all of Steve's money; crafts with Diane, making all the phenomenal projects, stuffed animals, bracelets, and copper etchings; ceramics/arts with Joan, and wood working with Tom; we all made a lot of projects individually as well as the bulletin board for Founder's day and the Key for Chuck's 25th; canoeing with Uch, drama with Mark, Polly, and Andrea; gymnastics with Laurie and Kasey - remember the flying leaps, trying to get over the big pads any way possible. Remember the softball games, the exciting hockey games, the football games, the SBA (Squarcher Basketball Association) World Championship games always coming down to a last second shot, remember the street wiffle ball game...with Wayne's World terminology..."Game on", "Car!", and "Plane". Remember learning how to play volleyball and combining it with newcomb. Remember the kickball games, the bocce games, croquet, frolf, and the many kayak adventures in Lake Ossippee. Remember playing baseball with Sez, playing 500, and using the pitching machine, basketball with Coach Paul and getting all new nicknames, learning how to shoot and pass, playing perfectly, soccer with Steve and Becca, playing World Cup and all-out games, remember the waterfront with Uzay, Gez, David, Vy, and Chris... it was almost always first period in the morning, when it was freeeeeezing! Remember the great time we always had at lacrosse with Steve and Becca...doing the butt drill, playing field-hockey with Kim, and getting our ankles bashed in the thick of it, going to photo and news with Dick and Liz Knight, riding with Mark, John, Ali, and Greg and occasionally falling off the saddles, or getting stepped on, riflery with Steve and J.J., there are some serious shooters in the Squarchers; some even made it past bar 4. Remember all the times we were down at sailing with Cara, Andy, and Gersh, capsizing and learning how to rig the boats, all the main lake sailing trips, SCUBA with John, Kasey, and Justin - most of the Squarchers were able to snorkel and some could even SCUBA by the end of the summer...remember tennis with Nads, Woody, Shandra, Andy, and Sandra, the great matches and the ultra-competitive BIJC tournament, runner-up Willy, and Champ Ari. Water-skiing with Michelle and Greg, all Squarchers that tried got up on two skis; remember the knee board and going vertical on the tube on rough days.

Remember all our wild evening activities, Capture the Flag in Junior Camp...the Junior Camp sports league... softball, newcomb, Faseball, kickball, the relay races, the rough and tough team-handball games in the rain, remember warming up with "Squarcher-HIT IT!"... gittin' dirty and wet...rolling in it, playing the Yeoman and tying them 0-0, Remember British bulldogs - Ho!!, Ringolevio, water football, water bombardment, Giants- Wizards -Elves...remember the counselor hunts, the all-camp counselor hunt, and the camper hunt at the end of the summer, ultimate frisbee, bombardment games-beating the Yeoman, all the girls that challenged us, remember Gay ball, remember watching movies...The Little Mermaid, City Slickers... Helleeoou!, Hoosiers, Vision Quest, and Star Wars.

Remember the three sardine monkeys sleeping in Alex's bed...Alex, Jarett, and Gabe..Remember Hey, Squarchers --Golf clap?--Golf clap...Sobes, we have frolf, basketball, kayaking and rocketry--"ROCKETRY"-- not... Remember when Dicker was on the benches first, we don't..."Morgan, look at all those women out there and there are no Squarchers"--careful not to kick the door in to your face!...Remember Figgy and Zach's cheese-cake faces...the funeral for Jaws.

Remember the outpost with Steve, making our own dinners in foil, going sorta skinny dipping, eating s'mores and listening to stories--the Red Dot Story--coincidence that it happened to fall in 1992 ten years after the last murder, no one was scared--especially Ari--"Josh, get over here"--"Could you walk us to our tent", Abuaf--harry man, telling jokes--a biiig Rat with a...Drew's $25.00 duck, Stephen Davis's half-shoot and full-shoot story, Lowell, the human freckle.

Remember back at camp we had a soft cheek contest with the winner Luke Andrews, when the Bows sang to E.T.'s bunk...Remember our Squarcher couples for the year: JAlex + Gallex?, Jarett + Brooke, Gabe + Din?, Ari + Jessica, Lowell + his book?, Dicker + Corey?, Josh + Noel?, Abuaf + Erin?, Alex R. + Alicia, Din + Amy, Ari + Liz, Alex F. + Noel, G + Gabby, Steve + Beth, Scotty + Cora, Sobes + Drums + space...Remember Squarchers on the Wenches!...Dicker telling Kenny--"You dirty Dog!"...Luke, the monkey faced Squarcher...Remember the mountain trips to The CAT!--Wildcat Ridge--with Steve and Drew--Squarchers are too sexy for the CAT--Fekula saying "GO on without me", the beaver lake, the great view from the top, the Gondola ride down, and then to MCD's for eats...Remember weight-lifting Drew...Stephen Davis saying--"you have to go to the Vineyard"...Remember when Leaf wasn't wearing his red Izod--we don't...Noah "massage" Myers...the four red dot victims--survived...Kenny and Peter's intense Spit-card game-competition.

Remember all the playdays, the 10 and 11 Under days at Winnaukee and at home--RO RA REE...Remember when David Leaf asked Jabs if he was related to Jeff Jablow...Remember when Weiner got up quickly in the morning--we don't...Remember Teddy's wire and can antenna/contraption...Remember the Guns and Roses club--headed by Friedman...when Drew beat Jabs in swimming...Remember Buffy's hair competition... Remember the ice cream trips--Sobes's comedy on the vehicles...the arrival of our second foreign camper--Eduardo...Remember Manuel wanting to go Kay-yakking.

Remember the trip to Ogunquit Beach, Mauwing on candy and seafood, the songs on the bus--I put my hand upon...Ya Ho!, Gimmie a B, The Ants go Marching, From the East to the West--Squarchers are the Best! Swimming in the cold-d-d-d water, and playing beach volleyball.

Remember Going to the Movies--Batman 2, A League of Their Own--they mentioned Wichita where Randle is from--all right! or Sister ActRemember Sobes's Late Night Comedy in the bunk--Excuse me has anybody seen my Flo--Your What?--My FFFLLLOOO!!--the strange looking "balloon" puppets...Remember Ari's late night tennis match...Zach's late night B-Ball..Alex R's late night playday...Remember singing in the bunk with Mark...Buffy's Magazines and other EDUCATIONAL reading material...Josh Weiner's graceful night at the benches with the girls when he fell three times...Remember the Baumgardner permagrin...the time Figgy became Stripper...Remember the brave Squarchers who attacked Mt. Washington--the scary stories at night told by Drew Strauss.

At the fourth week our last campers arrived--Garrett, Nickey and Jay...Remember Camp Encore Coda--Head bangin' and flying our long hair in the air--Kenny, Jarett, and Alex F., Leaf--Jabs, you got a haircut--No, it was a lawnmower--really!...Ben-Your dad owns BlockBuster--no, just 65!...no one likes a tattle tale...Matt Nayor, why'd you miss 12 + under Baseball--I was riding!...Weiner developing E.T.'s film...Midnights with George Jetson + Teddy?... Remember when Morgan wasn't hurting himself--WE DON'T.

Remember jumping off the tower--nice butt, Wolfie... remember strip newcomb...watching the NBA all-star flick...How ya doin', Zach---I'm Pooped!...Eduardo, what are you doing--Peter say OK!--not!..."Can I make you a question?"...Remember Annie--Noah S. and Din as Cops who saved the day, Gersh was a commercial actor--SMILE...Weiner on spot and violin, JJ on trumpet, Wolfie on sound, Squeeks and Adam R on Lights, and of course a great job directing the show by Mark Pitt.

Remember seeing all our parents on visiting day--playing soccer, team handball, hockey, basketball and tennis with our parents watching and sometimes playing...Remember the rocket-launching by Sobes and Drew...The great Mother, Father, Brother, Sister, Grandparents, camper, and counselor softball games...Remember Wolfie's father knocking over Ben Z...Steve's look-alike Dad...Drew Cox--the man with the round head..."So you're the guy that slept with my son"...Remember Friday night pajama jump...Weenie Roll...GaJAlex--fear of water...Sobes's Flo jump... Jeff's two Championship style bellyflops off the tower that will go down as the bravest jumps in the history of the Realm...the arrival of our 36th camper, an unexpected and pleasant addition to the Herd--Scot-tae...Remember the all-camp Sock Hop Social...remember the sad departure of our four-weekers--We missed you!

On Sunday night we had our candy campfire---eating all kings--talking about the rest of the summer--Green and White, Excursion and Superstars--What's that?--Lowell, "I hope it's with the mind!"...stating our goals for the rest of the summer...Back to our regular schedule and Green and White fever is HOT!...Remember playing frolf with Jabs and playing the Island HOLE...All right, the Squarchers are in trouble--We're going to talk to JOHN KLEIN--be clean, quiet, wear RH shirts and act civilized...'cause we're off to Pizza Barn...Remember the 10 and under playday where we kicked Winnaukee's butt away--Eduardo given his knick-name--L.T. for a tough game in the soccer goal-and in the field G and Ari both played a great game...Remember Weiner's haircut...Josh, you think too much--contemplation until complication...the newly shifted bunk arrangements--Kenny's shrine, Moskow's suite, and Jabs's adobe...the new couches and large spaces in the bunks...Remember the all-camp giant obstacle relay--making beds, counting flags, and all sorts of crazy obstacles to overcome...Remember the talent show--Weiner played the Violin...Corbs played in a band...and finally Drew Strauss as a magician breaks Green and White with an explosion--Captain for the Green team Gabe with Zach as his Co, and Noah with Willy as his Co for the White team...Remember the intense softball game that went into extra innings--great defense by Din, Ari, Alex R., great catch in the outfield by Josh E...game winning RBI hit by Monkey, and scored by Weiner...remember the glory stories... Buffy turned animal during Green and White...Garrett playing frolf for the 1st time and winning...Remember Scotty's awesome singing voice while practicing for song night...Adam Rothschild's amazing photography job.. the great hoops game played by Ari and G...the Junior camp speeches by Weiner and Lowell--Great job, guys... the Junior camp skits--LT as Pinocchio... remember the silent meals...singing our songs on Song Night and the announcement of the score...the Green team ended up victorious but every Squarcher showed great sportsmanship and gave it their all on both teams...Remember putting your GL's bed on the dock after his team won.

Two daysafter Green and White we took off on our unknown adventure with two vans and a car...Remember the beginning of the excursion--leave from the coast of Portland on a boat...seeing the sights on the water--the big military ships...the sail boats...the legendary stories told by the Captain...getting to Eagle Island, the old summer home of Admiral Perry...remember walking the trails of the island and eating raspberries...finding shells...rock climbing with JJ, Willy, and Corbs..."Don't spend all your money on chips and soda's!"...going to the campsite--"GET FIREWOOD--MORE!"...eating steak, beans, and corn with John Klein...playing hoops...video games...going swimming...going for Ice Cream at night...going to Old Orchard Boardwalk and Playland in the rain---playing all the video games with experts such as Adam...playing skee ball...trying to win prizes and losing all our money...what about the shirts?...going on all the rides--the bumper cars...the ROTOR...all the junk food...watching ET hit off a slippery pitching machine...Moskow's mysterious cold...Jabs couldn't miss in hoops...going on the rides with Randle and getting sick..."LT, you won a prize"-yeah, after spending 10 bucks on it...back to the campsite--having a fire---"no ghost stories"--not...remember the s'mores and stories...the next morning eating inside the lodge and going to Aquaboggan Water Park--the suislide, the yankee ripper, the twisting ones that we did for speed...the staff skins game...the wave pool.. bumping into the Jesters...going to Athletes Outlet and buying hats, shirts, and sweatshirts...eating at MickeyD's and then going to the Movies--A League of Their Own or Honey I Blew Up The Kids (a classic)... and finally back to camp singing the whole way.

Back at camp it is back to regular activities but Superstar Fever is in the air...Remember Kenny's strike a pose--strike a pregnant llama in heat with a tower--Eduardo's belly flop and our brave and now sterile Lowell splitting the lane line naked... Remember the Junior Camp Social--everyone danced... Wolfie-the dancin' fool-"This is the best day of my life"...Cora a little ahead of Scot-tae...Lowell dancin' with Cori...Ari and Alex and their dates disappear and almost got nailed.

Remember the superstar break---counselors go inside 'cause group is loud and come busting out of the bunks with bottle-rockets and fire crackers--the four teams Orange, Blue, Yellow, and Red--captains Jabs, ET, Moskow, and JJ--remember the waterballoon newcomb game with great serves by Lowell and good catching by Alex R. and Ari...Remember the cheering on the benches for points...Remember the camper and staff jello eating... the pie eating...the rootbeer chug with Abuaf champ... making the hats or faking the hats...writing the songs...WHO'S a Highway...the winners--Yellow 'cause of their great song...eating pizza and talking about the summer and the memories...Zach--hair club for boys...the muppet babies of '92 Kermit, Fozzie, Animal...Gabe's superdog and snuflelufagus...Remember watching Les Miserables--it was awesome, great singing and acting by Scotty---it came out great, your voice didn't crack...acting also by Bob and piano and drums by JJ and Mark, the technical crew once again did a flawless job...remember our last football and soccer games, they were amazing...it rained the last day so we saw Star Wars...Remember the banquet and all the Squarchers who won awards in all the activities...and the group awards--Master--Gabe with H.M. Wolfie, Fellowship--Zach with H.M. Jeff Baumgardner, Service--Wolfie, Most Improved Abuaf and Inspection--Jay and Steve...Congrats to all of you!

There is one more award that must be mentioned: this summer was my best summer at camp and it wouldn't have been possible if not for the great Squarcher staff. ET, Coop, Gersh, Jabs, JJ, Bob, Kenny, Moskow, Mark and Steve, I am forever in debt to you all. Thank you very much for a great summer and please, both campers and staff keep in touch during the year and I'll see you boys back at camp next summer as Yeomen!

By the time the 26 Yeomen of '92 read this article you will probably already be thinking ahead to the upcoming '93 season at the Realm and may have forgotten about all the laughter, tears, smiles, memories, and fun we all shared together as Yeomen of '92. Your staff forsaw this problem and rectified the situation by logging all the memories that made our group so special to each and every one of us. So here it goes.....

It all started with Josh Bailey, #1 on the count-off. Remember his toe surgery...his clean area, not...his Gameboy...and finally his candy stash...Burk, who never gave the staff a hard time, we don't...running over three Squarchers in capture the flag in less than one second...Danny and his clock...his great smile...Jesse's blue eyes...flirting with the Scribes...freezing in the lake water...Singer, QB in football...making the semi-finals in homerun... Robert Squires and the troll!...gymnastics...Gun's & Roses...Ziman and his obsession with candy...trying to get him to go to sleep...Jaffe & his hair...Leonard and Jeff Squires getting into trouble, we don't... Zach's constant smile...Kirschenbaum being mischievous...teaming up with Spitzer and Becker... learning how to make bracelets...Charlie's clean bunk area, not!...his knee going out in football...his great hit in a baseball game...Bonito and his movies.. Bonito sleep talking and asking John two questions... Jacobstein and his coordination...sitting on his glasses...Brian Hochman and his sensitive nose...his clean bunk area...his broken braces...making the finals in senior softball...Becker's 16 laps...Brett's tennis racket... ant lines under the bunk with Josh... teaming up with Spitzer and Kirschenbaum...Shear playing cricket...wearing every piece of SCUBA equipment the camp owns when diving...his poor British accent...Josh Stein-Sapir and his constant smile... Spitzer not getting into trouble, we don't!...not teaming up with Becker and Kirschenbaum...Jake Hochman gaining 15 pounds in one summer!...presenting good sportsmanship, not!...Hess doing his 16 laps with Pelton next to him and his mother cheering from the dock, YAY!...Glick's optimistic personality and that great smile...Gralnek's incredible IQ...his acting career...Jesse's first dance...Jake's waterskiing accident...the first social...Brian, Jesse, and Hess dancing...Charlie's and Bonito's fort at the Outdoor Theatre...mudsliding with the Bows..."I Like Big Butt"..."U.B." and" Adrian"...mini-golf at Pirates Cove..."A League of Their Own"...everyone in tears... the "Hey" song...climbing up Webster Cliffs and sliding back down...watching movies in the staff den.. Bouncer meeting us at Ogunquit...eating lobster at Captain Munchies...Jordy cutting his hand with a lobster claw and laughing while Dolin faints...Banks' and Ziman's pillow fights...Peter Barrell, who??...

when the Foresters wake us up...our international softball games (The Haifa Heavy Hitters vs. the Italian Ferraris)...is Jordy coming back today???...a little delayed reaction there...SCHWANG!...strip team handball..."You, you're not so good!"..FREEZE!... intense football games...weenie and fruit fights at cookouts..."I just work here"...mini-horseshoes... playing "Let's Make a Deal"...Pelton's & Stefan's WICO dates..."Hi, I'm Stefan, and I attend Tufts" NOT!... watching the Olympics...Beetle's, Ratner's and Ziman's party...MJ getting sick....you will clean, and you will like it...Kirschenbaum's and Phil's dead fish... the Outpost... skinny dipping...listening to Charlie's Torah tape!..."Wayne's World"....when Goose's tongue got stuck...when Beetle, Burke, Bonito, and Kirschenbaum weren't playing Gamegear, we don't!.. Ratner getting upset, not!...

Remember during Green & White when Drew made the break with his chemistry set...electing Captains and Co's...congratulations MJ & Leonard, Singer & Charlie!...a sweep by the White Yeomen...the upset in soccer...going through hundreds of throat lozenges...Pelton as Counselor Co!...Brinberg sleeping for 5 days, and Pelton staying awake for 5 days...the banquet...making fun of Pelton's & JJ's musical ability...Phil's catch in softball...Gralnek's hit...Glick's domination in football...Green sweeping song night and eventually winning it all...the day of rest afterwards...

Remember...Excursion..Day 1...when we went to Funspot and Go Carts...Kirschenbaum leaving his wallet in the bunk...the bus breaking down...the exciting car race, not!...the wonderful weather...driving into the Army Base, OOPS!...Pelton asking if he can take a picture...setting up the green tents...swimming in the pool...steaks, beans, corn for dinner prepared by Chefs Pelton & Guy...ice cream...almost getting into a brawl at Dairy Queen...sleeping in the rain... Remember...Day 2...Pelton cooking breakfast in the rain...McD's (Part I)...Gold Medal Meals..."The Unforgiven"...nap time...saying goodbye to Gralnek... the mall...Leonard's & Goose's $1 hat...back to the campsite..setting up the Gazebo...sticky spaghetti and salad with John & Chuck...back to Robin Hood... Remember...Day 3...leaving again...Surf Coaster: waterslide and scamming for chicks, the "Boomerang," Charlie never leaving the snack bar, the pink and orange bikini...Polar Caves: "Come here so I can chop your head off," says Phil!...McD's (Part II): ordering for an hour...

A big thank you to all of the Yeomen of '92 for one heck of a summer. I hope to see each and everyone of you next year.
I Love You
Randy!!

"I love you, Yeomen, Oh yes, I do
I love you, Yeomen, I truly do,
And when you leave me, I'm blue
Oh, Yeomen, I LOVE YOU!!!"

Well, guys, as you read this, it´s spring and another summer is just around the corner. It seems so far away as I write this in mid-September, looking back on the group your staff wanted most, the LANCERS of ´92. We knew you guys were the best group in camp and you didn´t disappoint us. I could write a novel, but for now, let´s take a look at the highlight tapes from the best summer I´ve spent in the Realm.

Remember the first day, finding out who the staff is...Russ, how did you get all these guys...unpacking, roaming around camp, what girls are here? Leebow trying to rearrange bunks, Ari thinks not...Is there going to be a candy raid?...not enough plugs to go around, Brandon´s got one... Monkey gets to sleep next to Russ, if the shoes don´t get you, the snoring will. Big John has a corner and a cubby, for now. How did it happen that MD, Feiner, Hamburg, Brett, and the Little N ended up in the same bunk? We can only hope that the effects on Ari are only temporary. We had three new campers at first: Laz from New York, Matt from Jersey, and Strassbaby from Pittsburgh. Strassburger made himself right at home. Remember some verbal exchanges at the ping pong tables. It didn´t take long for this group to get down to business. No homesickness here, just 24 rowdy teenagers waiting to be loosed upon the Realm.

Favorite activities among the Lancers were crafts, ceramics, photo, and gymnastics. NOT! Try lacrosse, soccer, softball, football, sailing, canoeing, team handball, and riflery. The most athletic group in camp naturally spent lots of time on the athletic fields. Water activities were a great way to cool off after forty minutes of sports. Remember when Doug didn´t ski, when Shawn, Ari, & Richard weren´t at riflery, when Adam didn´t go to lax, or when Brett didn´t want to play football...we don´t. In addition to your strenuous efforts on the playing fields and in the water, you also found time to relax and enjoy the finest, I mean finer things in camp. Relationships with the girls developed quickly but at least some of the time Brett, Adam, Leebow, Toby, Aaron, and others had a creditable excuse for being late.

Bunk time was fun time. Remember water fights, roller blades on the porch, ping pong, and generally chasing one another in, out, around, and through the bunks. Remember when Marcus wasn´t playing Game Gear, when Wheels wasn´t running from Russ or Big John, when Russ beat Strassbaby in ping pong...we don´t...Remember when Leebow was #1 on the tennis ladder or when Toby wasn´t telling bad jokes...we don´t...Remember Don Juan...C´YA...Nads was head of tennis, didn´t get to spend a lot of time with us after that. Remember the first Sunday night...Todd Dery on patrol...I prefer the Louisville Slugger...Heard a bad joke lately, probably found on page 94 of Toby´s joke book... Remember Jason singing Kum-Ba-Yah at night, remember Jason saying many other things at night...Leebow and JJ were always asleep early, we can´t figure out how with Jason, Laz, & Marcus talking and Shawn yelling to shut up. Remember Danny and Monkey trying to get to sleep before Russ. They had it tough the first few nights, but got used to it. Remember Feiner and Strassburger´s "Yeah Booooy"... Golden´s evening serenades...how well our toilets worked...Lipsky and Russ spent the night with Jordan and Doug because they worked so well...Goulder, the toilet guru established the three-flush-rule...learn it, live it...Remember our evening pizza party...game shows for pizza on the porch (doesn´t Russ still owe)...Saxon soda runs... Remember Nadler´s arachnophobia, Mark Knopfler...I put the Christmas lights around the erector set, pretty clever, eh, little chum...Jordan´s spring water, Jason´s hats, and the Bar Mitzvah Boys of ´92, Danny, J.B., Shawn, and Scott. Of course Doug knows his stuff already. Remember the socials with Wicosuta... Strassburger on the dance floor...remember the Al Invitational Ping Pong Tournament...remember treading water for forty minutes at waterfront...basketball with Coach Paul..."If you don´t want to play for me.." Remember Stuart´s red pants and "Wuss"...

Remember our canoe trip to the main lake. It took forever to get over there. Stopped at the marina for about two hours so everyone could load up on necessary supplies. Leebow needed postcards...remember wading out about a half mile into the lake. Apple wars began shortly thereafter. Matt Dery fondly remembers his canoe expedition into the battle. If you didn´t want to get wet, Matt...the trip back went quickly, and a hot shower was a much desired luxury for aching arms. Remember the pajama jumps? Ari´s bunkmates had apparently warped him beyond repair. It can only be the music. What else (besides Feiner) could possess him to paint himself green and jump without proper swimming attire onto a rope? Ari´s still waiting to collect his prize.

Remember our trip to Winaukee...I don´t know what happened, but nothing went our way. We lost everything, but we still have fond recollections of Stuart playing soccer and basketball. A little closer to home, remember our team handball games...anything goes, including the ball over the fence and down the hill...Brett was vicious, Leebow was always quick to pass, Hamburg was just too quick...remember mud football, Russ scored a rushing touchdown. On the next series Goulder flattened him. Remember when Big John´s cubby went to Stuart...CUBBY C´YA!!...when Ari lost his glasses in the lake...GLASSES C´YA...at mini golf when Schildkrout hit his ball in the road...BALL C´YA (at least until he hopped the fence and got it)...the tennis ladder...LEEBOW C´YA...Hey Russ, where´s my mail...if it were up your nose (NOT) you´d know...Remember your comparisons of Lipsky to Eric Doppelt...Lipsky´s sodas and Bubble Tape (Russ ate six feet)...Remember Goulder´s letters from secret admirers (Becca)...where did all those panties come from anyway??? Remember M.D. and the Hounds that go Hoo (and some hairy guy named Freaky, some hairy chick, and the Little N´s older brother).

The summer seemed to go so fast. It didn´t seem like long before we said goodbye to the four-weekers - Scott, Andy, Matt, Jordan, JJ, Marcus, and Wheels. We welcomed back Josh and Evan though. Soon we would see Stuart go too, but for now, we had twenty. Green and White was just around the corner and anticipation was running high. Finally, it broke (thanks to Drew) and you guys were ready. Captains Big John and Brandon, Co´s Brett and Leebow. Russ a surprise pick for Counselor Co-captain. Green Lancers seemed dominant at first, but things began to even out. In all my years at Robin Hood, I´ve never seen as sportsmanlike a group during Color Wars. You guys complimented each other and didn´t gloat when you won. It was a close one, up till song night, it was anybody´s pick. Green finally wins...we needed a rest day.

Excursion came around soon enough. We got off to a late start..."By the waters...of our own bunk, we all missed excursion..." The weather and time cut us out of Aquaboggan so we went to that amusement park instead. We got to the campground after dark, but Steve Randle and company got us set up right away. After a steak dinner, great salad, and quick clean-up, it was off to L.L. Bean. Next day was the long-awaited fishing trip. Not only did everybody catch a fish, nobody got sick. Remember Dery caught the first fish to win half the pool...did you really win, Matt? Then Schildkrout kept adding fish every other minute.. Oh, I've got nine...Yeah, right...We got the lobsters off the dock and cooked up a scrumptious, if messy, lobster and steak dinner. The clean-up went well and we headed out to Ben & Jerry's. Next morning was off to Freeport...Remember Strassburgers green shoes and present from his sister...Sorry, Strass, no more cash...Leebow bought a jacket...we did hit the Athlete's Outlet after all...heading to Conway...We stopped to get Doug a wetsuit...Goulder yelling "Get back on this bus, who do you think you are, Doug Squires?"...lunch is served...in Conway we go to the Champion Outlet but it is lame...across the street to golf...At McDonald's, the group votes to ditch a movie with the Arrows so they can go to the Athlete's Outlet and the mall. This decision will be regretted by some. Finally we return to camp. Many of you said this was your best excursion yet. It was certainly mine. You guys helped out, didn't complain, and everything went like clockwork. Just like in Green and White, you guys showed us that you really were the best in the Realm.

All of a sudden, the summer was over. I had to leave so early that I didn't really get to say goodbye to most of you. I want you to know that I really loved spending this summer with you. I yelled sometimes and had to be a jerk sometimes when I really wished I could do and say exactly what you were. More than once I wished I were just a general counselor again, like our 1990 summer as Archers with Peter and Doug. At any rate, you had a good time and you certainly taught me a thing or two. I've had you twice and that's probably all I can hope for, but I'll see you soon when you return to the Realm as the Frenzied Friars of '93.

At this point, I'd like to stick in a few things that came to mind. Remember Monkey throwing Russ's hat off the bus..."Who's the biggest ____ in town...M-O-N-K-E-Y's ___"... Remember Marcus's ferret on visiting day, Let's make a Deal...when Uch wasn't wrestling...when Goulder wasn't flexing...when Brandon was white...we don't. Remember JJ getting mad because nobody wanted to play softball...Kovler and Laz duking it out...Ari "reading" Jason's "Magazine"...the candy raid and the snatching of the pillowcase...Andy Freedman's weather reports (did you ever get on the radio Andy?)... Remember Danny liked to take his time getting dressed...J.B. got mad at Matt G. for singing at night...Rempell dumping water into the showers from his bunk...Early morning mattress raids the day the four weekers left...Richard & Doug always fighting... Slater's soccer ball always missing...soggy biscuit, whatever that is...NOT!...Jason K'd Russ in senior softball...I could go on...

In closing, I'd like to say that there are so many things I just can't get in this article. I've thought about every one of you at some point and laughed about some comment, incident, accident or whatever. There are a lot of neat individuals among you. Every one of you contributed something special to this summer. Some are loud and boisterous, some are quiet, some are great athletes, some are comedians, some are just all around nice guys. Thanks to your staff, who put up with a lot, helped a lot, worked a lot, and cared a lot. They made your summer good for you. Steve, Matt, Andy, Josh, Mike, Nads, and Uch, you guys were great. I know you always picked up the ball and ran with it and I sincerely thank you for your creativity, patience, energy, enthusiasm, and your love of Robin Hood. Over fifty years of Robin Hood experience led the Lancers of '92. How could we not succeed? Proud to have been there. Russ

In closing I would like to thank the Friars of '92 for my best summer in 13 years at RH. You guys are by far the best group in camp. Nick, Doug, Brett, Jess, Jon, and Andy, what can I say? Without you the summer would not have been as great. I can't thank you enough. Everybody, take care and have a great winter. This will be my hardest goodbye, but I know at least at one point, definitely, I will see you all as Foresters of '93.

FORESTERS

Around the middle of June, a faint rumbling began. Sitting here in the then-peaceful Realm, I could hear the rumbling increase in volume and strength as the Foresters of 1992 approached from all corners of the globe. The first 16 campers joined four staff on June 25. Within two weeks, the group took on a decidedly international flavor with the arrival of a French camper and a second British staff member. Finally, just before parents' visiting, the group reached its full contingent of 24, the largest group of Foresters in recent memory. Despite losing two key members, the Foresters remained at a strong 22 for the second half. From the first basketball game at The House, with Brew's buzzer-beater to win it, to the major presence of the Foresters on Award's Night, this group dominated life in Sherwood Forest with its unique spirit, enthusiasm, and volume. (For those fans of Spinal Tap, this group went up to 11.) As I sit here in camp on August 24, all is quiet. The docks are out of the water (not that the Foresters would notice the difference), and there is an almost eerie silence after 8 weeks of chaos. Listening carefully, I think I can still hear Rosenfeld's piercing voice echoing over the lake, or "I Wanna Be Like Mike" resounding in the rafters of King's Castle just one more time. But no, I'm just imagining it. There are no sounds left but the birds and the wind in the trees. Nothing is left of the the summer of '92 but the memories, and what memories they are. So snap off the TV for a few, and let's take a trip down memory lane, remembering the Foresters of 1992.

Remember the first evening...K. Sol's introduction, "I'm Kenny Solomon, I have the best basketball in camp"...the first ultimate frisbee game...a great comeback, and K. Sol gets racked...Brew singing at 6 AM...JD hits 1st HR of '92 into the woods...Sol's Scrabble games...Bronson's & Greenbaum's guitar duets.....K. Sol & JD--hoop refs extraordinaire.... Rosenfeld's first injuries...remember early group activities...Gayball...D. Bronson--Gay Queen...Gutman put out by the wall...Sol fails to jump wall...TB's & Whiting's exceptional baseball D...DRock striking out in softball...Theo throwing away his glasses in hoops...Deatly--calm as always...remember Brew & his harem...the first chants at meals w/ the Saxons, led by TD...Brewer's beeper...Greenie wearing shoes (we don't)..."Let's Make a Deal": Grandmama, Russ Gutman, Uncle Sam, George Michael...Brew cleaning his shoes... football with the Shires...Theo gets drop-kicked--by a girl...Brew gets tackled by Becca S...Putt-Putt... Deatly's souvenir golf ball... Gez wins skins game...Sol's amazing hole-in-one...Rosenfeld: hole-in-one on every hole (or so he said)...Ben & Jerry's... Rosenfeld claims he can eat Vermonster himself...Sol & Dolin almost get killed by Moose...rain on 4th of July...watching Robin Hood in dining hall--Connie: "This is not the yellow pages. Don't let your fingers do the walking."...post-football antics on the water-front...Brew's buzzer- beater at West End...

Remember...K. "H-allo. This is your Freshie Fresh, Coolie Cool, Chillie Chill, Chuckie Chuck,Schwingie Schwing, Pizza Pizza, I do I do, WORD yearbook article. I have no idea where to start. You guys have been great, and there are so many things I will want to remember. In two months this group tackled problems, shared laughter, and cared for one another. Two months ago I did not know any of you. Now I can't imagine not knowing all of you. I guess the best place to start is at the beginning.

On the morning of June 25, Brooke Ritz showed up at The House. A seemingly quiet Brooke (with an E - or a B, whatever...) hung out with Connie, Cheryl, Becca, and Betsy. I remember thinking Brooke was really quiet and shy. I remember being wrong! Slowly but surely my first 12 campers showed up. Some in vans, some in cars, some not until 10:30 PM. I will always remember our first group meeting the first night of camp.. I laid down the law and then bolted for 2 days. Nice first impression. Classic quote from the first night: "Are you deaf or dumb?" Classic response: "Choice C, I´m blonde." While I was gone, you had a day of orientation and capture the flag with the Foresters. I think it was the only time all summer long when I left for the day and did not leave Cheryl to deal with a crisis. By the time I got back, we were into the "normal" routine. Or was it? Who scheduled riflery and archery in the same period? How many people have a moral conflict with target sports? Fine, let´s get Freaky to come for yet another group meeting so we can talk about schedules.

For the Shires the summer of 1992 could be rememberd as the year of the group meeting. Who could forget my paging all Shires to the back porch? You know the drill. I know Cheryl will always remember ordering pizza for 12 Shires who missed dinner due to a group meeting that went too long. Remember my visual aids during some of our meetings. " I have a point, it´s in this bag."

I think my evening activities tended to be the best in camp. Remember our first annual all-girls campfire? Come on, admit it, you loved it! How about our canoe trip? You guys weren´t too annoyed! How about the night we sat around in the back office and tried to watch 90210 on that little TV or walked for ice cream. Hey, didn´t you see Hochman´s dog? Oh yeah, except hers is yellow with a red collar. Remember our playdays? Of course, who could forget the first play-day when the other team scored a goal for us in soccer. At least Lisa remembered to thank her. Speaking of Lisa & soccer & playdays--can you say VEGA? Can you say playday from hell? Vega girls, nice (not), courteous (I don´t think so). Remember playing mud football with the Foresters? I don´t think I´ve ever been more surprised than I was when Abby took out Brewer. Can you believe they still think they beat us that first time? I don´t know why they have to deny our superior athletic ability.

Classic quotes: "Let´s play freeze, I feel lucky."..."Can we bunk it?" (NO!)..."I feel like chicken tonight."..."Chaunder on deck."..."Hey kids, let me show you something."..."Are you ready? Yes, I´m ready."..."Up, Up, and Away."..."Connie - Sol - Ditch"..."I´m your group leader. You suck"..."Look Ralph, it fits."..."The fog is getting thicker--and Leon´s getting larger..."..."I can make a brooch, I can make a plane, I can make a bird."..."Climbing up a mountain is very nice, liked it so much, I did it twice, got to the summit, started to sing..."..."Here we go now."..."My husband is a gold medalist."..."You could´ve given me half,..."..."Who was the brass in 1972?"..."Don´t we have flag lowering or something?".. "How are things shaping up?"..."Keep away from the family"..."Don´t worry, he´s like my brother."..."Do you have a stomach?"..."Hey Adam, where have you been all year?"..."Molly? I mean Ann."..."Rope that tatter."..."Here we go now."..."Warm it up, Kris, I´m about to."..."Hey tough guy."..."Sha"..."I´m your group leader, and what´s my job?"

What would a yearbook article be without a list of random erratic (ooo new vocab. just like pensive and lethargic) memories of our two months here. Remember: Ann´s & Brooke´s choo-choo train (who´s got a box?)...Lisa´s questionnaire...Fieldman´s case of the missing laundry (later solved--dryer ate it!)...Remember the ropes course? Hochman didn´t want to get up the tree but finally did and then didn´t want to come down! Remember when Emilie G-P was belaying for me and when I jumped to come down, she was lifted three feet in the air...Can you say Connie needs a diet? Remember driving tractors in front of K-Mart, or Becca getting bucked off of the Merry-Go-Round?...Who could forget: Ogunquit, The Ditch, the food van, frolicking in the meadow, group squat, Hey Hoch, how´s your aim? Hey Lisa, nice sock tan! What´s our favorite thing to do when it rains? Mud-slide! Remember when hardballs became legal in soccer or getting tossed in the lake by David, Brewer, Doug, and Todd. Jenga--need I say more? ...SAL (just thought I´d throw that in)...How about that play--Go Jamie, Go Molly--you guys really rocked the house. "They´re both Shires!"...Remember our hiking trip--tents that smell...brushing our teeth in streams... Drew´s stories about the Arch Angel and white haired-men...(Just an aside--next year we are climbing the big mountain!) I´ll never forget Whoopie Pie fights.. the Preferred Stock guy...THAT club!...the package deal (LMAJ)...Jess´s and Abby´s superior woodworking skills demonstrated in the shelf they built...the Deatly-never-talks-to-me club...Jess´s pretend boyfriend...3 for $1 COOKIES...a word of advice to Abby--Be careful when walking on the beach, you never know when you´ll hit quicksand! Remember when Connie picked up a schedule before breakfast, NOT. O-AT-KA--next time we´ll bring our suits! Play volleyball much?...clean bunk? I don´t think so!...Remember when Becca and Ann cleaned their room for Parents´ Weekend--Holy cow, there is a floor!...How many garbage cans could they fill? (Every single one in camp!)...

MARTHA´S VINEYARD--THE EXCURSION THAT GOT DELAYED, POSTPONED, CANCELLED. Remember...Boston, seeing Fieldman and the wheelbarrow extravaganza...Becca´s head in someone´s pillow the whole trip...the five-star hotel we stayed in...go Clay and Mandy--we wish them our best!...At least she can play a chord, that´s one more than me...chickens, bugs, double up on bottom bunks so the roaches can have the top bunks...bike riding, lobster??! No we´re having tacos--sorry to make you wait three hours..Brandon look-alikes... shower heads built for salad heads...people sleeping on the floor-huh?!...satin body bags...having to clean the whole hostel--hello!!!...Sag knows the Vineyard!.. Hey Shires, we´re going for 4 days, pack much?...Stand by--never again, but it was a big turnover day...Ann, you are the sleuth!..Widows´ walk 90´s style..Connie´s bag of fun-(thanks Becca and Lisa)..OINK!..Molly, how did that book end?...was she really a loser-did her dad really have BP?...Frappes anyone?...Are we hyper from being in the van for 14 hours?..."I gotta get outta here."...I know none of us will forget the friends we made on the highway, or Betsy dancing to and knowing every word of every 70´s song on the Disco channel.

I am sure there are a thousand things (at least) that I forgot to mention, and even if I had 10 more pages, I couldn´t begin to tell you how much I enjoyed my first year at the Realm, I attribute it largely to my 15 Shires, Becca, Betsy, and Cheryl. I believe that along with activities and trips, the friendships that you form at camp are what makes the experience worth coming back for year after year. In 2 months I have come to know you, respect you, and care about you. Let´s face it, camp is intense. You make close friends, many times for life, in a very short period of time, and you keep in touch, work on making friendships stronger and take away some of the most valuable memories you´ll ever have. I am glad to have shared these memories with you, and I want you to know I will never forget this summer. I hope you won´t either. That way, wherever you are and wherever I am, we´ll still be together.

No yearbook article would be complete without a special mention to those individuals who, believe it or not, tried their best to provide you with an awesome summer. Becca, although your attentiveness was often misunderstood, you were there when it counted and unlike many specialty counselors, you took the time and made a point of making time to be with and be a part of this group. I appreciated your honesty and candor, and I hope to see you next summer. Hope Australia is everything you expect it to be. Betsy (aka Betty, Boop, Betsy Boo, etc.), your quiet reassurance and support meant so much to me this summer. You were a vital part of this group and I would have never kept it together without you. I can´t thank you enough for the hard work, effort, and happiness you brought with you this summer. I hope school is going well, and I hope we will see each other at camp again next year. Last, but by no means least, I want to thank Cheryl (share-all) for her incredible strength, courage, and sense of humor. I owe you a lot! I think you are an amazing person and feel lucky to have had the opportunity to become your friend. As Dana would say, "that girl is good." and as I would reply, "thank God she´s on my side!" This would never have worked without you, and I would never have escaped psychiatric help without you. We all know you´re a spaz, but we also all think you are a great friend. Thank you very much!

I wish all of you the best. I am thinking of you all, and if you haven´t written to me lately, shame on you!! "So," I said to myself, " Self, it´s been the perfect summer." I miss you guys. Love, Connie.

On June 25, 1992, a group of girls descended upon the Realm ready to wreak some havoc. They succeeded! We spent the summer laughing, dancing and having a wonderful time. Soooo let's take a trip down memory lane and Remember...our Infamous Arrows--Root, Marky Mark, Koss, Lucove, Muscles Meltzy, Eisie, Alicia, Kops, Debooorahhh, V., Mags, Hayle, Katz, Evey, Smiley, Nik, Jo Mama, FiFi, Lenny, Aunt Jamima, Solty, Horny, Mandy, Daniel-A...and of course, Viola, Jules, Schlong, Lizard, Megster, Shandra, and Ginny.

Remember when...Ruth and Lizzie taught all of us to dance the first night...The Arrows DID NOT cheat in capture the flag with the Bows (Hee, Hee)...Rachel thought the bugle was Freaky LIVE!...Jill, Ruth, and Koss gave each other love taps...Life is a Highway...playday...socials at O-AT-KA...Maggie saying "I don't want to sound like a hypochondriac"...play-day...Koss's white leather dress...O' Chester, Have You Heard About...Vega playday...Jenny's Puby Ball... Meltzer getting Meg in trouble at riflery...Kops not being in the infirmary...teaching Leonore swear words...playday...Hayley wrote on Nikki's forehead and then licked it off...Eve's growls (runs in the family)...Carolyn yelling, "Mornin' Chuck!"...Lucove's goal from the side line...Ali's wonderful performance...Lisa being in love with Toby...Debbie's "Let's talk about life" chats...Amy E.'s comfortable bed (Thanks, from all the counselors)...Veronica saying Bar/Bat Mitzvah right...Johanna's "Sha"... Daniela's new left-handed tennis game..Amanda never sleeping in her own bed...Lizzie flashing Carolyn... "Meg and Liz, will make you Bocc Bocc?"...the Kenny obsession...Ali and Jenny--the pooping pals..Fruit Loops...Quaker Oats..Cheeseball...a piece of pie crust...Amy putting a candy corn up her nose...Nikki sweeping her bed to get the dirt off...Eve's bang fetish...Sarah saying, "Bill, wish I were your lover" and Liz saying, "Phil, wish I were your mother"...the talent show--Summer Lovin'...Moratorium...Lily's count-off number...Kriss Kross...the Tough Mountain Trip...Liz and Steve Barndt...Liz and Paul... when was your first kiss, Bunt, Foul Ball...Sex talks... Alicia's Aunt Jan and Uncle Fritz...Amanda's, Daniela's, Veronica's, and Ruth's pig pile...Hey Alicia, Is Uzay plain?!...Good taste in your jeans, Maggie...eating Parents' Day food at the Outdoor Theatre...50's Sock Hop...counselors hiding/sleeping in the bus for Counselor Hunt...The Colgate, Wisconsin, Michigan, Union Hockey Games...running out of toilet paper...Liz's impersonation of an ole' Jewish grandfather...counselor table...counselor aerobics everyday at 6:30-(NOT)...Vy being tall in Asia...Birchmont Victory--We SWEPT--it only took eight weeks...Rachel thinking Julie spoke another language..

Alicia falling out of her bed...Koss breaking Eisenberg's brush...Hey Arrows, Do you know how to Gigolo?...I said a boom-chick-a-boom...Green and White (Great job, both teams)...Chuck Downie's "Cheers" song...girls' first camp fire...cleaning the Outdoor Theatre for Founder's Day...everyone sleeping in one bunk...The Blue Bra Story--How well do you remember it?...movies...

And now for the Big One--E X C U R S I S I O N !.. packing up the vans not knowing where you're off to...all the libraries and museums we went to -- NOT..counselors whispering about where to go... shopping in Ogunquit...taking the trolly to Perkins Cove...Daniela, Kops, Amanda and Lisa being late--you guys got clean-up duty...what do y'all buy--FOOD... chicken dinner...Liz and Amy cooking...Meg firestarter...Dana cutting veggies...S'mores around the campfire...RAIN...the loud tent next to the counselors...off to Salisbury Amusement Park...the Arcades...the Food...the rides...spaghetti dinner-- MMMM...ice cream with flashlights...making friends everywhere we go...the playground...Sarah Meltzer saying "WIMPS" because counselors slept in the van (Hey, Meltz, we heard that)...six-minute showers... all the P's...Dana's friends--Melissa, Marcus, and Michael and the office friends...all the cookies... Water Country...the ride to meet the Lancers for dinner...everyone cutting us off in the traffic... communicating radio stations from van to van... McDonalds...all running in the bathroom when the Lancers got there..."Stay Tuned" & "League of Their Own"...Single White Female for counselors...and finally returning back to camp.

The summer of '92 flew by too quickly, and before we knew it August 19 rolled in. It is so easy to picture all of us together at meals, on the benches before activities, on the bus or vans to playdays, socials and excursion, and sitting in our circle of our final bunk meeting. What I would give to be sitting together now!! My only hope is that I have given and taught as many things to each of you as you all have to me. Thank you each for an incredible summer that I will forever remember. Don't forget,

"Miles separate us,
Memories bind us,
We are apart,
but we are together."

And also, "Goodbye doesn't mean this has to be the end...And I've got a feeling we will meet again when we return to paradise." Elton John

I love you all forever - Dana

P.S. To the craziest of all...the Arrow staff. I could not have survived the summer without your support, assurance, smiles, hugs, and laughter! You each taught me something new that has helped me to become a better person. Thank you most of all for your friendships.

Bows, Bows to the Benches; Bows, Count off; Who's '14' Jessica!; Noel, say '16'; How about Mayra's '18'? All right, girls, count off again, and do it right, no mess ups. Another thing, when the bell goes off in the morning, get out of bed. That means you, Nastya, Mayra, Karla, Jessica, Brooke, and Laura. Remember... Carolyn changing under the covers...counting down the time 'til Laura had to get out of bed...the mess between Alicia's, Jessica's and Brooke's bed. By the way Liz and Jamie, is there something living under your bed.

MARIE MARKEY

Remember our cursed table where everyone slipped and fell or spilled water on the floor...when Alicia squeezed Gaby's cheeks and milk came out...Sandra eating her soup with a toothbrush...Amy eating cereal with no milk, whereas Brooke drowned her cereal...when Carolyn said she was going to rock the house with her bread-buttering skills. Remember when Angie's rice crispies were talking and Carolyn bent over to listen and Angie said, "We're having a private conversation!" Remember when Amy R. threw Jen H.'s retainer in the garbage. Remember...the-day-to-day activities when Beth, Amy, Reagan were stuck on the croquet course... Liz S. walked into a tree...Stephanie and Reagan played tetherball, and Stephanie got hit in the face twice, then fell down...Liz S. gave her mallot a pep talk during a croquet game...Liz, Stephanie, and Amy joined kayaks. Remember...the newcomb game from hell when Mayra threw the ball and nailed Brooke in the head - then five seconds later the ball wacked Erin in the face...Jen complained about how much she hated croquet and then she won.

Remember...the counselor hunt that ended due to a down pour that didn't keep us down--we went mud sliding. Remember Jen & Jessica F. - Sumo Wrestlers.. Alicia's Alice the Camel...Gaby's addiction to Mayra's Gameboy...Rebecca, the tetherball queen. Remember the concentration games where Marie said "Chiquita" instead of Cheetah...Emily going to the bathroom fifty times a night...the night that Emily and Nastya threw up at the exact same time!! Remember when Alicia said, "Sandra, you have such a big smile, and your teeth are so white." Remember Alicia and Reagan getting caught by Diane taking string! Whoops.."Let's Make a Deal" and Gaby's costume taking second place...Caitlin's incredible stilts....Rebecca's table and benches...Caitlin taking the sail boat out on her own. Remember the stuffed animals--Jessie's Noah, Gaby's troll doll--Yikes, how much did you spend on that! Remember Noel's swimming, Emily's jokes, Lizzy's drawings and speed reading, Caitlin and her basketball, Lauren and her inhalers. Remember Lauren's bargaining techniques--"I'll give you a piece of gum for some string." Remember when the four-weekers left. We missed you all.

Remember making our own pizzas at Pizza Barn and then skinny-dipping in Freedom Lake! Remember how Drew broke Green and White —— during the talent show. Remember Erin's and Wacky's Rave Dance...Jo's Robin HOOD, Amy R.s knot in her hair...Ali's women with a Y. Remember picking Captains for Green and White...practicing songs and then the final night when Green won, and we all became one great big family again. Remember our social with O-At-KA the night before we left for excursion.

And how about our excursion...Hampton Beach, the group photo where you can only see Reagan's eye...making English Muffin Pizzas--Not...we ate at ChuckieCheese, and remember Beth and everyone else falling down at the bowling alley...Erin throwing the ball the wrong way...the movie...then the mall...playing Putt-Putt...Amy, "Keep the ball on the green!"...Gaby, "Give me my ball back."...Canobie Lake Park...Amy getting a driving lesson from Marie...Jessie taking Jo for a drive...Jo's friend... Dress lessons what's tacky!...Remember Alicia's and Reagan's pillow hair do's..sleeping in puddles...and all the good times we had together.

You girls were the best. You filled our summer with smiles, tears, and tons of fun. Remember going to Freedom Beach a second time and getting stopped by the police--$600 fine--thank God we got out of that one. Remember Wacky and her volleyball...Jo's art work... Beth's balloons...Andrea's costume for Les Mis... Alexandra's Nike cup...Sandra's clothes. I find it truly amazing we were all able to make a warm and loving family of our stay at camp. We'll miss the count-offs, the tickle fights, stories before bed and all the fun times we had together. But remember this, you never really leave a place, you love it always in your heart! And you girls have made a permanent mark in our hearts! Thank you! And to the World's Greatest Staff--thank you for your love, care, support and special moments. Without you we wouldn't have the special memories we will all cherish and tell to our friends and family! Thank you all!!

Cristina Fekula	Daniela Gerson
Kari Kirschenbaum	Beth Herrmann
Dana Rempell	Fallyn Smith
Julie Ritz	Liz Eisenberg
Sarah Mendelsohn	Amy Whiting
Daniela Hernandez	Cori Ziman
Jana Villarreal	Cora Crowley

J- Join our little jingle about the jolly journey of the Jesters which began in June. The jazzy junior jewels joyfully joined in many jubilant jaunts including jumping in gymnastics (with our very own Laurie and Kasey), generating jokes (Beth announcing after the meal that she had lost her mind, and Daniela announcing she had lost the shirt on her back!), and jamming at the socials (an all-camp 50's Sock Hop and a social with the PJ's, Squarchers and Bows). The Jesters generated jollity with jingles like "Gigolo", jargon (like Cori's "dudecal"), and other joyful jives which generated just a giant jumble of joyful jabber from Julie and all the other Jesters.

E- Every effort was made by this enthusiastic group to emerge early for sign-ups everyday. This energetic group excelled in many events which elicited enough exclamations to embarrass even Liz Eisenberg (remember the dare by Andrea and Laurie to dress up at dinner in robes!). Everyone examined their excellent example of etiquette that they made every effort to exhibit every time they would eat ("Remember our manners!").

S- What a superb summer we spent with so much super stuff to do. We simply loved to swim at waterfront, NOT! (Although we had several memorable 16-lappers including Heidi), but we did enjoy splashing at the sea (Ogunquit Beach) sitting in the sun, staying out of storms, and skinny-dipping (twice at Freedom Beach!). And what a success we were as stars in the shows (Dany, Jana, Daniela, and Tina in the "Musical Revue"; Liz, Tina, Daniela, Sarah, Dana, Julie, Fallyn, Amy, and Cori in "Annie"; Beth in "Les Miserables"; and Cori and Liz strutting their stuff in the talent show.). In sports we were so sly and speedy, such as Kari in soccer, the starting of "Spu" in Spud ("Pamela, Pamela...Spu!"), serious games of softball against the PJ's (with Karin to save the day with such successful catches!), the single survivor-Cora-of the game of bombardment against the staff, and scenes at the stables (remember Jana's horse taking off?). We also liked all sorts of special games such as Snaps, Skip Bo, and Spit. There are many more silly times that made everyone smile: singing on the mountain trips, skits and stories at the Outpost, the circus (with Bucky, the Clown!), songs and sentiments to start the morning (a song each morning right after "Rise and Shine, Up and at 'em!"), the sensational show by Polly and Laurie with their faces and the song "Ooh Darlin'", and silly sayings like "Dis is a cloud" by Amy, and "We have to pay for this?" by Andrea.

T- Truly it turned out to be a terrific time with things like our "Trucking" cheer, thoughts for the day, table "Freeze", tumbling from the tower at the waterfront, teeth brushing (by Dr. Liz and Cori) and tons of totally awesome trips (ice cream, Freedom Beach, mountain trips, making our own pizza at Pizza Barn).

E- Another exciting experience for everyone was our excellent excursion: Maine Aquarium, Aquaboggin, camping out at Sebago Lake State Park (with our own beach and almost no fire!), Funtown USA, seeing the movie, dinner for 1 penny a pound at the Ground Round, Tina's missing underwear and getting gum out of her hair with peanut butter (Yuck!), good try on the bumper boats, getting nearly ill on Tilt-a-Whirl, coloring at dinner, and playing the alphabet game (we still need Y and Z!)

R- Remember Robin Hood of 1992! The rumors about the breaking of Green and White and then the rally of color war, do rags, and reading (with our special guest reader, Freaky). Whether running, racing, riding, or regatta, we really rocked the Realm.

S- Sailing, swimming, singing, smiling, and simply sharing so many special times. We spent such a sensational summer in our castle by the sea. Keep smiling until we see each other next summer!

Scattergories, Pictionary, Ben & TLC, staff meetings aka female bonding (beware of ears!), late night giggle sessions...Andrea, Karin, Heidi, Polly, Laurie, and Kasey, your dedication, commitment, enthusiasm, and sense of humor made for an incredible summer. Thank you for making the summer successful and fun!!

ARCHERY

BOB KERR

The summer of 1992....yet another memorable year on the archery range. We must have shot thousands of arrows out there this season and had lots of fun in the process with the assistance this year of another Scottish archery coach, Steve Harris. Everyone had the opportunity of more instruction time and more variety in the programme resulting in some high scores this summer.

So soon into the season we were straight into specialty week. Steve's experience in field archery meant that for the first time at Robin Hood we were able to set up a small field archery course in the woods, which by all accounts was very popular. Everyone enjoyed themselves and the standard of shooting in the woods was very high. Jon Kauffman shot exceptionally well in this "new" form of archery at Robin Hood. We also managed to obtain a dozen "flu-flu" arrows, which travel quite slowly and have rubber tips on them so that they can be shot in complete safety. We had a lot of fun with those, shooting at moving frisbees, catching arrows and shooting for distance (did anyone ever shoot them past 50 M?!). The main emphasis, however, of specialty week was on target archery, and I am pleased to say that everyone improved and gained further Camp Archery Association awards as a result. Jon Kauffman, Josh Stein-Sapir, and Jon Feigenbaum all qualified as sharpshooters at 30 M!

A couple of weeks after specialty week we organized the 5th Annual Robin Hood Invitational Archery Tournament, and there were ten teams competing in the three age divisions--11 & under, 13 & under, and 15 & under. What a perfect day for archery it was... comfortably cool and slightly overcast with not a hint of wind. Despite some excellent shooting on the six-man, 11 & under team, Robin Hood was up against some stiff competition from Indian Acres and were pushed into second place. Josh Stein-Sapir (230 points) and Danny Horowitz (209 points) deserve recognition for the contribution to the team total. In the 13 & under division some top shooting by Shawn Clyman and Andres Castro, who both shot over 250 points, helped to bring our team total within 12 points of that of Indian Acres' strong team, but it was not quite enough against their brilliant archers. In the 15 & under division Robin Hood's team excelled themselves with Tom Burns shooting 265, Shawn Clyman now shooting a 263, Andres Castro shooting a 254, and Eric Bailey shooting a 251. We comfortably beat Camp Belknap to win the division by over 300 points.

The day after Parents' Visiting Weekend we were off to a joint archery/riflery match at Camp Cedar in Maine. The teams had to be re-arranged with the departure of excellent team members Tom Burns, Marcus Magarian, JJ Ackell, Matt Golden, Ben Zale, and Josh Morgan. However, their replacements on the 12 & under and 15 & under teams--Josh Aronoff, David Lazarus, Rob Singer--all shot brilliantly and resulted in Robin Hood taking second place overall out of ten camps in both divisions.

Green and White was soon upon us, and I think most of the spectators had quite a fright when they realized that the archery range was one of the few places on camp where it did your team more good to remain silent while they were competing. This gave the archers some vital peace and quiet to allow them to concentrate, and it sure gave results. Some high scores emerged from every group that came out, and there were several previously "unknown" archers that revealed hidden talent--Matt Rosenfeld, Fallyn Smith, Brandon Barnett, Lisa Haralambie, Alexandra Vernaton, Josh Kampf, Eric Jelin, Veronica Erard, Mike Soltoff, Michael Brewer, and Benoit Caille. You guys are so good, let's see more of you!

During the second half of the season we had even more time for instruction during the quieter periods, and we had some consistent effort and improvement from some of the boys in Senior Camp--David Lazarus, Doug Squires, and Rick Bailey. They all qualified comfortably at 30 M, and Rick shot a new camp record of 212 points at 40 M. Good job, Rick!!
The "Best in Camp" award for Effort and Skill this year was a tough choice. So many skillful archers--Tom Burns, Shawn Clyman, Andres Castro, Jon Kauffman to name but a few. There could only be one, however, and for the second year for his consistent and dogged determination, Rick Bailey won the award. For the first time there is also a "Best in Camp" girls' award for Effort and Skill, and this year Veronica Erard stood as the season's best girl archer. The "Most Improved" award for progress and achievement must go to Josh Stein-Sapir, who started this year with no archery experience and soon progressed to qualify at the longest distance as an American Archer--in front of his folks on Parents' Day.

Many thanks to my shootin' partner, Steve Harris, for putting up with all my quirks and foibles--go on yersel, Big Man! Let's all make it a good one in '93.

Remember when...we caught fluflus...shot frisbees, soda cans, old tennis balls, water balloons...Rick Bailey split an arrow...Roger Goldberg split the string (you got your sodas eventually!)... Chris Herrmann hit target nine...Jenny Kops and Ruth Nadler both shot bullseyes.

ARTS & CRAFTS

ARTS

JOAN CHASE

Long ago and far away,...another brisk summer at the Realm occurred. It was 1992 and camp was busy. Sandwiched at the heart of the Realm, the famous ROBIN HOOD CRAFTS CENTER buzzed with activity. In crafts Diane Edmundson's magic with beads, leather, and string continued right up 'til the buses pulled out that final day! When she wasn't doing crafts, she was busy providing that ever important "stitch in time" to someone's shorts, shirt, hat or you-name-it! Thanks, Diane! What would we have done without you? On the other side Tom Boehm gave new meaning and finesse to woodworking. His easy-going manner and knowledge of wood was a winning combination in the woodshop, and I saw wonderful things materialize from a mere piece of wood...Tom helped me build Jeeves the Butler, too (thanks for your time and infinite patience, Tom)! In Art we painted, plastered, and modeled the summer away. In addition to campers, it warmed the cockles of my 'art' to see so many counselors make art. I hope that this trend continues, because it was neat to see the kids involved in what counselors were making as well as the other way around!

The Jesters bounced in and out often and made everyone's day when they did! They made lots of clay stuff (Dani H., Jana, and Daniela G.), plastered their hands and faces (Sarah, Fallyn), while Beth and Tina, Cori, Kari, and Julie painted, colored, and drew. Beth H. also worked in clay and painted up a storm, while Fallyn, Julie, and Amy practiced fancy contemporary bubble lettering. Cora (Green and White, Green team contender) arrived later and got right into making clay stuff like a whale and a "thing."

The ever-enthusiastic Bows: Jaime, Carolyn, Liz (nifty shading!) drew, while Lauren (remember the "Lauren-bird?), Alicia (I saw a new, creative side to Alicia) painted and worked with clay; Reagan, Jessie F., Jessica L. [clay roses], Erin, Noel, Karla, and Mayra [both Honorable Mention in Ceramics], Caitlin, Amy, Rebecca, Stephie, and Jen. Things got pretty "sticky" when Nastya, Gaby, Mayra, and Angie got into plaster hand and face casts!

The Arrows painted for the most part and really got the painting program off the ground. Veronica, Maggie, and Ruth split painting BIC this year, and Eve got BIC again for her original approach to ceramics. Deborah, Hayley, Daniela, Carolyn, Rachel, Alicia, Jill, and Amanda painted, while Amy, Johanna, Sarah, Leonore, and Jenny worked with clay and painted too. Jenny painted her 'houses coatrack' from woodworking and in turn, inspired me to try one of those (I only got to the drawing stage though, this year...maybe I'll get it painted this winter!). Very late in the season, Lisa R. (the mystical painter) blew in and wowed us all with bold, emotional paintings, and in a heartbeat she was gone again. I continued to be impressed with the talent and ability within this camp, and the ever artful Arrows play a big part.

The Shires painted, drew symmetrical name designs and worked in clay and plaster. Molly Meltzer painted beautiful flowers in watercolor, while Emily worked on feet of clay (actually, it was a foot!). Later in the summer, the girls poured molds and suddenly everybody wanted in on that. The timing was good though, and I ran out of slip about the same time that camp ended!

In the boys' camp, the PJ's were around a lot of the time. They made masks, name plaques, worked on the wheel, pinchpot heads, mystery animals (humans), and in general, had a good time. Jose and Oscar were rest-hour regulars, along with Jorge, David, Brad, Matt, Mike, and Paul. Paul made dragons, snakes, and an occasional pot. He was a real worker and was all business whenever he came in. Todd did his hand in plaster and was good natured about my mis-calling him Matt all the time. John worked on his sister's face mask but never got it all the way done. I saved it for you for next year, John!

The Squarchers and Yeomen were in every time I turned around. They name-plaqued everybody they could think of, besides making the every popular heads. Nick's looked like those strange heads found at Easter Island while Jay's resembled George Bush! Gabe (Most Improved--Ceramics) was busy with Garfield, Odie, and Pookie, while Jordan (also Most Improved--Ceramics) went from making a basic pot to a nifty dog! Adam got Honorable Mention for his caricatures, and Lowell made letter openers, daggers, and a M.C. Hamster plaque. Andrew Bonito (bless his 'art'), mixed gallons of slip for us all this summer. He got BIC for his all around ability in ceramics. Scotty Burk (Honorable Mention-Drawing and Painting) was the 'sleeper' though in painting. He really started to show his ability this year! Andrew Gralnek had to leave early, but not before getting his chess set under way (I saved it for you, Andrew). Some of the other regulars were Mark, Danny, Josh, Zack, Mike, Jake, and Jeff.

The Lancers and Friars made stuff too. Jon did a wizard; Matt, Richie, and Justin carved plaster, and Josh Slater, who arrived late, worked diligently on a mug for John. Among other things, Josh Aronoff, Aaron Price, Michael Holczer, and Matt Bronson poured molds and more molds. Damien made his name and glazed it to resemble Old Glory and by glory, this was the first time that I ever fired RED (on purpose!). You set an example Damien,...after seeing yours, other RH-ers decided to get creative with the glazes too.
After camp I went back to the crafts center, and it was strangely quiet. But you know,...when I closed my eyes and listened really closely...I could still hear the place hum...Thanks, everyone.

CRAFTS

DIANE EDMUNDSON

Wow. What happened? Did eight weeks of camp just happen in the blink of an eye, or did I dream the whole thing? Yes, that's it. A dream.....(harp music, please).

I'm on the craft shop porch with Joan and Tom. We are having coffee while exchanging pleasantries and thoughts relevant to the commonalities of our separate yet similar purposes, when SUDDENLY, though we scarcely have time to see it coming, a TORNADO comes screaming our way. We jump to our feet to try to outrun this supernatural force, but at best we can only trail behind it. We watch, mouths gaping in astonishment, as the tornado spawns 3 separate whirlwinds, each of which blows into one of the three doors in the craft building.

Imagine my amazement as I follow the one which blows into my door and after several turns around the room, the twirling wind spews out - one by one- THE JESTERS! Though still shaken, I begin to relax as I am comforted by their familiar sound. This false sense of security failed to warn me of the forthcoming un-natural event. While the girls chat on, I turn to face the shelves and am shocked to see all the crafting material and tools begin to grow faces and arms and legs. Every bead, every spool of thread, every paintbrush, and even my black-handled pliers take on personalities of their own as they jump down from the shelves and with merry voices, begin chanting my name as they hold hands to dance a circle around me. They dance faster and faster until they become a blur of color, light, and sound, and they create the wind again.

Looking past this indistinguishable fury, I now see that the Jesters are no longer alone. They are joined in a sea of faces somehow familiar to me, and while I try to focus on who they are another strange event occurs. The wind-tossed craft materials were fallimg from the storm but into assembled projects. I fall to the floor and watch helplessly as the PJ's jump from the crowd to grab at flying moccasins and metal foil pictures. The Squarchers and Jesters reached out for passing stuffed animals, while the Bows were being adorned with beautiful beaded necklaces in fancy designs. The Arrows and Shires keep chanting a strange word sounding oddly like "CRUNCHY" while laughing and snapping each other with 9 inch pieces of elastic. The Yeomen, Lancers, and Friars are there, too, with yards and yards of colored string all tangled on their fingers. As the wind weakens, I stand to regain composure. My attention draws to the porch outside the shop where I hear the din of Forester voices. They're tossing around a 6-inch die, when suddenly I'm taken aback by the force of a SUMO wrestler wearing pipe-cleaner glasses jumping through the window. He points at me and says "KITTENS are people, too." My heart pounds furiously as I watch him ride away on a rainbow-colored zebra.

"Mom! Mom?"
I awoke with a fright to see Josh at my bedside.
"Mom, it's late. You'll miss your first day back at nursing school."
"Oh, Josh. Thanks for waking me," I said. "I was having the craziest dream....."

WOODSHOP

"I never knew that I could make anything so nice." Those were the words I heard over and over again throughout the summer, and it gave me great pleasure to share in the campers' satisfaction with their projects. Boys and girls, younger and older, all shared in their enthusiasm for the woodshop. At the beginning of camp each camper selected an individual project. Some of the items chosen included knife racks, lazy susans, jewelry boxes, boxes for "stuff," and lap desks. The most popular project of the summer was CD racks.

The Jesters--This was the first experience in the woodshop for many in this group. They plunged right in, however, and produced some very fine projects. Wooden boxes were the most popular projects, while Cori Ziman and Sarah Mendelsohn decided to make a mama and baby bear pull toy.

The Bows--Almost everyone in the group made something to take home from the woodshop. During the first class Rebecca Strauss said that she wanted to make a picnic table. I felt that it would be a very demanding project, but she succeeded in completing it-on the very last day of her stay at camp. She donated the table to the camp as a Founder's Day gift. Other stand-outs included a cute marionette from Gaby Collier, a challenging plaque from Karla Moreno, and a bi-plane from Jessie Freidin.

The Arrows--This group was into some serious woodworking all summer long. For the most part they selected advanced projects and just kept at them all through the summer. Some of the most notable projects include Jenny Kops' display case, Jenny Soltoff's coat rack, Lisa Rudikoff's shelf and sign, Veronica Erard's coat rack, Nikki Kirschenbaum's CD rack, bears in a wagon from Amy Eisenberg, Debbie Bernstein, and Rachel Katz, a cutting board from Sarah Meltzer, and jewelry boxes from Jill Markowitz and Ruth Nadler.

TOM BOEHM

The Shires--The girls made some very good efforts and had a lot of fun at the same time. People completing projects included Emilie Grand-Perret with a shelf and bookends, Ann Rubinstein and Rebecca Zeitlin with cubbies, Molly Meltzer with a cutting board, and Abby Fierman with a cubby.

The PJ's--What tremendous energy and curiosity in this group! Some day many of them will be fine woodworkers, and almost all produced some very nice projects during the summer. Some of the most advanced in the group included David Goldberg, Mike Squires, Todd Leebow, Matt Lazarus, Oscar Scolari and Jose Akle.

The Squarchers--Of all the groups, this one learned the most about woodworking during the summer, especially learning that glue works better than a whole bunch of nails. Some of the projects produced were a tape rack from David Leaf, tote box from Adam Rothschild, a toy bear and surfboard from Lowell Jacobson, a knife block from Jeffrey Baumgardner, a drum block from Adam Sobel, a lap desk from Noah Meyers, numerous projects from Ben Farrer, and a bunk ladder from Josh Edmundson.

The Yeomen--This was a very determined group, and they achieved a great deal of success for their efforts. It was a real treat to watch them learn from each other as well as from instruction. Some of the notable efforts were a foot stool from Jeff Squires, a knife rack from Andrew Bonito, CD rack from Eric Jacobstein, card box from Jesse Kohn, cube clock from Danny Horowitz, chessboard from Andrew Gralnek, foot stool from Zack Smith, a clock from David Jaffe, and lap desk from Jordan Klein.

The Lancers--By the time the boys reach the age of a Lancer, many of them have a good deal of experience in the woodshop, and it shows in the work that they produce. Truly outstanding pieces include Richard Gordon's bi-plane, Marcus Magarian's desk, Stuart Urquhart's coat rack, Ari Kandel's floppy disk box, and a special atta-boy to Michael Holczer.
The Friars, Foresters, and Saxons--These young men are to be commended not only for the projects that they produced, but for the contributions they made to the camp, as well. They did a lot of work on Founder's Day projects and assisted younger campers during Green and White. Good job to all of you! Thanks to ALL of the campers for your wonderful efforts. Next year you can look forward to another good summer in the shop.

DRAMATICS

MARK PITT

Well, here I am, sitting at my faithful WP, back in the land of Wales thinking about and missing the summer with the Robin Hood Theatre Company. Guys and gals, it was magical and I thank each and every actor, stage-manager, lighting operator, sound technician, curtain operator, choreographer and everyone else involved in this year's shows with my deepest and most sincere Love and Respect. It was a late arrival for me, but what a greeting upon my arrival! Hayley and Eve coming up and hugging me - goodness, it's got to be good - we've got two weeks in which to stage a full production of "Annie" - director going slightly insane!!

The year kicked off with Andrea's production of "The Musical Revue", a short entertainment which called upon the dancing talents of the cast. A great job, guys, and I'm only sorry I missed the rehearsals. So the day after my arrival I was to check out this year's talent and cast "Annie". The selection process for the production was so hard with talent prolific this year at camp. But still, time was precious and I could not procrastinate and casting was therefore announced the next day. In the leading roles of Annie and Hannigan were cast two sisters, Ali and Jen Horowitz, two stunning newcomers to the Robin Hood Theatre and to the Realm. I remember Ali's rendition of "The Little Mermaid" at her audition blowing me away for dust; it was perfect and she would go on to be the perfect Annie. So onto rehearsals.....looking at my diary back home and seeing the schedule just brings back to me those twelve-hour days spent in the theatre, and the three hours after spent with Steve Lawson at Pizza Barn -- "Are they going to make it? Am I going to make it?" It was, incidentally, a very positive "YES" from Mr. Lawson. If Steve saw that something wasn't quite working in the show, he would take me quietly to one side after rehearsal and logically explain my error -- Steve, you were rock this season, you know what I mean and I retract not a syllable. Rehearsals were an intensive affair for all of us and you guys gave 100%. Ten songs and no less than fifteen acting scenes is no mean feat for any theatre company to perfect in two weeks, but we did it! The show was to open on Wednesday, the 22nd July, all the scenes and songs were set, all the technicals plotted. The show would be run by two naturally talented technicians, Liz Whitehorn and Chris Wolf, whose job it was to piece together the complex sound and lighting plots. Jo Fierman and Nikki Kirschenbaum would be in charge of managing the production, managing the team of 32 actors and fourteen technicians. Alas, on the morning of the show, Murphy's Law struck and our spotlight for the 'movie scene' failed us. Aggggghhh! Director now totally insane! "John, please, can we drive down to Boston to fetch a bulb?" Dick Roberts saved the show and one of the best scenes in it and did just that -- thank you, Dick! 8:00 P.M., Overture, House Lights, Curtain, Lights, GO!! Our production was up and running in front of an audience of 250. What a first night! Ali, Freaky, Jamie, Jennie, David (just a little OTT on the camp!) were all on top form. The hour and forty minutes passedlike five and we were a hit. The biggest high of my summer was without a doubt watching the cast take its bows to a standing ovation. It was one of those all too rare evenings in the theatre when you come out feeling jolly good about life.

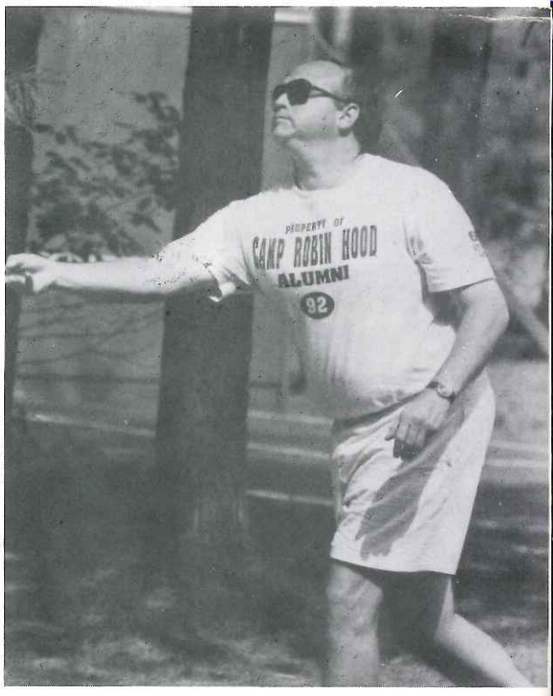

The following evening took us into performance number two and our showing to the public! Posters had been spotted around town by campers and staff, we'd made the local papers and even the TV, so we had to be good and we were -- better! The second night was acted with panache, the show had a style and a quality that is rare. Jamie Hechinger gave the performance of a pro and as for Ali, well, your pre-show nerves worked in your favour because you were Annie that night! "Annie" came to an end all too suddenly and of course I would have liked to run the show much longer - but that's showbiz! We bowed our and put "Annie" to rest as a hit. I miss you all and I miss "Annie".

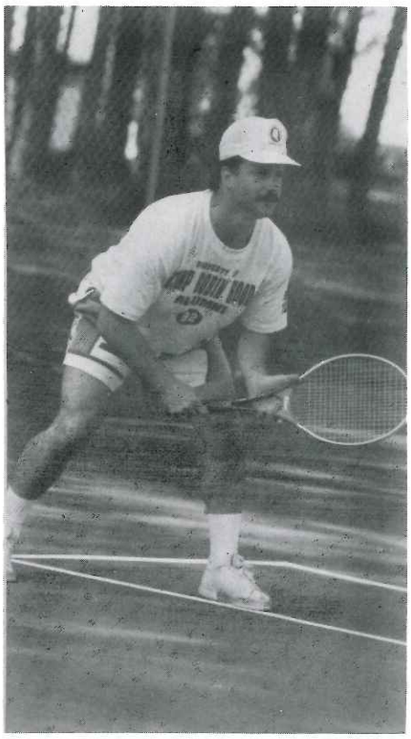

Of course, the long days after a successful production are just one long anticlimax, and so, taking no notice of Downie's packed schedule, I announced that the company would stage a production of "The Best of Les Miserables" for the second half of the camp season. A ten minute extract from the show was staged last year by my fellow director, Simeon Truby, and it worked a treat. My belief is that if something works well enough then it should be expanded upon, which is what I intended to do. Nine fully staged scenes from the show with full set, lights and costumes. A self-contained production compromised in no way because of a tight schedule. "Annie" proved to me that Robin Hood was blessed in '92 with the talent needed for such an undertaking, so "Les Mis" was put into production mode. Tryouts illuminated even more talent; Scott Gordon - an angelic vocal quality, my good man!! Erin Herrmann from the "Annie" company, Jen Kops, Hymus from the stables (yes, the man can sing and act!!), even Bobby Kerr joined a tour-de-force of a company. It was a company that could pull the production off. It would be tight and yours truly had to run the tightest of ships as you became all too aware but it had to be worth it. I'd secured the cream of RH; Butera, Klein, Soltoff, Horowitz, Roberts, Smith and the beautiful voice of Rachael Howard that would turn "Les Mis" from a pipedream into a quality evening. We had a week of intensive rehearsals before G&W and excursions interrupted, learning literally a song a night, gathering ideas for staging, building atmospheres, pre-revolutionary states, post-revolutionary states, mourning states, victory states, all moods and pictures that would add to the show. As a director, I like the idea of pictures on the stage, moods, atmosphere even before the crux of a scene is played and that became paramount as our rehearsal process progressed. It was a rehearsal period that illuminated once again the acting talent that is prolific at camp. Butera once again stunned me into silence during the "Bring Him Home" scene, Bob Kerr played 'dead' to a 'T', Jen Soltoff was producing the kind of singing that would make Broadway producers sit up and listen. And then you went on excursion.....

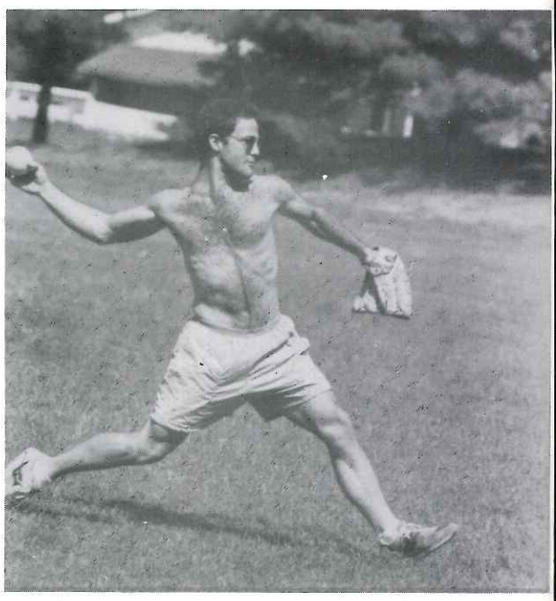

Still, it gave me time to work on the set - I wanted it to be a monster of trash! Which is what we got, I think. Lighting was paramount; thanks to John buying me new lights this year I was able to create with Steve Lawson a lighting design that would be the envy of many theatre camps in the US - thank you, John! You see, they do work!! Back from excursion and forty-eight hours until show-time. PANIC!! Rehearsals and more rehearsals. It was eluding me as to what was wrong with the show but it was a question that would be answered only at performance -- an audience. "Les Mis" is the kind of show that needs to be seen by people to be appreciated, its power, its music and its style is something that you guys showed our audience on that Monday night. Everything was right about it, the pictures, the style and the mood of the piece married perfectly to create forty minutes of very powerful theatre. I have you to thank for that. A director can only guide his cast, tell them what his intentions and desires are for a show, and you gave me everything that I could have possibly wished for in '92, (except, of course, for a smoke-machine, twenty more lights, a new sound system, a gauze, etc.!!!). A special thank you to Polly who ran intensive week and also put on a very special talent show (John tells me it was one of RH's best). You were all terrific and I'm very proud of the theatre company this year - we had professionalism and I went back to Wales a happy man. It is just the beginning.....

SONGS of G&W

GREEN TEAM SONGS

(US AIR FORCE)
Green Team's off --
Rearing to go, we're striving
To the top --
We're nearing there now.
Fighting hard --
Our bravery surging onward
Leaving the White deep in our wake.
Strong and proud --
Our unity ignites our flame
Watch us now --
We're taking it all.
WE ARE SUPREME
THEY WON'T END OUR DREAM
NOTHING'LL STOP THE MIGHTY GREEN TEAM.
Hear us now --
Our voices they roar like thunder,
Loud and clear --
That Green is the one.
Pete and Russ --
Will carry us on to victory,
Guiding all --
Making us proud.
Judges watch --
Seeing the Green Team triumph
Give a cheer --
As we will prevail.
WE ARE SUPREME
THEY WON'T END OUR DREAM
NOTHING'LL STOP THE MIGHTY GREEN TEAM!
WE REIGN SUPREME
WE FULFILLED OUR DREAM,
NOTHING HAS STOPPED THE MIGHTY GREEN TEAM!

(VOLCANO)
[CHORUS]
I DON'T KNOW, I DON'T KNOW
I DON'T KNOW WHERE WHITE'S AGONNA GO
WHEN THE GREEN TEAM EXPLODES.

Green Team moving from day one
Gobblin' points out in the sun.
Pretty soon we start to fly
White Team freaks and starts to cry.
EXPLODE NOW!
[CHORUS]

Now Russ and Pete,
They said to me,
Man, this team cannot be beat,
Unity will win this fight,
Fingers high until song night
Hear us say now...
[CHORUS]
MR. KLEIN NOW

Here we stand and sing our song
White, you wonder what went wrong.
In the lake and on the fields,
We fought hard and did not yield.
[CHORUS]

(TEARS IN HEAVEN)
A view from a lake
Is where Andy stood,
He had a dream
Which gave us Robin Hood.
Robin Hood, if we could,
We'd remain here with you
Forever.

A land we all share,
A love that is so rare,
And now thanks to John,
Andy's dream lives on.

You've shown us all
That you do care,
And so, John, we always know
You'll be there.

What a beautiful morning
He sang us every day,
Andy, though you've left us,
Your love is here to stay.

Robin Hood, if we could,
We'd remain here with you
Forever.

A place of perfect peace,
These days will never cease.
The Realm will never part
Deep within our hearts,
In our hearts.

You've done for us
The most one can do,
And so, John, we'd like to say
We love you.

(DUKE OF EARL)
[CHORUS]
Green (green, green)
Green's the team (team, team)
Team to beat (beat, beat)
Beat the White (white, white).

Five (five, five)
Five long days (days, days)
Days of strength (strength,strength)
Strength and might (might, might).

We're, we're gonna win this war,
We've settled up the score,
'Cause we're the great Green Team,
Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah.
[CHORUS]

Now, (now, now)
Vic'try's near (near, near)
Near, tonight (night, night)
KEEP IT GREEN!

WHITE TEAM SONGS

(OH, WHAT A NIGHT)
Oh, Green and White,
Five long days past since we picked the beans,
Since that day we knew we'd beat the Green
We've battled hard
We've won the fight.

[CHORUS]
OH, WE'RE THE WHITE
WE GAVE OUR ALL; IT'S TIME FOR VICTORY
WE PASSED THE GREEN, THEY DID NOT EVEN SEE
WE'RE HAVING FUN
WE'VE WON THE FIGHT.

Oh, Green
You never had a chance, White reigne supreme
(All the time)
The White never turned our backs, we neve quit the fight.

Oh, we're the White,
With Kern and Pelton leading at the helm
Our dream team completely swept the Realm
Green surrendered
Lost the fight.
[CHORUS]

(GOODBYE, STRANGER)
We've been working five long days
And now we're singing songs,
We really have enjoyed the games
But now our time has come.

[CHORUS]
WE'RE A TEAM THAT'S ON A MISSION
WE'RE A TEAM THAT HAS A GOAL,
WE'VE ENJOYED THE COMPETITION
AND THE WHITE WILL TAKE IT ALL.

Now White's got just what it takes
To win this color war,
From the PJ's to the Shires
On the fields and on the courts.
[CHORUS]

And White will keep on shining
Shining all night through,
We'd like to thank the Judges
And thank the Green Team, too.

We're the White Team,
We're the best,
We're the winners,
We've passed the test.

So now the battle's over,
Green and White is finally done,
It can hardly be disputed
We've come this far as one.

(IF I ONLY HAD A HEART)
We will sweep you in the morning
Come at you with no warning,
We're better than the rest
'Cause you know we've got the spirit
And you know you're gonna hear it
'Cause the White Team is the best.

You know that you'll be sayin'
It's White you will be playin'
We'll put you to the test
And you'll probably be scrammin'
'Cause the White Team will be jammin'
Yes, the White Team is the best.

Yes, White will win it all,
You know you'll never see us fall,
We're better than we've ever been before
Oh, White will fight, and fight some more

So here we are 'a singin',
You'll hear our voices ringin'
We're better than the rest
'Cause you know we've got the spirit
And you know you're gonna hear it
'Cause the White Team is the best.

(ST. ELMO'S FIRE)
Summer, a time to laugh and cry,
New friends, and old ones standing by,
This is the best place we will ever see
Right here the Realm brings out th strength in me.

Andy found a place kids could play,
He came, he knew that we'd always stay.
He was so strong, his power never swayed
And the love he gave will never fade away

[CHORUS]
Andy's gone
John carries on, tradition's strong
And to the Realm we will return again
It's just like then.

John's here, our everlasting friend,
He makes sure this camp will never end,
He gives his heart and gives his soul t us
We know that he is the one we trust.

Oh, John, you know how much we love camp
Each year, we dream of coming back,
And the tears we shed, each time we sa
goodbye
Will be in our hearts, forever more.
[CHORUS]

Robin Hood, soon we will say goodbye
For Robin Hood, our love will never die.

INTER-CAMP ATHLETICS

SOFTBALL

It was one tremendous summer in my fourth year as the self-proclaimed Director of Baseball and Softball operations at the hallowed Realm. Thank you, players, coaches, officials, scorers, and fans. Thank you, Tom, Gene, and the Saxons for supporting my attempts to maintain quality field conditions for our players and our opponents. Thank you, Liz and Dick and your staff for providing pictures and words that memorialize our childrens' efforts. And thank you, John, Chuck, Chuck, Joan, and Freaky for your outstanding support and committment to the success of our program.

Remember when...we returned to Pat's Pizza as repeat champions of the Wekeela Invitational...Beefsteak or peanut butter at Winaukee Island, and Sez losing the cash...Chuck "Norm" Eisenberg's double...your first ever hit...Dr. K's K's...Lisa Haralambie's stroke and 7 for 7...Molly Meltzer turning her thumbs in...Toby Stern's power beating Tecumseh...Wechsler's dedication and hard work making him our leader...Jaime Markowitz being our player, coach, and perhaps only I remember her giving me the greatest compliment a coach can get when she said, "Where were you today, we needed you?"..Alton played by the rules...and finally on that next to last day, a stormy Monday it was, when we combined baseball with golf and tennis as Gangi, Corbin, and Sez went deep to the tennis courts yelling "FORE!" in the HR Derby, but to the dismay of many, Haralambie and Blunden took the whole thing. And finally, remember I love you all.

To summarize each group's intercamp competition schedule is not an easy task. While I was present for most games, there were some I missed. In any event here I present a capsulized record of our competitive season.

12 & Under Softball: The potential talent of this group is outstanding. Our Rookie of the Year, Jaime Lucove, stood out, but close behind included a plethora of future stars. Caitlin Rothstein, Lizzy Forwand, Carolyn Lewenberg, Emily Hall, Stephanie Whitehorn, Erin Herrmann, Lauren Joseph, Lisa Rudikoff, Alicia Meltzer, Gaby Collier, Brooke Doppelt, Jess Freidin, Jessica Lurie, and Amy Rabin worked hard and played hard improving their skills all the while. Playdays provided the competition for this group. In these meetings the girls represented themselves well. Jester activity periods also revealed more talent to come. Amy Whiting, Cori Ziman, Dana Rempell, Sarah Mendelsohn, Beth Herrmann, Julie Ritz, and Liz Eisenberg all give promise to the future of Robin Hood softball.

13 & Under Softball: This was a solid group. Featuring a core of returning softball players that included Jamie Koss, Lizzy Whitehorn, Jenny Soltoff, Jill Markowitz, Sarah Meltzer, and Ruth Nadler, the team faired well throughout the season. Team newcomers Alicia Kenny, Johanna Fierman, and Amy Eisenberg each contributed. The absence due to injury of last year's Rookie of the Year, Daniela Harris, took a little away from this group, and I hope she'll be back in playing form next summer. Several of the girls on these teams were major contributors to our 15 & Under Championship team, both in preparing for the tourney and performing in it as you shall see.

15 & Under Softball: Another championship season was had by this group repeating as Wekeela Invitational Tournament Champions. Despite losing to Wicosuta on the day before the tournament, we left camp optimistic for Canton, Maine. I was baffled by a new route and got lost in Conway. Soon we righted and arrived at Wekeela, fashionably late. After all, we were the defending champs! The team was led by Abby Fierman, Lisa Haralambie, Jaime Markowitz, Jessica Judelsohn, Ann Rubinstein, and Alexandra Vernaton. They had all played on last year's championship team. Due to injuries, Becca Zeitlin and Sari Nadler stayed in camp, but we knew they were there in their hearts. Tapawingo, from Sweden, was our first opponent. We dispatched them quickly, scoring ten runs before they got to Jamie Koss for two in the fourth. Our rallies were sparked by Lisa Haralambie, Jessica Judelsohn, and Ann Rubinstein. Final score, 16-4. We faced Wekeela in the finals. They scored two in the first, but singles by Lizzy Whitehorn, Jaime Markowitz, and Lisa Haralambie tied it after one. Jamie Koss shut down Wekeela after that, and we built up a 12-2 lead. Lisa Haralambie's triple and homerun keyed the offense, and singles by Jamie Koss, Abby Fierman, Ariel Friedman, Jaime Lucove, and Ann Rubinstein contributed. Wekeela scored three times in the sixth to no avail, and we were the champions. Who'll ever forget leaving coach in the parking lot, Cheryl and Connie clunking heads, and the victory dinner at Pat's Pizza, where we vowed to return again next year. Sure, the girls lost to Forest Acres and lost to Vega later in the year, but Wekeela was our highlight. Thanks, girls! You are The Champions!!

BASEBALL

15 & Under Baseball: The 15 & Under boys played just three games this season, and despite not winning, they played hard and showed some promise for '93. The team had just a few true 15 year olds including Coach's Award winner Matt Wechsler, Jeff Jablow, David Greenbaum, Mike Deatly, and Doug Lipsky.

Our season began on July 11 versus Tecumseh. The aura of Tecumseh was prevalent as Todd Dery and I drove past Swallow Point Road in Moultonborough. Josh Kampf, a promising 14 year old, pitched the first two innings. We scratched out a run and trailed 4-1 after two. Mike Deatly, Matt Wechsler, and 13 year old Aaron Schildkrout also pitched in the six inning contest. Jay Shroyer, Gregg Whiting, Josh Kampf, Mike Deatly, and Doug Lipsky each had hits to give us four runs, but we dropped the game 10-4.

A week later we met Birchmont in what turned out to be a marathon affair. After trailing most of the game 8-1, we tied it in the seventh when the Birchmont pitcher walked in Eric Jelin. After four hours of play we agreed to play one more inning. Birchmont scored four times, and we dropped a 12-8 decision. The game marked the debut of two of Josh Kampf's Connecticut buddies, Tom Greco and Eric Kaplan. The two 13 year olds should be instrumental in the baseball program in the next two years.

Our final game of the season was the first round Robin Hood Tourney tilt. Josh Kampf pitched brilliantly against the eventual champion, Alton. They scored three runs early on a couple of bleeders and a sun ball. Matt Bronson's two-run single in the fourth closed the gap to 3-2. Then in the fifth we loaded the bases with no outs and didn't score; that, in essence, closed out our season. Alton scored two in the sixth for a 5-2 final. Alton continued on to defeat Pemigewasset, then Winaukee in the final. A lot of boys will return to this team bolstered by a strong group of 13 year olds, and I'll promise you here, we will win our tournament next year!

13 & Under Baseball: This was a very talented and busy group this year. The heart of this team had won the Tri-State Tourney in 1991 and continued their winning ways in 1992. An initial 4-1 loss to West End was followed by three victories over Winaukee, Tecumseh, and Calumet. A final playday loss to Winaukee in three innings took none of the lustre off this team. Defensively the battery of Aaron Schildkrout and Aaron Price was outstanding. BIC Danny Kramer and Jon Stahler also saw action on the mound. Matt Bronson, Eric Jelin, Toby Stern, and the Connecticut Connection all contributed offensively. It was great coaching these boys, and I look forward to seeing you all again next summer.

12 & Under Baseball: The 12 & Under team again had a great year. Team leaders Danny Kramer, Brett Friedlander, Matt Leebow, and Scott Rempell led the team again to the Lakes Tourney final. The results were slightly different than last year as we ran into a strong pitcher from Winaukee Mainland and lost 5-1. It was a glorious ride with this group who always played with guts and heart. And with 10 and 11 year olds Rob Singer, Mike Jacobs, Justin Brant, Jeff Baumgardner, Matt Nayor, Josh Stein-Sapir, Josh Bailey, Marc Glick, Garrett Dale, Jordan Klein, and Rookie of the Year Alex Rabinowitz, the future looks bright.

During the tournament we beat Birchmont 8-6 at Birchmont. In that game Matt Leebow stole home twice, Danny Kramer struck out ten, Alex Rabinowitz threw out one runner at the plate and doubled a man off first after catching a sinking liner in left, Josh "Beetle" Bailey threw out a runner at first from right field, and Mike Jacobs saved the game with a diving stop at short in the 7th. In the semi-finals we crushed Winaukee Island on the Island. Dr. K. again struck out ten. Scott Rempell, Chuck Eisenberg, and Danny Kramer were the offensive stars. Final score 10-6 was not that close.

We again traveled to Winaukee for the finals but seemed to leave our bats at home. Triples by Rob Singer and Justin Brant was all we could muster against a fine young pitcher and our season ended. As I said that day, I was very proud to have coached that team. Congratulations, you're Champs in my eyes.

Homerun Derby--by Adam Marc Leonard
The Second Annual Homerun Derby was held on the next-to-the-last day of camp, with twenty camper/staff pairs going for the title. The duos of John Klein/Mike Brewer, Connie Blunden/Lisa Haralambie, and ET/Eric Kaplan tied for the top spot with five homers. Sez/Stahler, Ken LaFreniere/Mike Deatly, Jess Gangi/Josh Kampf, Doug Spear/Rob Singer, and defending champs, Peter Corbin/Matt Wechsler, rounded out the Elite Eight. In the qualifying round ET had five homers and Corbin four; Sez, Gangi, and Corbin all went deep into the tennis courts. But in the finals it was the girls' team that stroked four homers to edge out Brewer and Klein for the title. Congratulations, Connie and Lisa! We hope you'll return to defend your championship next year.

BASKETBALL

Boys 15 & Under: 15 + Under basketball team traveled to West End to open their 1992 camp season. A large contingent representing Senior Camp provided vocal support to offset the rowdy home crowd. In an evenly-fought first half, the lead and momentum swung back and forth. At the break, the home team held a one-point advantage. An excellent third quarter saw the visitors open up a pair of seven point leads only to have West End claw back to tie the score at the end of three periods. The final quarter was a see-saw battle of exchanged leads culminating in a dramatic final 30 seconds. With the score even at 51, West End had possession and had the opportunity to run the clock down for a last shot. They elected to shoot with 22 seconds, missed, and Robin Hood claimed the all-important defensive rebound. The visitors moved the ball down the floor, utilized two timeouts, and set the stage for a fairy tale ending. Following the designated play to the letter, Robin Hood swung the ball around the floor and found Mike Brewer with 5 seconds remaining. From then on, Brew was on his own and, adding an exclamation point to his superb performance, hit an off-balance jumper to win the game as the final buzzer sounded. He finished with 26 points, ably supported by playmaker Mike Deatly with 10 points and a couple of key second-half steals. Mike Rosen and Mike Weinberg battled manfully on the boards all night and, despite nagging injuries including a sprained ankle, Jeff Jablow went the distance in a gutsy performance. Tom Burns, Theo Gangi, and Eli Eisenberg made significant contributions off the bench.

In the rematch between West End and the homecourt of Robin Hood 15 + Under squads, the visitors exacted their revenge in convincing fashion 58-37. With the addition of three new starters, including a pair of talented Israeli players, West End presented a formidable lineup. An overflow home crowd was treated to some early sterling play by Foresters M. Brewer and M. Deatly, but the visitors gradually pressed their advantage, taking control by half-time, and fashioned an insurmountable lead by the end of the third quarter. Both teams substituted freely during the fourth period that saw West End cruise to a well-deserved 20 point victory.

After preparing for nearly two weeks, Robin Hood was finally ready for their 15 + Under home tournament. A 10:00 start was anticipated for the Hooders first-round game against Calumet, but they were unable to play, automatically vaulting Robin Hood into the semis. There, they met Camp Wigwam in what turned out to be a very exciting game. Michael Brewer had an incredible first half that saw Robin Hood leading by 11. However, Wigwam fought their way back and captured a birth into the finals with a close 68-66 victory. Mike Brewer displayed the greatest individual performance Robin Hood has ever seen, scoring 48 points and playing the entire fourth quarter with 4 fouls. Mike Deatly ran the team well as he had all season. It was a disappointing end to a season that saw everyone improve. Brian Snyder provided strong play off the bench, as did Roger Goldberg and Theo Gangi.

Boys 13 & Under: possibly the best future of any sports team in camp, the 13 + Under Basketball team has unlimited potential. Consisting of four Friars, 8 Lancers, and one Yeoman, the 13 + Unders had a successful season. Once these young men become more experienced and familiar with the game situation, they should be a cominating force at the 15 + Under level.

After a couple of successful practices, the 13 + Under team was ready to tackle the six team field at the Lakes Region Tourney at Winaukee. In Game 1, a mini qualifier, Robin Hood faced Mario and the Winaukee Silver squad. In the first half, Robin Hood came out flat. Winaukee jumped out to a quick 6-2 lead and after a time-out, the bench came on and gave us a big boost. Playmaker Danny Kramer's lay up with 10 seconds left in the half gave Robin Hood a 12-11 lead at the intermission. The second half was all Robin Hood as everyone contributed to an excellent effort. The starters, Kramer, Brandon, Barnett, Big John Stahler, Adam Hamburg, and Aaron Schildkraut were just too much for Winaukee to handle. The final Robin Hood 22, Winaukee 14.

After scouting Tecumseh, Robin Hood knew it would be a tough task to defeat their team. An injured finger kept Barnett out of the starting lineup, but his cousin, Brett Friedlander, filled in admirably. Friedlander's jumper in the first half tied the score at 7-7. At halftime, Robin Hood trailed by 4. In the second half, it was all Tecumseh. The eventual tournament champions outscored Robin Hood 17-4. One bright spot for Robin Hood was the play of Tom Greco who, despite playing with 4 fouls, grabbed 10 rebounds.

Game 3 was the best game of the tournament. It was the semi finals versus Marist and Robin Hood, after a lengthy rest, was fresh. Marist was a solid opponent, with two real athletic forwards complementing their big center. Coach Matt Dery decided to switch back to a "two-fives" format with 10 kids rotating in and out of the game. A see-saw start to the beginning saw both teams trade baskets three times. The second five of Barnett, Albert Cohen, Creco, Damian Paumi, and Eric Kaplan provided a big boost with defense. Cohen and Greco each had 4 first half rebounds and Eric Kaplan had 2 steals and 2 hoops to close out the first half, Robin Hood 14, Marist 13. The second half was as close as the first. Marist came out strong and pulled out to a five point lead. After a time out, Kaplan took over. The Cheshire, Connecticut resident had his best game of the summer scoring two more baskets and three free throws to open up a 21-18 lead with one minute remaining. An offense/defense substitution with the speedy Michael Jacobs got Robin Hood a key steal with the score tied at 21. Big John got off a good shot and was fouled with 40 ticks left. He missed the free throws and Marist went on to score two hoops to go up 25-21. Marist fouled Greco who hit 1 of 2 from the line. Robin Hood got the ball back with ten seconds left down by three. Robin Hood inbounded the ball to Barnett who took a three-pointer from the top of the key. It fell off the rim and Robin Hood lost 25-22. It was an exciting and fun-filled game.

Game 4 was an opportunity to showcase some of the future stars for next year's 13 + Under team. Michael Jacobs got a start and played well against Kenwood. Toby Stern hit two free throws and played excellent defense forcing three or four turnovers. The real story, though, was the hustle and play of Matt Leebow. Leebow, only 12 years old, played hard in every game and always gave his best effort. Against Kenwood, Matt picked up the slack with 6 points and three key steals. Robin Hood lost the game, but everyone got a chance to play and contribute.

Boys 12 & Under: Without one practice, the 12 & Under basketball team rose to the occasion at West End. They all played their hearts out and never gave up. Down by 14 points at the start of the fourth quarter, the team came roaring back and cut the lead to five points before finally falling by eight, 36-28. Dan Kramer played a great game defensively as well as handling the ball on offense. He led the team in scoring with 10 points. Brett Friedlander and Matt Leebow also contributed solid efforts with 8 points each. A great overall effort was put forth by the whole team.

Boys 10 & Under: the first two games (which were all 15 minutes long) of the Lakes Tournament started off a little shaky. The boys were tired from the ride over and were a bit disoriented. But after a 5-4 win over the Winaukee "B" team, the RH team played much better. The defense became unstoppable and every player was full of vigor. In the quarter-final game, Jeff Baumgardner and Ari Goldberg had excellent games. Goldberg had almost every assist and Baumgardner scored 8 in a 16-4 win. The semi-final game was against a tough Tecumseh team. We played them in a game earlier and lost 26-6. But the boys dug in deep and with three minutes remaining, it was Tecumseh 22 and RH 21! We did end by losing by 5 points but it was an impressive performance by the whole team. Especially good games were played by Michael Ziman, Matt Nayor and Zach Lazar, along with the aforementioned Goldberg and Baumgardner.

The tens played Winaukee again. High scorers, both with 6 points, were Brad Friedman and Brad Feigenbaum. Great rebounding and assisting by Zach Lazar. Two great guard in Todd Leebow and Brad Rice. One amazing jump shot was swished by Jarret Kaplus and Robin Hood won over Winaukee, 20 to 14. Another great game against Winaukee found RH on top again, 13-12.

Girls 13 & Under basketball: due to the stormy weather conditions, our first basketball game against Vega was cut to one 15 minute quarter. We finished with a two point lead with Jill Markowitz as our leading scorer.

The second basketball game between Robin Hood and Vega was intense! Our players worked together as a team, being able to retrieve the rebounds and gain possession of the ball. Their concentration on team work helped them to assist each other. Vega said at the end of the game that we were the only team to have given them any competition. The end of the game found RH and Vega tied at 32-32.

Girls 11 & Under: the girls played an excellent defensive and offensive game against Birchmont. The first basket was made within the first two minutes of the game by Stephanie Whitehorn! Steph went on to score two more baskets. Lauren Joseph also made two incredible baskets along with Alicia Meltzer. In the second half, Jessica Freidin and Caitlin Rothstein both scored a basket and Rebecca Strauss made the final point in the game. Contributing to the RH win over Birchmont, 20-2, were Angie Joffe, Brooke Doppelt, Jessica Lurie and Carolyn Lewenberg.

The Bows played a tough man-to-man defense during another intercamp game against Birchmont. Alicia Meltzer scored two baskets and was the playmaker for part of the game. Caitlin Rothstein also scored two baskets and was the other playmaker in the game. Lauren Joseph, Jessica Freidin and Stephanie Whitehorn scored the other baskets. Also contributing to the team were Brooke Doppelt, Rebecca Strauss and Angie Joffe.

SOCCER

10 & Under: the strength of this team showed at the Winaukee Lakes Region Tournament when we took an impressive third place. Against Birchmont, our strength showed most. A 6-0 win was mounted with a hat-trick from Ari Goldberg and goals from Michael Ziman, Brad Rice, and Garrett Dale. Dale, the driving force in the team, had two more goals in the tournament as did Ari Goldberg, whose goal-scoring ability has been invaluable to the team this season. A coach could not ask for a more enthusiastic squad. Special mentions must also go to Noah Meyers, Michael Ziman, Zach Lazar, Brad Rice, Ben Farrer, and Todd Leebow.

11 & Under: the 11 & Under team grew in strength as this season progressed. Throughout the season, Michael "bite yer legs" Jacobs terrorized the oppositions. Brian Hochman ensured stability in defense with his cool, calm attitude; Alex Rabinowitz' silky skills dazzled the opposing defenses. Garrett Dale waltzed past player after player before unleashing that lethal right-foot shot. Michael Ziman's sheer energy and enthusiasm, Beetle Bailey's fearless goalkeeping, and Zach Lazar's solid tackling matched with his "happy-go-lucky" attitude made this team the most entertaining in camp.

13 & Under: the 13 & Under team had a mixed start to the season. In the RH tournament we won the first game impressively with goals from Matt Leebow and an Eric Jelin 30 yard "crackerjacker." However, we did not fare well in the next two qualifying games, thus not reaching the semi-finals. RH brought in the managerial skills of Josh Lipsky for the clash with Winaukee. Lipsky's unorthodox team formation paid dividends and RH cruised to a 3-0 win. Eric Jelin, Adam Hamburg, Jordan Strassburger, Jason Friedman, Danny Kramer, and Albert Cohen played well throughout the season.

15 & Under: when this team began to roll, nobody could stop them. At Winaukee six of our seven tournament goals came from the francophone trio: 3 goals for Edouard Meylan, 2 for Guillaume Morel, and 1 for Benoit Caille. The other goal was scored by Michael "the mudbath" Deatly whose right-foot strikes caused much discomfort for the goalkeepers at the tournament.

At Wekeela RH blasted their way into the finals, beating the home side 4-0 with two goals each for Edouard and Guillaume. However, we went down 3-1 to Manitou in the final, Guillaume grabbing our solitary goal.

In the final game of the season at home to Calumet, RH turned on the style. Michael Deatly dominated the game-scoring hat trick; Guillaume was there again with another two goals; and Todd Barnett finished off a 6-0 thrashing with a well-taken goal.

The success of this team was the result of the many great characters it contained. Tournaments with this team were always full of events: mudslides, waterfights, van breakdowns, and Guillaume losing his lunch. Certain players deserve a mention for the effort they put in. Eric Jelin played in a team two years older without any problems. Jay Shroyer played almost every position including goalkeeper and never looked out of place. Todd Barnett and Michael Deatly formed a solid midfield partnership. Doug "Handball" Lipsky made crunching tackles in defense, and then there was the "connection European," Edouard, Guillaume, and Benoit whose dribbling and passing interchanges tore many opposing defenses apart this season.

Thanks goes to Jon Jablow, Josh Lipsky, and Dick Roberts for helping out with the teams, and thank you to everyone else involved in the soccer program for making such an enjoyable summer for Becca and me.
Cheers Big Ears
Steve Banks

The 1992 girls´ soccer program got off to a great start with some experienced players returning who were joined by newcomers to both soccer and Robin Hood. For the Jesters, games like Dizzy Izzy and sideline soccer helped to improve skills for dribbling and shooting, as well as passing. The small-sided scrimmages prepared them well for the 12 & Under team. Kari Kirschenbaum and Liz Eisenberg played excellent offense as Amy Whiting backed them up at defense.

The 12 & Under Jesters were assisted by some of the Bows in their efforts at play days. Carolyn Lewenberg worked with Kari up front to create a strong attack while Jessie Freidin played well as stopper to help Amy in the defensive end. Lauren Joseph played beautifully as half- back and scored two unassisted goals from around 25 yards out. The Bows also played well Parents´ Weekend when they beat the parents and counselors 1-0.

For the Arrows, over 20 girls played on the 13 & Under team at one time or another. Although they really wanted to go to Merrywood, the girls settled for play days. They had a rough season playing some excellent teams, but the girls never gave up. Nikki Kirschenbaum, Johanna Fierman, and Ruth Nadler worked well together to control the offense as Lizzy Whitehorn and Veronica Erard backed them up at defense. Using some of the skills she learned during specialty week, Jennifer Kops played an excellent left fullback. Jamie Koss and Jamie Lucove split time in goal to strengthen the defense.

The 15 & Under team was made up mostly of Shires with some Scribes and Arrows filling out the team. The Shires, many of whom participated in specialty week, practiced their skills in playdays and did fairly well. Becca Zeitlin and Abby Fierman headed up the offense as Jamie Markowitz and Sari Nadler led the defense. Arrow Jamie Koss played very well as goalie for the 15 & Unders. In an intercamp game in this age group, the girls met Calumet in a week full of other intercamp activities. As tired as they were, the girls put up a good fight with Becca Zeitlin and Lisa Haralambie heading the attack. Unfortunately, the girls lost in overtime 1-0.

Remember the Calumet handballs, and the girl who scored one goal for each team. Remember how Lisa thanked her. I wish we could forget Vega, but I don´t think we ever will. It´s too bad they feel the need to fight with their fists, not their feet.

To all the girls, it was a great season, and when everyone returns, next summer will look even better.

LACROSSE

STEVE GOULDER & BECCA STEIN

Ah....lacrosse. It began as a bloody means by which e American Indians resolved their wars and has veloped into an intracamp Robin Hood sport anchored the pristine palace, timber teepee, and Lax shack. e lacrosse program witnessed much improvement this mmer and once again rumors spread of future tercamp competition. The PJ's, guided by a quick d nimble Jeremy Goldberg, aptly learned the basic rowing and catching skills. Jose Akle, David ldberg, and Brad Rice demonstrated their superb ssing abilities during their intragroup scrimmages. e numerous Squarcher division displayed their lents on Visitors' Day. Stephen Davis, Ari ldberg, and Noah Meyers all improved on their stick skills. Drew Cox (#15), Dale Garrett, Jordan Klein, Noah Sherman, and Alex Rabinowitz developed good cradling techniques while demonstrating excellent field knowledge during scrimmages.

With Jesse Kohn, Andrew Leonard, and Michael Jacobs, the Yeomen group showed much potential. Joined with those individuals Marc Glick, the Hochmans, Squires, and Rob Singer all participated in fast-paced, aggressive games. Talent was abundant in the Lancer group. They loved to get their aggression out on one another. Chris Adams, the hard-hitting, body-slamming Brandon Barnett, speed specialist Jason Friedman, and defensive standouts Aaron Schildkrout, Josh Slater, and Stuart Urquhart provided the skills necessary for successful games. Special mention to Toby Stern, Justin Brandt, Matt Munkenbeck, and Danny Kramer is needed for their tremendous improvement and effort. Adam Hamburg dominated the Lancer group with his superb face-and- roll dodges and passing skills.

The Friars with Jess Gangi and Brett Weinberg were an enthusiastic bunch. The Cheshire Connection of goalie Josh Kampf and forwards Tom Greco and Eric Kaplan all learned the game quite quickly. Guillaume Morel, Eric Jelin, Matt Bronson, Jay Shroyer, Jon Kauffman, Tom Burns, & Brian Snyder improved tremendously and were consistent participants. Both Roger Goldberg and Aaron "breathe" Price were outstanding as they ran the field for their teams. The dynamic duo of Jamie Dolin and K. Sol brought the Foresters to the lacrosse field where aggressiveness was given a new meaning. Jason Tuchman's hustle matched with Larry Gutman's and David Bronson's skillful stickwork to create thrilling matches. Todd Barnett, Benoit Caille, Jeff Jablow, Jeremy Bronson, and Mike Deatly enthusiastically participated during their group activity periods where they perfected their line drills.

The program of girls' lacrosse shifted this year as we tried to teach the girls more of the rules and positions of girls' lacrosse. The Jesters got a chance to try the real lacrosse sticks and almost everybody got a chance to use a real girls' stick. One without any pocket. The girls all throw and catch very well and with little effort, the Arrows even learned to do it lefty. The games went well and most people learned to make a successful poke check, but some of the girls still got knocked on the knuckles. Remember not to break the bubble. A few times people aimed for the field hockey goals by accident, but that just made it all the more interesting. Jenny Soltoff gets the cradle award because she was one of the few to remember she had to cradle, and Angie Joffe gets the courage award for volunteering to play goalie.

The Jesters and Bows engaged in challenging butt-drills and scrimmages. The efforts of Liz Eisenberg, Amy Whiting, and Cori Ziman all need to be commended. Led by Gaby Collier, Alicia Meltzer, Brooke Doppelt, and Jessica Lurie, the Bows improved their knowledge of the game. The Arrows were always a joy as their zealous combo of Meg Sobel and Liz Kessler participated with their campers. Ruth Nadler, Jenny Soltoff, Johanna Fierman, and Jill Markowitz improved on their cradling and passing skills, and the entire group traveled through the deep woods for a camp tour featuring the "Lethal Weapon" toilet and the red kayak from "Jaws." The Shires/Scribes also improved their skills with the eventful butt-drills and line-drills. Both groups had excellent scrimmages with Sari Nadler, Jaime Markowitz, Lisa Haralambie, Ann Rubinstein, and Jess Judelsohn showcasing their talents. Robin Hood lacrosse is well on its way to becoming an intercamp affair. Becca Stein's work with the female division is much appreciated and has helped in the development of the girls' program. Robin Hood is a very special place, and the memories of the summer of '92 should always be remembered. I hope to see all of you back in the Realm in 1993.

THE MEDIA

NEWSPAPER

These 'N Those, the camp newspaper, put out more good pages this year than ever before due to the continued creativity of a hard-working staff. Old traditions, such as the Parents' Day Edition and the ghost picture, were continued. Camp Trivia became a popular new department. A series of articles on the specialty departments and staff was enjoyed by both interviewers and interviewees. Reporters on this assignment were as follows: Riding--Fallyn Smith and Dana Rempell; Photography--Adam Rothschild; Newspaper--Amy Rabin; Woodworking--David Dickerman; Gymnastics--Daniela Gerson and Kari Kirschenbaum; Drama--Amy Rabin and Stephie Whitehorn; Radio Station--David Greenbaum; Infirmary--Julie Ritz, Jana Villarreal, Daniela Hernandez and Kari Kirschenbaum; Riflery--Josh Weiner; Swimming--Josh Aronoff; Archery--David Abuaf and Josh Edmundson; Arts and Crafts--Beth Herrmann and Kari Kirschenbaum; Waterskiing--Chris Wolf; Tripcrafts--David Dickerman; Sailing--Reagan Curtner and Karla B. Moreno; Baseball--David Abuaf and Josh Edmundson; Canoeing--Josh Aronoff; SCUBA--Justin Locke; Basketball--Jordan Strassburger; Girls' Basketball--Josh Aronoff. The few departments not yet covered can expect a visit from TNT early next season.

Adam Leonard, Josh Weiner, Amy Rabin, Ben Farrer, Josh Edmundson, Erin Herrmann and others gave editorial oversight and technical support. A major triumph of the core staff was the 1992 Ghost Picture, which was somewhat diminished by the limitations of the RH copying machine, but which was a true triumph in its original condition. The model for the "ghost" of Robin Hood was Bob Kerr, who genially arose at dawn on a Sunday morning and consented to be draped in sheets while wearing a Robin Hood hat and being poised with a bow and arrow. Among the planners of this triumph were Lowell Jacobson, Josh Edmundson, Stephie Whitehorn, Josh Weiner, Adam Rothschild and Ben Farrer, all of whom contributed to the stories which accompanied the picture.

Josh Weiner, who won the TNT "Best in Camp" award, was acclaimed by all for his excellent story on the Squarcher's trip up Mount Washington. Emily Hall and Nastya Barabanov did the honors when the Bows climbed Mt. Chocorua. A fine summary of the first four weeks of camp was written for the Parents' Edition by Andrew Gralnek. Beth Herrmann wrote a tribute to Executive Chef Steve Whiting, who came to the kitchen at 1:30 a.m. to put the 190-pound Parents' Day beef roast in the oven.

Amy Rabin and Becca Strauss told readers about the RH girls' effort to restore the Outdoor Theater. Caitlin Rothstein wrote an article about the "Musical Revue." She also served as editor for girls' sports. Sports coverage was excellent this year, though it would be impossible to cover all of the many RH sports events. Matt Dery and Doug Spear wrote a fine article on the 15 & Under Basketball team's July 3 triumph over West End, and Adam Leonard did an equally fine job when the 15 & Under Girls' Basketball team won a second trophy in the Wekeela Tournament. Erin Herrmann gave a sterling account when RH swimmers won the July 17 swim meet against camps Alton and Belknap. Adam Leonard and Brad Friedman kept campers up to date on Wimbledon and the Olympics, and Adam gave coverage to the Baseball All-Star game and the realignment of the National League. Drew Cox did a professional job of covering Junior Camp Sports, and Jeff Stone wrote an article on PJ Ping-Pong. Showing enormous restraint, TNT writers limited themselves to one page of coverage on the continuing water wars. Lowell Jacobson produced an illustrated article on what the public needs to know about the Super Soaker, and David Dickerman summarized the soggy stalemate between the Squarchers and the Yeomen.

LIZ KNIGHT DICK KNIGHT

The 1992 TNT's were a visual delight. The creative duo of Karla Moreno and Mayra Morett contributed lovely drawings and also some copy. Gaby Collier, Sarah Mendelsohn, Oscar Scolari, Liz Eisenberg, Alicia Kenny, Noel Methot, Jennie Soltoff, Cora Crowley, Daniela Hernandez, Jen Heyman, Jana Villarreal, Amy Rabin, Ruth Nadler, Sarah Meltzer, Veronica Erard, Eve Klein, Beth Herrmann, Lowell Jacobson, Eduardo Capriles, Alison Horowitz, and MaggieGoldwasser contributed lovely drawings. Julie Ritz outproduced the entire art staff by making 18 excellent drawings in a single one-hour class! Carolyn Lewenberg and Beth Herrmann drew cartoons. One of the loveliest pages was headed by Becca Strauss' beautiful poem "Robin Hood Lake," beautifully illustrated by Mayra Morett. Art pages were twice edited by Jesters' classes, and once each by Mayra Morett, Josh Edmundson and the team of Oscar Scolari and Jose Akle.

Comics Editor Josh Morgan produced four fine pages. Scott Gordon made a comics page late in the year and also made a fine contribution to layout and headlines, racking up many stars the last two weeks of camp. TNT staff members, who receive stars for their efforts, were stars indeed as they produced an outstanding camp newspaper!

It was another exciting and busy year in photography! About 140 campers took advantage of photography instruction and the darkroom facilities. They all improved their knowledge and skill in one or more of the following areas: picture-taking (cameras and films), film and paper processing (photo-chemicals) and print-making (enlargers and photographic papers).

The Jesters had 100% participation in photography and spent most of their class-time making prints rather than taking pictures. They made prints from camp negatives and they made all kinds of photograms. One of the hardest parts of photography is loading an exposed roll of film onto a processing reel in total darkness. Two Jesters accomplished this feat: Cora Crowley and Dana Rempell. A frequent subject of all camp photographers was tiny Jester Tina Fekula. Many rest hours she was in the darkroom printing camp negatives of herself to give to her mother, our sailing counselor.

The Bows were very active in both picture-taking and print-making. Loading film in the dark for processing was accomplished by Nastya Barabanov, Gabrielle Collier, Emily Hall, Angelique Joffe and Alicia Meltzer. Making photograms was another popular darkroom activity. Gabrielle made a funny Donald Duck photogram and Jennifer Heyman made a nice Happy Birthday photogram to give to her father. Another popular subject for camp photographers was Erin Herrmann; she also spent time in the darkroom printing pictures of herself for her parents.

The Arrows were busy taking pictures but for some reason they did not find the time to load and process their film here at camp. They did print a number of camp negatives for themselves and their parents.

The Shires and Scribes were avid picture-takers. Also many of them took good advantage of the darkroom facilities. The following Shires made many enlargements from camp negatives plus some from their own negatives: Abby Fierman, Jess Judelsohn, Molly Meltzer, Brooke Ritz, Ann Rubinstein, Emily Sagalyn, Alexandra Vernaton and Rebecca Zeitlin. Only Brooke and Emily loaded and processed their own film. Brooke practiced in the darkroom every opportunity that she had and increased her photographic knowledge and skill such that she earned the Photography Award for Most Improved camper in the girls´ program.

The Scribes printed their favorite camp negatives which were group shots of themselves taken around camp and at Ogunquit Beach. Heather Smith was the most active Scribe. She took pictures, loaded and processed film and made many enlargements, some of which required "dodging" techniques. She practiced during class time, rest hours and open periods. With all that practice and determination she earned the Photography Award for Best in Camp in the girls´ program.

The Pager-Jugglers continued their tradition of trapping chipmunks, having their pictures taken with the animal and then letting it go. Being right next door to the Photo Darkroom, they frequently borrowed camp cameras, printed camp negatives and made photograms. The most active PJs were David Goldberg, Chris Herrmann, Michael Squires, Jeffrey Stone and John Zirinsky.

I could write a whole book about the Squire-Archers! What a fantastic group of avid picture-takers and print-makers. They were the most active group with young, enthusiastic budding photographers who requested many classes, filled up every class, came again during most rest hours and participated in the Green and White photo contest. The following campers successfully accomplished film loading in the dark, processing film and paper and making enlargements: David Abuaf, Jeff Baumgardner, Eduardo Capriles, Drew Cox, Stephen Davis, Josh Edmundson, Ben Farrer, Brad Friedman, Ari Goldberg, Scott Gordon, Josh Morgan, Adam Rothschild, Ted Schwartzberg and Josh Weiner. Four of these Squire-Archers were recognized at Awards Night with Honorable Mentions because of their fine improvement in photography: David, Eduardo, Scott and Josh. For the second year in a row, Adam Rothschild won the Photography Award for Best in Camp for the boys´ junior program. He continued to increase his photo knowledge and skill by making positive-image prints form a pinhole campers, panoramic prints from a reloaded, disposable "Stretch" camera, prints of different contrast by using Polycontrast filters and b+w prints form color negatives using both Polycontrast paper and Panalure paper.

How great to have such a fine turnout from senior camp boys. This year the Yeomen, Lancers and Friars attended in large numbers and even the Foresters came on several occasions. The following campers exposed film, loaded it in the dark, processed it and printed from their own negatives: Yeomen Phil Becker, Eric Jacobstein, David Jaffe and Matt Shear; Lancers Shawn Clyman, Richard Gordon, Marcus Magarian and Jordan Strassburger; Friars Josh Aronoff, Rick Bailey, Roger Goldberg, Guillaume Morel, Josh Neidorf and Eric Jelin; and Forester Adam Leonard.

The Photography Awards in boys´ senior camp are listed below: Friar Josh Neidorf was recognized at Awards Night with an Honorable Mention for his fine improvement. The camper who advanced most in knowledge and skill over the summer was Rick Bailey. He received the Most Improved or Progress and Achievement photo award. It was a photo-finish for the top award for two campers who excelled throughout the summer; Lancer Shawn Clyman and Forester Adam Leonard lead their respective photo teams during the Green and White competition. For their efforts they shared the Best in Camp or Effort and Skill photo award.

My congratulations go out to the Award winners and also to everyone who participated in photography. Winning an Award is very nice but it isn't everything. If you did the best you could, learned something new or improved a skill and had fun doing it, then you can be pleased and proud of yourself. I am pleased and proud of all of you. And remember, there is always another year to try again to excel. I'll see you next summer.

RIDING

MARK WEBB

The winter passed quickly, and once again I fortunately found myself at the Realm of Robin Hood. Along with veteran Jon, two new staff were to be given the task of combining their skill and communicative powers to reach the campers at the Sherwood Forest Stables. Four horses from last year returned, bringing with them 6 new noble steeds, all set to give the best riding experiences ever. Names at first confusing, Dutch, Gonzo, Max, Batman, Levi, and Socks, together with favorites such as Ellen, Scat, Splash, and Chuck, made the summer a truly memorable one.

Riders were split into their respective groups and then assessed, in turn being split into experience levels. Lessons quickly got underway and many campers from last year showed that they hadn't lost the progress they had achieved during the summer of '91. The Jesters came first, as always, and quickly demanded the fastest horses north of Kansas. The rain didn't deter many of Junior Camp, as the Squarchers would say, "Water won't hurt us, and the horses need a bath!"

We went to Camp Robindel for girls, and out of 4 camps we took overall first with many of the girls gaining very high places. In particular, Heather Smith took best equitation rider and also won her advanced jumping class.

Riding Recalls: Where's Jay Shroyer, Batman is at the waterfront!; It's only the third time he's come off in one lesson!; Jennifer Kops is in the woods on the floor; Emily Sagalyn-Not that high; Cori Ziman-I get Socks!; Liz Eisenberg-I get Socks; Cori Ziman-No you don't, because he said he likes me best; Eric Jelin-Ellen's fat; Mark-Ellen's pregnant!

We had Junior Camp come to the stables for their annual cook-out, treasure hunt and apple-bobbing contest. Only one horse endured the onslaught of Eduardo Capriles, Amy Whiting and Beth Herrmann. Batman, the Brave, fought right to the end, but had to cede the Junior Camps excessive apple hunger. Our pet 'loon' bird, "Garth", escaped once or twice but luckily was captured half way up a tree in the woods by a keen-sighted Cori Ziman. Two eggs were laid in the cage, and we all waited expectantly for them to hatch. These 'loon' eggs do take a long time and they're such a funny color!

Freedom Parade proved to be a little exciting for the horses. Ten riders rode a round trip of 7 miles to get there, but with all the noise and confusion, we felt it best to return home.

Robindel returned to Robin Hood, and we all had great fun with a mixture of gymkhana, jumping, and handy pony. We once again came out on top with Veronica Erard, Johanna Fierman, Heather Smith, Emily Lamy, and Sarah Mendelsohn being amongst the ribbon winners.

Our successful "Drill Ride" for Parents´ Weekend was again demonstrated by ten select riders. Heather Smith, Emily Lamy, Johanna Fierman, Veronica Erard, Carolyn Holland, Eric Jelin, Jay Shroyer, Shawn Clyman, John Zirinsky, and Andrew Gralnek all did a wonderful job and put in many hours of practice both on horses and on foot. The weather was kind to us, and thankfully, once again being able to use the soccer field, they were able to perform an extremely professional display.

Riding Recalls: Michael Rosen is off again, does he like eating sand;PJ´s, Max and Splash are upto their old tricks; Sarah Mendelsohn-I´m not riding Max; Nastya-I can only find these skin-tight pants; Rebecca Strauss-I´ve read a book about confidence-building and I´m fine now; John Zirinsky-I´m not riding in front of my sister; Johanna Fierman-Please let me canter 2 point; Josh Morgan-I think I love Socks, don´t tell Spritzer; whole Drill Team-There´s no way we´re getting up at 6 AM again; Ali-This rain puts a new ´spectrum´ on the day!

My BIC Senior girl went to Heather Smith, who truly is a most competent, mature, young lady. She was able to help me at the stables whenever she could and her enthusiasm excelled. My BIC Senior boy went to Eric Jelin, who showed that he can be equally as big a help around the stables as he is a proficient rider. Junior Camp BIC went to John Zirinsky. He showed great aptitude for riding and the older he gets, the more his riding skills will develop. He was a joy to have at the stables.

All in all, everybody had a great riding summer. The rain often didn´t deter riders, even water-polo was suggested. My staff of Ali, Jon, and Greg were brilliant, and we shared in some great moments. Once again, many thanks to Gene Doe for helping me in more ways than I can mention. What a great ´mailman he was! My staff also excelled. Summers were designed for camp, and I hope they continue in the way this one finished.

RIFLERY

STEVE BARNDT

The summer of 1992 reached another all time high in all levels of riflery at the Sherwood Forest Rifle Range. By the end of the season 47,000 rounds had been fired and a large section of the camp came out to the range to shoot. Over 9,000 targets were submitted for scoring and 87 boys and 30 girls earned shooting awards; from Pro-Marksman (PM) through Expert 2. Among these, 324 levels of awards were earned.

Of 15 PJ´s, 13 earned 35 different levels of awards. The most improved in the group was Matt Rosenfeld, earning Sharpshooter through Bar 3 (sitting). The high shooter of the group was again Matt, shooting a high score of 89. There were 35 Squarchers who came to riflery as many times that were available, to learn new and to improve on old shooting abilities. 22 earned 54 different levels of awards. The most improved learner was Stephen Davis, earning PM through Bar 5 (kneeling) who was also the best shooter in the group, shooting 92. 26 Yeomen came to riflery with 18 earning 56 different levels of awards. The most improved shooters were Andrew Bonito earning SS through Bar 9 (standing) and Jeff Squires earning Bar 7 & 8 (standing). The high shooter of the group was Jeff Squires who shot a 50 out of 50. 27 Lancers also came to riflery to expand on skills already learned with 18 earning 65 different levels of awards. The two most improved were Shawn Clyman and Ari Kandel, both earning five Experts. The high shooters of the group were Shawn with three 50´s and Ari with 100. 21 Friars came to riflery to have fun while improving their skills with 13 earning 42 different levels of awards. The most improved learner was Andres Castro earning SS through Expert combined with the JOSP program also earning PM through Expert I. The high shooter of the group was Albert Cohen shooting a 50.

A large number of Foresters came out to the range for fun shooting with three earning 6 different levels of awards. Benoit Caille attained PM through SS and Jason Finkel earned SS. The best shooter was Benoit shooting a 47. 14 Jesters came to riflery and all learned new skills with a lot of fun; five earned 6 different levels of awards. The two most improved were Fallyn Smith who earned PM and MM and Amy Whiting who earned Bar 1. The high shooter was Amy with a 164 out of 200. 23 Bows improved on new shooting skills with 12 earning 28 different levels of awards. The two most improved were Jessica Freidin earning PM through Bar 1 and Alicia Meltzer earning MM 1st through Bar 1. The high shooter was Elizabeth Stark shooting 165 out of 200. 13 Arrows earned 28 different awards. Jennifer Kops earned PM through Bar 1 followed by Maggie Goldwasser earning SS through Bar 2 (sitting). The high shooter was Lisa Rudikoff shooting a 167 out of 200.

1992 Boys Riflery Teams: 15 and under - J.J. Ackell, Andres Castro, Albert Cohen, Jason Friedman, Richard Gordon, Michael Holczer, Marcus Magarian, Jay Shroyer and Josh Slater. 12 and under - Andrew Bonito, Shawn Clyman, Charles Eisenberg, Ari Kandel, Josh Kirschenbaum, Noah Sherman, Zachary Smith, Jeff Squires, Robert Squires, Joshua Stein-Sapir and Manuel Villarreal. 10 and under - Jose Akle, Eduardo Capriles, Stephen Davis, Josh Edmundson, Ari Goldberg, David Goldberg, Jay Klein, Noah Meyers, Jorge Moreno, Nicholas Munkenbeck, Matt Rosenfeld and Michael Squires. 1992 Girls Riflery Teams: 15 and under - Maggie Goldwasser, Alicia Kenny, Eve Klein and Jennifer Kops. 12 and under - Jessica Freidin, Erin Herrmann, Alicia Meltzer, Karla Moreno, Mayra Morett, Lisa Rudikoff, Liz Stark and Amy Whiting.

My love and thanks to everyone who made 1992 the greatest summer at Sherwood Forest Rifle Range. Steve

RH AT OGUNQUIT

SPECIAL EVENTS

SAILING

CARA FEKULA

The Robin Hood sailing program made history this year! For the first time ever, sailing races were included in Green and White. This would not have been possible without the enthusiasm, interest, and support of many Robin Hood campers. From hours spent at the chalkboard and on the water ("No, pull the tiller this way!", "You can't sail into the wind!", "Pull your sail in!", "No, let your sail out!", "Duck, you're about to jibe!"), skills and confidence developed. Also, for the first time, a windsurfing program was developed, headed by Andy.

The Green and White competition included a cross-section of Senior Camp: Lancers Shawn Clyman, Richie Gordon, Doug Squires; Arrows Hayley Butera, Jenny Kops, Lisa Rudikoff; and Foresters Eli Eisenberg and Michael Rosen. However, there were many others who showed racing knowledge and boat handling ability that gave the sailing staff the courage to attempt this event, as well as those whose commitment and interest in sailing indicates that they are well on their way. With pride and admiration we recognize in particular and in addition to those already mentioned: PJ's Paul Fekula, Michael Squires; Squarchers (an especially dedicated group) David Abuaf, Stephen Davis, Alex Fekula, Matt Nayor, Adam Rothschild, Ted Schwartzberg, Josh Weiner, Chris Wolf, Ben Zale; Bows Emily Hall, Noel Methot, Caitlin Rothstein; Yeomen (tennis ball tag experts) Phil Becker, Andrew Bonito, Charlie Eisenberg, David Jaffe, Josh Kirschenbaum, Matt Shear, Jeff Squires; Arrows Carolyn Holland, Rachel Katz; Lancers David Lazarus, Justin Brant; Friars Rick Bailey, Matt Bronson, Michael Holczer; Foresters David Bronson, Benoit Caille, Gregg Whiting; and Saxon Edouard Meylan, whom we thank for his assistance.

At Awards' Night, coach's racing awards were presented to Shawn Clyman, Richie Gordon, and Doug Squires. For continued effort and achievment, Adam Rothschild and Alex Fekula tied for best in Junior Camp and were considered the Most Improved Junior sailors. Noel Methot and Caitlin Rothstein were recognized for their outstanding progress in the girls' program. For his determination and commitment Phil Becker was named the Most Improved sailor in Senior Camp, while Michael Holczer took BIC not only for his sailing ability, but also for his love of the sport and commitment to helping others.

A record number of 5 trips to the Main Lake with various combinations of PJ's, Squarchers, Yeomen, Lancers, Arrows, and Foresters also highlighted the sailing season. A swamped canoe (Where's the radio, JJ?), blueberry picking, sailing (not being towed) back from the main lake, a consolation ice cream trip after a rain-shortened effort and blue skies and steady wind made these forays memorable. Eve, Alicia, Hayley, and Jordy got a quick and unexpected lesson in heavy weather sailing (!). Woody ended up upside down. We had our first sailing with Camp Huckins and got know to Maddie, the white boxer of Bay View Marina.

For this group of sailing instructors it has been rewarding and fun to see uncertainty turn to confidence, fearful first-timers become solo sailors and sometimes just to watch the beauty of the sails on the water. Cara Fekula, Andy Davey, Dave Gershenson.

SCUBA DIVING

JOHN MAITLAND

Remember when...Michael Jacobs took off his mask underwater...Maggie Goldwasser pulled the emergency CO2 cartridge.. Jake fell down with the tank on and couldn't get back up...Mike Ziman wouldn't roll off the diving board...Justin Locke fed the catfish...the catfish chased the Yeomen group out of the water...we found several thousand baby catfish...we had to sing "Sesame Street" to pass our snorkel test... David Jaffe wasn't at SCUBA...I didn't have to repeat everything twice.

This summer has been my second here at Robin Hood and has been even more successful than my first. the children of Robin Hood love the water and have progressed very quickly down at the SCUBA front. In Junior Camp there were many boys and girls who were very enthusiastic to find and explore the depths of Lake Ossipee. Keen PJ snorkellers such as Paul Fekula, Brad Rice and Michael Squires spent more of their time below water than above, busy looking for clams and fish. Enthusiastic Squarcher snorkellers were David Dickerman, Ben Farrer, Alex Fekula, Adam Rothschild, Ted Schwartzberg, Noah Sherman, and Chris Wolf. Josh Morgan showed great courage in falling off the diving board backwards, simulating boat entry. Well done, Josh! After successfully completing all of the snorkelling tests and theory lessons, David Abuaf and Josh Weiner proved to be confident enough to go on and use the Aqualung. This they did with great exuberance, looking even more curiously at the underwater world. Josh Weiner went on to win the Most Improved SCUBA diver in Junior Camp and David Abuaf won best in Junior Camp. Jesters and Bows keen to take the plunge were Sarah Mendelsohn, Dana Rempell, Erin Herrmann, Jessica Freidin, Reagan Curtner, Alicia Meltzer, Amy Rabin, and Caitlin Rothstein. Alicia Kenny, Nikki Kirschenbaum and Maggie Goldwasser of the Arrows used the Aqualung with great confidence and ability. Hayley Butera did exceptionally well and achieved the Most Improved award.

This year the Yeomen´s dream of being able to SCUBA dive came true. For the last two years, I have been telling these kids..."Wait until you are in Senior Camp before you get to use the Aqualung." Well, this year Charlie Eisenberg, Brian Hochman, Jake Hochman, Jeff Squires, and Michael Ziman were in Senior Camp and were all eager to try out the Aqualung and explore Robin Hood´s SCUBA pool. Many Lancers and Friars who dived last year dove again this year and managed to improve their skills. Josh Aronoff did exceptionally well to win the Most Improved award this year. Foresters such as Michael Rosen, Eli Eisenberg and Gregg Whiting also showed great improvement. We were successful yet again in raising the sunken boat!! The "Best in Camp´ award has got to go to Saxon, Justin Locke, who has been an invaluable assistant to me, especially when there are five screaming Archers ´round about me all wanting attention at the same time.

I look forward to an other exciting summer next year teaching new kids to dive and improving the skills of existing divers. See you all in 1993.

SWIMMING

UZAY YAZAR & GEZ MORGAN

As always, it came and went before we knew it. Another beautiful summer of island swims, tower jumps, swim meets, waterpolo matches, and of course, the occasional set of assigned laps! Regulating the lake heaters for those first-period swims was not always the easiest of tasks, but we did it!

In 1992 Camp Robin Hood´s swimmers attended meets at Camp Belknap, Camp Vega, and our home Invitational Gala. At Camp Belknap 12 & Under boys and girls competed against boys from Alton and the host camp. Noel Methot swam excellently to take the 25-meter backstroke and butterfly titles ahead of boys from both opposing camps. Drew Cox led from start to finish to win the individual medley race, while Erin Herrmann and Alex Fekula bravely contested their first swim meet. Robin Hood crushed the opposition, winning the meet with a total of 50 points - 26 points ahead of the nearest camp!

Outstanding swimmers at Robin Hood´s Invitational Meet included Veronica Erard´s memorable and hard-fought backstroke victory in the face of exceptional competition. Emily Sagalyn and Emilie Grand-Perret also recorded excellent victories.

"Robin Hood victorious ´til the end."

Again, many thanks to Uzay, Gez, David, Vy, and Chris. Take care and see you next year.

TENNIS

ERIC NADLER

This year was an eventful one for the Sherwood Forest Tennis Club. We had a new staff and new experiences. Andy, Woody, Shandra, NADS, and later Sandra provided instruction for all those who wanted it. Almost every camper in the Realm improved their game in some way and all learned the importance of good sportsmanship. A new thing we focused on this year was match play and psychology. Green and White proved that campers had learned a great deal this summer.

Now let's rewind the film and remember...Specialty Week...the Vague lunges...Brett's commentary...If you win the toss, elect to...trying to master the spin serve..."We only are doing a little sprinting"...maybe a little more...Tri-States...Ziman's spirited play...our song JAM...Ari's new experience...J.B. and Brett making the finals...and who could forget Samoset--Jabs and Snyder pulling a NADS...Beetle's tough match...NADS and the coach from Cedar...and, of course, Deatly's and Brewer's semi-finals match without stepping on the court...Brewer's dunk for intimidation...Wicosuta--our rain delay...Jaime's sole victory...our van ride back and the topics of discussion...and who could forget Robindel - Where is it? Ask the Bakers (or whatever their name was)...Sari's and Lisa's meeting with Chester...the miraculous playing of JAM on the radio...Giggle's turn-around win...Sari and Jaime win a match....Robin Hood, 28 points...everyone having at least one friend there.

Remember Green & White....Michael Squires's win over David Goldberg...Aaron Rosenfeld's spirited doubles play...Lisa's big win over Randi...NADS vs. WOODY - 11-9 Woody in the tie-break...the good sportsmanship and close matches...and those special moments--Josh Lipsky's input on tennis etiquette...the entertainment value of camper/staff partners Sari Nadler and Jeremy Goldberg...the Brian Snyder and Todd Dery classic match...followed by Ratner/Snyder...the Shires and their evening activity..Freaky and Betsy's big improvement over the summer through their private lessons...Cleveland vs. Pittsburgh and Cleveland wins in three sets...Scribes' creative use of the ball machine...these memories will always be with us.

I must offer congratulations to the champions of the Realm... Brian Snyder as the winner of the Matt Leebow Memorial BIC trophy...Randi Najarian as the winner of the first-ever woman's BIC invitational...Ari Goldberg as the winner of BIJC.

I would love to thank Brian Ratner, Brett Weinberg, Josh Moskowitz, Connie Blunden, Amy Ginsberg, and Michael Feiner for their big help during specialty week. I could not have made it through the week without them. Most of all, I thank Woody, Andy, Shandra, and Sandra. We all endured a lot (Woody was hit 5 times a week by stray balls) and this staff made the summer run smoothly. I can't wait to see everyone next year. And over the winter, remember to PUSH.

TRIPCRAFTS

DREW STRAUSS

Camp is for the wimpy, but Trips -- Trips are the "real" young men and women who make up the Realm. With the help of Steve (I´m from Kansas, watch out when I click my heels) Randle and our supercalafragilisticexpialadocious leader, Drew "Major Mt. Major" Strauss. We don´t mess around. July was not the best, weather wise, but nothing was about to stop the children of Sherwood Forest!

As is the tradition here at Robin Hood, all of our Junior Campers were involved in an exciting evening at the Outpost. Each group prepared their own personal foil dinners, created "s´mores", and hopefully learned a little bit of outdoor awareness. Some personal remembrances include: Drew Cox paying $25 for a duck...the Bows asking Drew Strauss if he is a retired all-star Wrestler...the Bows having to return because of rain...the Jesters waking Steve up at 5:00 a.m. This year, we were even graced by the presence of a Sr. Camp group. The Yeomen heard about the great times had by the Jr. Camp and decided to join in on the fun. Thank you all.

At 2000 vertical feet in 1.4 miles the Mt. Wildcat Ridge trail doesn´t mess around, but then neither did the mighty Squarchers of 1992. Because of its open exposed ledges and steepness of ascent, the group was split in two parts with half the group climbing on the 29th of July and the other half on the 30th. Interestingly, the days and the groups were very different. Group I, with staff of Peter Corbin, Kenny LaFreniere, Josh Moskowitz, and Drew Stauss started at the Pinkham Notch Camp, 2000 feet above sea level with an opening temperature of 84 degrees - little did we know it would get hotter, not cooler, as we ascended! The first mile is fairly level and passes Lost Pond where we looked for evidence of beaver activity. At the 1.0 mile mark, we turned left and began our ascent of the ridge. A difficult .4 of a mile later we stopped for lunch, squeezed into a natural rock chimney with our sandwiches and consumed some precious water. A tenth of a mile later, we were rewarded with our first ledge and views straight down into the Notch. With Alex Fekula and Josh Edmundson in the lead, we pushed on to the second ledge a 1/2 mile up and at least 700 feet higher but with water running low and the temperature going up, we used this stop for fruit. Then it was on to the summit with the temperature approaching 90 degrees, water low, no breeze, and the bugs driving us batty. The Squarchers,though, would not be beaten, would they Drew Cox, David Abuaf, Jeff Baumgardner, Luke Andrews, and Ari Goldberg? We made it to the gondolas for a quick trip down and on to McDonalds as the rain prevented us from going to Rocky Gorge. Then back to camp where some of us had a second dinner! I think we earned it. Group II staff consisted of Chris Cooper, John Jablow, Steve Randle, and Drew Strauss. Where the day before had roasted our tootsies, today´s climb found us donning jackets at Pinkham Notch as a cool wind ripped through the Notch. The wind turned to a blessing as it blew the humidity away and kept us cool during our climb. We feasted on PBJ´s, turkey and roast beef at the first set of ledges and oranges and apples on the second set of ledges (which Gabe lost at 4000 feet). What incredible views with Chris Wolf, Adam Rothschild and David Leaf leading the way and Josh Weiner telling me about climbing camp in the Adirondacks. We flew up that ridge. Before we knocked off the final summit, the campers imitated their favorite tennis grunters, Monica Seles and Andre Agassi. There we polished off the blueberry Nutri-Grain bars and looked at the snow on Tuckerman´s from across the Notch. How were those bars, Josh Morgan, Matt Nayor, Danny Wilansky? Manuel Villarreal, Alex Rabinowitz, Josh Weiner, Noah Meyers took off with another group and headed for the gondolas and a neat trip down. We had time for Rocky Gorge and then Mickey D´s for dinner. Afterwards, we had a major time and distance discussion which would have made Einstein proud. Then camp, showers! Well done, all!

On July 6-7, thirteen Squarchers tackled the diverse climate of Mt. Washington and Tuckerman´s Ravine. The group included: Gabe Goldwasser, Jeff Baumgardner, Lowell Jacobson, Noah Sherman, Noah Myers, David Abauf, David Leaf, Stephen Davis, Drew Cox, Josh Edmundson, Josh Weiner, Ted Schwartzberg, and Adam Sobel. On the first day, the group climbed 2.2 miles to the Hermit Lake Shelters. At the lean-to´s, a delicious pasta dinner was prepared by Josh Moskowitz and the Arch Angel frighteningly put the children to sleep. The following morning, the group trudged through a treacherous Tuckerman´s Ravine trail and ascended to the top. At an altitude of 6,233 feet, the group conquered the highest point in the north east. After descending through sleet and a snow packed mountain face, the group finished off a long two days at McDonalds. Good job, Squarchers!

Robin Hood´s first co-ed trip of the year involved Friars and Shires. We attempted to tackle the above-timber-line summit of Mt. Jefferson (via the exposed Cap Ridge Trail). Campers included Josh Aronoff, Matt Bronson, Andres Castro, Albert Cohen, Jon Feigenbaum, Roger Goldberg, Aaron Price, Aron Weinberg, Lindsey Fieldman, Becca Zeitlin, and Ann Rubinstein. We knocked off the first 1.5 miles in record time. At tree line, however, we encountered heavy clouds and after 20 minutes of a hard driving rain, we were forced to retreat. To venture above tree line under these conditions would have been foolish. Without complaint, the troops decended down the mountain and headed for a well deserved meal at Pizza Hut.

The P.J.´s and the Jesters had two identical climbs, though it must be said that in both cases, better time was set by the Jesters. I will not speculate on the reason for this and you, the reader, may draw your own conclusion. The P.J.´s and Jesters both climbed Major Mt. Major! The P.J.´s seemed to enjoy it more perhaps due to some major league wipe out on the part of the Jesters on the way down! Lunch was enjoyed on top with magnificant views of Lake Winnipesaukee. We could even see Mt. Washington in the distance. Finishing off both climbs, the Jester´s stopped for ice cream at Bailey´s while the P.J.´s stopped at PJ´s! - how fitting. Incidentally, the second P.J.´s van wanted to put catsup on their faces and tell the front van they stopped at McDonald´s - nice try, boys!

The P.J.'s Willard climb was sandwiched between two major rainstorms but it was really neat being in the clouds for most of the climb. The Jesters had a magnificent day with incredible views down into Crawford Notch. They then proceeded to sing "Boom-Chicka-Boom" all the way down the mountain and the whole time at Rocky Gorge. Then, for both groups, it was the real thing - McDonalds for dinner and back to camp.

On July 20-21, the Bows challenged (and conquered) Mt. Chocorua. After hearing the legend of the Great Indian Chief Chocorua and the origination of the mountain's name, they felt the need to subdue this picturesque peak. With a total mileage of 7.2 miles for the day, many beautiful sights were encountered. Pitcher and Champney Falls were swollen with unusually heavy July rains. The dynamic falls gave everyone a chance to cool off and prepare for the ascent to the top. The view from the summit was well worth the effort: Ossipee Lake to the south, Presidential Range of the White Mountains to the north, and Pemigewasset Wilderness to the west. After a hardy descent, which included some interesting topics of discussion, we all enjoyed Rocky Gorge. With a quick stop at the grocery store, the team journeyed into the Land of the Lost and a camp ground we will never forget - choosing between tattoos and dinner, the group wisely chose a fine dinner cooked by master chefs Andrea and Laura. Having assembled the tents, Steve mysteriously disappeared into his noisy tent while s'mores and stories were had by a wonderful Bow group. The following morning, we broke camp and ate breakfast at McDonalds. Good job, Bows!

A Lancer group consisting of Justin Brant, Shawn Clyman, Andrew Freedman, Jason Friedman, Matt Golden, Richie Gordon, Dave Lazarus, Marcus Magarian, Scott Rempell, Doug Squires, Jordan Strassburger, and Stuart Urquhart along with our #1 volunteer Josh Lipsky, joined Steve and Drew on our second attempt at Jefferson via the Caps Ridge Trail. Climbing 2700 feet on 2.5 miles, this trail just does not mess around. And, neither did we! We were rewarded with an incredible view of Mt. Adams and Mt. Washington as we climbed the third highest peak in New England. Highlights included a question by a camper who said, "Did you really eat your pillow?" after Drew's discussion about 25 pound marshmallows...and, nearing the summit, Drew's dreaded words..."Gentlemen - to the top!" were not openly appreciated by one of our mighty Realm.

An incredible group of Yeomen led by Phil Becker, Andrew Gralnek, Jeff Hess, Brian Hochman, Danny Horowitz, David Jaffe, Josh Kirschenbaum, Jesse Kohn, Andrew Leonard, Zachary Smith, Robert Spitzer, Jeff Squires, Robert Squires, and Mike Ziman knocked off the stupendous Mt. Webster. With help from the intrepid Eric Pelton, who incidentally did an outstanding job, and the beautiful Rachel, who was on loan from the kitchen and who was a definite distraction, we had a wonderful day. Webster was climbed via the Appalachian Trail from the south. Though a difficult trail, the hardest climbing is encountered in the first two miles. The views from the ridge are among some of the very best in the whole White Mountains. The Yeomen proved to be excellent climbers and the views more than worth the effort. Finally, guess where we went for dinner?!

Nine brave Arrows and four daring staff members left the Realm hoping to climb Major Mt. Wildcat. Much to their dismay (NOT!) the weather turned rainy and cold. So, the thirteen of them decided to wait it out by spending a few moments reflecting over a waterfall. When the weather decided to get worse, our fearless leader, Major Drew, decided there was no better place for a group of restless 13 year olds than the Conway Mall. After a movie and dinner, the troops headed back to camp thoroughly exhausted from their rough day of climbing.

Our trip to Baxter State Park was truly the highlight of our tripping program. Consisting of a very select group of 12 Foresters and Shires (Forshires), they were Emily Sagalyn, Alex Vernaton, Abby Fierman, Molly Meltzer, Becca Zeitlin, Ann Rubinstein, Emily Grand-Perret, Michael Brewer, Ben Caille, David Greenbaum, Doug Lipsky and Gregg Whiting. Traveling 300 miles north to the park, we would be on our own for four days and completely independent of camp including showers! We left camp after breakfast and at 1:00 p.m. we surmounted our first major crisis by realizing we had left lunch in the refrigerator - no problem, we made it on the spot as Connie called her brother. Stopping for soda in E. Millinocket, we arrived at the park entrance at 4:00 p.m. But we still had an hour to traverse the 17 miles on the BSP "road" (UGH) to Nesowadnehunk camp ground. Tents were assembled and a delicious taco dinner was prepared with the help of Master Jr. Chef Whiting. Then, into Nesowadnehunk stream which showcased a maneuverable Michael Brewer, clothes and all, into the stream. S'mores and stories around the campfire completed our long day. Day two was overcast with a cloud ceiling of 2500 feet. After breakfast, we climbed Nand's Double top. David and Becca Z. joined us but may not have noticed the climb (or the whole trip for that matter.) We had a neat climb in the clouds...Greenbaum..."I know when a storm is coming, I'm a golfer"...and both summits were achieved by all our campers...Lipsky..."Watch me fly down the mountain (woops)"...Back to camp and rain where Drew succumbed and Becca Stein and Steve fixed an outstanding pasta dinner. A camp fire and the Arch Angel helped to finalize a rewarding day. Day three dawned beautifully but soon clouded over and we realized Mt. Katahdin was out of the question. A quest for moose led us to Stanley Pond and we logged in awesome time South Turner Mountain. What a view!

It was back into the Nesowadnehunk stream for most of us (not that we needed it!). Lead swimmers were Gregg and Alex. Then, dinner ala Beccabell and it was great. After dinner, the stars came out, Drew discussed white hair and we counted 17 shooting stars - what a magnificent place. Finally, it was the long trip back to the Realm with our song leader (I want to be your lover), Connie, and HOT WATER! The carryin - carryout kids had returned!

In conclusion, I would like to thank all the staff for making our program successful. Thanks to the camp administration for allowing the trips, Chuck and Freaky for working out transportation details, Steve and his staff for his help in the kitchen, Becca Stein for her "outstanding work" on the Katahdin trip and last, Steve Randle who ran the best outpost program we have had in years along with helping me run an excellent mountain program.

WATERSKIING

MICHELLE CARABOTT

Attention, ladies and gentlemen, stand by please: THE NEW BOAT HAS ARRIVED; LET THE SKIING BEGIN!!!!! The summer of 1992 will long be remembered as the summer of the Malibu Skier and as the beginning of a new era at the ski department here at Robin Hood. Let´s take a few minutes and look back at the highlights of last summer.

The PJ´s had a great summer this year with virtually everyone starting on the boom. However, thanks to good instruction and hard work, most of them moved up to the rope or became proficient on the kneeboard. Well done--we´re proud of you, and yes Paul, Michael did win the bet. P.S. "No, you cannot go tubing today!" 1992 was a successful summer for the SQUARCHERS as we saw a number of them progress from beginners to intermediates. Congratulations to Scott, Noah, Zach, Ben, Chris, Alex, Josh, and Adam, who were very successful in their endeavors. Your hard work paid off! You are well on your way to becoming ski gods. Lowell, you were the only one to go vertical in the wedgie maker and not fall out. Congrats! You even got up on your boogie board! Eduardo slipped."; "There´s too much wind."; "The rope pulled out of my hands."; "The skis are too big!" The YEOMEN kept us busy this year towing some awesome skiers like Andrew, Marc, Brian, Jason, Phil, Rob, Matt, and Josh. Eric, you hung in there and showed great improvement. Super Job! We knew you could do it! Congrats guys; we can´t wait to see you next summer! Best lines: "Is that a fish?"; "Do I have to ski?"; "Man, I´m awesome!" The FRIARS were our most competitive bunch with a lot of super skiers. We were very impressed with how far you came in just a few weeks. Must have been the coaching! Just kidding, but a "Super Job!" goes out to JK who is now barefooting and to Guillaume who soaked me learning how to slalom and who will be ready to barefoot next year. Aaron, you almost got that 180 on trick skis; they´ll be here next summer! Tom, Jon, Roger, Jay, Eric, Michael, and Josh also made great strides and are some of the better skiers in camp. You all did a super job!!! Best lines: "Greg, did you see me fall?"; "Oh, no!"; "Is that really Michelle´s boat?"; "Man, waterskiing is hard work." The FORESTERS were our die-hard group. Rain or shine we could always count on towing the Foresters. Gregg, Michael, Jeff, Larry, Todd, Doug, and David entertained and kept us busy all summer long. Thanks, we like to see that dedication! Hope you had a great winter, and we are looking forward to see more of you in the summer of ´93. Mike, next year is your barefoot year. Gregg, thanks for the RD´s! Best lines: "It´s the hydrodynamics!"; "I can get up on two skis now, can I try barefooting?"; "I´m a land sports guy myself."; Where are the girls?"; "Take me close to shore so people can see me ski." The SAXONS kept us laughing all summer long, and their help on the waterfront was greatly appreciated. We´ll definitely miss you guys! Justin, I´ll never forget your antics on the kneeboard and skis. Michael, you are a ski god: from standing on the kneeboard, to bruising parts of your anatomy trying to barefoot, to your sheer terror going mach 2 on the wedgie maker. And MC, my good man, you poured on the juice at the end of the summer and two skis have never seen such style and grace!! You guys are awesome! We´d better see you next year. Best lines: Too numerous to mention.

The JESTERS were awesome this year and deserve special recognition for their participation. Of 14 girls, 12 came to skiing and all showed great improvement over the summer. Most can now ski on the long rope. To the Fearsome Foursome of Cori, Amy, Liz, and Dana, and to Julie, Fallyn, Sarah, and Beth, we will miss your smiles and never-ending questions. "No, the water is not too cold, and yes, you do have to get wet." The BOWS of 1992 showed a lot of spirit and enthusiasm for skiing and rarely complained about the water being cold. Many of you began on the boom this summer and moved up to the long line. Congratulations to you all. Your efforts really payed off! Gaby, Erin, Angelique, Carolyn, Rebecca, Stephanie, Amy, and Jessica, thank you for your participation, hard work, and dedication. I can´t wait to see how well you all do next summer. ARROWS, Arrows, where are the Arrows? We hardly saw enough of you this summer but enjoyed the times you were there. We would like to extend our congratulations to Hayley, Jen Kops, Sarah, and Jen Soltoff who braved the waves and even cracked a smile every now and then. We look forward to seeing a lot more of you down at skiing next year! The SHIRES of 1992 were among the most active female groups ever to come to waterskiing! You ladies were awesome, and we are so pleased with the example that you have set for the younger girls! Nothing stopped the Shires from coming to waterskiing, not even the rainy weather we experienced on more than one occasion! To the French connection of Alex, Emilie, and Emilie: Felicitations! (You girls were spectacular!) And to Lisa, Molly, Lindsay, and Jamie, we are so proud of you. Have a great winter, rest up, and get ready for next season! And to the SCRIBES of ´92, we would like to say thanks for your help as spotters. You ladies made driving a lot more fun!

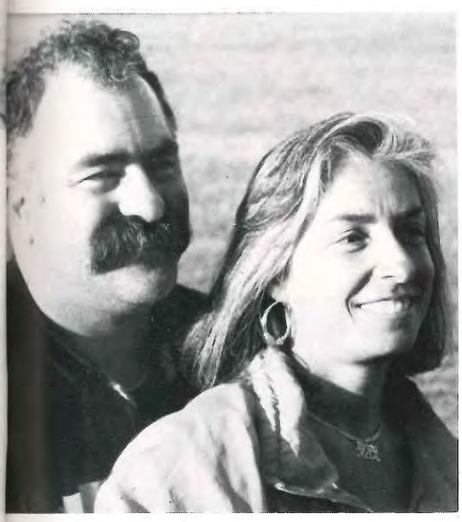

Finally, Greg and I extend our sincere thanks to Jeremy and Evan for the many weekend hours that they spent in the boat towing our little ski-meisters! Now that we have looked back at ´92, we can look forward to the new memories yet to be created in the 1993 season. Ski on!!!
