Camp Robin Hood
19 27

Fifteen years ago, Jamie and I decided to close our eyes and jump. Our lives were moving along at a beautiful pace, and we were having great success in our respective careers. And then the phone rang, and we were presented with an opportunity that we knew would only come around once: John Klein wanted to sell us Camp Robin Hood. Jamie and I had many conversations and ultimately decided that leaving a legacy should trump everything else, and what better way to do that than by positively impacting the lives of children? We knew firsthand from my experience that Robin Hood was life changing. If we could add a little magic to the trees, that would be well worth the risk of this new (and scary) endeavor.

Here we are at the end of our chapter, and we can proudly say that while we have many more grey hairs and well-imprinted wrinkles, the Robin Hood story was a beautiful one. We have heard from so many of you with heartwarming messages that confirmed our role as camp directors was a positive one. We left our footprint in the Sherwood Forest and the lives of many, including our own, are better for it.

Thank you for the opportunity, for the memories, and for the friendships.

We have achieved victory royale!!!

Now it's time to take a break from Fortnite on our iPads and reflect on the awesome 2018 summer!

Remember when Jack Ilardo and Tanner won the baggo championships? We still aren't sure if they received their grand prize! Remember when we raced the tumblers up to the top of green mountain? They had a 5 minute head start and we still beat them by 10 minutes! The view of Utah at the top was one to never forget. Remember when the King of Spain wasn't trash? We don't! Remember having a campfire with our Saxon buddies? Or getting cozy corner for Jelin's birthday? Remember BRICK SQUAD? Alone we are just bricks, but together we make a cabin! Remember how James had ridiculous diving stops in our rainy soccer match? Or how Santi won three straight Gaga games? Remember when we bought tons of candy at the Mainer's game? Crazy sugar rushes resulted! Remember when we lost to west end? Surely not! Remember when Remy made a whole boat out of noodles and rings at waterfront? Remember the Fourth of July when we had the best food, Oskar left Billygoat at the altar, and Jack Jack got married? Do you remember the camper talent show where Tyler performed Yorktown from Hamilton and Matty and Zweibel sang Lose Yourself? That was awesome! Remember when we played gold rush and Liam got all of the tennis balls? No one could even touch him! Hard to believe, but this was all in just the first two weeks!

Remember when we faced off against the Saxons at senior waterfront…and won!? Do you remember our insane Gaga challenge against the Tumblers? All of senior camp was watching and cheering us on! Ty, you killed it in that game and almost pulled off the come-from-behind victory! Jack Ilardo or Gelato? PROTECT THE PRESIDENT!! Remember Zach Zweibel's bug spray fiascos? They burned! Remember when we tried jumping the border at gymnastics? Border patrol was not friendly when we did not make it over the cheese. Remember when Matty Ice was a wakeboarding and kneeboarding expert?

Remember beach day? It was a blast! You boys rode the huge waves in the freezing cold water! The long bus rides were definitely worth it! Remember mini Green & White when the Saxons broke the war with Judge Jackson? The Green Jets won but we all still got candy canteen!! Remember So You Think You Can Dance when we put on a show with our 4-song dance? All of the other counselors came over to us and said it was the best TPJ dance in years! Remember when Luke stayed up all night on Friday the 13th to fight Pennywise? He defeated the clown with the help of the rest of the bunk! Remember when Tanner was a junior counselor at wood shop? We didn't think it could work but he pulled it off! Remember when we got Dunkin' Donuts for Milo's birthday? Delicious!

Remember excursion? Tanner and Remy rode in the back of the Tumbler van! Remember day 1? We went on the Roar-o-saurus, bamboo shoots and polar coaster at Storyland before heading to see Hotel Transylvania 3! After the movie, we slept in tents in the great outdoors! Remember day 2 of excursion? We went to Whales Tales and rode the toilet bowl, 3-2-1 drop and the raft wall where Tanner and Remy got stuck! And let's not forget about the hot tub! It is still hard for us to pick our favorite of the two days of excursion because they were both so awesome! Remember playing fortnite for EA? Remember PVD where your parents watched our dance and participated in activities like 9 square and basketball? Remember when Zach Zweibel wasn't pantsing himself or when Gelato lost a game of monopoly deal? We don't! Remember "unlucky OG?" How about when Stern dominated the Volley Lite at senior waterfront? Remember nubing a.k.a. night tubing? All of these irreplaceable memories bring us to the four week mark

Remember when the geese invaded the waterfront and we had no clue what to do? They were determined to take the beach and did not care if we were in the way! Remember when we did camper newcomb versus staff volleyball? You guys crushed us! I'm Sachin, I'm Sachin, I'm Sachin on you! Remember when we played protect the president at senior waterfront? Jelin was quite safe this summer and senior waterfront was absolutely our favorite activity! Remember when Toby got bucked off his horse but got right back on like it was nothing? That was true perseverance! Remember playing top trumps? There were so many ongoing games that it was impossible to keep track of all of them! Remember when the water pantsed Sachin when he was hanging off of the waterski boom?

Remember Green & White? It was insane! It broke on our way to newcomb with the four wheelers, motorcycles, water plane and Chuck in a wig. After the break, Green & White truly kicked off with the group electing Tyler and Tanner as captains! The bean pick split our brick squad into the White Vikings and the Green Guardians which lead to a handful of close games! Remember how Pau was a beast in soccer and schooled all of us? #RATTLED. White won the 9 square game at the buzzer and Tyler had the walk off in kickball with the bases loaded! Basketball was tied at the end after overtime, a camp first. Remember Jack Jack's diving catch at newcomb? Or when David played Tyrion in the Game of Thrones skit? Remember the talent show where Brody, David and Jack Jack were in glee and Jack Jack had his solo "Black Bird Fly"? "We're gonna skunk you"! Remember how hype song night was when Woody read the final score and announced that Green won? It was so relieving to come back as a complete group after a hard fought six days. Our last evening activity was a classic game of camper hunt, candy canteen, AND a legendary pillow fight to end it all. We really enjoyed getting to know each and every one of you throughout the seven weeks in The Realm. It goes without saying that we hope you all come back for the full session next summer to make even more memories.

TPJs

Tanner Abikoff – Tannsavage! You were a great addition to the group and we are all glad that you stayed the full seven weeks. You were always there with a wide smile and encouraged us all to never waste a minute. We hope that you will come back next summer to be a junior counselor again!

Jack Chibnik – Jack Jack! Even though you were the youngest member of the group for a second straight summer, it is clear that you have matured greatly and shined as an experienced member of the group. You were quick to show all of the new members the ropes and all of the great things that camp has to offer. We cannot wait to see you get your three year flag next summer!

Liam Cowan – Liaaam! You were ruthless at our boating periods. You also cleaned up nicely at every card game we played in the bunk. Jokes aside, we loved seeing your wide smile every day… especially the one that resulted from your gold rush domination. Hope to have your positivity back in The Realm next summer!

Paulino Barrios Gomez – Pau! You have mastered the art of soccer and none of us could even come close to defending you! It was amazing to watch you take over the TPJ group during color war with your intensity and desire to win every activity. We are glad that your brother decided to share this special place with you and hope to see you again next summer!

Oskar Goshin – Unlucky OG! It was a pleasure to watch you grow in your second year at camp. Your fashion was on point and so was your jumper. You are so sweet and silly that we know you will have a long future in The Realm. We hope you enjoyed your first excursion and expect you to dominate Green & White next year.

Tyler Grossman – Rattled! Following in your mom's footsteps, you completely ran the show. You never shied away from the big stage and encouraged others to do the same. You lead the green TPJ's superbly and showed why the rest of the group elected you as captain. We are so glad you extended from two all the way to six weeks and cannot wait to see you thrive for the full session next summer!

Jack Ilardo – Gelato! Once upon a time, you stepped off the New York bus and jumped headfirst into camp. You were ruthless in Monopoly Deal and hilarious on Skit night. We are so glad that as the four weeks went on, you changed how you felt about certain activities because when you give it your all, everyone has a better time. We would love for your gleeful attitude to return to camp.

Max Jelin – President! Every time we played Top Trumps or Monopoly Deal and you snickered or grinned wide, we had to be scared for what happened next. It always seemed like you had the best hand in every game. We are so glad that you decided to extend from four to seven weeks and loved having your goofiness around the whole time. Keep doing you, and keep coming back because you are a vital member of this group!

Matthew Johnston – Matty Vice! It was wonderful to watch you wakeboard as your skills were unmatched. Also, there was nothing better than seeing your trademark grin at any activity. We're already excited to have you back for your second summer in The Realm.

Murad Kallini – Your time at The Realm this summer was limited to just two weeks, but it was the best two weeks of the summer. You were a tactician on the soccer field and a speedster at other activities. Your amazing color war gives us hope that you now realize that camp goes by in a flash. Keep coming back and enjoy every moment.

Max Kern – Deal breaker! It is amazing how you could engage the group in a game of Monopoly Deal, and also rock it at countless activities. Keep coming back, Max!

Zane Kislin – Hype! A constant source of energy, you always brought the TPJ's up when they were down. It is clear that your brothers showed you the ways of camp.

TPJs

Milo Krnic – Jeffy! Your bedtime stories were often the funniest moments of the entire day. You are one of the most comical kids and you always had a smile or goofy face. We are glad that you decided to spend your birthday with us in The Realm and hope to celebrate again next summer!

Luke Orlowski – Treasurer! Even though you came at an unusual time, you immediately fit in with the rest of the group. You never hesitate to help out others before yourself and that is truly unique at your age. It is terrific that you have already declared your intent to stay for four weeks next summer and we cannot wait for this to become reality.

Remy Leyrer – Smile, it's Remy time! Your goofiness was contagious around the bunk. Remy, we honestly cannot remember a time when you were not smiling. You were always so happy and it rubbed off on everybody else. When you decided to try and extend for the full summer in the first week it made us so happy. Although this extension did not pan out, we hope to see you for the full seven weeks next summer!

Sachin Luft – I'm Sachin! It is really hard to come to camp at the time you did because there were campers from two different sessions. Still, you thrived by making friends and fitting in perfectly with both groups! You were always looking out for everyone else and you would ensure that we were all together and having fun! Keep coming back!

Will Morrison – Will, we are so glad that you decided to stay with the TPJs for your third summer instead of moving up to the Squire group. As a veteran member of the group, it was great having you around to let everyone know what was taking place as Green & White can get hectic. You had a calming presence about you and we hope to experience your love for camp again next year!

Santiago Perez – Esketit! At the start you were most comfortable on the soccer field, but soon thrived elsewhere. You jumped right in and you quickly became a key member of the group. Hope to see you next year!

Tobias Petrzela – We just called to say we miss you! To come in to a new environment and be able to make friends easily is really hard, but you made it look so effortless. Your maturity showed as you became a leader in the two weeks that you were here. Hopefully, you can demonstrate that for a longer time next summer!

David Porres – Heh! We may have never received a high five from you, but we did enjoy three awesome weeks together. Your athleticism improved immensely throughout your time here and you shined elsewhere, taking central roles in skits and glee. We cannot wait to see your smile back next year!

Julian Puri – Wow, you have so much energy! There was never a time I saw you when you weren't doing something; whether it was playing basketball, avoiding benches, or entertaining the group, you always kept us alive and busy. Hope to see you next summer!

Brody Russo – Ooga booga! Brody, your love for camp is unrivaled and we always see you with a smile and sunscreen on your face. You are a great kid and truly know how to have fun in any activity. Keep coming back because I feel that you have a lot to offer Robin Hood when the future comes around!

Jack Stern – Curry? We honestly may have to rename the JC basketball court to Stern Arena. You are a very good athlete and insane at basketball. Once you broke out of your shell, you were easily one of the most caring and calmest guys in the bunk. For those reasons, we eagerly await your return to Stern Arena.

Zachary Tirrell – Zach, you were clearly loving every moment of the summer and always made the most of it. You are a very respectable young man who cares deeply about his friends and camp. We are so glad that you enjoyed Color War and have already decided to come back again next summer. See you then!

James Wallace – What a save! There was nothing better than seeing you shine more and more with each passing day. You truly broke out of your shell in your first two camp weeks. Following in your brothers footsteps is hard, but you entered The Realm with your own force and vibrant personality. Can't wait to see you back for longer next summer.

Zachary Zweibel – Offset! It is rare to see someone your age love camp to the extent that you did. You were truly a leader and welcomed the rest of the group with kindness and open arms. You always wanted to make the best of activities and that enthusiasm spread throughout the group. We know it's hard to believe, but we know your third year will be the best one yet!

STAFF: Thank you all for making this summer amazing! It is very hard to jump into a group of crazy seven through nine year olds but we killed it and that is in large part thanks to all of you! We hope that you all had as great of summers as we did and look forward to another great summer next year!

BRICK SQUAD: Thank you all for making this summer our most memorable yet! We hope that you all had as much fun as we did and we cannot wait to see you thrive in The Realm next summer!

SQUIRES

WHAT'S UP SQUIRES?!

Please take this opportunity to put down your magic cards and boomerangs and prepare to go full send as we dive deep into the summer of 2018.

Our family started with Nick and Liam G arriving the night before everyone else and immediately applying aggressive amounts of sunscreen and mosquito bands whenever they walked outside. Our first EA was camper hunt and half the group decided to hide out at the archery range, causing a massive outbreak of campers. From that point, I knew it would be a wild and unforgettable summer.

Remember everyone's love for "Lift Yourself"…Power cleaning after breakfast… your counselors making absolute fools of themselves in the staff talent show… challenging the Scribes to gaga and getting absolutely rejected…Robert takes Suna down on the way to soccer and immediately gets his shoes stolen…Hudson breaks the tetherball with a powerful punch…and Robert going absolute full send at dinner by pouring an entire glass of water on his head to avoid a job?

Remember Hudson dancing like none other…going on our extremely picturesque mountain hike where all the apples were immediately thrown from the summit… the awesome nature center and Nick being scared awake by cheers when we pulled into cozy corner??

Remember when camp used Sobel's sweatshirt as a flag at breakfast…Dylan's fake sleep fiasco…bugs love to land on Liam's head…Jacob teaching Warsh how to solve a Rubix cube and how much the gnats loved Eli…playing gaga against the shires…Robert's epic fail at tackling Henry… the sweet balloon battles with Lucas' special balloon being popped in the end. Remember the Mainers game?? Ryker almost forgetting to get dressed before leaving the bunk.

Remember how you all killed it in the junior camp talent show? Hudson and Dylan busted some REAL hard moves during their acts. Remember Dylan thinking Warsh's name is Gorsh and finally learning how to say it right…Liam's clown shoes…John's countless number of spills at meals… beating the Jesters in our first challenge… tackling the cheese in gymnastics…Liam's trouble with flipping and of course the beetle invasion??

Remember Robert copying Lucas' dive and flopping hard…Freddy's interpretive dance to "I Dreamed a Dream"…Henry's American accent…Reid and Eli don't understand grammar…Hudson clotheslining Dylan… Fuente and Suna's meeting antics…Freddy and Sobel bonding over broadway…seeing Incredibles 2 and Liam putting pennies in Owen's ear…Dylan thinks Owen is such a jokester…Tristan = Krishna…Everett only saves himself during mafia…a squirrel hiding under Suna's bed…Robert getting chest hair during our meeting…Sobel losing his sunglasses in the lake and Eli having water in his ear the whole day?

Remember beach day? SO much sunscreen! That Ogunquit sun will get you… Remember our love for the snack shop… buying useless floaties that could only be used for one day? Everyone made it back in one piece and it was an extremely fun day.

Remember PVD? Honestly one of my favorite days of the entire summer. It's amazing that you guys get to have your parents come and see you all in your element at your second home. It's a great privilege and you should all thank your parents for that. Grossman's domination in gaga and Suna's incredible leg catch during bombardment? Remember Robin Hood Gives Back? Randy Pierce came and gave us all some valuable insight on how nothing is impossible and to keep following your dreams because nothing can set you back. I hope you all learned a lot from his courage and persistence and we were lucky to have him here.

Remember excursion? Chock full of fun with Whale's Tale, Storyland, and Hotel Transylvania 3…Colton the french fry thief… our love for the signing vegetable shows… Owen's weak stomach on the rides… John experiences the Purge…Lucas learning a trick with his smarties… overall an amazing two days.

Remember the second session campers finally coming?? Buman = mini Warsh… Henry winning the first drawing contest… running around in the rain on the basketball court…Everett "no bones" Pulver…JC's brother infiltrates our meeting and we don't notice…Gavyn calls Sobel "coach"… "all my friends are red!" being Warsh's favorite song that we made up…Buman's triple flip in tubing and Freddy's "proposal" to LC at dinner??

Remember Edward's lovely high pitched scream…the hat trick frenzy in our amazing soccer period…John tripping on a root… Buman's beautiful header goal in soccer against the TPJs…JC's nasty jukes in capture the flag…our beautiful and useful founder's day gift…Warsh's futile efforts to hit trees… Robert mistaking a toad for an ant…Gavyn's crucial error in carpetball…Bruno's various carpetball antics, including lying down on the table…Water Wizards vs. RAWR at Senior WF…Edward trying to battle everyone… Jasper's incredible jokes…JOHN GOT NICOL BOLAS…and of course Jasper's 10 birthday celebration! Cozy Corner for everyone!

Remember Green & White?? ATVs and a seaplane lead us to the waterfront and soon teams are announced. It's the Mighty White Vikings against the Great Green Guardians. Squires, both of your teams fought with lots of pride and integrity and it was a pleasure to be able to coach you guys in some activities. I loved watching you all compete for all 5 days.

Remember the last few days of camp, squeezing in every last ounce of fun we can with amazing periods of senior waterfront and 9 square. Remember packing up and having an amazing last night, followed unfortunately by leaving the next day. It was certainly a summer that'll go down in history, boys.

SQUIRES

Hudson Brown – Let's get the obvious out of the way. Your dance moves are the best I've ever seen from a 10 year old. That being said, your personality is exactly like your moves, energetic and full of flare. Right from the beginning you threw yourself into everything camp had to offer. You have a great sense of humor and above all else, you are incredibly kind and warm-hearted, and that showed in the way you carried yourself and treated your groupmates. Keep coming back because you are so clearly made for camp.

Zachary Buman – Having had your brother as my camper for the two previous years, I felt like I somewhat knew what to expect from you, but honestly I was blown out of the water by how mature, funny, and kind you really are. You never gave me any concerns and you don't know how much I appreciate that. You have clearly found brothers in this group and you fit in perfectly. Don't change a thing and I know you'll be back for many years in the future. Camp needs kids like you.

Nicholas Choi – Nick, where to begin. You somehow manage to fit so much personality into such a small package. You exude positive energy and I could clearly see how that rubbed off on your group mates. Sleeping next to you and waking up with a cheery good morning was a great way to start my day. This group needs more kids like you and I know you'll be back for more.

Liam Deane – I really had a sneaking suspicion from the moment you arrived that we would get along great, and boy was I right. You dominated in the competitive Green & White atmosphere and it was a pleasure to be able to see you work so hard. Your desire to wear your rain boots almost every day was the hilarity I needed to get me through some slow days and that just goes to show how much of an impact you have had on everyone here. Keep coming back because camp needs your energy and love.

Dylan Frank – You are by far and away one of the goofiest and funniest kids I have ever had the privilege of being the counselor for. Your questions always kept me on my toes and constantly made my day, and your enthusiasm for snack and mail was off the charts. You threw yourself into all the activities you could and you made a huge difference in this group. You have made some amazing friends in this group and I know they feel the same way towards you. Keep coming back, buddy.

Tristan Gilfillan – You were nothing short of perfection during your time at camp. You were hilarious and goofy, but knew when it was time to crack down and be serious. That really helped me out a lot so thank you so much for that. I really felt a strong connection with you right from the start. You thrived at camp. I hope you come back for longer next year because you have so much to offer this group.

Sam Godbout – So much to write and such little space to write it in. From knowing your brothers a bit, I could tell I was in for some serious athleticism. I was right, but what I loved most about you was your kind, caring, and goofy attitude. I know that your knee hindered you a bit while you were here, but you took it like a champ and still participated actively in every activity. Keep coming back because you embody camp and this group wouldn't be the same without you.

JC Barrios Gomez – You really found your niche this summer. You added a little bit of international flair to the group and it was easy to see how close you became to everyone in the group. Your athleticism is quite impressive and it was great to see you put that on display during Green & White soccer. But besides the point, you are one of the nicest kids to come through this group. I think you really found your place this summer and I hope you're back for many years to come.

Liam Gould – You and Nick were the first campers to arrive and honestly, I think we hit it off right away. You have such a goofy and kind personality and that fit in perfectly with this group. You never gave gave any of the staff any trouble and that just goes to show how easygoing of a kid you are. Don't change a thing and come back for longer next year!

Jacob Grossman – First off, you are an absolute riot. Your old man voice and various antics made my day. Your laughter is infectious and I know the staff and the rest of the group loved it. After our 1 on 1 talk on the first night I could tell that you would be one of my go-to guys in the group, and I was right. You really came out of your shell and became such an integral part of this group. Keep coming back because camp needs kids with your personality and spunk.

Jasper Jackson – If I could describe you in one word, I think it would have to be "positive." I rarely saw you without a smile on your face and that brought energy to every single one of your groupmates and counselors. From the moment you arrive you were excited for all the opportunities you would be able to explore at camp and you definitely took full advantage of all of them. I hope to see you back for lots of years in The Realm because your fun-loving demeanor is something your friends shouldn't be without.

Lucas Kaganovsky – Dude, you are absolutely hilarious. I knew I could always count on you for a laugh at the end of remember whens because I knew exactly what you were going to say. You really killed it this summer and became a leader in this group. I could easily see how well you bonded with the group and really came to see them as brothers. That's so crucial to a successful camper career and after these four weeks, I can tell you have a long and exciting one ahead of you. Come back for longer next year because you have so much to offer camp.

Bruno Lidell – You are certainly one of a kind. You are one of the smartest 10 year olds I have met in a long time and also incredibly mature. You carry yourself with a lot of confidence and it shows in your fun-loving spirit. You're always down for a good time but you can get serious when you need to which is extremely under appreciated. Keep coming back to camp because your brothers need you and you need them right back.

Robert Milacci – You were nothing but amazing from start to finish. You're a camp veteran and it shows in your leadership qualities. This group trusts you with a lot and you carry that responsibility with pride and care. I could always count on your for anything, whether it was a laugh, an opinion, or just someone to chat with. This group needs you and I know you'll be back for many years to come.

Owen Oliver – You absolutely rocked it this summer. Your music and baseball knowledge still astounds me to this day and I'll always remember that. But seriously, you were an absolute pleasure to be around this summer. Your hilarious attitude plus your positivity that spread throughout the group was awesome to see and speaks so much to the role you played in this group. I can already tell that you are made for camp and I know you'll be back for many years to come.

Reid Olynick – You rock man. You are absolutely adorable and rarely complained about anything, which was a huge plus for everyone. You are very mature for your age and your positive attitude spread throughout the group whenever you were around. Spending some time with you and your family on PVD was a highlight of my summer. Seeing you smile always made me happy and it's clear all your friends think extremely highly of you. You are perfect for camp and camp is perfect for you.

Eli Perrino – You are undeniably one of the funniest kids I have ever been a counselor for. Your funny remarks throughout the day always had me in stitches and that was absolutely necessary. You rarely complained about what we did as a group and you always went into everything with a positive attitude. You clearly love camp and it's evident in the carefree way you interact with the group. You have found brothers here and they need you just as much as you need them.

Everett Pulver – Your personality is one of the core reasons I loved being a Squire counselor this summer. You are energetic and full of spunk and hearing your wild laugh every morning was refreshing to hear that nothing had changed. Your love for camp and appreciation for the little things shows how important of a character you are to this group. You bring a vibe to the group that's unlike any other and you clearly have many more years left in you.

SQUIRES

Ryker Roach – Even though your time at camp was short, I could tell that you really did love spending time here. Your positivity during activities was much appreciated throughout the entire group and seeing a smile on your face made my day. I really hope you give camp another chance because your personality is so strong and camp needs attitudes like that.

Freddy Rosenthal – Ah, Freddy. You truly are the camp guru. You know this place like the back of your hand and for that I knew that I could always count on you for anything I needed. You are extremely kind and friendly and you did an amazing job of integrating the new kids into the group. Your hilarious dance moves and attempts to sing made me die laughing and I can clearly see that you're at camp for the long haul. See you next year, buddy.

Edward Shapiro – As soon as you arrived you were able to mesh back into the group as if you had never left. You are 100% made for camp and that showed in how positive and energetic you were at the end of camp, especially during Green & White. Along with JC, you added a bit of international flair to our family, which is always special to have. Keep coming back because your brothers need you here and camp is perfect for you.

Gavyn Shepard – Your constant jokes and quips were certainly appreciated by me and the rest of the group. You provided another splash of kindness and hilarity to this group of kids and I think it's clear to see that you've found your place here. Hope to see you back for many more years.

Colton Stratman – Aside from being one of the cutest kids ever, you were also one of the kids I knew I could turn to for whatever help I may have needed. You are silly and funny but also can be really serious when we all need you to be. Your athleticism is pretty off the charts and watching you during Green & White was nothing short of a privilege. We couldn't be happier that you ended up with us. Keep coming back.

John Zaccaro – A.K.A. Slug John, from start to finish you have been nothing short of a pleasure. You energy is through the roof, which was good because your sense of humor goes hand in hand with that. Similar to many others, you know when it's time to be serious, which is extremely under appreciated. Camp has clearly become a second home for you where you can let yourself feel comfortable and free, and I know you'll be back for years. See you soon.

STAFF

You guys absolutely killed it this summer. You helped me out in ways I couldn't even imagine and I know for a fact that we had the best staff on camp. Thank you guys for everything you did and I hope all of you keep coming back because being on staff can be one of the most rewarding parts of your life. I love you all and consider you guys to be extremely close friends now. Keep in touch over the year, love you guys.

SQUIRES?!

Well boys, it's been a wild ride for these past 7 weeks, but I can't imagine any group I'd rather ride it with. You are all so energetic, funny, and full of life. But above all that, you guys all clearly care so dearly about each other, and it's been my privilege to watch these friendships unfold. You all remind me of my group Squire year, so I have big hopes for you all. Just know that if any of you need anything, I'll always be around. I love you guys.

ARCHERS

Archers, Archers... I NOW PREDICT A DUKES VICTORY!!!

Don't take that last shot on the basketball court, don't go into overtime in carpet ball, and don't tap that forest manna during a heated game of Magic, The Gathering. Just sit down, kick back, and join me while we relive the best summer of our lives. Welcome to the Electric Factory.

Remember when Jackson showed up? He came in, unpacked and climbed Mt Washington. Remember Demyd arriving in The Realm and instantly establishing himself as a force to be reckoned with. Having the two of these guys around was a lot of fun, but we could not wait for the rest of you guys to walk off the busses the next day.

Remember opening day? We quickly grew from two to twenty-seven as the summer officially started. Remember playing dizzy kickball on our first night? Sam wouldn't stop spinning, Noah hit an endless amount of foul balls, and no one on staff could even make it to the plate standing. Remember our first nightly meeting in Max's area? We talked about three things; Respect, Energy, and Unity, and I can confidently say you guys took those words to heart.

Remember our first full day of activities in The Realm? Right out of the gate you guys gave everything your all. Remember all of the nicknames you guys kept making up for Brendan? Remember Bryce spilling all his water? Remember Marshmallow going into four overtimes in the carpet ball tournament? Remember Bryce and Max's food fight? Remember when Archer ate the sticker off the apple? Remember Finn's wardrobe malfunction while tubing? We ended that night watching the staff talent show, picturing our group dancing on that same stage just a few weeks later…

Remember trying all sorts of new activities? We found out Dery and Brody were stud ultimate frisbee players. Who knew freeze tag during drama with Ken could be so fun?? Remember the showdown between Gimbel and Demyd during woodshop? Remember senior waterfront? All the campers lead by Ben vs. Max – which ended with Levine becoming a human sacrifice. Remember the camper vs. staff soccer game? Remember Bryce's paddle vs. Cal?

Remember our challenge vs. the Lancers in bombardment? We might have bitten off a little more than we could chew. Even though we took the second game right down to the last person, we couldn't pull off the win. The whole staff was so proud of how hard you guys fought and how none of you ever gave up. Don't worry!! We proved our worth against the Bows in newcomb just a short while later!

Remember our dominating intercamp? Our soccer team was basically unstoppable. The first tournament of the year was played at Robin Hood and we certainly used being on home turf to our advantage. We gave up zero goals that day and had the whole camp watch our 6 - 0 win vs. West End in the championship. Our success didn't stop there. We won our next tournament at IA and then lost a heartbreaking finals at Cedar. Remember the basketball tournament? Coop dropped 20, while Sam sunk a 3. Remember all the sportsmanship from the other team? We don't. You guys competed so well at every intercamp we went to, good thing we made that trophy shelf for Founders Day!

Remember all of the random and hilarious stuff we got into over the first few weeks? Remember when Callum was eavesdropping on the staff during Gaga? Remember hiding in garbage cans and Brendan completely passing Brody during Camper Hunt? Remember Finn's interesting stance on the knee board? Remember talking about, not even telling, scary stories and the whole bunk going crazy? We quickly found out Kieran and Devin were not fans of Wheelchair Marry or her friend Little Timmy. Remember respecting Pre-Taps every night at 8:55? Remember Santi always yelling "SKRTTTTT!"

Remember our first trip out of camp to the Mainers game? We found out that endless candy and sugar doesn't mix well with the Archers. Remember meeting the legend Pete Lieberman? Remember the bus ride? A few campers did not get along very well with our driver. Brody and Marshmallow wrestled all the way home, Noah Smith enjoyed a delicious snack.

Remember all the hilarity…Not knowing Albert Einstein's last name…Sam's consistent laugh attacks and Noah Smith's songs… Demyd's hilarious roll call "How to play without doctor?"…Flappy sail not happy sail…Santi rapping…Making sure everyone knew it was Bryce's birthday in the dining hall…Demyd eating ice cream…Callum eating napkins…Crushing on Elastagirl… Remember pajama jump…Flips off the tower…Kieran bonding with Carlos the doll…No matter what we did, we always found ways to laugh.

Remember breakfast by the beach? We brought you guys up to flag pole then Woody sat you all down and said how you needed to work on your listening. None of you expected Max to yell "GET TO THE WATERFRONT!!!" and when he did you all sprinted down. There you found Zubi waiting for you with a feast; McDonalds sandwiches and Dunkin' Donuts. Everyone enjoyed the food, even the fish! The day only got better from there, as we had a full day of activities, a speed boat ride to the island for EA, birthday Cozy Corner, and fireworks to end the night.

Remember the 4th of July? The day started by the Saxons waking us up and Max playing the National Anthem remix, an instant hit. Then we headed to flagpole to start our day. Remember our banner for the parade? We bet Brendan wants to forget it. Remember chanting "Creativity!" and showing off our beautiful artwork around camp? We are still in shock that we didn't win the contest. Remember the carnival and beach party? All the food, rides, slides, and games couldn't be more fun. Remember the amazing dinner? There is no better place to spend 4th of July than at camp!

ARCHERS

Remember all the crazy stuff we got into during the days…Dery going wild when he was number 1 in countoff…destroying markers during crafts…Siegel's half court shot for canteen…Bunk wars vs. the Yeomen… Kieran and Devon not being able to handle the mere thought of Wheelchair Mary or Little Timmy.

Remember Beach Day? Remember visiting counselors on neck duty…making smart purchases at the boardwalk…buying enough candy and snacks to last the rest of the summer…getting it all confiscated by the staff before the bus ride back to camp. We barely even got yelled at on the bus ride home, a nice change of pace from the Mainers game.

Remember the days leading up to PVD… Dery aka Corey Kluber is sniping campers during Fortnite EA…Marshmallows butterfingers during football intensive chalking a period to run around in our boxers in the rain…showering outside…our historic return to Girls Camp Field to play team handball the way it was meant it be played.

Remember PVD? Camp was clean, the bunk was clean, and most importantly, we were clean. Remember the soccer game against the staff and parents? Remember all the moms and dads participating in everything we did? Noah's dad and Blake's dad took over the Ultimate game. Remember enjoying all those PVD cookies? Remember the waterboy story at night? It was so much fun meeting all of your parents, but as they left, we were ready to start the second half of the summer…

Remember excursion? So many insane activities packed into two of the best days of our summer. Remember the bumper boats and mini golf? While half the group was getting soaked, the other half was crushing golf balls on the mountain course. Remember beating every game in that first arcade? We won every ticket they had. Remember the Lake Winnipesaukee Historical Society and Museum? We don't. Remember Kellerhaus Ice Cream? Sundaes with unlimited toppings, and then a huge candy store. Remember the Escape room? We beat Winaukee's time and firmly cemented our U11 dominance.

Remember all the rain? No way we were gonna camp out in that. Remember dinner at Applebee's? Grandma couldn't have been nicer. Remember what we found on the floor under the table? Remember the movies? You guys love Jurassic World so much! If only we had time to see Mamma Mia 2. Remember sneaking back into camp, then sneaking out early the next morning? After a quick stop at Dunkin' we were back on the road.

Remember Monkey Trunks? Strapping in and taking the skies! The zipline was a big hit. Remember the huge swing? Probably the scariest thing there, but that didn't stop any of you. Remember the world's largest arcade? While the staff bowled, you all wasted no time in starting to collect tickets. About four hours and 15 pizzas later the Archers had amassed enough tickets to buy the prize counter out, but we settled on the two most expensive items: a Bluetooth speaker and a drone. While the Bluetooth speaker made its way till the end of the summer, about 15 minutes after arriving back in camp the drone was stuck in a tree. What an unbelievably fun excursion.

Now that excursion had ended, Green & White could break at any second… Remember the break? We ran around the entire camp chasing ATVs and Sea Planes. We then quickly picked captains, co's, teams, and the bean. Jackson and Cooper on the White Vikings vs. Callum and Ratner on the Green Guardians. Remember waking up early for song practice, competing all day long, and still coming back together as a group every night? You guys had an incredibly intense and close color war, ending in a tug of war tie. Congratulations to the Green team for winning. White team, we'll have to have some more song practices next summer.

If you thought the excitement ended after Green & White, you must not be paying attention…Remember lazy day…we don't. We ran a full day of activities because that's just the Archer way. Then we ended the day with the best cookout of the summer for the white team while the green team enjoyed their victory steaks. We all came back together to share Sunday Sundaes. Remember playing battleships at canoeing? Who knew capsizing boats could be so fun. Remember GL swap?

Remember the last full day of activities? Remember playing Spartacus at the Senior Waterfront? Remember when Sam broke the tube? Remember getting cozy because why not? Remember the last EA? We ran the classic two for one option. Started off with camper hunt, then into watching an amazing last sunset, and finally ending with Make Your Staff Laugh. Remember Cal's not so clean shower on the basketball court? Remember Dery's acapella rendition of Blackbird? Remember the surprise birthday pizza? Shout out Ratner for that one. It was a perfect last EA that pretty much encompassed our entire summer; intense, unpredictable, and absolutely hilarious.

Remember the last day of camp? Playing Ultimate and Bombardment as our last periods. Remember the Scribes coming down to help us pack up? Remember awards night? We were so proud of all the amazing accomplishments you guys had. Remember sleeping on the basketball court? As we munch on entirely too much candy, we enjoyed an American classic, Benchwarmers. Remember midnight McDonalds? Probably not, most of you were sound asleep by that point. Finally, we all woke up the next morning and said goodbye and see you soon to our best friends in the entire world…

Ben Atkinson – You're just an all-around great camper. You tried everything with a positive attitude and were never afraid to step out of your comfort zone. I know you didn't want to leave as early as you did, but sometimes life gets in the way. I know you'll kill it in the pool and I also know you'll be back for many more summers in The Realm.

Gregor Brockmann – From the second you got to camp I don't think you stopped smiling. You went into every single thing we did with a positive attitude and the staff couldn't be more appreciative of that. You have camp in your DNA and I cannot wait to see how you grow at this place over the years to come.

Mackie Burke – You killed it this summer. You made a lot of new friends and welcomed every new activity with a smile. You were funny and crazy as well as respectful and poised at all the right times. I can't wait to see what you do in The Realm over the following summers.

Andrew Dery – AD, ALL DAY!! No matter what you were doing, you always brought a smile to my face and everyone's face around you. You're a friend to everyone in the group, and it was amazing to see your presence on camp grow this summer. I cannot wait to see how you grow throughout your camper career, and I know you'll develop into a leader not only in this group but throughout all of camp very soon.

Miles Evans – It was awesome having you at camp this summer. You came in with a great attitude and were always ready to try something new. Camp is your home, and I know you will continue to grow here.

ARCHERS

Cooper Ferdman – I am so proud of the way you were a leader in this group and how you handled yourself this summer. I am not sure I've ever met an eleven year old who handles himself on a day to day basis with as much maturity as you. I know you have a bright future at this place. For the sake of yourself and for the sake of camp, keep coming back.

Quentin Glaenzer – It was so much fun getting to know you during your time in The Realm. You strike an amazing balance between respectful and fun – something that isn't easy. You are an essential part of this group, and we are excited to see you return to camp, year after year.

Archer Gould – You are such a happy and positive kid. You're one of the funniest kids in the group, and your groupmates know that. It was amazing to see everyone sprint over to you when you came back to camp after taking those weeks off. As you grow up, please don't forget about this special place.

Lucas Joa – I wish you could have been at camp for longer, but your stay still gave the group plenty of amazing memories. You go hard in activities, stay positive, and were always willing to try new things. I couldn't have asked for more in a camper.

Devon Kislin – I am sure the rest of the staff would agree that one of our favorite parts of the summer was watching you compete during Green & White. You compete with a level of intensity and integrity that is unmatched for most kids your age. You're just not an athlete though. The amount of energy you bring to the group never leaves us with a dull moment. Keep coming back.

Kieran Klasfeld – You always kept us entertained. Whether it was your all-time great performance during pajama jump or dazzling display during Green & White soccer, you had us with our eyes peeled the whole summer. I was so impressed by the way you quickly integrated yourself into the group and I know you have a bright future at camp for years to come. Keep coming back.

Thomas Langone – You came into camp and meshed perfectly with this group. You are a stellar athlete and that showed, especially during Green & White. It was so much fun watching you compete and challenge yourself over the course of your time at camp.

Andrew Levine – Levine, your positive attitude is contagious. You were a great kid to have around for seven weeks. The friends you have made in this group will last a lifetime, and will only continue to grow stronger throughout the years.

Blake Lipman – I still can't believe this is your fifth summer, but it is something that shows. You have an amazing understanding of camp and all its benefits for someone your age. You're an obvious leader in the group, and I could always count on you to steer everyone in the right direction.

Bryce Lippard – While you are no stranger to camp, we still were able to see you grow throughout this summer. You always want to have a good time and are an obvious leader within the group. There are many more great summers waiting for you here.

Antoine Maamari – It was great getting to know you this summer. Your group mates and staff appreciate your quiet humor, and you were an essential part of this Archer group. I can't wait to see you back here next summer.

Andy McGuire – I am so amazed by the way you transitioned into camp. You are mature way beyond your years and that maturity had an incredibly positive impact on the group. Whenever we needed a voice of reason or witty joke you were always there. I know you have many more great summers in store.

Sam McGuire – You came into this place with a smile and that's how you left. You tried everything you possibly could and never backed down from a new challenge. You made a lot of friends during your time at camp, and those friendships will only grow stronger as the years go on.

Tighe Murray – You came into camp with two great friends but you left this place with a whole lot more than that. No matter what we were doing you had a smile on your face. I know two weeks at camp wasn't enough for you and I can't wait for you to come back next summer for a much longer time. You have a real future at this place and I am excited to see you grow up with this group.

Reid Pienta – Sunshine!! Not only were you a model camper, but I am convinced that you have the best hair in camp. Even though you took full advantage of your short stay in The Realm, I know this place has so much left to offer you. Keep coming back and you'll see just how special camp can be.

Henry Powell – It was great getting to know you over the two weeks you were here. You started out a little quiet but it didn't take you long to open up to the rest of your group. You are truly a funny, nice, and caring kid. Keep coming back.

Pelayo Primo de Rivera – Primo, your competitive nature and all around respectful attitude made you an essential part of this group. You brought energy to everything you did, and it payed off with two tournament wins. While you were only here for four weeks, you still managed to make a tremendous impact on the group. Keep coming back.

Noah Ratner – Ratner, you had a truly amazing summer. There is nothing that makes me happier as a counselor than to see someone who always has a smile on their face like you. You bring so much joy to your group and camp on a whole. You have an amazing future at this place.

Callum Rodin – Cal, before this summer I only knew you as that "cute junior camper," but there is so much more to you than that. You are funny, smart, and a leader within the group. You will do great things at camp, and we are excited to watch.

Santiago Rodriguez-Fraile – Santi, you are one of the nicest and most genuine kids I know. You are an incredible athlete and competitor. You made so many friends in this group and we were all lucky to have you here this summer. You will do amazing things at camp and in life, and I can't wait to see you next summer.

Finn Rosenbaum – While you only spent two weeks in The Realm, you really made an impact on this group. You fit in well and made a lot of friends this summer. It was a blast hanging out with you and I know this is just the beginning of your time at Robin Hood. Good luck in the water, and I can't wait to see you next summer.

ARCHERS

Brody Rothenberg – You are one of the happiest kids at this camp. No matter what we are doing, you find a way to goof around and make it fun. You have so many amazing friends here and are such a huge part of this group. You are going to have a great career here at camp.

Johan Samuel – The staff had a great time getting to know you this summer. You are a funny and kind kid. We can't wait to see the things you'll accomplish here in the coming years.

Nathan Schlieman – It was such a please to get to know you this summer. You always gave an effort to try new things and get out of your comfort zone. That is what camp is all about. You are an incredibly bright kid and always had something interesting to say. Have a great school year, and we'll see you next summer in The Realm.

Adam Segal – Segal, you are a great competitor and that's a huge part of this group. You never back down from an athletic challenge, and that's a great quality to have. It was so much fun to coach against you during Green & White, even if it got heated at some points. I can't wait to see how you grow over the coming years in The Realm.

Jacob Shapiro – You are a smart and fun kid who just enjoys being at camp. You have a lot of great friends here, and you'll make even more in the coming years. You always knew how to steer the group in the right direction, and I can't thank you enough for that. Keep coming back.

Noah Smith – It is obvious that you love camp. From the moment you arrived you were a kind and energetic kid. You made a lot of great friends over the course of only four weeks; I am excited to see what you can accomplish in seven.

Jackson Steinlauf – You might be the toughest eleven-year old I've ever met. Whether it be during activities, intercamp, or Green & White you don't let anything stop you. You're an obvious leader in the group, and I know you have a bright future in The Realm.

Sam Swartz – You are filled with kindness and respect. While sometimes soft-spoken, it was so fun to watch your competitive side come out during Green & White. You are an incredibly important part of this group. Make sure you keep coming back.

Henry Swerdloff – You're one of the goofiest kids I've ever met, in the best way possible. You brought energy and enthusiasm to everything you did this summer, which made my job all the more enjoyable to do. I know you'll have an integral part in this group for summers to come.

Demyd Torbenko – Twentyyyy-fouuuurrrrr. I know the two weeks here were probably different than something you've ever done before, but you embraced every second of it, and made some amazing friends along the way. You had an incredibly positive influence on this group and I couldn't be prouder of you. You were always hilarious and you really took advantage of all camp has to offer. You are going to do great things in the years to come here at camp.

Marcello Zarif – Marshmallow, nothing brought us joy this summer like watching you do everything with a smile on your face. You're a constant source of hilarity and kindness in the group and everyone around you is better off because it. I can't wait to watch your Netflix stand-up special one day and see you become a leader at camp.

To my Staff

I could not have gotten through this summer without you and your support. We all worked together to have the most amazing summer with our campers. Thank you for all your support.

Archers of 2018

Thank you so much for an amazing summer. Whether you were playing carpet ball or gladiator ball, you always gave it your all. You are a group of kind, hilarious, and competitive individuals. You all mesh so well together, and before you know it, you will be running this place. This group is the next generation of Robin Hood, and I am so excited to watch how you all grow, mature, and lead Camp together. Boys, this is only the beginning of your journey through the greatest place in the world. As Dick said,

"Live it and love it."

YEOMEN-

It's time to put down your phones, take a much-needed break from Fortnite, and get ready to relive the best summer of your lives! It all started a day early on June 21st when Alex and Mohammed arrived, followed by the massive surge of 15 of you crazy kids on Day 1. Then Henry came a day later and Gabe finally completed our group at a steady 19 strong!

Anyone remember our first EA where everyone fell face first into the dirt during Dizzy Kickball, and then soon followed by a brutally cold swim test in the freezing lake? What about getting through a canoe period without climbing on top of each other and capsizing each other's boats? Does anyone remember how insane you all reacted when you found out we were doing infection for EA? I'll never understand why you guys love that so much. You all literally asked for it every single night.

Lorca remember when you called out Brendan during our baseball clinic and then he struck you out immediately? Or how about when Cian and Mohammed made it to the top of their first mountain hike ever! We climbed Mt. Major almost fainted at the summit, then going to Micky-D's where they said I had a budget. Speaking of Mcdonalds…Sebastian remember your hilarious McDonalds application? We're still waiting to hear if you got the job or not! Robbie remember your faceless smiley fry and how you constantly stole the lancer's bug juice every day?

You all remember the Mainers Game? How could you forget! After you finished asking all the players if they play fortnite, you spent your $5 wisely on some delicious food! Shortly after the Mainers game, we had the Junior Camp talent show and I am sad to say that there's not much to remember from that since you all decided to not be in it, but there's always next year!

You guys remember riddles with J-Ro? Jasper, it took you so long to figure out exactly what could fit through that green glass door, and who could forget how happy you were when you finally figured out how black magic works.

Anyone remember when we played steal the bacon for EA? There were way too many great matchups, but I think we can all agree that one of the highlights of the night was when Mohammed came in out of nowhere and trucked Juan and Lorca, even though Juan was on his team!

Remember how fun the 4th of July was? We started out with a carnival and ice cream truck on the quad then headed down to the waterfront for an afternoon beach party! Or how about when we went down to the waterfront and were shocked by the fact that we didn't see a single firework that night!

Remember our epic challenge against the Archers? That bombardment game was truly one to remember! Remember when Beckett absolutely destroyed all of the archers in the first game? And who could forget Will Evans in the ultimate sudden death face off, and even though we lost, it was a night I will never forget.

Remember our dope trip to the Marina and how everyone somehow became incredibly good at math once it came down to how much each of you could get with $3. Remember when Pablo gave me the worst haircut?

Our next big event of the summer was beach day! Who could forget it? Endless amounts of candy, souvenirs and ice cream! Who could forget the freezing cold water, but let's be honest, that just made going in more fun!

Anyone remember David's weird Ah-hee noises? What about when Mohammed and Moucha found a giant frog at our canoe period? Also, who could forget our epic rap battle at the new ODT! Special shoutouts to Leo and Lorca for having sick raps and additional shoutouts to Mohammed, Juan and David for rapping in their native languages! We have no idea what you guys said but we'll just take you word for it when you said it was awesome!

On a slightly sadder note, you guys remember Milagro the bird that you guys tried to help Ricky save? Even though we couldn't do much to save it, it was awesome to see how much you all cared about it!

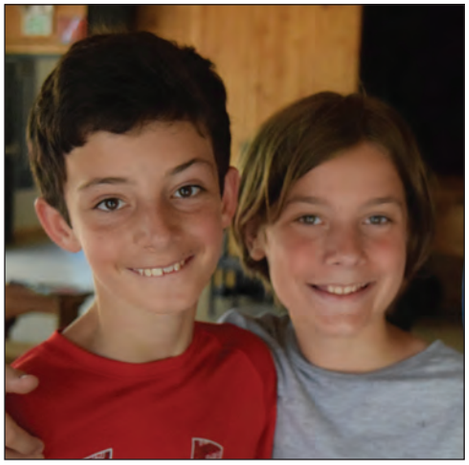

Anyone remember Robin Hood Gives Back? It was truly inspirational to learn about the incredible life of Randy Pierce and it was so interesting when we blind folded ourselves and walked a mile in his shoes.

Shortly after Robin Hood gives back we had our only birthday of the summer: Alex's birthday! Remember waking up early to raise the flagpole? Totally worth it! Then remember when we thought half the group was out at a basketball tournament then it got cancelled but we were all so happy about it because it meant that we all got to celebrate Alex's birthday together! We finally ended the day with a quick trip to cozy! Hey, Alex, Becket and Caleb, remember sunset fishing that night? I'm sure that had to be incredible!

You guys remember when half the group went on the daunting Mt. Washington hike but you guys ended up killing it despite it being the tallest mountain in the area! What about Alex being game master in Hunger Games and our epic final showdown on the new quad, and Jasper and David coming out victorious!

Anyone remember our awesome pizza party at the waterfront as we watched the sunset? What about our late night McDonalds party we had on the final night with all of the 4-weekers! You guys are all incredible kids and we all missed you greatly during the last three weeks, but we know we'll see all you guys back next year!

YEOMEN

Shortly after the four-week mark we finally hit the much-anticipated excursion, and even though you all found out when it was, I know you guys still had an amazing time! We started out with a sick morning at White Lakes Speedway where we had a busy morning filled with mini golf, go carting, laser tag, and arcade games! We then took a quick trip into Conway where had some ice cream and did our best to stay out of the rain. We then quickly went to the movie theatre where we saw Ant Man and the Wasp. We then had an awesome day at Attitash, or as you guys call it: A-tish-tash. Remember the awesome mountain coaster and how you guys went absolutely nuts on the water slides? That was one of my favorite days of the summer and I know you guys had an absolute blast that day too! After A-tish-tash we then went back to the campsite where you guys helped J-Ro cook an incredible steak dinner and then ended the night with an amazing and emotional campfire! Next thing I remember is being woken up by you guys at sunrise. I know I speak for the staff when I say that we'll never understand how you guys can have so much energy from sunrise to sunset. But you were all up and ready for our final adventure: Water Country! Even though it was crazy busy, we still found a way to have fun even though we couldn't go on all the rides we wanted too. We then headed back to camp where we barely had anytime to readjust until it was Green & White!

I had so much fun coaching and watching all of you guys compete your hearts out in the color war. The teams were so even and you guys were a big reason why this was the best color war I've ever had in my eleven years at camp. Now, let's go over some highlights: We start off with an intense basketball game where Mohammed had the game winning shot and gave his team the victory. Shortly after basketball we had Newcomb where Bucket absolutely destroyed! Then we had the talent show where Max absolutely killed it in Glee and in the Dance! Despite all the hype matches, I think the highlight play of the war was Jesse's comeback during the Gaga game. Let me set the scene: The game score was 3-3 and it was the first to 4. Green takes out most of the white team and Jesse is left to defend himself against 4 members of the Green team. He then takes them out one by one and leads his team to an unexpected, but well-earned victory. Even though the Green Guardians came out on top, you all had an absolutely amazing war and you should all be incredibly proud of how hard you all fought!

As it always does, things quieted down after Green & White but the fun didn't stop! We still tried our hardest during our final activities and I know that you final 9 became so much closer during our last week of camp. Then, we ended the summer in probably the best way we possibly could: Sunset Tubing! We saved the best EA for last and it was truly a magical way to end the summer!

Alex – It is clear that you love camp, and camp loves you back. You are an incredibly sweet and fun-loving kid who always brings a positive energy into the group whenever we need it. It's been a pleasure to watch you grow over these past few weeks and I can't wait to see you back next summer!

Andrew – Your intensity in activities made every one of them more fun for the whole group. I loved watching you kill it during Green & White as you were an essential members of your team, both on and off the field. Even though you got here late, it took no time at all for you to rejoin your friends and fit right back in with the group. I hope you had a good time this summer and I'm looking forward to seeing you have an even better time in senior camp next year!

Bucket – Your unwavering positivity and joy are of extreme importance to the group. You are a leader and, your conviction to unite the group and leave your heart on the field after every activity was inspiring. I loved watching you battle it out with Lorca and dominate the fields. I know this place has taken hold of you as it once did me and I know you'll keep coming back because of it.

Caleb – I really enjoyed getting to know you this summer. It was so fun to watch you try your best at everything you did! I really think camp is the right place for you and I really hope to see you back next summer!

Cian – Your determination and persistence in everything you do is unrivaled. I loved watching you compete and blossom into a serious beast on the fields. Continue to go through life with your head held high and your smile on your face and I know you will kill it in the coming summers. I know this place is hard to leave after a full summer and I hope your recognition of that fact means you'll never stop coming back home.

David – Even though you came in a little quiet and shy, you without a doubt left a memorable mark on the group. Your happiness and sense of humor was infectious and you always put a smile on someone's face when they were down. You are an incredible kid and I really hope I see you back next year!

Ethan – You are probably the chillest kid in our bunk. Your level-headedness is what kept us together and I admired how you never lost your cool. You are incredibly friendly and easy-going and that's why we all love you so much! I know I speak for the whole group when I say that we all need you back next summer! It wouldn't be the same without you!

Gabe – Even though you were only with us for a short time, you were just as much a member of the group as anyone else. Your calm mind set kept us really happy and I really hope to see you back next year!

Henry – Even though you were always last on benches, there was always a reason: you were always talking to one of your bunk mates. It just shows how friendly and social you are. You always had a big smile on your face and I hope you never lose your fun-loving spirit and I'm sure I'll see you back next summer!

Jasper – You are and always have been an essential member of the group. You've been here the longest in the group and your love for camp is infectious. It was no surprise to anyone when you were elected to be a Green & White captain, and I loved watching you use and improve your leadership skills all throughout Green & White, and I can't wait to see it all again next summer!

Jesse – Your energy is unmatched by anyone in the group. I loved watching you take every activity by storm this summer, and I was impressed by how serious you could act when the situation demanded it. I know you're gonna bring all that energy with you into senior camp next summer and I hope you have just as much fun!

YEOMEN

Juan – There is no doubt that you are the most energetic and craziest kids in the bunk…but crazy in a good way of course! Your non-stop energy is just what the group needed when we were down and your happiness and humor quickly spread through the bunk. You are an incredibly sweet and happy kid and I hope you keep coming back for many years to come!

Leo – You fit into the group flawlessly. Your quirkiness and sense of humor is incredibly unique, yet it meshed perfectly with the rest of the group. This is the group for you and I hope you come back for many years to come!

Lorca – It was awesome to watch you thrive during your first full summer in The Realm. You're attitude and competitive energy made you a force to be reckoned with all summer and It was no surprise to anyone when you were elected to be a Green & White captain. You led your team with pride and integrity and I hope you carry the same motivations with you as the group transitions into senior camp.

Max – You are an incredibly happy and fun-loving kid and you are clearly a friend to everyone in the group. You always give your all no matter what you're doing and you bring out the best in everyone else. I really hope you had an amazing summer and I can't wait to see you back next year!

Max Marquet – Max, you are an incredible addition to our group. You were friendly and hilarious from day one and we all knew you were the person to go to if we needed to be picked up, or just needed a quick laugh. I really hope to see you back next year!

Mohammed – I think that without a doubt you grew the most. You came into the summer so timid and shy, but it was truly amazing to watch you come out of your shell. You did so many things you've never done before and I loved watching you step out of your comfort zone. You are an incredibly funny and kind kid and I really hope to see you back next year. I know the group will truly feel your absence if you are not there.

Moucha – You are easily one of the friendliest kids in the group, which comes with no surprise as you always had a smile on your face. You are just so happy all the time and your goofy energy is exactly what we all needed whenever one of us was having a bad day. I can't wait for you to stay the full seven weeks next year!

Ramzi – You fit right back in with the group when you arrived this summer. I loved watching you come out of your shell bit by bit as you got more and more comfortable with all of your friends here. I'm so glad you learned to love camp and I hope to see you loving it even more next summer!

Robbie – I know I speak for everyone when I say that I was so happy when you decided to extend to four weeks! You are incredibly friendly and enthusiastic and I am glad you enjoyed playing carpet ball and basketball, and making a connection with nearly everyone in the group. I hope to see you back for the full seven weeks next summer!

Sammy Perez – Sammy, you are clearly one of the more athletic kids in the group and your energy and competitive spirit are contagious. You bring everyone else up and I can't imagine this group without you. Can't wait to see you back next summer!

Sebastian – It was clear that with each passing day you got more and more comfortable with not only being at camp, but with everyone in the group as well. It was amazing to see how much you grew over these four weeks and I can't wait to see you back next summer…and hopefully for seven weeks this time!

Wallace – Your boisterous energy and ability to contain it in moments of quiet leadership have become integral to the groups daily momentum. I loved hanging out with you in the bunk and especially enjoyed watching you dominate the tennis courts. You are incredibly calculated and know to fight for what you want, and I hope you carry that passion with you in the coming years at camp.

Will Evans – Your infectious energy is undeniable and you always tried your hardest no matter the activity. As one of the more athletic kids in the group, you truly pushed everyone to be their best. Hope to see you back next year!

TO my Staff –

Thank you so much for making this summer so easy for me! You guys are all amazing and I can't imagine this summer without you. I loved getting to know all of you and I can't imagine what next year will be like without you.

To all of my Yeomen – I had so much fun getting to know you all and it was because of all of you that I without a doubt had the best summer of my life! It was incredible to watch you all grow throughout the summer and I can't wait to see you all next year! And most importantly, don't forget: Oreo spelled backwards is Oreo.

I love you guys!

GET OFF FORTNITE, GET ON THE BENCHES AND LET'S REMINISCE ON THE BEST SUMMER OF YOUR LIVES:

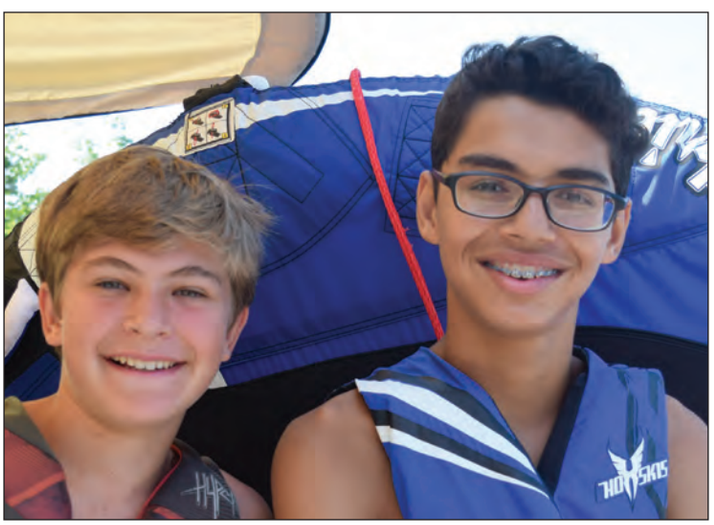

Right off the busses we start off with a group of 20 strong campers, all of you ready to dominate summer 2018. Not even thirty seconds after we leave the gas pump and the entire group is down at the lower court playing knockout…then in the bunk playing knockout…too much knockout. Everyone gets unpacked, Goodman bunks next to Adelman and Max and Ty are reunited. Day one starts and Theo is taking over activities in A BOOT. Later Nathaniel wins his first game of knockout and exclaims that Robin Hood is superior to West End. Pierce has a perfect first week and The Will's make their mark on the group. Gold Rush went pretty well, Adam used his camera to locate the tennis balls and Alessandro secured the teams win.

Our countoffs weren't the best, Griffin would race me to 17, Alex let Nate have TA and Goodman and Theo's 6/7 was one for the ages.

Week one of the summer flies by in a hype way. The Dogg gets let out the cage and makes the 15 and Under team as a Lancer!

Later that week we play a 13U game against West End and Alex Young drops 22 points, Goodman almost fouls out in five minutes but ultimately Lancer's win the first Robin Hood/ West End game of the summer. My Sohn made an awesome appearance in Football, breaking people's ankles and scoring touchdowns. Griffin makes a break for the endzone almost taking out his own ankles and trucking his opponents!

The Fourth of July was as large event as any with Phil Sobel making his annual appearance. Max, Chase, Pierce and others help make the most beautiful group poster and everyone got more than two ice creams. J-Rock had an epic race on the inflatables and a smile on his face.

GL: Mikey Brockmann

Just when we thought the summer couldn't get any better…we go to THE MAINER'S GAME. Caspar, Franceso and Mateo see their first baseball game and the Mainers actually win! Everyone spends money on bad food and Theo chills outside the whole game.

Remember Adam in the infection game having a showdown with the non-infected. Remember protesting for waterfront and actually WINNING! Remember Austin, Young and Sobel would carry the water into the bunk with them, soaking the entire bunk.

Remember Geb the Squirrel or hiding my bed in the rink and then stargazing for fifteen seconds. Remember when Tamer struck Nate out in Green & White baseball or when Alex Young drilled a three. Remember the Green & White fake break that you guys refused to believe. Our hilarious two skit nights and Theo/Dogg hosting family feud.

Hey Lancers…WE'RE GOING TO THE BEACH! Beach day was such a blast. Most of you got all your money wet in the ocean and all of you spent way too much of it on ice cream. Our squad stormed the beach like tilted towers and charged into the water even though it felt like a tub of ice cubes… Adam was a fish in the water, Chase was ready to fight a shark and Ty screamed the fishes away.

PVD! For some reason you were all perfectly behaved. Alessandro and his brother took on Nate Dogg and his endless serve. The Drye's had the ultimate team chemistry and The Marx/Brooke's squad played with fury.

When Green & White rolled around I knew that we were the most prepared group. Watching all of you put everything you had into that war meant the world to me and proved to the rest of camp just how great of a group you are. From Ayush's unforeseen domination in every sport to the Dogg's 1v5 in bombardment, you boys never quit and were absolute gentlemen after the games.

Remember Aayush winning the final hunger games in an absolute nail-biter against Theo. Remember Lippard playing well in everything and Caspar and Mateo constantly being goons.

At the end of an amazing summer the last night of camp rolled around and for the first time all summer, we weren't ready; Regardless, we ended up seizing the day. Theo and Toby both won big awards and then we went out and played one of our best Volleyball periods of the summer. Sobel keeps saying that he's hungry and then MCDONALD'S comes through feeding the entire group with more than enough food.

Watching you guys grow as a group this summer has been so unreal. You're the closest Lancer group that camp has ever seen and I can't wait to come back every year and see the progress that you boys have made. Keep building off of this summer, always have each other's backs and make The Realm yours. All of you are here for a reason and this group needs each and every one of you so keep coming back, for camp and for yourselves.

LANCERS

Aayush – You had an unbelievable Green & White. Whenever I stopped by an activity I saw you giving it your all. You helped your team win but your sportsmanship never waivered. It was such a pleasure watching you dominate this summer. You're kind and hilarious, the group loves you, keep coming back.

Adam – I am beyond proud of you. Thank you so much for making it through the summer with a great attitude and all the smiles in the world. I'm glad you and Wolf became so close and that you made the most out of the time here. Can't wait to see what the future holds for you!

Alessandro Battaia – Thank you so much for the summer that you had. I really hope you had a great time because you were so great in the group and you truly embraced the spirit of camp. Keep coming back and I hope to see you soon!

Alex Young – Coming into this summer as J-Rock's friend you very quickly made a name for yourself in the group. You are extremely humble and your reserved/humble attitude makes the entire group feel comfortable talking to you. I'm so happy you made the decision to stay full session, can't wait to see you next year!

Austin Goodman – The man who needs no introduction. Goodman, you had a one of a kind year. You always know how to raise the groups level of hype when others are slacking and it's well appreciated. Keep coming back because camp is your home.

Ben Kreindler – Let's be honest, you knew all summer. Kreindler, from day one you were awesome in the group. You knew when to have fun and when it was time to be serious. You're very mature for your age and that's why you are a leader in your group. Keep coming back and never forget that there is no place better than camp.

Buman – Your energy and happiness always lit up the rest of the group. You never once got down and you always looked to help others up. You had an amazing summer, hope to see you next year.

Caleb – Your energy makes you a leader in this group. You enhance every activity by playing the best you can and at the end, by being a great sport about it. You had a great summer, excited to see you next summer.

Caspar – You positive attitude is contagious. There's nothing like being around someone that is always as happy as you are. You're always helping your friends and making the group that much stronger. See you next year!

Chase – You're one of the toughest kids I know. Pulling yourself out of the infirm to run and see the Green & White break was amazing. You have an awesome sense of humor and your entire group loves being around you. See you next summer!

Eli Sobel – The man with many names. Sobel, you had an awesome summer. Your carefree and fun attitude always keeps the group laughing. You're a great athlete and a better friend. I look forward seeing you do great things in The Realm.

Francesco Savona – It was great having you in the group. You were so excited for every activity and tried something new every time you had the opportunity. Keep coming back.

Griffin – You're one of the funniest kids I've ever met. You're always trying to put a smile on the faces of the people around you. Thanks for a great summer, see you next year!

Guillaume – Arriving at camp late isn't easy, but you sure made it seem that way. You were always having fun with a smile on your face and I'm glad you had a good summer and joined the group!

J- Rock – You are hilarious. You never fail to bring the group to laughter and you also know when to draw the line and get serious. Your comments and thoughts on the group brought us closer together and made you a clear leader. You had an amazing summer and I can't wait to see what you do next year.

James Tucker – It's hard to join a group in the middle of the summer but you managed to do it so well. You really quickly fell in love with camp and camp really quickly fell in love with you. It was awesome watching you become part of the group and I'm excited to see where your Robin Hood career takes you next.

Mateo – You had such an amazing summer. You always had a smile on your face and you worked so hard at every activity. Can't wait to see you next summer!

Max Lippard – Lips!! Max you're the goofiest kid I've ever met. Your wisdom goes beyond your years and you're a real staple in the group. Thank you for all the laughs and making the groups summer that much greater. Look forward to seeing what Robin Hood holds for your future.

Nate Dogg – You're a beast. Watching you control the last four minutes of the house game as a Lancer was incredible. Then in Green & White you took control of every activity and elevated everyone's intensity. You're an essential part of this group and I cannot wait to see what your future in The Realm holds. Keep coming back and keep killing it!

Nathaniel Aronson – You had an amazing summer. I'm so glad you left West End to come here! You found your spot in the group so quick and it's definite that you are now a Robin Hood Kid!

Peter – The group dynamic elevated the moment you made your return. You're a genuine goof and everyone loves it. You really understand how amazing camp is and I hope for everyone's sake you keep coming back.

LANCERS

Pierce – You are one of the craziest and funniest kids I've ever met. I can't wait to see you leading boys camp in a few years. I'm so proud of you. Keep coming back.

Remo – Not only are you the tallest 12 year old ever, but you are also the kindest and most respectful kid I've ever met. You're a tremendous athlete and great sport. You're hilarious and You had an amazing summer and I hope next year you come back for seven!

Tamar – Your goofy sense of humor and constant energy never fails to bring smiles to the group. It's clear that you've cemented yourself as an integral part of the group this summer and I can only hope that you never stop coming back.

Theo Drye – I'm so proud of you kid. You came into camp in a boot and you left fully able to run. Watching you persevere and go all out was incredible. I speak for everyone when I say how proud I am of you and how great of a kid you are. Keep coming back.

Toby Bloch – Straight out of the gate it was clear to myself and all the other staff how much you loved camp. This place really is your second home and your actions reflect that perfectly. I know how much this place and your group mean to you so keep coming back. You'll do great things here.

Tyler – HI TYYY! You had such a great summer buddy. I'll never forget you dancing around basketball as a chicken or your hilarious commentating for Froccer. Thank you so much for all the laughs and the constant happiness. See you next summer!

Valentin – You arrived the day before we left on excursion, but it's like you were with us all summer. In the small time that you were here this summer you had a great impact on our group and went into every day with a great attitude and excitement. Really proud of you and I hope I see you next summer!

Will (Ninja) Harris – You are a legend. You totally killed it this summer dude. You and Sohn came into the group and made it your own. I know you wish you could've stayed longer and so did the rest of us but luckily we will see you next year!

Will Sohn – My Sohn! You had a great summer my dude. Thank you so much for always being great to everyone and always having a good time. I very much look forward to seeing you in The Realm for longer next summer!

MY STAFF –

Thank you all so much. You're all brothers to me and I mean that. You guys helped me get this great and crazy group of kids through the summer. Thanks for all the life long memories and stay in touch!

It was truly amazing being your counselor this summer. You all have so much to give to camp and and I can't wait to watch you take The Realm by storm as Saxons.

Friars...stop playing ping pong, get off the hammock, get on the benches, do that count off thing we never made, and get ready to relive the summer of 2018.

Remember kicking off summer 2018… Amos is the first to arrive a night early, and he is joined the following day by 16 fellow Friars. We start off the summer with a 3-on-3 basketball tournament for EA, which is highlighted by Noah Grossman's game-winning 3-pointer in the championship game. Our first full day of activities starts off with running laps around the far far field, as we decide early on that fitness will be a priority for the group this summer (featuring Andres' evening workout sessions). The following day, we engage in an intense battle with the Foresters to be the last group called for Sunday sundaes. We attempt several tactics, including hiding under the table and refusing to go up when our group is called, building up for the grand finale, Eli's intense arm wrestling battle. It ends in a draw, but we all know what would've happened if Woody let it play out until the end.

Remember our first wounded soldier, Nick Barone, falling ill within the first couple days of camp. That night, we have the honor of being the first group to spend the night at the Outpost. We make the most of our night, escaping for a quick game of camper hunt (Pickles is the lone winner) and creating our own language of code words. Our evening activities continue to be a huge hit. Pickles lets it all out for his team in the backwards scavenger hunt, and the next night, Hunter the bush camper wins Hunger Games, his lone kill being Mercer, who, all of a sudden, is not athletic.

Remember our first birthday of the summer, as we celebrate Jacob Baumoel becoming a teenager with some surprise Dunkin' Donuts in the morning. Mercer gets carried away in his fantasies while on the benches and Podl calls him out for it. Eli and Giesen have a duel of their own. Our first game of steal the bacon was an instant classic, including several even matchups: Nickles vs Logan, Hunter vs Gavin, and Alvaro vs Schmidt to name a few. The night wouldn't be complete without a couple minor injuries, my condolences to Logan and Graham. We watch the 15 and under basketball team play against Belknap and instantly become Liam's biggest fans. The next night, Chris's debut as GL brings the basketball team good luck, as they shock West End in the House, coming back to win by one point. Ely and Schmidt played a critical role in preparing the rest of the squad for the game; we couldn't have won it without you guys.

Remember straightening Pickles' hair in preparation for our arduous trip up Mount Major with trips Sam/James. We get ice cream and McDonald's after, a worthy reward for our efforts. Gavin and Amos get Happy Meals, and Amos receives a coveted Elastigirl toy. We return to an interesting sequence of events that is capped off by our new frog friend trying to commit. The Fourth of July lives up to the hype as always, although Pickles and Giesen get into a bit of a dispute over the flag. Speaking of such a disagreement…long live the fan!

Remember when Eli became the first one in the group to hit trees. His name is joined on the board by Mason and Jake after they hit trees the following week. Remember when we used only our $3 at the Marina. Graham James and Hunter somehow manage to capsize on the way back but they save themselves with a T rescue. The next day we discover Nick's nickname, Nigel. The week keeps getting better and better, as we make our way to the Mainers game where we meet Violet. Incredibly enough and possibly because most of you are still on a sugar high, the majority of the group decides to go on an optional mountain hike the next day. Oli arrives the next day as our group continues to get bigger in size.

Before we know it, Beach Day rolls around. Nathaniel is there to greet us at camp when we get back. The next night is So You Think You Can Dance, and we perform in front of camp for the first time. Without a doubt, Dodge's singing, Schmidt and Amos' duel, and a guest appearance by Wolfe at the end are the highlights, but the dance couldn't have been as good as it was if it weren't for everyone fulfilling their role flawlessly. We finally discover an activity that we can have intense competition, softball. Amos' diving catch and Hunter's countless athletic plays lead to us continuously deciding, "one more inning."

Remember our amazing froccer period… at 10 AM, which must have been so inspiring that we got to go out of camp that afternoon. We watch the Incredibles 2, featuring Tony, potentially the reasoning behind Podl's nickname. A couple days later, we are back out of camp celebrating Giesen's birthday. The festivities include El Jalisco, where Mercer cries after eating a jalapeno and is so rattled that he forgets his wallet; Jurassic World, where Logan feels a strong connection to Blue, and, of course, Cozy Corner. We continue to run competitive softball games, and this time around, Amos manages to drop every foul ball, Oli forgets to use his brain and tries to run home when he doesn't have to right into a tag, and "he's rattled" and "cry" become some of our go-to trash talking material.

All of a sudden, PVD arrives. We start the morning off by singing happy birthday to Jody Podl. James hits his first tree shot in front of the parents, which is quite the exciting moment. Logan's dad and Eli's dad also manage to hit trees, as well as Land Sports (huge surprise there). Our volleyball rallies are prolonged because we continue to play it. We are reminded for the second consecutive year just how athletic Hunter's dad is, although he can't do nearly enough to lead the kids to victory over the glasses guy and the other dads in ultimate Frisbee. It was really great to get to meet so many of your guys' parents and to see how happy you guys were to spend time with them. That night, Takeshi arrives and Pickles scores a goal in gladiator ball. The following day is full of emotion, as we say goodbye to Hunter, Logan, Giesen, and Alvaro but are happy to welcome Andres, Sean, and Kilian.

Next thing we know, it's excursion time. Just kidding! The rain delays our excursion by a day, but that just means we get to fully appreciate Nigel's birthday. Jake celebrates during rest hour. There's no doubt that we enjoy the Dunkin in the morning and pizza at the waterfront for dinner, but the main event of the day arrives when we challenge the Archers to bombardment. After a slow start in the first game, Amos steps up huge with an MVP-like sequence that leads to an opening victory. According to you guys, Woody rigs the second game, but we are able to bounce back and destroy the Archers in the deciding game. I am so incredibly proud of you guys for being able to defeat a group three years younger than you. It was truly a remarkable achievement.

The following day, we depart early for excursion. We ride a lot of rides at Six Flags, where we are joined by Hunter and his dad. White water rafting is a blast the next day. The multicultural boat is a dominant force in our epic water fight, and we all manage to navigate through the Stage 3 zorganism. The weather forces us back to camp for the night, but not before stopping at Chipotle, where Andreas goes on strike, we sneak soda in our water cups. After another good night of sleep at camp, we roll out to OSG Paintball for our final activity. Matt is traded for Takeshi before the castle game, which seemingly ended up being a fair deal. We discover how popular Silver Surfer is as we head back to camp for good.

A couple challenges right before color war get us in a competitive state of mind. Nick and Hamani drill deep three pointers in a memorable win(?) over the Lancers in basketball. We almost blow a 2-0 lead in gaga but bounce back to dominate game 5. Then…remember Green & White! Congratulations to Schmidt and Eli for being captains and Nick and Gavin for being cos. The teams are really even this year and there are a lot of really close games. Green overcomes a 3-0 deficit to win 9 square and comes back from down game point in volleyball. Danish is insanely close and some tough calls go against white at the very end. Eli's grand slam carries the white Friars to a thrilling victory in softball. Kilian, Sean, and Nathaniel all make huge contributions in their first color war. Schmidt stars in the senior camp dance. In the end, Green beats White and Podl loses for only the 9th time.

Green & White ends and the summer winds down. Lazy Day is just what we need, and it ends perfectly with another classic skit night. The heat makes it tough to give it our all in the last few days of activities, but it's evident that all of you guys are just happy to spend time with one another, which is all that matters. Soccer, featuring Graham's header goal off Schmidt's corner kick and Takeshi's top shelf finish, and Cozy Corner for our last evening activity caps off a fantastic summer.

Hamani Al Mutawa – You are a very funny individual, which gives you the ability to have a huge influence on a group of your peers. When you use that wisely, the group is in great shape. I know it's a learning experience at your age, but the little things like keeping your area clean can rub off on other people when you're the person you are. I hope you continue to use your personality to your advantage and for what's best for the group as a whole.

Nicholas Barone – Nick, I envy that you've spent eight years at camp yet still have two more remaining as a camper. You still have so much more to gain from camp even if it seems like you've experienced everything. Continue to go hard in more and more activities because you have the ability to elevate your group. Continue to be you and the funny person that you are and camp will always be for you.

Jake Baumoel – One of my favorite moments of the summer was when you hit trees and Mikey officially lost the bet to your dad. I'm so impressed by your athletic ability, considering you are the best athlete in the group but by far the youngest. I saw you become a better competitor over the course of Green & White; just continue to stay positive and lift up the people around you because everyone will always look up to you in intense moments.

Amos Blumberg – I'll never forget the first night of camp when you were the only camper there. Any nerves I had about the summer were erased that night, as you consistently made me laugh and made me feel like we already knew each other pretty well. While I'm sad that you ultimately decided to move your bed away from mine, I am grateful for all the moments we shared together this summer.

Matt Broda – It's really challenging to come to camp for your first summer a couple weeks in, but you made it seem easy. It was clear that you made a conscious effort not just to hang out with James but to get to know the rest of the group as well, and I know they all appreciated it. Your sense of humor helped you fit in with the group extremely well. I hope you get to experience Green & White next summer because I think you would love it!

James Dodge – Like a few other people in the group, you have the ability to single handedly make an activity more intense and competitive. One of my favorite moments this summer was you singing Lucy in the Sky with Diamonds in the talent show; I'm not sure if you've ever really done anything like that before but I know that must have felt pretty awesome stepping out of your comfort zone in front of the entire camp. I hope you keep coming back for more moments like those.

Noah Giesen – You had the ability to single handedly lift the intensity in an activity whenever Gies the Beast came out. Your motor amazes me; whether it's going all out in basketball or doing sit ups and pushups at night, you always had such a high energy level. You made the most out of your four weeks here and I'm glad you got to spend your birthday here with your camp friends. I can only imagine how dominant Gies the Beast would be if he were there for Green & White next year.

Ely Gluzman – I can only imagine what was going on in your head throughout the first couple days of camp. You were the only new camper on day one amidst 16 other incredibly loud and energetic kids. You transitioned seamlessly into the group in no time, and you added some needed athleticism to the group. I hope you come back next year to experience Green & White and everything else camp offers.

Gavin Gore – Sorrrrrey! Goofing around with you at activities made my summer that much better. You have an amazing sense of humor but also know to be responsible. It says a lot about your character that your group elected you to be a co captain. You helped lead half of your group for an intense five days with pure class. Shafer and I are sad that we weren't able to stay for hockey camp with you and the boys.

Hunter Gould – Although it took you a few days to get over your Fortnite withdrawal, it soon became evident how much of an impact you can make on an activity when you are fully engaged. It was awesome to watch you give it your all in various activities and equally as exciting to see you really start to enjoy playing tennis. I'm glad that you were able to meet up with us at Six Flags. I hope you keep in mind the significance of camp and how fun it is to just spend all day every day with your friends without any screens or distractions.

Eli Greenfield – I'm proud of you for becoming a captain this year. Watching you lead the group in activities throughout the summer, it was clear that you deserved it. You did a great job leading the white team even when times were tough. You were a great help with some behind the scenes stuff this summer, such as designing our Friar jerseys and playing music when we needed it, and I can't thank you enough for that.

Noah Grossman – You are a sweet, sweet boy. Your love for this place is evident in the way you carry yourself and the way you treat other people. You are friends with everyone in the group and were always one of the first people to reach out to newly arriving campers and make them feel included. I'm sorry that we didn't get to pursue the camper staff doubles championship, but I'm pretty sure that we would have won it easily.

FRIARS

Kilian Hauck – Watching how easily you jumped into activities with the rest of the group was amazing to watch. You made an easy transition coming into the group late this summer. Everyone in the group truly enjoyed to be around you and you were an amazing camper to have. Watching you dominate your Green & White tennis match was a highlight of color war. I hope you enjoyed your summer and come back for as long as you can.

Nathaniel Hill – Watching you try every day no matter the period is something I truly admire about you. Always going hard in every activity is a proud sight to see. You have grown tremendously from previous summers, stepping out of your shell and emerging as an important member of the group. Your knowledge on sports blows me away. Keep coming back, your group loves you.

Alvaro Huarte – Your consistent positive attitude and willingness to do whatever was asked of you was great to have. Being the only one from Spain in the group might have felt overwhelming for you at times, but that definitely didn't show. One of my favorite memories of the summer was running the 5K with you; I'm so glad that we share that experience. I know it might be a challenge for you to come back to camp in the future but just know that everyone would love to have you here for as long as you can be.

Logan Kaganovsky – Watching you turn it on in activities like steal the bacon and team handball was impressive. When you gave everything you had, there was really no one who could put up much resistance. It was clear that you have made a solid group of friends because everyone was pretty sad that you didn't say goodbye to anyone. Nevertheless, it was great getting to know you this summer and I hope that you will continue making the most out of your summers here at camp.

Sebastian Karlson – You have an amazing sense of humor and a consistent positive attitude. I appreciate all the effort you put into activities no matter what they are or how you are feeling. It is inspiring to see how much you love this place. You get camp and truly understand what you can get out of being here. You have even more to gain from camp as you progress through boys camp. I can't wait to watch Super Troopers 2 and witness your performance.

Mason Kasimov – I'm so glad that you ended up deciding to return to camp. It was evident that you have improved greatly as an athlete, as you hit trees pretty soon after arriving and excelled in several other activities. I'm most thankful for your willingness to spend time with and your successfulness in including new and quiet members in the group. I could always rely on you to speak up for your peers and to be there for them when they needed you.

Mercer Kruzner – It was great getting to know you this summer. It is clear to me how much you love camp by how hard you play in every event. You…I hope that you get to be here all summer next year. For real though, your presence when you were here made a lot of our activities more intense and athletic.

Sean Mahar – You managed to come for the best two weeks of the summer. I'm happy for you that you got to experience excursion and Green & White. However, I think going through a regular routine at camp is also a lot of fun, and, if at all possible, it would be worthwhile for you to come back for longer next summer. You brought consistent effort to every activity and never complained about anything. Thanks for making my job a lot easier.

Takeshi Nakajima – Watching you come out of your shell the last few days of camp was absolutely awesome. Whether you were taking over the group and managing the clipboard or scoring a beautiful goal in soccer, you really made your presence felt. Before you got here, I was amazed by how often your group mates asked about when you were getting to camp. Everyone loves you and loves having you around.

Graham Napack – From an outsider's perspective, it was certainly impossible to tell that you weren't at camp last summer. You fit right back in with the group and it was clear everyone was very excited to have you back at Robin Hood. It was great to see how much you enjoyed excursion and Green & White and I'm glad that you stayed for the entire summer to experience it all. I know that there are always a lot of different options to pursue in the summer but I hope your year away helped you realize how special camp is.

Andrew Schmidt – You are a clear leader of this group and a great role model for other campers to look up to. You go hard in every activity, you aren't afraid to perform on stage in front of the entire camp, and most importantly, you are always looking out for everyone else and pushing them to put in the same effort that you do. You were always someone who I could count on to do the right thing and to make sure that the rest of the group would follow in your footsteps.

Oliver Snidow – Oli, watching you go head to head with Eli during steal the bacon, your first EA, was so much fun to watch. So many people in the group could not wait for your arrival, and it was clear once you got here that you are an important piece of this group. You came during the best time of camp and had a great time during color war. Keep coming back because everyone values your presence.

Andres Tello – I'm so proud of how you carried yourself while you were at camp. I could always count on you to be one of the first people on benches and to try hard in every activity. You came into every period like it was your last one. In particular, seeing you dominate during Green & White was an amazing experience to watch. I hope you decide to keep coming back for as long as you can; your group really looks up to you.

Staff

I cannot thank you guys enough for everything that you did. This summer would not have been what it was if it weren't for each one of you doing such a great job.

Friars of 2018

Thank you for the most amazing summer. You guys are hilarious and I hope you use that for the best as you get older and have more influence on boys camp.

Love you all.

SIT BACK BOYS and reminisce on a memorable summer.

Remember when we perfected around the horn at our first period? When Lomo took a softball off the shin and then proceeded to crush it over the trees. We can never forget the rivalry of Mexico vs. Spain. Remember Cooper vs the People of the Forester Bunk? How about our record time swimming our 10 laps at the waterfront? It was fun to battle out the friars for who got the last Sunday Sundaes, it came down to an arm wrestle between Santi and Eli Greenfield, which we obviously won. What about our first SPUD game of the summer? Tanner took the volleyball off the dome piece and Andres was our lucky winner for the inaugural patty wagon. Fruit salads were a hot topic around the bunk this summer. Some honorable fruit mentions being pineapples, mangos, blueberries, pears, grapes, and apples. Who could forget when Nico dropped his plate not once, not twice, but three times in a row in the dining hall, what a mango. Remember our first game of gladiator ball? Sam wasn't so lucky coming to benches when a bird direct impacted his dung onto his shoulder. Sam and Tanner getting lost on bikes, thank god they took 3 lefts. Remember the resurgence of rafter ball? Cooper vs Rybo in their heated rivalry. Santi's infinity roll was unmatched. Remember back to back birthdays? Arturo and Henry hooked it up with some cookie cake. Henry got us all pizza and we chilled at the waterfront. Arturo's special song, Salty letting it all flow, and Cooper's belly dancing all earned them an extra slice. Our first few volleyball periods were insane, both within 2 points each. Who could forget when Greenfield smashed his serve right into Rybo's face. Arturo and his love for smiley potatoes and chicken nuggets earned us first in line. Remember West End? Andres, Brooks, and Santi lead the way and burned down the house. Sam and Tanner were the best water boys in years and kept our team hydrated. Remember 9 square this summer? Henry spiked it hard on Strauss.

We loved to have it for evening activity too, right guys? Who could forget Robin Hood's own 15u basketball tournament that we actually won. Salty yelling Lomo's name in his sleep kept Lomo sleeping with one eye open for several nights. Remember our intense sailing periods? The pirates took over flipping all the boats, fish were flying, and Sam got to shore with a kayak full of water. The bandit attacked our bunk but Strauss took one for the team and saved the bunk. Strauss for service? Remember the 4th of July? All the ice cream you could ever dream of, belly flops at the waterfront, and an incredible carnival dinner. Sam proved his power in the water and couldn't be stopped at Senior waterfront. Remember when Arturo just wanted chicken, but couldn't be understood?

Remember our first attempt at beating the Saxons in volleyball? It wasn't very successful. Who could forget Sam and his unbeatable rolls in rafterball? Outpost anyone? Luckily, through some aggressive negotiating, we had ourselves our first real trip out of camp… to North Conway. We had a lot of fun and stocked up on the essentials. Steal the bacon was a highlight of the summer, you guys had the opportunity to let out some energy. Salty vs. Strauss was a key matchup as well as the headliner for the event, Isaias vs. Tanner. It came as advertised and you guys had a lot of fun. Remember how shocking it was when we won the Marina Trip? It was unprecedented that your group won two years in a row. We are very lucky. Gavin and his incredible EDM skills became very useful for volleyball. Berlin…ARE YOU READY??? Our first go at the Saxons in volleyball was not very successful. However, the second time we won convincingly. You should be very proud for stepping up and beating the oldest group on camp. Team B shocked the world and reached double digits. Henry lead the A team to victory. Strauss for Service. Who could forget 5 TA when the entire group was out of camp. Every day is leg day for Greenie and it definitely shows. ;) We got to show camp why we are the best dancers when DJ Woody came. Andres went upstairs and "Moss'd" all of the TPJs for his DJ swag. Salty and his sleepwalking antics. Cooper was showing off on the water skis and went face first into the water. Beach day was a lot of fun and you guys got to show off those beach bods. Mike coached you guys with all of his effort in your Softball tournament. How are the meatballs at Winuakee? You want some "Sauce"? –Angelo. Hey Arturo, get out of here! The shires made the mistake of challenging us. "No sad, No bad, days in LA, clap, pause, and clap" this chant took us to victory. Do you remember Portland? We got to go with DC and Scott to watch an Arena football game. The food was like no other. We got to fist pump a ref, we took home a football, and the Mammoths won by one point in overtime. What. A. Night. Remember when Salty forgot where his bed was, Tanner was not too happy. Our dominance in Saxon challenges unfortunately came to an end, when we got a little ahead of ourselves challenging them to Gladiator Ball. We put up a good fight, only losing by one goal. We redeemed ourselves in a rest hour basketball game, beating the Saxons by 17. Who remembers the titans? You better! Who remembers excursion? We opened excursion with a Boston staple going to the duck tours. We had a great dinner at Fire and Ice. We ended the night with some killer ice cream. Day 2 was a lot of fun we started the day with a tour of the JFK Library, and then proceeded to tour Fenway Park. We headed to Foxborough after this and chilled out, watched tv, and ate pizza. The next morning, we woke up and got to go to Gillette Stadium and tour the Patriot's hall of fame. After the tour we tested our wits at the escape rooms. We concluded the excursion at Buffalo Wild Wings. Who could forget Sam getting a 4 on his PS test? How about Kenneth not knowing what an elevator was?

Remember when we were dominating at 9 square together, and then Green & White broke. It was easily the best 5 days of the summer. It was amazing being able to watch you guys as leaders of boy's camp. You dominated song night together, you dominated the talent shows, you were easily the most athletic group, and you all gave 110% the entire war. Do you remember protesting 9 square. That was probably my proudest moment as a counselor. You guys put aside all the beef and tension of the color war, took a negative moment, and turned it into an amazing group experience. I will never forget how hard all of you worked during color war. You boys truly did kill it. Why so serious? Easily one of the best movies of all time, I'm glad we got to watch it together.

FORESTERS

Remember our best EA of the summer eating pizza and taking over the waterfront? How about the deep-sea adventures? Kenneth busted out his dance moves and showed us all how to dance. How about Hulk-Smash? Kung Fu Kenny took over The Realm. I love you all dearly.

Logan Alderman – I know it was tough sometimes with your broken hand, but you were so positive going into every activity and really showed me a lot about your character. You took a situation that most people would have let ruin their summer, and you turned it into a positive. I'm so happy you stayed for the whole summer. You have a great heart and you are here for the right reasons.

Santi Balbontin – Although you only stayed four weeks, your leadership in this group was very evident. Your constant encouragement towards your group in activities did not go unnoticed. You beat West End and proved everyone wrong. I couldn't be prouder to be your counselor and cannot wait to see you as a Saxon and eventually on staff.

Angelo Casabianca – I don't think I have ever met someone as funny and happy as you are. Whether it be making a funny joke or picking up one of your friends, you truly bring a unique, but necessary, element to your group. You are a leader in your group, and everyone looks up to you, I hope you decide to stay seven weeks next summer, camp needs more people like you.

Kenneth Daines – You are an amazing kid and I am so glad you got to come to camp. Your constant smile and go get it attitude made you fit right into this group. Everyone loved you and I hope you enjoyed your time here. Please come back next year if you can.

Arturo Fierro – Get out of here! It was sad to see you leave after the four-week mark. If I could be as happy as you were all time, I would be the luckiest person ever. You have such a happy outlook on things, never change that. I hope you decide to come back and forget about fortnite. Your group loves you and you have an amazing impact on the group.

Henry Flug – You are the sweetest kid I have ever met. You are so kind and thoughtful with everything you do and everyone you approach. Although you were only able to stay for part of this summer, your impact was massive. Keep coming back because camp needs more people like you.

Brooks Galbriath – I cannot put into words how much you mean to this group. Your leadership and love for camp is very clear. You killed it during Green & White and I hope you enjoyed this summer just as much as I did. Keep coming back and in a few short years you are going to be leading a group of your own and you will kill it.

Alex Ginsberg – Ginsberg, although you weren't able to stay the whole summer, it was clear your place in the group is irreplaceable. Everyone was beyond excited when you got to camp. You are hilarious and bring a lot of energy to the group.

Jacob Greenfield – You are a great kid and an integral part of the group. You always try very hard in activities and that makes the experience at camp for everyone and yourself that much better. Keep coming back because camp needs people like you.

Oliver Grynberg – OG, even though you weren't able to stay the whole summer, you had an immediate impact on the group. Your constant positive attitude was contagious. I hope you decide to stay the full seven weeks for Saxon year. You understand camp and not everyone can say that when they don't stay the entire summer.

Braden Kislin – You really have found your place at camp. You have become such an important part of your group. Know that everyone loves you so much and holds you in a high regard. You always have a comment to say, whether you are joking or being serious it always makes any situation better. You have a great heart and I hope you decide to come back for many years. Camp needs people like you.

Josh Leon – You are such a good friend to your bunkmates and have really made your place in this group. I remember your first time at camp, and you have matured and really found the true meaning behind camp.

Jacopo Mazzi – You are a great kid and you bring a lot of energy to this group. You had an amazing color war. You are here for the right reasons and I hope you continue to come back to camp.

Gavin Munnell – You are hilarious and always have a smile on your face. You bring so much positivity to this group and it really makes everyone stronger. You are the first to laugh at my jokes and I won't forget that. You are a great kid and I hope you decide to stay seven weeks.

Caleb Nadell – You have such a positive outlook on everything. I hope you never change who you are. You are genuine, caring, and thoughtful with everything you do and say. I hope you decide to return to Robin Hood next summer and stay the full seven weeks. Your group needs you and more importantly camp needs you.

Nico Primo de Rivera – Where to begin. You reminded me a lot of one of my good friends from my group. You always had something to say, and there is no denying that. I wish you could have stayed the entire seven weeks, the group misses you. I really hope you come back for Saxon summer.

FORESTERS

Henry Rodin – Your genuine care for everyone in your group and camp is unmatched. You have a way of bringing people together and making boys camp a better place. I hope that you continue to come back for years to come. Never change who you are. Keep the camp traditions alive.

Sam Rosenthal – I truly don't know where to start with you, Sam. I have never met a 15-year-old who is so capable of keeping me on my toes. You are easily one of the wittiest people I've ever met and I don't know what I would have done this summer without you constantly belittling my intelligence. You're one of a kind and I know you'll find success with whatever you do. Can't wait to read about you one day.

Jesse Schumann – Even though you were not able to be here the whole summer your impact on the group was tremendous. It's apparent to the whole staff that you're a leader amongst your peers and I'll cherish the memories we made this summer forever. You're an unbelievably cool kid and I can't wait for you to kill it as a Saxon.

Jack Shanahan – I know you weren't able to stay the whole summer, but I could not be happier you did come to camp. You had an amazing last three weeks and I hope you enjoyed it as much as I enjoyed having you. Keep coming back, camp needs you.

Liam Sheridan – Although you only stayed for a short eight days. I hope you enjoyed every minute. You are a great person and I'm glad you decided to come back to camp. You have a great friendship with Henry and Kenneth and that's amazing. I hope you come back.

Tanner Slesh – I can confidently say that I have never met someone with a personality like yours. You kept me guessing what your next move would be the entire time you were here. It's an absolute shame you had to leave early this Summer and it left a hole in the group that could never be filled. There was never a dull moment with you and I hope you continue to share your energy with camp for years to come.

Jackson Staal – I know this was your first summer, but you instantly fit into the group. I hope that you enjoyed your time at camp. Keep coming back if you can. I know that you will get so much out of Saxon summer.

Cooper Strauss – You love camp so much, and even if you are joking around 100% of the time you are such an integral part of your group. I loved being able to share an area this summer, and I hope the Celtics bring home the Larry O'Brien Trophy. You are a great kid and I wouldn't have wanted to lose a rafter ball bet to anyone else. Keep coming back because camp needs you.

Andres Urmeneta – What is there to say other than 'you're the man'. You're a clear leader in the group and an even better friend. When we aren't waiting for you to get on benches you bring an infectious energy to the group that is simply unparalleled. We made some great memories this summer and I hope there will be many more to come.

Isaias Vazquez – You had an amazing first summer at camp and you made quite the impact on your bunk mates. Come back because you will really enjoy being a Saxon.

Cayson Wernick – I'm so glad you decided to try camp. I hope it was everything you expected and more. You jumped right in not knowing a whole lot about camp. You fit in perfectly with the group and made it feel like you had been going to camp just as long as everyone else. It's not easy to join an older group and make the presence that you made, come back and enjoy Saxon summer.

To my Staff

Lomo, Jacob, and Matt I cannot thank you guys enough for everything this summer. I can confidently say you guys made my summer easier, enjoyable, and the best I have ever had. I hope we can stay in touch because you are all amazing people.

To the Saxons of 2019

I couldn't feel safer leaving this camp in your hands. It's yours to take and I hope you seize every moment of your Saxon summer because before you know it you will be giving your Saxon speeches wishing you had one more summer as a camper. This place needs you guys to keep coming back, keep the traditions alive, and most importantly give back to this place for what it has given you.

You all will hold a special place in my heart.

SUP BOYS?
TIME TO SIT BACK, RELAX, AND TAKE A LOOK AT YOUR INCREDIBLE SAXON SUMMER OF 2018.

Remember when you boys came a day early? Except Peter and Ricky's flight was delayed so they eventually rolled through at 11pm. We met with Woody about our expectations for an awesome summer and got Sunday Sundaes for the first time served by yours truly. Remember when we helped out on the first day of camp? I thought we would be busy helping out with other groups but we all ended up posted up in the weight room for half the morning getting massive. It was definitely cool for you guys to see the other side of how it looks on opening day.

Remember our first full day of camp, when we swam our 16 laps [10 laps] with the TPJs…when Zach called game in Kan Jam and hit a slot…when we played ultimate frisbee in the pouring rain? Remember when we botched our role call at the Staff Talent Show…when we went to Cozy Corner for the first night with the Scribes…when Joey somehow got a waffle cone when we all had smalls? Remember when we hiked Green Mountain with the TPJs…when we all thought it was a difficult hike…when we got Cozy again afterwards…when we got back to camp that afternoon we played a hard game of basketball and bro'ed out on paddle boards on the lake? Remember when we got our TPJs buddies…when we led Boy's Camp in an awesome camp fire and taught them all of the old and new cheers…when we got the dining hall hyped for the first time the day after? I'm really proud of you boys for taking the reins on Boy's Camp early in the summer and dominating the dining hall all summer.

Remember when we had Drama with Ken? That turned out to be one of the funnier periods of the summer. Remember when we played Futsul in the Rink? I think that's what is was called; Ricky what's it called again? Remember when we had a Spikeball tournament at the WF and watched a remarkable sunset…when Charlie hit a game winning shot with his foot…when we watched the NBA awards in the Lodge but y'all just fell asleep…when Alvaro was particularly interested in the awards, when Alvaro wasn't sleeping? Remember when we went to Yankee Smokehouse for Peter's birthday…when we feasted on all the meats we could ever ask for…when we dominated three huge brownie sundaes… when beans were mysteriously found on Dylan's bed? Remember when we climbed Mount Washington…when Dylan and Alvaro climbed up the mountain in a record time…when Luke fell asleep at the top for 45 minutes…when we got to hang out with Arash? Remember Doodle's picture at the top of Washington…when we got Pizza Barn after the hike? I am really proud all of you boys made it up and down Washington, it is definitely something to feel accomplished about and proud of doing.

Remember when we took a day off and went to Chipotle and Incredibles 2…when we played sad songs the whole car ride and maybe Jacko cried? Remember the West End game at the HOUSE? Dylan and Ricky played amazing games and our insane cheering led the squad to a one point victory. That is a memory all of us will have forever. What a game. Remember when our 15U basketball team took the victory at the Robin Hood Tournament coming off the West End Win? Ricky and Dylan once again led the team to victory, while the rest of us were helping run the tournament. Remember when Zach T'd up the Winaukee coach…when we played Belknap in a soccer game and Alvaro was an absolute beast? Remember when we were not posted up at the Waterfront? I don't. Remember Jacko's fire checklists when he was on a day off…when he didn't know how to spell "disapointed," when we got donuts for Joey's birthday but they were only glazed donuts?

Remember the 4th of July…when we decorated the dining hall with the Scribes? It was the best decorations The Realm has ever seen in the dining hall. Remember when we woke up all of camp in our awesome 4th of July tanks…when we made Chuck shed a tear, when we were sending the slip 'n slide, when we ran the carnival for the afternoon? You guys did an awesome job running camp for the day, and it was really cool to watch you take over The Realm. Remember when we watched Jumanji in the Lodge…when they couldn't find the missing jewel…Remember when Dylan wore Khaki shorts to bed…when we sent the TPJs off senior waterfront, when Joey got bug spray all over his sheets…or maybe not.

Remember when Dylan and Phil found mussels on the side of the Waterfront… when Doodle was freaking out about getting a little sun one day…when Joey, Alvaro and Ricky made it to the championship for soccer at Camp Cedar? Remember when we hit mini golf and Cozy Corner…when we were jamming out so hard in the van that it started bouncing. Remember when we went 3-1 at the U16 Indian Acers tournament… when Alvaro, Ricky and Max had a day off… when Zach spiked on Doodle in an intense volleyball game…when Scott took us out to McDonald's…when Joey encountered cubbies and trash cans in the shower… when Dylan had super-fast hands? Remember Beach Day? We got to stay at Ogunquit late and relax on the beach. Remember when we sent it into the water and got absolutely rocked by the waves…when we got to walk into town and everyone ate real food…when we had intense basketball talks with Rikleen? Remember when Zach, Peter, Phil, Alvaro, and Ricky all slayed trees when Jacko was on a day off? I guess my pitching was simply too good…what's deGroms ERA by the way? Remember the DJ Wood social…when Phil stayed late…when LoMo caught a bat.

SAXONS

Remember when y'all killed the dance? Billy Joel was a great choice and I thought it was one of the best Saxon dances ever. Remember when you guys finally did the toothpaste tradition that you were complaining about all summer long…when we had dance practice at the ODT and cleaned up the leftover trash…when we had a cool Scraxon camp fire at the waterfront with Smores? Remember when we went on Katahdin…when we drove for 5 hours and then got stuck at the gate of the campsite for another 2 hours…when we all made it to the summit and stepped on grass…when the fast group went swimming in the stream on the way down…when we had to change campsites from 1 to 2 for no apparent reason…when we got reminded the importance of honesty…when Chef Józ cooked up some fire chicken parm and ravioli? Although there were a lot of issues along the way, I think we will be able to look back on the trip and laugh at the craziness. Remember when Ricky took three days off while we were at Katahdin and wrote remember when's for himself… when you guys led the TPJs and Squires in an awesome one day Color War?

Remember PVD…when we set up the tents and tables; good looks boys…when you guys killed the dance once again in front of the parents…when we went on a cold streak hitting trees with your parents? Remember when Dylan beat Izzy in badminton… when we played Hunger Games with the Scribbles…when you guys made the largest salt and pepper tower known to mankind? Remember when we played gladiator ball with the Foresters…when Alvaro went coast to coast with a sprained ankle…when Joey went a little bit too hard? Remember our projector movie sessions in the bunk…when we watched I Love You, Man and we were slappppppppping the bass? Remember Max's remember whens?

Remember when we went on Excursion… when we went to Old Orchard beach on the first day…when we ate some great food at the beach…when we sent it hard into the water once again and caught some major waves…when we went on a duck tour but couldn't go into the water…when the tour guide roasted Ricky? Remember when we got all dressed up and feasted on some great food in Portland…when Gabe, Peter and Rick schemed the spending limit? Remember when we hit the Escape Room… when Dylan and his crew went in the room with Józ and somehow escaped…when we watched Step Brothers in the hotel room? Remember when we went on the fire food tour with Chuck and Randy…when we had donuts to start, lobster rolls, pizza, sodas, milkshakes and fries to end? Remember when we went Kayaking…when Dyl and Rick were trash at Kayaking…when we went deep at Flatbread and got a ton of pies? Remember our interesting fake break… when we rolled into camp with blow horns and streamers hoping campers would follow us? Remember Founder's Night…when we gave camp an amazing new sign to locate different areas campers come from…when both Charlies got their 5 year shirts?

Remember Green & White…when Jacko took a "Day Off" but ended up being involved in the break…when the ATVs rolled in hot, and everyone went nuts? When the sea plane came into the waterfront with DC the war officially began. Remember when you guys played volleyball during the premier event on the first day of Green & White? That was so cool how the whole camp watched you guys play an awesome volleyball game. Remember when you guys had meal time inspection…when you played 3 on 3 football in the rain and all of the judges were there to watch…when Phil broke his nose in the basketball game…when you played Forester/Saxon soccer and the game ended in PKs…when both Joey's had crazy catches in ultimate…when you guys all dominated the talent show…when the tug of war came down to an unlimited time final pull? You guys all dominated Green & White as your final year as campers and it was amazing to watch you guys give it everything you had. You left nothing out on the field, and the end of the tug of war showed that clearly.

Remember the last few days of camp… when we got steak bombs at the waterfront… when you guys all killed your Saxon speeches…when we stayed late at the ODT and bro'ed out?

Joey Abrams – You are the man. You always had a positive attitude no matter what activity we were doing. Every day you brought needed energy to the group which made my job much easier. I loved how you were always there to make our group laugh no matter the situation, like countless times during Katahdin. I hope we are able to carry our friendship for years to come. I can't wait to watch you kill it on staff.

Zach Bohm – As soon as you stepped off the van I felt an instant connection with you. You are a great kid and always were there to give me a solid dap whenever we crossed paths. I loved watching your competitive nature in inter-camps and during Green & White. This place obviously means a lot to you and I hope that you are able to come back next summer. You have great potential to be an incredible staff member.

Peter Cohen – I have seen you grow up through the years at camp and I'm glad I finally got to have you as my camper. You are a great kid and a true leader of the group. You killed it as a captain for your group. You obviously have a lot of love for camp and I hope that you continue to feel that way for years to come. I enjoyed our late night talks and I'm looking forward to watch you continue to kill it on staff.

Max Escalara – You are truly a legend. You always had an upbeat attitude which kept the group energized. Although I still don't understand your made up language, I love that you kept rolling with it. The letter you wrote for our group at the end was simply amazing. We all loved the letter and it clearly showed me your love for the group and for camp. I hope you find a way back to The Realm at some point, because you truly love this place and it loves you back.

Alvaro Higuero – You are a literal beast. Coming into camp I was a little nervous since it was your first year at camp however you immediately integrated yourself into the group. From the first day you were one of the boys. I enjoyed talking with you about your life in Spain and your bull fighting experiences which were crazy. You are an awesome kid and I hope you somehow find a way back to camp, if not we'll meet up in Spain sometime down the road.

SAXONS

Joey Healey – You are a true class act. Although you came late this summer, you picked up exactly where you left off. Your sometimes quiet personality sometimes hides the fact that you are a true leader of this group. You are truly a great kid and the group needed someone like you this summer. I'm glad you got to stay for Green & White this summer and it was awesome watching you dominate the color war. I hope you are able to come back as a counselor because camp needs a counselor like you.

Andrew LoMedico – LoMo, it was great having you as a camper. Although at first I was a little nervous having you as a camper since we are cousins, I think it worked out fine and allowed us to have a different, stronger relationship than we previously had. You always were there with a positive attitude and a smile on your face. I truly hope you plan on coming back as a staff member because you have the potential to have a great impact at camp.

Ricky Melasecca – You are simply the man. You are a clear leader of the group and helped me a lot throughout the summer. I always hear your name, but never truly got to know you until this summer and I'm glad I had that opportunity. You did a great job playing ball in the house. Although your knee got injured fairly early in the summer, you still managed to make the most of your Saxon summer, which is awesome. Your time at camp is just beginning. You have a strong future at this place and I can't wait to watch you through your years on staff.

Phil Schmidt – You are a great kid and an integral part of the group. You always keep the group in check saving me time and energy. You truly love this place and I hope you continue to hold that feeling close to you for the rest of your life. You killed it as captain during Green & White. It was a pleasure having you as a camper and I cannot wait to see what you do on staff next summer.

Dylan Siegel – You are always making me laugh. Your energy and personality keeps a smile on my face all day long. Although it was tough seeing the King go to LA, you still made the most out of your summer. You did an awesome job playing in the house game. It was so cool seeing you out on the court giving it all you got. I hope you are able to come back on staff because camp needs someone with your energy and humor.

Luke Swirsky – Ayyyyyyyyyyyy. You are a very mature kid and I loved having intellectual conversations about the books you were reading. You went through each day with a positive attitude which kept the group moving. Although you decided to leave early this summer, I think the four weeks you spent here you accomplished everything you set your sights on and had a great summer. I hope that you consider coming back on staff next year for at least a year, I think it will be a great experience for you.

Charlie Zinamon – Chuck, you are quietly the man. Although you missed last summer, you got right back into things this summer. You were instantly accepted by the group and it felt like you never missed a summer. You are a great guy, always ready to make me and the rest of the group laugh. I know you want to come back on staff, and I hope that you choose to because you will be a great counselor and I can't wait to see what you do here.

Gabe Zolot – Doodle, my man. I'm so happy I got to know you so well this summer. You're one of the nicest and most sincere people to ever come through The Realm and your groupmates respect that. You were always the first to step up and do any work that I asked you to do and I will be forever grateful for that. Although deGrom's ERA is always on your mind, you always found time to roast me and make me laugh. You are going to absolutely kill it on staff and I cannot wait to watch you when I come back for Green & White.

STAFF

Józ and Charlie – I would not be able to have the summer run so smoothly without you two. The hard work and dedication you brought every day is something I cannot thank you enough for. I got really close with both of you guys this summer and I hope we can continue to stay in touch.

SAXONS OF 2018 –

Boys, what a summer. I cannot believe the summer went by as quickly as it did. This was easily my favorite summer at camp and I cannot thank you enough for making it that way. Although I kept you guys in line, I hope looking back at the summer you realize why I ran the group the way I did. Each and every one of you has great potential, whether it's at camp or anywhere in life. I hope to see every single one of you at camp next summer because you will all kill it on staff. I love you guys, stay in touch…

TUMBLERS

YO YO YO – IT'S YEARBOOK TIME!!!

Tumbies like you, run round with GL's like Luce, till EA when we surprise you! For real though tumbies stop playing with slime, stop waking up at 6am, please change out of your onesies and pay attention because we're about to relive the top tales of the summer from arranged weddings to TPJ challenges. We've got it all, so engage yourselves, grab a squishy and let's go.

WOW opening day – who remembers the crazy atmosphere? With the Lyla and Lila Sol families arriving first followed by cars and cars full of little humans and duffle bags followed by big buses full of more little humans and more duffle bags! Our first evening activity of Gaga, obviously only because I'm selfish and it's the BEST activity on camp (remember this always). Remember doing your 10 laps – or attempting to at least? Maddy stop pushing me off the tower and Sadie get into bed!

What about our impromptu hiking trip up green mountain? I know you all had SO much fun so I've pre-planned for you guys to be scheduled for more mountain hikes next year – Brookie this is for you! The cozy after just makes it even better doesn't it? Skye being our gymnastic star. Esme doing her stand up comedy and Eliana and Liv making us all laugh constantly. Remember when Chibby swam so so very fast at her swim meet. Caroline Collier stop being so good at tennis it's intimidating. Marissa grab your water bottle!

Remember surprising DC and Woody by planting beautiful flowers outside their cottage and getting our hands all muddy and dirty mmmmm PRETTY PEOPLE. What about the Mainers game where you all definitely had too much candy and loved screaming every camp song on the bus ride home. We missed our fabulous siblings Lily and Emery but hey you guys have to stay longer next year!

Remember when Nellie proposed and when Lexi stuffed paper towel in silly places during paper bag skits? Remember when Adelaide tried to jump off the tower about 100 times during the summer (making every moment count). Remember "how well do you know your GL" – to be honest you guys were so good and maybe I should be concerned about how you knew the answers to a lot of those questions…but wait what sorority is Lucy in? Wait what's a sorority? Thank you Emery, Lila Solomon and Brookie for losing your teeth so we can get SUNDAY SUNDAESSSS!!

Remember when we had S'mores at the WF and had a lovely evening circle discussing the perfect shower routine and how to clean a bunk? (PS: WE DIDN'T FAIL AN INSPECTION ALL SUMMER. I LOVE YOU ALL!!). Remember the Incredibles 2 when we literally rented out our own screen, what a movie – I want to be a superhero.

July 4th. What a day! The scribes woke us up (even before you guys woke me up…a rare occasion) You guys looked super happy with so many smiles at the carnival and partied hard on the beach. I wonder how many ice creams you all had? NOT AS MANY AS MEEEE!!! Then Nini and Lila Rosenberg arrived and bringing their chill personality's with them which was amazing for the group.

Beach day was definitely one of my favourite days of the summer. I can't thank you all enough for being so well behaved AND visiting me on neck duty (some of you anyway!). Emery I still owe you back for the slushie! Remember when Lyla's hot dog got stolen by a seagull? Because I sure do!

Then suddenly it was time for EXCURSION!!! What a blast we had. First storyland where the Roar-a-Saurus most certainly got the better of us. (Allie you don't need to thank me for forcing you to go on). Then fajitas and BRIE at the campsite with some s'mores (once we actually found some chocolate) then make your GL laugh where Sloane's solos were a hit.

Did you all love PVD? We were so sad that we had to say goodbye to Gigi, Sloane, Evvy, Nellie, and Esme but you'll be back before you know it don't you worry ! I sure had a great time walking around The Realm going from activity to activity with your parents and I hope you did too. Hi Caroline Desoe and Sophie, Deane nice of you to finally join us! Carly, Sadie and Caroline I'm so so beyond glad you stayed for longer, you guys rocked it.

What about when we absolutely KILLED the TPJ's at gaga ? Or when we challenged the kitchen staff to dizzy kickball – they didn't quite understand the rules but hey, we dominated even though Rachel attacked them before every base!

Remember human sundaes when your counsellors attacked you with ice cream and toppings followed by a shower in the lake!

I know that you all were not too thrilled with me when I woke you up early to swim to the island…well done all of you for getting there and and back (Sammy I hope you never forget doing this!) BUT now when you all look back on it I hope you realise it's for the better of you and that doing small special things like that really are what camps about and makes you ensure you don't take anything for granted. So in the future, if something comes up that you don't want to do, think positively because at the end of it all – you'll have another memory with your best friends.

TUMBLERS

Then finally a sea plane was on the lake and Green & White had broken! Green & White brought out the best of you all, and shows everyone visiting how special a group you are that camp can cherish for years to come and for you to cherish camp. With Marni and Maddy leading green guardians and Ratner and Brookie leading the Vikings! You all fought hard for the 5 days, both teams, it was physically and mentally challenging and I'm so proud of each of you in how you handled every day. I won't forget Jessie being against her sister in literally every activity, Marni dominating Gaga, Rachel being last in with Allie at bombardment, or watching you run around the huge soccer field playing hard til the final whistle. You killed it and watching you made my Green & White complete and all I could ask for, so thank you.

Adelaide – You sweet sweet girl with a side of crazy!!! I loved watching you come out of your shell this summer and laughing with all of your friends. Watching you leave was impossible because I just knew that this would be your home forever and that brought tears to my eyes. Keep that sparky side of you and let everyone see it because it's magical.

Allie – Dude, we had so much fun didn't we? Thanks for being crazy and happy because it's the best way to be at camp. You looked at everyday with the best attitude and I'm so happy I got to hang with you more when you moved into my bunk. You rock Al. I will miss your silly questions and hilarious outtakes on any situation.

Brookie – I'm grateful I got to see you in Cleveland after camp, I couldn't quite stay away from you! I'll miss tubing with you, doing our arm exercises, telling you to clean your mouth at EVERY meal and morning snuggles. You understand camp, and appreciate every aspect of it. Love you so much Cookie.

Carly – Now you, Miss Zolot, are exceptional, and everybody in this camp already knows it. The way you came into this group head first and then extended for longer is amazing and I'm so proud of you for giving camp a chance. I'm so grateful I got to watch you step out of your comfort zones this summer and totally kill it.

Caroline C – You athlete you! I knew the minute I saw your surname that you were going to be wonderful – and I wasn't wrong. I'm so happy you stayed for 7 weeks, this group needs you and your carefree personality so keep coming back! Don't give up on your sports because you learn so many lessons from playing that many don't get to witness.

Caroline D – You're so important in this group, and I hope that after this summer this has become more evident. You've been an amazing camper and have always included everyone in the group, which at a young age is so unique and special so don't change that about yourself.

Chibby – Hey!!! I hope you're making the most of your comfy bed at home and not falling off! I loved spending so much time with you this summer. You're cheeky smile never fails to brighten a day and I can't wait to watch you grow up into a confident young lady.

Eliana – Dude you are one crazy child but I love it and I hope your energy and enthusiasm never leaves you. It's so infectious and everyone around you knows that so don't change Eli you rock! I'll never forget you standing on that stage saying goodnight to The Realm with a peace sign!

Emery – I know that this summer everyone saw a whole new side of you, and it was such a caring, positive person. The way you were always looking out for your sister was admirable and you spending the summer together will be a summer I know neither of you will forget and will cherish for life.

Esme – You're the most energetic and happy little girl I've ever met and it's infectious and wonderful. I envy the way you are able to shake off the small stuff and remember the great stuff, and everyone sees this in you.

Evvy – I have one word and that's 'special'. You came and attached yourself to camp as if you've been destined to stay here forever. You cannot believe how much of an impact you've had on this group and on me and I want you to always remember how important you being here is.

GiGi – Oh my love why did you have to leave us so quickly, we all missed you greatly. I don't think I need to tell you how much you impacted this group, everyone loved you from the minute you got here and will continue to do so year after year so keep coming back and make sure you stay for longer!

Hammerschlag – You hilarious little pooch. Thank you for always doing the right thing, for all the tight hugs day after day when we need them most. I'll miss them a lot. Your funny comments and easy living personality is infectious and I can't wait for you to realise how funny you are as you grow up. It's amazing.

Heller – You are just plain and simply fabulous. You rocked Green & White and I loved watching you intensely battle against your sister and put everything you have into all the activities. You became an integral part of the group this summer and I know that camp needs such kind, athletic and caring people like you to keep coming back – so do!

Lexi – You are the most carefree, spirited girl I know. The way you approach theme days just proves how lighthearted you are which is a quality many people don't have. You were able to do things this summer I'm sure you wouldn't have done at home and I just can't wait to see what else you have to offer camp and what camp has to offer you.

Lila R – You must be one of the most genuine and caring people I've met. You are always asking if people are ok and making sure that everyone feels included which is truly admirable for someone your age. I'm so proud of you staying for longer and rockin' Green & White. I know you'll be back!

Lila S – My darling hello, I miss saying goodnight to you and how my laundry will be in your laundry. Most of all how sweet and kind you are and I could always count on you to calm me down and make me smile!

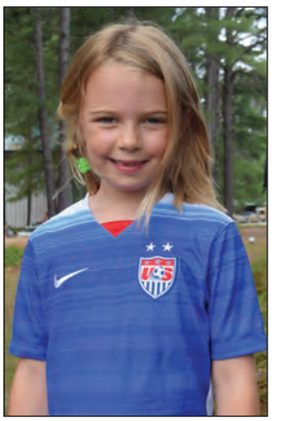

Lily – Your hugs made my day. Telling you to clean your face in dining hall after every meal and watching you grin just before you knew I would say it was hilarious. Your eyes sparkle with a cheeky laugh that no one can erase from you. I'm so happy you joined Emery at The Realm this summer, you were born to be here.

Liv – Simply hanging out with you was awesome. You were always so easy to just talk to about anything. I loved being able to ask you how horse riding went or how you found the activity because your answers always made my day as you'd say them with the biggest smile. Don't lose that smile and keep coming back to show it to everyone.

TUMBLERS

Lyla – You made me smile the biggest smiles I've ever smiled! The comments you make and the silly little things that happen day to day that we just couldn't stop laughing about will never be forgotten. You had such an impact on the group this year, even more than last year and I'm super happy that you were able to make stronger bonds with everyone, love you flower.

Mads – I am so happy that I got to know such an awesome little person like you this summer. I'm so proud of you, I think you finally understand what this place could mean to you and how special the people here are. I will miss our cuddles and spending every second of a day with you constantly making me laugh and saving me a seat at every meal. I'll always be here for you Mads.

Marissa – Your kindness and caring nature is infectious and all of your counsellors are aware of the sweetheart you are. Camp is lucky to have people like you growing up there and you are lucky to have camp support you in every way possible which I know you will make the most of.

Marns – You are a role model to everyone around you. You are a leader in the best possible way and your friends look up to you for this. I can't begin to tell you how much I loved spending time with you this summer, watching you put you all into everything we did, taking everyday at camp like they were your last. You understand camp which is the most special thing to see.

Naeemah – The minute you arrived you jumped right into hanging out with everyone and you were so comfortable and cool, you were meant to be here. Your light hearted nature is envied by everyone, you are able to shrug off the small stuff and focus on what's really important which is the most amazing quality to have especially at camp because there is no time to sweat the small stuff so please keep this side of you forever.

Nellie – YOU CANNOT MARRY HIM! Even though I'll forever be grateful that you picked me to be your maid of honour. You really do know how to make someone laugh and smile and forget anything that may be bothering them. I loved how you tried everything thrown at you and didn't make a fuss about anything. You made the summer feel right and I can't thank you enough. Love you baby girl!

Rach – My little angel. When I was told I have the youngest camper in camp, I was excited yet terrified but you made this summer so easy and I can't believe how at such a young age you've already been able to appreciate and understand camp just like anyone else. I will miss goodnight hugs but I'm always here for you.

Ratner – I'm speechless when it comes to writing this for you. How you approach everyday at camp is admirable and makes me fill with joy and reassurance knowing that there's kids like you able to continue what is most important about being here and I have every confidence you will make the most of every minute you have. I wish you knew how grateful I am that you kept me doing the small important things this summer too.

Sadie – Dude, you are one in a million. I will miss our goodnight hugs and chats and most importantly will miss telling you that you DON'T need to put a bandaid on that tiny tiny tiny little cut you have (stop getting hurt). You know how much you mean to me and this group so I don't have much to say apart from telling you to never change and always do what you think is right and what you believe in.

Sammy – You got me and I got you this summer. I admire your ability to have the most mature conversations with me, whether about the great Chicago fire or simply about why mountain monkey is a special song. You reassured me that camp will be in the best hands when you all grow up and that each small part of our summer was impactful in some way. You swimming to the island and back will be a moment I won't forget. So proud of you.

Skye – You are one of the sweetest people I've met, always ready for a real people chat. You're mature beyond years and a bit too good at gymnastics for my liking, it's intimidating! (Even though we both know I invented it I'm just not as good as you). You need to be back for Green & White – you were made for it!

Sloaney – Hey am I worrying because if I'm not you shouldn't be! I loved how close we were this summer with so much trust between us making our connection stronger. Everyone loved you in this group and I really don't want you to ever forget that – Because you're so important and special to everyone especially me. Keep coming back this group needs you.

Soph D – You came and immediately took The Realm by storm! You've been so easy to hang out with and I thank you for making your short time here so special. When you come back I want you to further strengthen the connection you have with this place and enjoy every minute, I've loved hearing your stories of what happens in your day, keep doing you!

To my staff, where to begin!

I couldn't have done this summer without each and every one of you. You made this job fun and exciting. With new challenges everyday to face and overcome together, I wouldn't have had it any other way. You all had the largest impacts on the kids which is all as a group leader I could ask for. So again, I thank you and remember wherever you are and whatever you do, from this day forward, camp will always be a part of you.

So Tumblers, that's it hey!

Thank you all for making my summer the most amazing summer of all. Remember in 2025 to dig up that time capsule of ours and laugh at the silly things we wrote! You are all incredible and I can't wait to watch you grow up in the best place on earth.

JESTERS

LEGGO JESTERS! PUT DOWN YOUR SQUISHIES, TURN UP THE GREATEST SHOWMAN, AND GET READY TO RELIVE THE BEST SUMMER OF YOUR LIVES!

Remember opening day? We all stood cheering for the big buses to arrive, the start of the Jester energy through camp. By evening activity, our small but mighty group was formed and we were ready for what was in store for the summer. Our first evening activity lead to a lot of excitement and getting to know each other by placing fun facts in balloons and playing with them to eventually guess whose facts were whose. Even though it had only been a day, so many friendships were formed that would last throughout the whole summer and years to come.

Remember the first few days of camp? The cold and rain had nothing on us. We played hard on the fields through the weather and had so much fun watching your staff at the staff talent show. Even more exciting was when you all passed your 10 laps with flying colors! We were all so proud of you! What better way to celebrate a fantastic first few days than Sunday Sundaes! After Sunday Sundaes, we had our first all girls campfire of the summer. All of your big sisters introduced all our "new" Jesters so then you weren't new anymore!

Remember our trip to the nature center and the hike? The nature center had so many cool animals and fun slides! How about that awesome playground? Remember climbing Rattlesnake Mountain? That was definitely the best view of the summer! And who could forget the Cozy Corner afterwards! Those kiddie cups were huge!

Remember Ellie's birthday? Delicious cookie cake and another trip back to Cozy Corner! Ellie is finally double digits! And you know what that means – new customized Jester headbands! We had some fun all girls' camp activities to brighten up the last rainy day before the stretch of beautiful, sunny days! Remember the Mainers' game? Baseball, candy and ice cream – what more could you want!

Remember our first few evening activities? Camper hunt, paper bag skits, Hunger Games, backwards scavenger hunt, normal scavenger hunt, pajama jumping, and of course greasy cantaloupe! Give me some more loupe! Remember the junior camp talent show? Leighton, Clarisse, Ellie, Katherine, Liv, Sienna, Alex, and Ali were all stars of the show! Remember challenging the squires to a game of Gaga? They're definitely going down next time.

Remember the Fourth of July? The Scribes came into our bunk screaming for a fun and thrilling wake up before a day of festivities! We showed up at breakfast decked out in our red, white, and blue ready to rock the day. Our day started with crafts where we made our beautiful Jester USA banner which we debuted later at the parade. After the parade, we celebrated during the Scribe and Saxon carnival with fun booths and festive food! You guys even dunked me in the dunk tank with that freeeeezing cold water! Remember the beach party? We partied the whole afternoon and finally ended with a feast of fair food! We love F-R-I-E-D dough!

Remember seeing the Incredibles 2 instead of picking up trash? That was such a good movie. Baby Jack Jack with powers is so cute! Remember Alex losing her tooth and being able to go first in line for Sunday Sundaes? Remember campfire and getting your camp families and secret summer sisters?

Remember sleeping at the outpost? We had our first Jester campfire of the summer and shared funny stories while eating s'mores. Remember – patience and rotation is key for the perfect golden brown marshmallow.

Remember beach day? I think we bought Ogunquit out of soft serve ice cream and Dippin' Dots. Even though the water was a little chilly, you guys braved it and had a ball. The raft that Tali found proved to be a big crowd pleaser – we couldn't get you guys off of it! Between the endless boardwalk trips, the fun waves, and the soft sand, a great day was had by all.

Remember our awesome Do You Believe in Magic Dance for So You Think You Can Dance? We had so much fun dancing and we were a big hit! Remember cookie decorating? The camp themed cookies not only tasted delicious, but they also looked incredible. Remember some of our other evening activities? Family feud at the outdoor theater, a dog show where you guys were the dog or owner and had to perform a skit, and make your staff laugh were all so fun.

Remember all the intercamp tournaments and optional hikes you guys went on? The riders did awesome at the horseback riding shows, Alex, Liv, and Leighton killed it at the archery tournaments, Leighton did awesome at the gymnastics meet, and you guys got Cozy when you climbed the optional junior camp mountain!

JESTERS

Remember mini Green & White? We awoke to the Scribes breaking Green & White and we were in for a fun day of activities! It was fun to have a little taste of Green & White before the real thing. Remember Robin Hood Gives Back? We learned about the hardships and perseverance of others and got to try out some inventive ways to play sports.

Remember morning pajama jump? After jumping in right after waking up, we were treated to Dunkin' Donuts and Yensi cooked breakfast for us by the lake. What a fun way to start our day!

Remember excursion? We were so lucky it was in the first 4 weeks! What a crazy surprise that was! On the first day, we went to Storyland. We went on so many rides there – the Polar Coaster, that awesome raft ride, the super fun log flume ride, and so many more! And who could forget the crazy Roar-O-Saurus! That was one of the wildest roller coasters I have ever been on. The Dippin' Dots and shaved ice were a nice treat on a hot day. After Storyland, we arrived at the campsite to a home cooked meal made by Carlos of delicious fajitas. But make sure to pick up after yourself because… BEARS! (as the creepy lady put it). Of course, no campout would be complete without s'mores! We played some Fish Bowl and a Tumbler v Jester make your staff laugh challenge to complete the night. The next day we woke up and went to Whale's Tale! The toilet bowl slide, the trap door slide, and the one that went up and down (you know what I'm talking about) were all big hits. Lunch was ummm nutritious that day. After a fun day at the waterpark and an awesome excursion, we were headed back to camp to end our day watching Mamma Mia in Woody and DC's cottage.

After excursion, the excitement didn't stop! We went full force ahead to the next day when we rocked the stage at the parents' visiting day talent show and then had an awesome parents' visiting day playing basketball, gaga, 9 square, swimming, and performing drama. It was so fun to meet all your parents and I know you guys were even more excited to see them too.

Remember the parents visiting day cookies? Those were delicious! Remember our last EA the night before the 4 weekers left? Pajama jumping at the SENIOR WATERFRONT!!! (And lake showers with the 3 in 1). After pajama jumping, we pretended that you guys were in trouble but then surprised you with M&M pizza and candy at the rink – the perfect stargazing location. The unusual combination of M&M pizza is not only a girls' camp tradition, but it's also surprisingly tasty. The next morning we were sad to say goodbye to the 4 weekers but were so happy to have Alexa join the group!

With only 4 campers, our bunk got a lot roomier. Remember the lounge you guys designed complete with a card table, couch, and community shelves? Remember doing facials and manicures on spa day during the rainstorm? Remember making over the scribes with the tumblers, doing cake wars with the bows and kitchen staff, and playing sardines with the tumblers? We may be a small group, but we sure are mighty! We started the Jester talent show, where one camper or staff member would perform each night at evening circle, and made an end of the summer bucket list to make sure we accomplished all that we wanted to!

Remember when all of the older kids went on excursions so we practically had the camp to ourselves? We got to do so many fun activities and had waterskiing and tubing every day! Remember Founder's Night? I'm sure the future inhabitants of the bluff bunk will be thanking us for the new beautiful towel rack we made! Founder's Day signaled the beginning of the Green & White break hype. The next day, we arrived to tennis with the Tumblers and just as we were about to begin our warm up lap, there was a loud siren blaring. Shortly after, horns began honking and ATVs and motorcycles were evident. We followed them down to the waterfront and then back up to the far far field. Finally, we got to catch our breaths for a second before following a sea plane back down to the waterfront where a pontoon boat rolled up in addition to the sea plane. The judges got out with hats and canes so we knew it was the start of the war. DC and Woody announced the counselor captains before we all returned to our bunk to pick teams. The bean pick determined that Ellie and Katherine would be on the mighty White Vikings and that Maya and Alexa would be on the great Green Guardians. It was a hard fought war by both teams, but green wound up being victorious in the end. After a tough war, we had a nice Lazy Day where we each got delicious Dunkin' Donuts before having to say goodbye to Maya and Alexa. While we were sad to say goodbye, we finished out the last four days with a bang! For evening activity, we went PJUUUUUBING!!! Since there were only two of us, we got super long turns and a beautiful sunset made it even better. To top it off, we had a campfire with s'mores afterwards at the senior girl's campfire!

Remember GL swap day? You guys had an awesome afternoon with Jonas! Remember getting our last Cozy Corner that night and then having the slip n' slide by the homerun diamond? We used so much leftover soap so we'll be smelling great for days!

Remember eating quesadillas at the new outdoor theater? After finding out quesadillas weren't on the menu for the rest of the summer, something had to be done about it so making our own seemed like the best option! Later that night, we listened to the Scribe Speeches as they gave their best advice to girls camp.

JESTERS

Before we knew it, we were enjoying our last activity of the summer before packing up to go home. Overall, it was an incredible summer that we will never forget!

Remember when Tali wasn't energetic, Sienna wasn't giggling, Annie wasn't smiling, Alex wasn't playing ukulele, Leighton wasn't riding horses, Alexa wasn't killing it on the fields, Ellie wasn't being positive, Vale wasn't helping brush hair, Ali wasn't sprinting, Liv wasn't playing tetherball, Clarisse wasn't making somebody laugh, Maya wasn't playing tennis, Katherine wasn't being kind, and Rowen wasn't playing spit? WE DON'T!!!

Tali Avivi – Thank you for being so helpful whenever the counselors needed it! I love your passion for life and appreciate how you give it your all in everything that you do. Keep doing your thing at camp and in life because you're so incredible! Can't wait to watch you grow up at this special place.

Sienna Coen – You're a camp expert! After 4 years here, I can always trust you to help out and show around somebody new. Your infectious energy makes everybody around you smile and is exactly what camp needs. I can't wait to watch you to keep growing up here and make an even bigger impact on camp than you already have.

Annie Cowan – You always had a smile on your face and were excited for every activity we did! You could keep me entertained with your fun stories and positivity for days! I'm so glad you had so much fun and I can't wait to watch you grow up at camp!

Alex D'Alessio – Our little Grace Vanderwaal! You're an incredible musician and I know everybody was wowed by your performance of I Don't Know My Name. You were such a helpful groupmate to anybody who needed it and I know everybody appreciated that. I know you'll be here for years to come!

Leighton Goldberg – Your passion for horseback riding at such a young age is so impressive. Camp is a perfect place for all your energy and I know everybody around camp appreciated it. Keep doing you because you're so unique and fun. I can't wait to watch you grow up at this special place.

Alexa Heller – Not only are you the most talented athlete I know, but you're also an awesome person all around. You're able to push yourself so hard but maintain a smile on your face the whole time and that amazes me! It was so fun to watch you during Green & White and I hope you can come back for even longer next year! I can't wait to watch you grow up at camp!

Ellie Hoglund – Eleanor!! I know camp has been a part of you since you were born, but you've managed to find your perfect place in it this summer. You're a true leader of the group and always manage to keep a smile on your face in whatever you do. You're so lucky to have camp run through your veins and I know you will continue to create your own legacy here in the years to come.

Valentina Jaramillo – Vale! You are such a sweet girl and always could be seen smiling. Your laugh and friendliness cheered up the whole group! You've already found your place at camp after just 2 weeks and I can't wait to watch it grow in the upcoming summers.

Ali Lerner – Your constant positive energy made everybody around you feel happier. You always manage to make everything more fun whether it's cleaning the bunk or soccer. I'm so happy that you joined this group this summer and made so many close friends. I can't wait to watch you grow up here and spread your energy everywhere!

Liv Lerner – You took The Realm by storm this summer by putting your all into everything you do. You're an incredible athlete and an even better person. I'm so proud of you for trying so many new things and stepping out of your comfort zone. Keep coming back because you will do big things at camp!

Clarisse Moucha – You know how to make anybody and everybody laugh at all times, but also have a very sweet side. You immediately brighten up any room you step into and add so much energy to the group. Camp is a perfect place for you to be your crazy awesome self and I know this place will be your home for years to come.

Maya Rosenberg – Even though you came a little late, you managed to continue right where you left off from last summer. You are such a great friend to everybody around you and know how to make everybody laugh! I know you'll do amazing things at this incredible place and you're so lucky that you can now share it with your sister!

Katherine Schmidt – You are such a good friend to everybody at the bunk and always do the right thing. I and the rest of the group appreciate your helpfulness and kindness. It was so fun to watch you come out of your shell this summer even more than before, and I know camp will be a very special place for you for years to come.

Rowen Spitz – I am so proud of you for stepping out of your comfort zone this summer. You are so loveable and your hugs brighten everyone's day, whether it's another camper or a counselor. Keep coming back because I know camp will become very special to you.

Jest staff best staff –

Thank you for everything. We make the perfect team and I love you all so much.

Jesters 2018, Scribes 2024 –

You guys are such an awesome and energetic group and I can't wait to watch you all grow up here. You're all so unique and special in your own way and together you were the perfect group. Love you to the stars on the quad and back!

BOWS

CHICKA CHICKA… BOW BOW!

OK dudes let's put away the slime, stop dreaming about Robby, stop not worrying by Bowing happy, relax, sit on an inflatable, and get ready to reflect on the amazing summer that was summer 2018.

Remember sitting at home, watching the seasons change, and wondering if summer would ever come? Remember driving under the Robin Hood sign for the first time of the summer? Remember feeling at home right away with the smell of the pine needles and all the cheers at the NY bus? Remember when it finally clicked that this would be a summer that we will remember for the rest of our lives?

Snaps to Lyla for being the first Bow of 2018 to step foot on camp! Remember when we got to have our first official dance party under the sunset in the rink? Remember the first campfire? Remember meeting the Scribes of 2018, getting introduced by our camp big sisters, making our camp wishes, and learning the camp goodnight song? Remember when our first – real – evening activity ended with s'mores by the sunset Bow sesh?

Remember when Ivy and Aaliyah K came prepared to camp with the coolest Bows? Remember when Grape became Grape on day one? Can't wait for that name to stick forever. Remember when Lola was the birthday queen? Remember screaming "come on and be a sig delt"? Remember impersonating our counselors during backwards scav? Nora used the green mounds on the quad as a prop. Remember when Ava shouted, "Don't forget the razor!!!" when we announced that the next item was a bald man? Remember when we got to head out of camp to the mainers game? We all got to enjoy yummy carnival food and watch the game with all of our pals!

The Bows sure do have talent! Remember when the Bows rocked it in the JC talent show? I'm so proud of each and every one of you for getting up there and showing camp that the Bows have talent!

Remember when…Amanda wasn't smiling, Lola wasn't rocking her hat, Eliza wasn't looking for her gopro, Julia wasn't screaming, Meadow wasn't saying hi to everyone in the DHALL, Marina wasn't carrying her Zoom Zoom, Fran wasn't making us laugh with her sassiness, Seven wasn't killing it at intercamps, and Grape wasn't being Grape? WE DON'T!

Come on and be a sig delt…S I G S S I G M A. Remember when Hannah brought a million floats to camp? Remember when Eliza spiced up Bow sesh with snaps? Snaps for that.

Our big bad Bow family just keeps growing!! Remember when Mar, Alexa, Fran, and Aliyah T joined us on week 2? Remember "winning" how well do you know your group leader? Remember when Audrey W beautifully played the violin in the cabin during rest hour? Remember when Seven's count off number was 8? Remember when all 29 of us went paddle boarding at one time? Remember when Ruby and Meadow found a new "friend" in the water?

Anyone up for a private beach party? Remember going to the lake with the Shires and bards? Remember when Noa was a duck whisper? Remember when we rounded out the night watching Mamma Mia? Remember when the next day was July 4th? We got to do everything at the carnival in the afternoon and ending off the perfect day with a beach party? Remember getting the underwear for the scavenger hunt?

Remember when Noa wasn't talking about where her Swell went, Ger wasn't our dancing queen, Alexa wasn't rocking the clout goggles, Linsul wasn't giggling, Alyiah K wasn't practicing the dance with a huge smile, Alyiah T wasn't making everyone laugh 24/7, Asha wasn't ready to give everyone a hug, Marlena wasn't loving all the horses on camp, and Izzy wasn't amazing us with all of her hidden talents?? WE DON'T!!

Quick!! Everyone grab your water guns!! Remember when we took over candy canteen? Remember when Linsul got over her fear and jumped off the tower for the first time this summer? Remember when we fought off a chipmunk? Remember when Ruby fell into the water with her towel on? Remember when we invented lactrochbee? Remember when Fran was Justin Bieber? Remember when we canoed to the marina? Remember when Ger gave us our inspiration for our group dance with smooth criminal? Remember Aliyah T's high kick? Remember when we got midnight McDonald's?

Remember when everyone had to complete the strangest tasks just to get out their "target" in assassin? Still can't believe it lasted the ENTIRE summer! Who doesn't love a good nature trail…right? We really tricked you guys about walking to cozy! Remember the dog show? Mandy's performance was A+. Remember when Seven and Meadow slayed in the swim meet, while Izzy, Mar, Nora, and Ruby killed it in the horse show?

ZOOM ZOOM #29! Remember beach day? Everyone ate their hearts out and played in the water for hours! Remember when we added so much of our groups personality into our dance by throwing in the thriller remix? You guys were truly stars that night! Remember going mini golfing, go karting, and having ice cream all in one morning? Remember when Izzy, Meadow, Ivy, Grape, Gill, and Mandy climbed WASHINGTON??? You guys keep impressing me more and more everyday!

Remember when Jane wasn't telling Remy to go back to his table, Sophie wasn't teaching us German, Ivy wasn't teaching everyone how to play spit, Sylvie wasn't wearing the coolest Robinhood shirts, Sam wasn't looking for ramen, Hannah wasn't wearing an MSU shirt, and Addie wasn't eating crystal lite? WE DON'T!!

Remember saying hello to Sam, Sophie, Asha, Kara, and Amanda? So happy that you guys joined our family just in time to finish out the summer! Remember having a rainy day spit tournament? Remember when Ivy wrote the strongly worded letter to the archers? Remember waterballoon infection? Remember when we wrote the Bow song?

Remember feeling like you were in the real life version of fortnite on the waterski boat? Remember being yelled at by Woody but actually having pizza and soda in the lodge? Remember when we had cake wars with the kitchen staff? Remember when we had a failed attempt at going cloud gazing? Remember creating a smile factory? Remember when we had all of the sister duo's for lift yourself?

BOWS

Is it 2023 yet? Remember sitting at the ODT to write letters to yourselves as Scribes? I truly saw each and every one of your loves for camp grow within a few hours. I can't wait to see your faces when you open it up!

E-X-C-U-R-S-I-O-N…what does that spell? Remember running around camp to discover that we would be leaving for excursion? Remember when our first stop was monkey trunks? We all faced our fears and took turns going on the zipline! Next up we devoured some vermonsters, and headed to the campsite for dinner. HERE WE GO AGAIN!!! Remember being surprised with mamma mia 2? Remember starting day 2 of excursion with whales tales and mini golf?

Remember when Mandy wasn't better than all the basketball staff, Gill wasn't screaming until her throat hurt, Ceci wasn't talking about "this next verse doe", Ella wasn't the sweetest girl on camp, Kara wasn't brushing her hair, Lyla wasn't harassing Max at meals, Audrey W wasn't smiling from ear to ear, Ruby wasn't talking about the counselor's undergarments, and Nora wasn't doing a horse impression? WE DON'T!!

One minute we were dancing and singing to Mamma Mia in the rink, and the next Green & White broke! Lyla and Ivy led the Mighty White Vikings while Noa and Hannah led the Great Green Guardians. It was a very well fought war and all of you should be very proud of yourselves! We were so happy to finally return back to our Bow family after a very hard fought 6 day war. We spent an extended lazy day on the quad playing games and dancing like nothing ever changed.

Stargazing is even better when you have pints of cozy corner to eat! Remember falling in love with the beauty that the stars at camp have to give? Never forget that when you're missing camp, you can look up into the sky and feel at home again! Remember going pajama tubing for our last EA? Followed by s'mores and Snapple caps by the waterfront? Remember finishing out the summer by creating our very own movie theatre in our cabin?

Remember always being the biggest, happiest, and craziest group on camp? Remember never wanting to leave? Remember realizing that we will always be one big happy Bow family? Remember counting down the days until it's your time to run girls camp as a Scribe? Remember realizing that you'll be back at camp before you know it?

THERE'S A CHICKEN IN THE CAKE!

Amanda B – I was so excited when I found out you would be joining us for the second half of the summer! You're such a positive girl who can bring up the spirits of anyone and everyone! Never lose that because the group needs your positive outlook towards life!

Lola B – After you left there was no one to cling onto me like a monkey! I loved watching you grow this summer into a confident young lady. Always remember, that you get out of camp what you put in so give it your all!

Eliza B – I agree with my Grammy when she said you belong on Broadway. Your love for the group this summer multiplied before my eyes as every day passed. And I cannot express to you how proud of you I am for that. You truly get what it means to love camp, so keep coming back forever!

Julia B – Our very own baby sass queen! The energy and excitement you bring to the group is like no other. With everything you do your fun personality never fails to bring a smile to our faces. Thanks for always pampering your staff! Keep shining bright like your mega silver backpack forever!

Meadow B – My mini me!! I've loved watching you put your all into every single aspect of camp this summer. You were born for Green & White and I was so proud of you for being such a good sport 24/7. Never stop wearing your whales tales bucket hat, and being your fun adventurous self!

Marina C – You are one amazing camper and friend! You live every day to its highest potential and have so much fun at activities and make everyone else have so much fun at activities! Camp will always be your home away from home, and you can always count on your camp friends. Can't wait to give you the biggest hug next summer!

Ava C – It has truly been a pleasure watching you grow this past summer. You always look out for every girl in the group to make sure they're happy and having fun! With that mentality, you will shine when leading camp as a Scribe! I know that I can always count on you for a hug. Thanks for always getting my stains out!

Fran C – Oh Fran. I loved nothing more than watching you come out of your shell at paper bag skits. You're truly such a goof. Along with being a goof, you also have a huge heart and an incredible way of getting along with everyone! I could always count on you to have your arms reached out for a big hug!

Seven D – I loved watching you break out of your shell this past summer. Your love for camp truly grew with every single day that passed. I'm so happy that you decided to stay 7 this summer! Your heart has so much to give and it makes the cabin a better place! Tell Phoenix I miss him!

Audrey (grape) – Writing the shout out I can still hear your laugh from miles away. Thank you for always helping me start my day off with a huge smile.Your fun loving personality can't help but make everyone want to be around you! I can't wait for the name grape to stick forever.

Noa G – You my friend are one of a kind! I know that I can always count on you to always stop with me from time to time to appreciate the magic in the trees. I love that you are always eager for what's ahead, and make every activity so much fun! Your love for camp is truly contagious so never stop letting it grow!

Ger – No matter what the song was, I could always count on you to be up and dancing! You always put others before yourself, by ensuring that every single girl in the group is included 24/7. Never ever lose your love for camp and for your camp friends. Camp needs more people like you!

Alexa H – I'm so happy that you joined our group this summer! You were always so happy and excited for what we were doing next! Please please consider staying for longer next summer! We missed you way too much!

BOWS

Linsul – I hope that you're still holding your Robby tight!! You truly made our job easier by always being positive, friendly, and happy 24/7. As the weeks went on, I watched your love for the magic in the trees grow even more. Keep coming back forever!

Alyiah K – Everytime I think of you I think of that contagious smile you had skipping during ABC. You're such a cheerful person, and you can always bring up the group's spirits. You are one outstanding young lady who truly impressed me every single day! I hope you stay seven next summer

Asha K – I'm so happy that I got to grow closer to you this summer! You are one outstanding young lady who truly impressed me every single day! You never ever complained, and you were always excited for the next activity! Keep coming back forever!

Marlena K – My little fashion star!! I'm so happy that you joined our group this summer! Once you got settled in, it was like you had been at camp for years. The constant smile (and sunburn…) on your face was an amazing sight to see! Keep coming back!

Izzy L – From the FaceTime over the winter to real life, I'm so happy you came to The Realm this summer!! I'm so proud of you for crossing mount Washington off of your bucket list! Keep coming back because camp needs your spunk and positivity!

Jane L – I'm so happy that you made the best decision and came to the right Robin Hood. I loved watching you fall in love with camp so quickly! Not only are you incredibly kind and thoughtful, but also you are so genuinely respectful and mature! You and Remy have to stay full next summer because we need you!

Sophie M – The second you stepped into the bunk you were immediately into camp mode! You were always so open to trying new things all day every day. Thank you for teaching the entire bunk german! I know that camp will always be on your mind, so keep coming back forever!

Ivy O – You win the award for coolest Robin Hood clothes on camp! I can see every single day that your love for camp is growing with every activity. Keep coming back until you're killing it as a Scribe! Not sure how I'm going to survive a winter without seeing you and Reid.

Sylvie P – I see our Scribe song shout outs about our "clean" areas being very similar one day…Not a day went by where you weren't laughing or giggling with me like no tomorrow. You're truly the strongest girl, and the entire group loves that about you! Keep coming back until your name is on a flag!

Sam P – I'm so happy that I got to spend another summer with a Porres! From the second you got to camp you were excited to get right into it! You brought so much energy to every single activity we did! Keep coming back to camp forever!

Hannah R – How are you doing without seeing Robby everyday? Getting a morning hug for you would always start off my day on a high note. Your love for the group and camp is so strong and I can't wait to watch it continue to grow! You will always be sig delt's #1 fan.

Addie R – Pretty please with a cherry on top sing Greatest Showman for me!! I've loved getting close to you this summer through our cloud gazing chats. You're truly such a goofball, and I love that about you! Can't wait to beat you in tetherball next summer!! Love you always Mandy R – My little basketball star! I was so lucky that I got to spend this summer with you! You have such a big heart for every single girl in the bunk. Still impressed that you could solve a rubik's cube in seconds! Keep coming back forever and ever!

Gill R – I'm not sure if you ever stopped smiling! Your energy is absolutely contagious and the group would not be the same without you. Keep holding onto what you're passionate about, and always chase your dreams! I can't wait to see you in just 10 quick months!

Ceci S – Oh my Ceci…where do I begin? Weather it was using you as my pillow during Bow sesh, or walking around camp hand in hand, you never failed to bring a smile to my face. I can't wait to watch you grow into the strong leader that I know you are in years to come.

Ella S – I'm so happy that I got to be your group leader this summer! You're so responsible at such a young age it blows my mind. You truly let loose this summer and tried every activity with an open mind! I can't wait to see you all the time in Chicago! Keeping coming back forever!

Alyiah T – Oh how much I missed your laugh and smile when you left! You're truly such a sweetheart and you bring so much energy into the bunk! The group needs your positivity, and your amazing braiding skills! Please come back even longer next summer!

Kara T – I could see the excitement in your eyes for what the next three would hold the second I met you! From bringing fun new games to camp, and jumping on every hike, you truly lived it up! So happy that T swift didn't hold you back from joining us on excursion! Please stay for all seven next summer!

Lyla T – So honored that another Woodstein got to spend a full summer with a Tower. Truly a duo. I loved watching you branch out this summer to learn about all the amazing girls we have in our bunk! You're such a fun, goofy girl that I'm going to miss with my entire heart. Your natural ability to lead will make you an amazing Scribe one day!

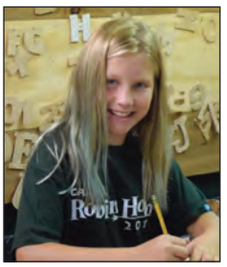

Audrey W – You're such a happy and smiley girl and I hope that you stay that way forever! I'm so happy that you decided to come to camp this summer! Although it was short, it was certainly more than sweet. Keep playing the violin like no tomorrow! Keep coming back because the group missed you too much!

Nora W – Somehow you always knew how to make everyone in the group laugh until their stomachs started to hurt. I'm not sure that camp has met anyone as fun- loving and kind as you! Keep practicing your impressions for next summer! The group needs your energy and spirit so keep coming back until you're the next Chuck!

Ruby W – My day was never complete without a nighttime hug/ tackle from you! Hopefully you're not still obsessing over undergarments…You're truly such a sweetheart, and your smile was insanely contagious! I hope you're doing ok without my sweatshirts. Camp really needs someone as smushy like you so keep coming back!

Hannah, Holly, Elise, Mauldin, Sadie, and SBUT – I could not have dreamed for a better staff this summer. From our pre camp Cozy and Sunsets, I loved growing so close to all of you. Thank you from the bottom of my heart for everything you've done for the group this summer. Your love for camp is apparent, so keep coming back! Love you more than I love our skunk neighbor and chipmunks!

BOWS –

You guys are so wild and crazy and THAT'S why I love you so much. All of you ladies remind me exactly of my own Scribe group. Remember to always embrace the magic that every single one of you brings to the group on an individual level. Seeing the amount of love you guys have for camp at such a young age is truly remarkable. You girls truly made this the best summer of my life, so for that I cannot thank you enough. In 5 years you're going to be running The Realm like no tomorrow as Scribes. Time flies, so live every moment like it's your last. I'm now going to tell you what my Bow group leader (E) told us, "Don't cry because it's over, smile because it happened".

JUST KEEP QUILLING, JUST KEEP QUILLING!

Waddup Quilldren. Put down your polaroids, close up your slime, turn on your fairy lights, and let's reminisce about all of our favorite moments of Summer '18.

In the blink of an eye, opening day of June 22nd arrived at last. After waiting 10 long months, it was finally time to return to The Realm. With a mixture of old and new faces, the mighty Quills began a summer that we would never forget.

Remember pulling under the Robin Hood sign for the first time of the summer? You were greeted by the rest of the Quills and found out your staff at last! We then went to a buzzing first meal followed by a clue scavenger hunt that led us all around camp. Remember the final clue, leading us to a bonfire at the new ODT where we ate s'mores and all chatted around the fire?

Remember the first day in The Realm? Although it was rainy, we took camp by storm (get it?) and played soccer, 9-square, bocce, and of course, muddy-gaga in bathing suits. Remember our chilly 10 laps at the waterfront? At least we didn't have to swim 16 anymore! Luckily we also got to come back to a warm shower, pajamas, and face masks in our comfy Bunk 10. Remember the first dance party in the dining hall? As soon as Everytime We Touch came on the speaker, we knew we were officially back at camp.

What about the Staff Talent Show? Maren danced all-out to the Black-Eyed Peas, Gracie ate yogurt from a blindfolded AGL, Carly put on a waterfront fashion show, and Cami, George, and Rosie busted some moves to the shark song. Quill staff absolutely #crushedit. Remember the singing Aca-Quilla group of Olivia, Bella, Natalie, and Smooney? Or the first Sunday sundaes of the summer, cutting to the front of the line by chanting "Quills want Quills want ice cream!"

Remember our rainbow dress-up day? Remember when Linley's dog wasn't barking or when Dani, Cristina, and Mercedes weren't teaching us all Spanish? Or when Nadine and Anna weren't screaming at the top of their lungs while playing cards? What about our little furry friend who liked to come visit our bunk? I DON'T!

Who remembers getting Dunkin Donuts before breakfast for Cristina's birthday followed by a hike up Mount Major with the Yeomen? The breathtaking view was worth the intense boulder-climbing at the top. We then went to McDonalds and Subway for dinner and also took a pit stop at Cozy Corner for the first ice cream of the season. Topping off the busy day, we got to go pajama jumping in the lake to cool off, relax, and jam-out to our favorite songs of the summer!

Remember cookout in Girls Camp followed by an intense few rounds of The Hunger Games? Everyone gathered around the Quad to try to snatch the right objects while the music quietly lurked in the background. After running around camp, we were surprised with candy canteen. Do you remember sunset paddle boarding? The view was unreal as we paddled around Lake Ossipee until the sun dipped below the tree line. What about the Quill dog show? Bunk 6 was the perfect place for the pageant because we had some frenzied dogs and insane owners for sure. Olivia also had something permanent left over afterwards…

Remember when the Quills weren't losing their paddle boards? Or when Michele wasn't taking polaroid pictures? Or when it wasn't Gracie's birthday? What about when Aviva and Leni (Kiki) weren't asking to listen to Drake on repeat? I DON'T!

Do you remember our scavenger hunt? Or water balloon infection, aiming carefully because ammo was limited? Luckily we got to shower off and head down to the waterfront right after for (a few) fireworks before the Fourth of July, glow sticks and all.

Finally the Fourth of July rolled around and the Scribes ravaged through our bunk bright and early to wake us up with horns, bells, and screaming. We quickly got all decked-out in our red, white, and blue. IT'S A PARTY IN THE CRH! Remember our independence day mountain bike trip followed by the carnival? Between ice cream trucks, cotton candy, popcorn, and cookies, there was more than enough to eat! What about the inflatables, marriage booths, and fortune tellers? All of our work in winning raffle tickets paid off when we won the trip to Cozy with Woody! Dinner was also a 10/10 with loads of corn dogs, cheese fries, philly cheese steaks, watermelon, soft pretzels, and of course, fried dough!

QUILLS

Remember when the heat wave blasted through The Realm? We fought off the intense sun with loads of waterfront activities, fans, and GIANT floaties in the water. Oh, and how could I forget watching High School Musical 3 in the cottage with the air conditioning blasting? Remember all girls camp lip-sync? The Quills brought out their moves for everyone to see. Remember McMidnight? We woke you up with tons of nuggets and fries right at 12:00 AM; they were the best surprise even though we were SO full afterwards!

Remember cookie cake decorating? Or our paper bag skits? Smooney had some Grammy winning lines in her skit…What about our soccer tournament? The Quills came in hot with soccer mom's Meatloaf and Maren as we listened to our favorite remix to hype up before the game. Although we didn't win, we were obviously the fun team! Rya was a professional goalie and Linley played almost every position on the field. Remember the swim meet? Sabrina, Millie, Sam Sol, and Lily tore up the waters, even beating the older kids! Remember Pajama Tubing? We got to leave dinner early to speed all around the lake while watching a classic Lake Ossipee sunset. Remember when Mercedes liked to tube underwater? Or when Bella just couldn't hold on? What about our canoe trip to the marina? Some of the Quills definitely didn't figure out how to keep their canoe afloat or their clothes in the boat, but the candy and ice cream at the marina were way worth it.

Remember when Summer and Avery S weren't killing it on the soccer field? Or when Betsy wasn't giggling at every joke? When Nadine wasn't conditioning her hair? Or when Avery J wasn't being a sass queen on the dance floor? I DON'T!

Remember making our dance to Friday by Rebecca Black? Luckily our FYAs and Head-of-Dance George had some moves to help us with our choreography and we finally got to debut it wearing all black and neon tutus for the whole camp to see. Remember the marriage game? Avery and Sabrina's love was unprecedented because they knew the most about each other hands-down. Don't forget when Natalie and Olivia had 201 kids…

Remember Beach Day? We woke up to some beachy tunes and got on the busses to drive all the way to the coast. Joining the ranks as Quills, you were finally free to roam the Ogonquit board walk for the first year. Even though the water was cold, Linley and Alex splashed around the whole day. Remember eating all kinds of food- chicken nuggets, burgers, root beer, dippin' dots, and ice cream- while relaxing in the sun? We then came back to camp for cookout and fell straight asleep after a long day on the beach.

Remember watching the Greatest Showman in the lodge on the rainy day? What about our camping trip at the Outpost? Chef Rosie threw together some fajitas for us on the fire followed by a game of camp charades. One name in particular was extremely easy to guess…Remember eating s'mores and having a talk around the fire that shaped the rest of the summer for our group? Remember when Alex and Linley climbed Mount Washington? Don't forget, it wasn't "hard," it was "a challenge" of course.

Remember when Lily B wasn't smiling, when Rebecca wasn't shooting bull's-eyes on the rifle range, Melanie wasn't drawing something amazing, Marie wasn't reading a whole library, or Campbell wasn't telling a story? I DON'T!

Remember playing Newcomb with the net covered in towels? That little change to the game made it harder and even more fun. Remember having yet another tubing EA? Quills definitely win best in camp tubing- hands down. What about our twin day? And who could forget Robin Hood Gives Back? Our guest speaker gave us an inspirational talk about overcoming his blindness. We then got to spend a period in his shoes, using blindfolds to kick and dribble soccer balls that had bells in them to hear.

Remember water balloon camper hunt? Our staff ran around The Realm trying to hit everyone with balloons filled to the max. With each bad throw, the Quills got away from the counselors quickly! What about the starting line to one of our favorite Bruno Mars songs? What about Snapple caps? We all sat on the stage of the barn to pass around complements on each others sheets, wrapping up the end of the first session.

Before we knew it, Parent's Visiting Day finally arrived and four weeks passed by in a blink of an eye. After spending (just a few) days cleaning the bunk to get ready, our parents came to watch our dance followed by eating popsicles outside the office to cool off. Our schedule was stacked with a sunny senior waterfront, an energetic drama period, and basketball at the end of the day with some intense games of knockout. I don't know about you, but I could definitely use a PVD cookie right about now.

Sadly, we then had to say goodbye to our 4 weekers. As much as we were sad to see them go, we were so happy to have our new campers also join the group! After a quick rearrangement of the bunk, we were ready to dive into the next few weeks and the second half of the summer.

Quick out of the gates of week 4, we challenged the Arrows to muddy bathing suit gaga. Accompanied by intense music, each game went down to the last minute. Remember when Sabrina got 7 Arrows out in a row to bring us the victory? Remember greasy watermelon? It was a fight until the end to drag the slippery watermelon all the way to the other dock. Luckily, we got to eat it all right afterwards! Remember playing what are the odds at senior waterfront? Or our rainy day, soapy slip n' slide on the quad?

After snagging the best activities at camp while other groups were gone on excursion, it was finally time for our own excursion! We first headed to Attitash for mountain coasters, alpine slides, bungee jumps, high jumps, and rock climbing. We also ran over a mysterious object on the mountain slide from our friends that shared the park with us that day…We then headed to see Incredibles 2 with lots of popcorn, candy, and icees. Remember eating dinner at Friendly's? We were definitely living it up once we got our own custom sundaes for dessert.

After a good night sleep back at camp, we woke up and headed straight to Wicked Mini Donuts where we each got to pick three mini donut flavors that were INSANLEY delicious. Are you full yet? We then headed to Dover Bowl to bowl, play laser tag, ride bumper cars with flashing lights, and run around an arcade. Gracie came in with a BIG laser tag win against everyone. After our fun afternoon, we went to our campsite to set up our tents and get settled in. Quills were basically trip staff because of how fast we put up our tents!

Once the tents were pitched, we hopped back into the vans and drove to Chipotle for dinner with fully-packed burritos and bowls. Remember our next stop in Portsmouth where we walked around the cute little town before watching Seussical the Musical in an outdoor theater on the water? We got a few musical numbers in before the weather stopped the show (we were so bummed), but our weather- woman Aviva was there to save us! A quick pit-stop to a ice cream shop in Exeter, New Hampshire brightened our mood and then we jammed back to the campsite listening to Thunder and The Spook Returns. The next day, we drove to Water Country for a day filled with water slides and lazy rivers. Remember the swarm of seagulls? Sassy was determined to make them leave us alone by chasing them all around the water park. After another fun day in the sun, we hopped back in the vans and all fell asleep until we pulled right back into camp.

QUILLS

Once we returned, the Green & White break was right around the corner. At Founder's Night, we presented our beautifully painted chair for Girl's Camp with the Tumblers! After a day of anxiousness, excitement, and guesses of when the war would begin, we all fell asleep waiting to know! Remember when we even slept in sneakers just in case? During our gaga period the next day, we heard screaming around the corner and ran to follow the buzz. Just like we thought, we bumped into ATVs, motorcycles, and a seaplane that made us sprint from the far far field all the way to the waterfront!

Captains Natalie and Olivia along with co-captains Linley and Dani led the Mighty White Vikings and the Great Green Guardians. Remember some of our most intense competitions like rainy danish long ball on the quad, a neck-in-neck softball game, and a close soccer game that ended in penalty kicks! The war was tiring, but the Quills gave it their all each and every one of the five (six) days. We also had great apparel for the war thanks to Lily B! We couldn't have been happier with how much you grew mentally throughout the war and I can't wait to see you dominate Green & White for years to come!

Just like that, Green & White came to a close and we were singing to our fights songs in the Dining Hall all together once more. WE LOVE YOU MIKEY! Remember celebrating Sabrina's "birthday" and getting M&M pizza and Cozy for Bella's REAL birthday? We were all decked out in our new shirts from Cozy. What about our slip n' slide backwards scavenger hunt? Lily and Dani had their sliding technique down to perfection to earn points for their team. Remember Scribe speeches in the barn? Only four more years until you are up there doing the same thing…don't waste a minute!

Before we knew it, it was the last day of camp. Our final dinner included chocolate covered strawberries, uterus chicken, and warm brownies with vanilla ice cream. We then went to the barn for awards where the Quills absolutely swept the competition. Remember playing night 9-Square, gaga, and dancing to loud music in the rink? After hanging in the bunk, we were then surprised with late night McDonalds! What a perfect day for the end of an amazing summer.

Rya Avivi – Coming back for another summer, you quickly found your place right back in the group. It was so amazing to watch you mature over the course of the summer and handle any challenge that came your way. It's clear how much you care about the well-being of this group and the long-lasting impact of the group on camp. I can't wait to see you next summer and (hopefully) while you stay longer!

Lily Barnett – From the moment I met you, I knew you would love camp. Although camp was in your genes, you formed your own Robin Hood experience within your four weeks in The Realm. It was amazing to watch you give everything your all and gain a type of independence that is unprecedented. I can't wait to see what else you can accomplish in the following summers at camp!

Alex Benson – From the fields to the bunk, you were one of the main reasons the Quills had such a stellar summer. Your competitive, energetic, and caring personality makes you a core member of this group and allows you to be there for every single person. I can't wait to see you keep rising up the ranks of camp and one day giving your (legendary) pump-up when you are a Green & White counselor captain.

Rebecca Calvillo – You said it yourself, this is your home. The way you fit in with the group is amazing and so natural. We are immensely happy that you got to join the Quills for the last three weeks and join in on all of the fun that we had. I'm so glad that you found a place to love and be surrounded by such amazing people!

Linley Grosman – Your love for anything and everything camp is so obvious in everything that you do. You have a passion for this place and I can see it come through whether you are giving it your all in color war, climbing Mount Washington, or laughing uncontrollably at the silliest joke. You are such a cool kid and this group loves you so much (and you also have the best music taste #chillipeppersforever)!

Cristina Heckh – Before you even arrived, I could feel the love that the group had for you. Camp is your place to shine, and I see it everyday from the moment you (slowly) get out of bed to the moment you fall back asleep. I loved getting to know you this summer, both in English and in Spanish, and I am so excited to see you thrive at camp for years to come.

Sabrina Hobert – You never fail to amaze me everyday from going from an olympic athlete on the fields and in the lake to a crazy, hilarious Quill that undoubtedly can make anyone laugh at anytime. I am so glad that you made the right decision to stay at camp and salvage as many seconds that you have as a camper here. Your impact on The Realm is real and I can't wait to see you continue to have that presence for years to come! I love you!

Anna Ivanenko – You are one of the silliest Quills in the group. When you aren't busy beating everyone in card games, you are always making everyone laugh around you! The first day I met you, I remember you being shy and quiet. But that didn't last long! You fit into this group so well and everyone would be lost without your crazy hilarious personality!

Avery Johnston – It's impossible to get enough of your sassy, yet at the same time, overwhelmingly sweet attitude! Whether it's dancing on the benches in the dining hall or singing along to every song that comes on the speaker, you are always leading the Quills and making sure everyone is included. You are one of the most responsible kids I've ever met and this group loves you!

Michelle Kanaan – This summer it is unreal to see how much you grew. Along with your spunky personality, you were conscious to be kind and look out for others. I cannot wait to see you ride up the ranks of camp and continue to thrive in this group. Hold on to all of the time you have at camp because before you know it you will be a Scribe leading girls camp wanting a few more days!

Nadine Krekeler – As the first to arrive in this group of mighty Quills, I was positive that you were going to fit right in. Sure enough, the first day rolled around and you were already dancing, laughing, and chatting it up. Day by day you began to understand camp, and I am so happy that you had such an amazing time in The Realm! This groups loves you.

Mercedes Lopez-Belmonte – Entering camp with a shy personality, I was so happy to see you leave The Realm as a confident, silly, and caring Quill that formed bonds with everyone in the bunk. This group loves you so much and I am excited to see you thrive even more next summer. Keep tubing (underwater)!

Dani Lynch – Waiting for your arrival to camp, I wondered why all of the Quills were insanely excited. From the minute you got here, I knew exactly what they were talking about. You are so genuine and kind to every single member of this group. Everyone loves being around you because of your compassion and interest in others, and this group of girls would be so different without your presence!

QUILLS

Marie Maendler – Coming into camp for the second half isn't an easy transition, but somehow you did it seamlessly. You mixed into this group perfectly and everyone came to enjoy your company always. Green & White was your time to shine, showing off your athleticism and helping the green team win the war. I hope to see you back again next summer!

Campbell Meszaros – Although you were only here for a short amount of time, your presence was big. No matter where you went, you were ready to chat with anyone and everyone at any hour and have a good laugh. It was so fun to see you learn about all that camp can share with you!

Sophie Mooney – Whenever you are around, you never fail to brighten a room and bring a smile to everyone around you. Your positive attitude and silly personality makes everyday fun! Whether it's climbing Mt. Washington or playing a Gaga period, you always give 100%. Can't wait to see you next year and many more years to come!

Millie Nathanson – You just get camp. You can be a goofball, serious, and also compassionate which gives you the perfect mixture of a camp personality. I can already see you as a Scribe, caring for the rest of girls' camp with everything you have. Until then, keep believing in yourself and camp and I promise you will be here for the rest of your life. I love you!

Summer Nelson – Without knowing what to expect on your first day, I could already tell that you would thrive at camp. Just like I thought, by the first day you were already dominating the fields taking in all that Robin Hood has to offer. It was so fun to watch you open up and discover all of the ins-and-outs of camp over the two weeks. We better see you again next summer!

Bella Pedone – Your quiet personality is reversed when you are with this group; you are loud, witty, and silly all at the same time. You spend your time being there for each one of your friends no matter what happens. It is so amazing to see the bonds that you have made at camp, and these friends will be here for you for the rest of your life!

Melanie Pinto – Whether beasting on the rifle range, learning how to play gaga for the first time, or just smiling at all times, you took in all that camp has to offer. You were so kind to everyone and never failed to make anyone smile. I was so happy to see you come out of your shell and enjoy your time in The Realm to the fullest. You were a great addition to this group!

Aviva Porres – This summer has been so important for you and your role in this group. You have completely meshed with every single person and found the ability to take in all that The Realm has to offer. This place is such an important second home for you, and you are so vital to this group. We love you!

Iris Razo – Even though you were only at camp for a short amount of time, you impacted the outcome of color war greatly! You were such a great competitor and were always there to support your team and lend a helping hand. It was so fun getting to know you and your caring personality throughout the five days!

Dani Savona Gomez-Pintado – I couldn't have imagined a day this summer without turning around to see you with arms stretched open for a big hug. Your smiley, cheeky personality thrived in the Quills from the minute you stepped into The Realm. I loved seeing you open up and become a part of this amazing group of girls. I can't wait to see you next summer!

Avery Sohn – Even though it was your first summer, you easily fit into this group of Quills. You gradually came out of your shell and began to dive into camp in all aspects. Whether crushing it on the soccer field or giving it your all in new activities, it was so awesome to see you shine. Can't wait to see you next summer!

Betsy Solomon – Your quiet, sweet, and insanely silly personality is the perfect mixture for this group of Quills. Even though you are here for a short amount of time, your impact on every other camper is unprecedented. Keep being great and loving camp. And of course, I hope to see you staying longer next summer!

Samantha Solomon – I don't think there was one point in the summer when I didn't catch you dancing! You inspire everyone in the group with not only your dance moves but also your quiet way of being a leader, making sure everyone was always included, and having fun. Four weeks wasn't enough SamSol for anyone!

Natalie Spear – People revolve around you because you are a natural leader and have a genuine compassion for everyone you meet. I would honesty feel comfortable handing you the GL clipboard and letting you run the group because of the influence you have on each and every person. Camp needs you, and this group flourishes because of your impact on them. I am always here for you and can't wait to see you in The Realm for summers to come!

Samantha Stratman (Sassy) – Where to begin with you Sassy…From the day you finally joined the Quills of 2018, there was not a moment where you were not jumping on everyone around you and making everyone laugh. Your positive attitude and energy is such an important aspect to the group as a whole, we would be lost without our very own ball of energy!

Lily Swidler – Before being your counselor, I was so excited to have another Swidler as a camper (#swidbut). Although I didn't know you as well, I could not be happier to have gotten so close throughout these past weeks. You have matured and began to lead in a positive way, and I am so proud to have watched you throughout the summer. Everyone enjoys your presence, and you are going to thrive even more in The Realm as time goes on!

Olivia Wahlstedt – You are one of the silliest twelve year olds that I have ever met. You never fail to make everyone giggle and smile at all times. I'm not quite sure how you do it, but you can just light up a room. Camp is your place. Your personality is absolutely perfect for a strong camper career, and I am so excited to see you influence all of Girls Camp as you grow older!

Mary Webb – First, you are an amazing dance instructor. In all seriousness, your kind and happy charm meshes with this group of Quills. Even though you came in late to the summer, it seemed like you had been part of the group since opening day. Each and every one of these girls loves you, and I can't wait to see how the bonds you have made can continue to grow at camp.

Leni Wisneiwski – I wish I was with you right now so that you could ask me to play some Drake music. For real though, I was so excited when you arrived back at The Realm and joined this group for the second half of the summer. I loved seeing you get along with everyone and create long lasting memories with everyone this summer. I can't wait to see what you can accomplish as you join Senior camp next summer!

OUR CHIPMUNK FRIEND – Thanks for always keeping us company and hyping us up.You were there with us through thick and thin and became a part of our group. Oh, and thanks for the nature points!

Gracie, Cami, Rosie, Carly, George, Silvija, and Laura – This summer was such a blast because of all of your help. I cannot tell you how much I appreciate your incessant support and energy throughout each and every day. You have impacted these kids more than you even know.

QUILLS 2018

I am so lucky to have gotten to have you this summer. Your love for The Realm is unprecedented, and I can see your passion and care for this place in everything that you do. You are one of the silliest groups of kids I have ever met, and you never failed to make me smile the ENTIRE summer. You will grow to do amazing things in Girls' Camp, and your impact on senior camp next summer will be unreal. Keep being the tight-knit, cohesive group that you are known for being. Before you know it, you will be the Group Leaders writing the yearbook and impacting your very own group of Quills in the future.

Hey Arrows... Hey Arrows... Do you know how...to have the best summer ever!? Cross that one off the bucket list, put down the go pros, stop doing each other's eyebrows and listen up because right now it's time to take a trip down memory lane through the best summer of your lives...obviously.

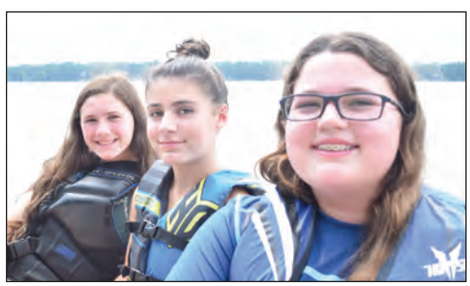

Remember the first day of the best summer of your life? Reggie was the first one to arrive followed by the New York and Cleveland busses which we cheered for the entire time even though our campers were the very last ones off. You guys finally getting those hugs in after 10 months apart. Birthday Queen Morgan having the first birthday in camp and getting to celebrate with lice checks, cookie cake, and cozy corner. Everyone in the dining hall was jealous of our matching party hats (and we all know they copied us later in the summer)! Remember our first evening activity, speed dating on the quad followed by a giant candy party (thank you Missy Butler!) and the creation of our one and only Arrow Bucket List, which we basically finished.

Remember rocking out in our first activity of the summer, dance! Spending our first full day back at camp in the rain but still killing it in our TEN laps and finishing within minutes. Remember Cate coming within the first couple of days, greeting her with big hugs as she hopped right into the crew. Watching the staff talent show and realizing for the first time how weird I was. Remember our first real evening activity, hunger games! Splitting up into teams and Josie killing it with her win on the quad as we all cheered her on.

Remember cookie cake wars (obviously the best EA of all time and a Sam Milstein original) and all of you coincidentally adding the same surprise to your cakes. Maybe it wasn't such a good idea to have three cookie cakes for only 18 campers, but none of you got too sick from your fourth of a cake. Remember our scavenger hunt and how much begging it took to get landsports' headband (btw Mia, you rocked the headband look).

Remember when Kham and Julie surprised you all with Dunkin' Donuts in the morning but the shudders were closed so you thought it was midnight? Remember the crazy rainy day we had? Trying to play nine square but ending up in a huge water fight? You guys filling up your rain boots with water and dumping them until we were all drenched? I honestly don't think my rainboots will ever fully recover. Jumping into long, warm showers to warm ourselves up before lunch. Ending the day in the cottage cuddled up in pjs and watching Nerve (I know you guys loved the suspense).

Remember going on our "hike" at Diana's bath. Boy did we get lucky in the hike/outpost department this summer. Us walking maybe 15 minutes down a trail to go swimming and sliding on the rock water slides and taking turns dunking in the water hole. Making friends with our doggy mascot Daisy and ending the strenuous day with cozy corner and the junior camp talent show.

Remember the 4th of July? The Scribes waking us up with their crazy parade and heading to breakfast decked out? Making the best poster in camp (whether the Brass admits it or not #specialedition) and then killing it at the beach party and carnival as senior campers! Even though we were the only group to not win a raffle, the day was just amazing! Remember singing theme songs at the top of our lungs before campfire? Everyone was staring at us but I think they were just jealous! Remember pajama jumping? All of you guys flipping off of the tower and Cate attempting but not quite making it.

Remember when Victoria and Anna came… FINALLY! Such great additions to the growing Arrow family. Having a giant social to end the the final weeks before visiting day? Dancing all night #finallyseniorcamp and watching your staff go so much harder than you guys! Going to beach day and having a very hectic start to a great day. Stuffing your faces with ice cream and French fries until you couldn't eat anymore. Learning how to sing hey lotties on the bus ride and singing them all the way home. Jumping into the showers to rinse off the sand and ending the day with cookout on the beach. Remember going to the Mainers Game? Watching a little bit of baseball but mostly just shoving our faces with fried mac and cheese and candy…oops!

Remember our amazing dance!? Honestly the best one of the whole night. Even though the music wasn't quite loud enough, you guys absolutely killed it up there dancing to all of our favorite Disney and Nickelodeon shows, and yea we live the sweet life. Cate missing the dance for volleyball (still sad) but still making it work. Our treasure hunt when I ran you guys all over camp but ending the night with make your own cozy corner sundaes? Olivia making it just in time from her Washington trip (you go rock star!). Another night when we played greasy watermelon with the bards? It got a little rough out there but you guys killed it. Finishing the night with candy canteen.

Remember walking to Cozy? Us tricking you guys into thinking we were going on a hike. Even though you say you didn't believe us for a minute, you guys got furious with us when we made you change into Robin Hoods. The walk being so much longer than we thought but still having the best time singing and dancing down the New Hampshire roads. Remember that rainy day when all of girls camp squished into the lodge to watch The Greatest Showman?

Remember Parents Visiting Day? Meeting all of your families, Tabor's cute little brothers Jack and Charlie, Tabor crying because she had to leave, and playing nine-square and volleyball with your parents and some special guests? All of you guys loading up on candy and treats and spending the whole night stuffing your faces. Cheering you guys up with a quick camper hunt round at the ODT during our candy party.

ARROWS

Remember pajubing! My very first time and boy did it not disappoint! All of you guys bringing soap and showering yourselves and the tubes with it. Remember the beautiful cotton candy sky and having a photoshoot on the beach?

Remember having the best excursion of all time? Starting the trip at the most important place, DUNKIN! Getting you so many donuts and of course caramel iced coffee! Finally you didn't have to keep stealing mine. Next stop, ESCAPE ROOMS! Two of us escaping in time while one group didn't make it. Whatever though, we all had the best time cracking every clue and puzzle they threw our way, even if they required some hints. After, going to a park to eat lunch. Going to see Mamma Mia 2 and absolutely loving it. Gave us our favorite songs of the summer! Going to chipotle for dinner (so delicious) and then getting Cold Stone for dessert. Ending the day at Walmart where you bought the most necessary but unnecessary stuff in the world.

Remember day 2? Spending the day at Canobie Park on the roller coasters and Boston Tea Party. Getting absolutely drenched but letting our clothes dry in the air. JuCo and I winning stuffed animals and JuCo losing hers within three minutes. Getting to the campsite and Jacob grilling us steaks at 10 pm. Getting into our tents, you guys breaking one, and not sleeping till 4 am ("Hey counselors?").

Remember day 3? Starting the morning off with yet another dunkin run. All of you buying donuts, sandwiches, and iced coffee. Heading over to Dover Bowl where we played arcade games, laser tag, bumper cars, and lots of bowling. Eating pizza for lunch and then going to Petco as our replacement "trip to the zoo". Going to play mini golf and race cars at the other arcade place. Finishing our amazing excursion with a final stop at Cozy Corner where you all finally got to buy shirts.

Remember that one rainy day when we played danish on the quad? It started down pouring and all of us dancing in the rain and rolling down the quad? Anna leaving and all of us crying as we walked her to the car. Remember challenging the quills to gaga? All of us wearing one pieces and beasting in the game. Even though the Quills might have won, we had the best time watching Larissa kill it.

Remember Green & White? Ginsberg and Hillary as captains with Morgan and Syd as cos. Getting your teams and going right into a full day zero. Talk about a six day war! You guys killing it in every activity. Reggie and Morgan in the talent show. Reggie being an all-star dancing and blowing the whole camp away! Wow! Remember our softball game and Emilee blowing us out of the park with her huge hit! Night five, singing the songs, and The Green Guardians winning by over 300 points, yikes!

Remember our last couple days of camp? Spending lazy day hanging out by the waterfront while we whipped out our brand new sweatshirts? Painting your faces

(and bodies!) in arts and crafts for fun. Wow did Alana, Ava, Syd, Lily D., and Ginevra look just beautiful. After steaks and cookout having a Sundae fight with the leftover ice cream from Sunday Sundaes and throwing in the extra color run supplies? Ending the night with a quick slip n slide and swim in the lake.

Remember waking up to donuts in bed multiple times. Gotta treat my sweet girls! GL swap day when you traded me in for Max and he somehow got you to go to cozy? Still mad at you guys! Remember our last "real" evening activity? The Tour de EA? Starting with an intense round of camper hunt, then decorating two huge cookie cakes (didn't make me laugh but oh well!), our mini scav hunt, and finishing the night with a good ol' pajama jump and paper plate awards. You guys all thinking you had the wrong ones and then making the staff ones too. You guys were spot on!

Remember Scribe Speeches? Me sobbing during all of them? Classic. Surprising you guys with stargazing in the rink where things got a little wild. Eating boxes of M&M pizza and cuddling under the stars. All of us screaming at each other to be quiet but really just enjoying being with one another. Remember our morning swim on the last day of camp? Waking up to splash in the lake as the sun came up. Skipping our activity to write Snapple caps to each other at the ODT. Remember our last dance party in the dining hall, jamming out to some interesting song choices. Finishing our last danish period by cloud gazing on the quad and rolling in the grass. Awards night, rocking our stylish sweatshirts (thank you Mrs. LoMedico!) and watching so many of you get awards! Spending our last night playing night Gaga and dancing in the rain, watching She's the Man while we shoved McDonalds in our faces. Some of you guys successfully pulling an all-nighter but all waking up to watch the sunrise. Saying our final goodbyes and crying as we watched each other pull away for another 10 months apart. What a perfect way to end our perfect summer.

Remember when…Ava wasn't in the buff, Lili wasn't wearing a bun, Lia wasn't sweeping the bunk, Morgie wasn't singing, we could understand what Lily D. was saying, Ginsberg did her job in the bunk, Ella and Reggie weren't pushing their beds together, Elizabeth was unartistic, Alana wasn't confused, Julia had a mean bone in her body, Larissa couldn't make a fire, Mia's area was clean, Tabor was new to camp, Cate wasn't in her own world, Syd was bad at something, Goldman wasn't a beast, Ginevra wasn't giving back scratches, Sandy wasn't asking questions, Lily C. complained, Hilary wasn't smiling, Emilee wasn't surprising us with her athletic skills, Anna didn't fit right into the group, Josie didn't have her fairy lights on, Macy wasn't going with the flow, Victoria didn't want to try something new… we don't!

ARROWS

Alana – Your confidence and optimism about life is something I admire. Even in tough times, you always hold your head high and make those around you happy. I'm so proud to watch how you have grown.

Anna – You were able to fit into this group instantly. Your goofy and go with the flow personality made every moment with you so special. I loved watching you make others smile and can't being to explain the positive impact you had on this group.

Ava – You are the craziest person I know in the best way. The group clown yet a leader of our group. Your goofy personality and wild side kept the group laughing but you always know when to be serious and look out for those around you. Thank you for always being yourself and for inspiring others to do the same.

Cate – Your easy going and constant positive attitude is a gift that rounds out the Arrows. You are my go to, my mini me, and you made the summer so special. Keep being the silly and light-hearted angel you are!

Elizabeth – I've never met a more calm and kind hearted person in my life. You seriously have a heart of gold and show your love to everyone you meet.

Ella – It is your goofy and shining personality that makes every day with you so fun. You can always put a smile on my face even in the worst moments. I am so thankful that I got to meet the one-of-a-kind girl you are.

Emilee – I was so proud watching you step outside of your comfort zone this summer. Your curiosity and longing for adventure kept everyday with you exciting. I am so happy you found camp and hope that what you've gained this summer continues to influence you in years to come.

Ginevra – I am always impressed with your constant love and affection for every person you meet. You genuinely care about everyone around you and will go out of your way to make them happy. I'll always miss your constant hugs, smiles, and encouragement.

Ginsberg – It is clear that everyone in the group looks up to you and for good reason. You are a role model in every way. The loyalty and care you show to those around you is such a special quality. Never change.

Goldman – I've never seen someone who puts so much heart and passion into everything they do. The way you care for every single person you meet is inspiring. Don't ever change because the group would not be the same without you.

Hilary – What a genuine and kind-hearted individual. You make the world a better place and bring warmth wherever you go. You are so beautiful inside and out and it shows in everything you do. You are so grown up but always know the perfect time to be a kid and goof around.

Josie – You are such a positive and warm person. You gave camp your all and made this place your home. I am so proud of your ability to try everything you could and your optimism day after day kept everyone around you smiling. Never change your charismatic self.

Julia – I honestly have never met a more genuine and sweet individual. You have such a pure heart and it show in everything you do. Don't ever forget how truly special you are and how much of an impact you have on others lives. Never change.

Larissa – From the minute I met you I could not get over your confidence and ability to always be yourself. You never failed to have a smile on your face and it had such an impact on this summer.

Lia – Your wisdom and maturity is so rare for someone your age. You always went above and beyond even when you weren't asked to. You are so true to yourself and it shows in everything you do. Never change.

Lili – You never failed to impress me this summer. Whether it was your secret athletic ability or kind soul, I loved watching you open up and grow. I hope you have found a new home in camp because the group needed a heart like yours.

Lily C. – You are a role model in every sense. Your leadership, friendship, enthusiasm, and spirit will forever hold this group together. Every girl in the group will forever be thankful for your constant love and comfort. Keep shining in everything you do and being the carefree and supportive individual you are.

Lily D. – You are a one-of-a-kind girl who kept the summer exciting and lively. Your positivity and the heart you put into everything you do is inspiring. Never change that crazy sense of humor and goofy personality.

Macy – You have a heart of gold and a soul that shines. Everyone looks to you for your warmth and care. Although you are only 13, you are such a nurturing and loving individual and I'm so lucky to have met you. You have a genuine love for those around you and have this unique gift of finding the good in everyone you meet.

Mia – Even though we are seven years apart, I was always able to relate and connect with you on a different level. Your maturity and wisdom yet fun-loving attitude is what makes you so special. Keep making those around you smile and laugh the way you do!

Morgan – Talk about a ray of sunshine! Just your cute giggle could put a smile on my face. Everyone constantly looks up to your optimistic attitude about life and I am so lucky to have spent the summer with someone as happy and big-hearted as you. I miss your giggling and kind spirit.

Reggie – Talk about spunk! You never fail to amaze me with your crazy and fun-loving personality. You light up every room you walk into. Never forget the positive impact you have in every situation you're in.

Sandy – You have such a big character and you always lit up every room you walked in. You're crazy, silly, and funny, but always know when to take out your serious side at the perfect moments. I'm gonna miss your smiling face and jokes this year.

Syd – Athletic, hilarious, kind, smart, and silly. You have it all! You are the most well-rounded person I've ever met and you make everyone around you the best version of themselves. Don't know what the group would do without you Syd.

Tabor – Wow, I still can't believe this was your first year here. It is clear camp runs through your veins. Your passion, warmth, and genuineness brought this group a face of positivity and sunshine. I am so lucky to have gotten the chance to watch you find your home and I know it will be yours forever.

Victoria – Tori, your spunk and confidence allowed you to be yourself from the start of your summer. You were never afraid to be silly and goofy and it inspired others to do the same. You are fun, loving, and a great addition to the arrow group.

To my staff –

Did I get lucky or what? I could not have asked for a more supportive and inspiring group of people to spend the summer surrounded by. You guys made every second of every day so much fun and I can't believe I formed such deep friendships with all of you. Thank you for the best summer of my life.

To my arrows –

I will forever cherish each and every one of your unique smiling faces. You taught me to live with no regrets and never be afraid to be your silliest self because life is just too short. I had the most amazing summer of my life, and it is all thanks to you. You are each perfect and beautiful inside and out. I can honestly say you are the best group in camp and you guys reminded me so much of my own Scribe group. I can't wait to watch you guys grow through the years. Your deep love for camp showed in every single thing you did. Keep loving camp because it will continue to love and embrace each and every one of you. Never change and enjoy every minute you have in the most magical place on earth.

BARDS

Freedom, New Hampshire with the Bards...2018 yeah! with the Bards...Bards 18...Bards 18...Bards 18. Who are we?? Time to gather round Chuck 's campfire at the senior girls ' camp quad, relax, and relive some highlights from the best summer of your lives!!

Remember opening day? Lochlann, Daisy, Flavia, Lorenza, and Giorgia were the first to arrive, ready to greet the rest of you as you spilled out of cars and buses. You quickly made the SULA feel like home, making history as the first group to ever live there. You guys bonded through string bracelets and s'mores at the ODT. The first few days were filled with lots of fun - plenty of senior waterfront (s/o to Alice, Lochlann, and Bryar for dominating Saturn), drama with Ken, some picturesque pajama jumping, and a very merry half Christmas! You guys gave it your all in a spicy backwards scav, fight night, face hole, and singing along to Mamma Mia.

Giorgia's birthday brought us to Pizza Barn, which stuck with all of us, especially Leni, for quite some time. Sadly, Freja's van can't forget about the tragic fate of the chipmunk from that night. Soon after, we watched CRH take down the House in an epic West End game. We all know that you guys (and Lucy's bday) were their good luck charm. Back at camp, Camille had a slight accident during our abc fashion show, but you guys carried on with a very entertaining performance.

Remember going to White Lake with the Shires and Bows? There was great people watching and amazingly specific rounds of the color game played. Remember the 4th of July? It was a beautiful day for a senior camp beach party and carnival! We continued celebrating with Laurel's birthday, enjoying an M&M pizza picnic, popping confetti, Cozy, and the sandbar. We were easily excited by the dogs and the ability to wear our life jackets as diapers (idk why anyone would wear them a different way).

In mini color war, the Whale Fins defeated Team 11 but in hunger games no one really won because you all suffered so many injuries. Remember when you guys revolted because you had mandatory quad time before the social? I don't think any of you danced as hard as I did there but some of you came close. Remember having quad time three times a week? We don't! Remember playing handball with Rikleen? Dancing to Britney in the talent show? Watching Coco on GCF, playing quidditch, and mourning the loss of the rock pile by the tennis courts? We never really stopped eating: beach day, the Mainer's game, midnight McDonald's, and power walking to Cozy (in our hats, required by the infirm, of course). Twin day and the marriage game really brought you guys close together, too.

I know you definitely haven't forgotten the BEST DAY EVER. Walking around camp in the pouring rain, dancing to music, swimming in the lake in our pjs, rolling down the quad and then getting kicked off of it. Not to mention we got to see Incredibles 2 that afternoon (sorry Andras' van). You guys were so campy and happy and made my heart so warm. The rain also brought a movie marathon; we watched Valentine's Day, You Again, and of course, Wild Child.

Excursion was lit. The rain didn't stop us from tearing it up at Six Flags, or from camping out and getting woken up by the geese. We (mostly) escaped the room, enjoyed some Dunkin, Panera, and Chipotle. At Mamma Mia, Dunia balled her eyes out and at Walmart you guys bought so many avocados I told people we were growing them outside our bunk. White water rafting was a personal favorite, even though my boat flipped while trying to do a wheelie.

Back at camp, we eagerly awaited the Green & White break #sneakerSZN. You guys fought hard but never failed to sing together at the end of activities. I was so proud of both teams although I missed getting to spend all of my time with you guys! The lip sync "premiere event" was certainly a highlight since the Polite Bards did not disappoint. Lazy day was thus spent sporting our new apparel, talking to Andrew Cristal, and hanging out on my temporarily relocated bed.

The final days of camp were filled with lots of activity! Rosie left a lovely gift on top of Katahdin, you guys spat water all over each other, and Perin took such an embarrassing tumble in the dhall that her mom called. We went pjubing, took a dip at the ODT, and star gazing at the rink in the middle of the night. Schriebman took my place for an afternoon, and we spent one day doing strictly EAs. We were impressed by your paper bag skits, and then blown away by Make Your Staff Laugh. We also did a photo scavenger hunt, food fight (with warm mac n cheese and cold veggie burgers, of course), pj jumping, and went to Cozyyyyyy!!

I hope you enjoyed reminiscing on a summer full of lots of laughs, love, and banter.

BARDS

Agnes – Even though you came into the group at a crazy time, you had no problem joining in and making the most of it. I hope you had the best excursion and hopefully can come back to enjoy even more of real camp!

Alice – I look up to you so much for your ability to be independent and still one with the group. You are not afraid to do your own thing and you always have something fun to say and add to a situation. I loved watching you grow this summer and getting to spend time with you.

Ally – You always have a story that will never fail to leave everyone laughing. You are an incredible athlete and person, and that reflects in everything you do. Keep smiling, keep laughing, and keep coming back. Camp truly needs more AlVal's!

Andrea – You are one of the funniest, most energetic, spunkiest people I know. You can strike up a conversation with anyone and aren't afraid to say what's on your mind. You kept life with the Bards from ever getting boring!

Bryar – You always had a smile on your face no matter what, and I could count on that to brighten my day. Whether it was going sailing or dancing to a song I played in the bunk, you truly put enthusiasm into everything that you did and it showed!

Camille – You are an all around incredible person. You are creative, kind, funny, and so good at bringing people together. You are full of innovative ideas and provide a constant source of compassion to the group – no wonder people always want to be around you. I love you!

Casey – You are silly and hilarious but also down to earth and inviting. You are passionate about everything you do, be it MCing a Senior Waterfront Wipeout Gameshow, or insisting on walking everywhere without shoes while shouting, "no shoes, no regrets"! You surely live every day to its fullest, embrace every potential obstacle, and as a result, have "no regrets!"

Charlotte – Char, you blow me away everyday. You are hilarious and care so deeply about the people around you and I think you have a permanent smile on your face. You love camp and always lead the group when they needed a positive voice. There are not enough words for me to express how much I love and look up to you!

Daisy – Even though I was intimidated by you at first, I quickly learned that you are actually just the cutest, campiest little nugget. Whether it was gossiping or walking to the infirm, any time with you was time well spent. You are so easy to talk to and connect with, and it's obvious how much camp means to you.

Dunia – I don't think I've ever met someone as passionate and dedicated as you. You are mature beyond your years and truly look out for the best interests of the whole group. You also never fail to make me laugh with your ridiculous antics – please don't eat anything too dangerous, though.

Flavia – You were always so chill and easy-going and I was so grateful for that. Getting to know you this summer was awesome, and I loved watching you learn more about camp and really grow to appreciate it each day. Keep doing you!

Gimbel – Whether you realize it or not you are simultaneously one of the most mature and immature people that I have the privilege of knowing. You love to pretend like you know everything, (and quite frankly, I'm starting to believe that you do) and I love getting to hang out with you.

Giorgia – I have never met someone so enthusiastic. It was amazing how you could get excited about the smallest things and how others would follow your lead. I really hope you come back and stay as long as you can because the group benefited so much from someone as happy and energetic as you.

Inès – Everyone fell in love with you the second you got to camp, for good reason, You were nothing but kind and sweet this summer, not to mention incredibly patient and brave for putting up with this crazy group. I am so impressed by your ability to come to a completely unknown place and join in so seamlessly and I loved watching you warm up to everyone. Je t'aime!

Izzy – You are spirited, hilarious, and outgoing. Although we missed the squid hat this year, we are lucky that you make up for it in everything that you do. You are a great friend and teammate, but best of all, you laugh like a baby. Keep doing you!

Jemma – I don't think you realize that you are one of the warmest, friendliest, most outgoing people in the group. You make new friends so easily while simultaneously just being a cool, chill gal who enjoys camp. Please try not to trip and fall too much over the year!

Jessica – You were always such a great person to talk to, whether it was about something going on at camp, my own life, or even our favorite restaurants. You keep it real and know how to grab everyone's attention with just a few words. I really hope you continue coming back because this group loves you.

Jessie – It's obvious that camp is in your blood because of how naturally you came to love it here! You know how to stay positive and make the most out of any situation, and I always appreciated that. You were always dancing in the dining hall and cheering up the people around you. I hope next year you can stay even longer!

Jillian – Your arrival was the best surprise. You are fun to be around, easygoing, and know how to compete at a high level but not take anything too seriously. Everyone's reaction when they found out you were coming back perfectly exemplifies how much you mean to this group, and we all love you.

Kylie – You are such a lovable, kind-hearted person. I love how you are always willing to help out and try to make those around you happy while still being crazy and silly. Once you arrived this summer, it was honestly hard to imagine the group without you.

Laurel – You are certainly not a bum. You could crack me up and say the sweetest things while also being absolutely absurd sometimes. You care about things with your whole heart and always have anyone in the group's back.

Leni – You never failed to entertain me with the ridiculous things you would do and say. Your laugh was a constant throughout your time at camp and it was clear that you really wanted to enjoy your time here. Hope you haven't forgotten my name yet!

BARDS

Lochlann – I loved watching you embrace a new part of camp everyday. You were always so excited to try something new and give it your all. Your willingness to help out and just have fun made you such a great addition to the group!

Lorenza – If it wasn't obvious, everyone was so excited for you to be back at camp this summer. You are funny and free-spirited and would always live camp to the fullest and enjoy what you were doing. I hope the butterflies stay away from you!

Lucy – You are just a ray of sunshine! You are such a caring friend, optimistic member of the group, and constant giggler. Even if you're bad at telling stories, you are amazing at everything else that you do.

Margherita – I was amazed by your ability to integrate with the group and go with the flow. You always seemed to enjoy whatever we were doing and I loved getting to know you while you were here!

Maya – Your arrival into the group was nothing but wonderful. You were always there to offer help to anyone that needed it or just be a voice to chat with or someone who could listen. I love you and hope you try and stay full next summer!

Micaela – You are so much cooler than I'll ever be. You know how to go with the flow but still be down to have a good time. I don't think I ever heard you complain and I really appreciated that. Love you Mica!!

Mooney – You are a star. I could always count on you to be optimistic and warm, and it was contagious. I'm so happy you stayed because your presence brings so much positive energy to the group.

Perin – Your smile is contagious and you're always so willing to help. It is amazing to see how effortlessly you can brighten a person's day with a warm gesture or embarrassing story. You constantly put yourself out there, and your confidence and outgoing nature is truly admirable. Never ever change!

Rawan – You were always such a calming presence to those around you and were such a wonderful bridge between different people in the group. You had such a chill attitude but were able to impact the group greatly in the short time that you were here.

Rosie – I don't think I've ever met someone who is so naturally polite, helpful, and inclusive, while also so fun and wild. You have the best attitude about everything and are willing to make any situation fun, but know how to still be respectful. Let's get it!!!!!

Segal – You give your all in every activity and your love for camp is evident. You killed it during Green & White this year – your feature in the senior camp dance has us all excited for your future Olympic career. Keep coming back, we all love and need you in the group.

Shafer – You exude camp spirit. You have such a big heart and bring energy to whatever you do. You always had the best ideas and were willing to make memories doing whatever. It is so obvious how much you love this place, don't ever let that change.

To my staff –

I wouldn't have made it without you guys. I could not have gotten luckier to be surrounded by people that always had my back and that I loved so much.

To my Bards –

Your group is truly one of a kind – you guys are hilarious, absurd, and so in love with camp and each other that I could not be happier leaving The Realm in your hands. Enjoy every minute you have left. I can't wait to spend five days with you all next summer, but in the meantime, don't be strangers. I love every single one of you to the stars on the top of the quad and back. Thank you for the best summer of my life.

SHIRES

When I say WOOF
You say SHIRE:
WOOF SHIRE
WOOF SHIRE.

Welcome to Shiberia ladies! Sorry Elisabeth and Jessie for insisting on calling you Jessica and Charney for the first four hours of camp. We wasted no time taking The Realm by storm, being the first group to visit the underwater club this summer. Manuela quickly showed us her singing talent as she burst out Girl On Fire in the middle of the lake. You felt my embarrassment of being a brass child the following night, watching the brass's interesting act this year in the staff talent show. The talent show had such a lasting impact, Jeb's reenactment had Maddie laughing out of control. Jeb's birthday came at a perfect time, challenging the kitchen staff to Gaga and starting our birthday compliment circle tradition. Remember when Sloane beat seven kitchen staff in Gaga…still not over it. We didn't let the rain get us down, we made everyone jealous with our slip n slide down the quad. You guys did not disappoint in 'how well do you know your GL,' that's when our love truly became public. Remember spending the night at the outpost and writing the shire songs? Happy Birthday Ruby and Brittany Snow Day! No better way to celebrate than volleyball at the sandbar with Gerrett, and meeting the nicest locals ever. Remember the most eventful night ever? Beating West End in the last minute, the events of the van ride home, and then discovering our new bunkmates (squeak squeak). On the topic of camp animals, so happy you can all finally say you've been to the stables and interacted with a horse (and even drawn on them!). Whoever said nothing is crazier than a spontaneous pajama jump had clearly never heard of nower numping.

If you've met anyone from Evergreen this year, I hope you've bragged to them about our amazing win during the 15U Volleyball tournament. Speaking of volleyball, no bad…no sad…days in LA – except for when we dominated the Foresters in that 1 game of Volleyball. Remember how intense that was? Remember rolling up in our fire red outfits? Don't think I forgot about 4th of July and you guys continuing your winning streak on banners which resulted in dinner and a movie with Woody! Flatbread pizza and Jurassic World, what could get better? Other than…Fight Night!!!!! I hope that by next summer someone has invented inflatable boxing gloves that don't break from use because what's more fun than leg wrestling and big blowup glove boxing. Ruby, Maggie and Elisabeth all were champions in the Tunnel to Towers 5K in North Conway,, all finishing in under 30 minutes. This day continued to be amazing because Avery and Grace arrived. You took girls camp by storm while Scribes were on Katahdin, getting a taste of aiding and rocking the d-hall. These few days made me so excited for you girls to lead girls camp everyday next summer. It wouldn't be a complete summer without a trip to the Marina to reminisce and eat on the rooftop deck. The excitement continued with the arrival of Matilde, Micol, Immy and Eleanor! With PVD one week away we continued making our dance the best in camp. Big big night, all girls camp movie night on GCF! If these memories aren't enough, go look at the pics in the stream of the photo scavenger hunt. What better excuse to take pictures with the coolest people (Chuck) and in the best spots on camp? Of course what was meant to be a sentimental reminisce on the last 4 weeks at the ODT turned into a nower numping 2.0. Our night didn't end here, come on guys Take a Chance on Me and get your pillows on the porch to watch Mama Mia!

I loved meeting all of your wonderful parents on PVD, and getting to announce to all of you that we were going to be leaving for excursion the next morning. We were introduced to Boston in-style with the duck tour…that we missed, oops! That night for dinner we went to Fire and Ice with the Foresters and the one and only Scotty Rimer! Rise and shine for shopping on Newbury street, a visit to the JFK library, and to the end the day at Dick's Last Resort and Mama Mia Here We Go Again. Not going to lie, still disappointed by Dick's Last Resort lack of creativity with nicknames. After our busy two days, we were lucky enough to be lead in a yoga class by Maddie's mom. We of course then needed to exercise our minds, so completed our excursion at an escape room. Remember cookie decorating and showing Sophie your diving talents?

Of course Green & White broke while we were at the WF, sending us sprinting all over camp in bathing suits. We chased the ATVs to the far far field and ended back at the WF to watch the plane land in the water. Congratulations to Maggie and Elisabeth on being captains and Jessie and Sloane being cos. What an intense war between the White Vikings and Green Guardians, five days of competition, sportsmanship, and so much spirit. We reunited on lazy day and became a group again (ugh finally). I'm so happy that I was the first to introduce you to Human Sundaes. There is nothing that I loved more then ending our nights in the lake together. After hearing many amazing scribe speeches we reflected on our summer and star gazed at the tennis courts (what a hidden gem am I right?).

Remember when…it wasn't dare night, Maggie had shoes AND socks on, Elisabeth's hair wasn't blonde from Sun-In, Maddie hated camp, Grace complained, Jessie wasn't talking in an accent, Sloane wasn't talked to at meals by everyone on camp, Ruby wasn't asking to nower nump, Eleanore was mean, Avery wasn't dancing, Mackenzie was the first out of bed, Nina wasn't introducing us to music, Solenne wasn't smiling, Micol wasn't being trendy, Matilde wasn't teaching us French, Manuela wasn't being crazy, Immy wasn't passing on her wisdom, MA wasn't talking about her prior summers at camp, Chanel stayed up late, Sophie was clean, and Lauren paid attention for long spans of time? WE DON'T!

SHIRES

Manuela – Girl, you are on fire. Is there anything you're not good at? From sports to singing to getting along with everyone – you can do it all. I hope that you can come back next year, so you can fill The Realm with your contagious energy and laugh.

Immy – I'm so happy you we stole you from the Scribes this summer. You brought such a mature and fresh perspective to the group. I would love nothing more than to see you come back for Scribe summer and continue sharing all the many things you have to offer to camp.

Micol – You are one of the fiercest competitors I've ever seen. You give your all in everything you do, from dancing in the dining hall to team handball. It took you no time to fit in with the group. You are so cool and confident, thank you for allowing us all to get to know you.

Matilde – You have such a kind heart and spirit. You always had a positive attitude and were excited to try new things. I loved hearing about your cool life and getting to know you. I hope to see you back at camp next summer and for many more to follow.

Solenne – It's so cool that you followed in your uncle's footsteps and came to camp. You are so sweet, and I loved getting to know you. Thank you for sharing your intelligence and kindness with the group this summer.

Eleonore – You are one of the funniest people without trying to be. I loved watching you put yourself out there this summer. You came out of your shell which I know isn't always easy but you are a rockstar.

Maggie – It's hard to believe you haven't spent your entire life at camp due to the incredible impact you have on your group and girls camp as a whole. You are an amazing leader, and I couldn't be more in awe of the wonderful person you have become. I can't wait to watch you shape camp for generations to come.

Avery – I'm so happy that you extended this summer. You are exactly the type of person the group needs. Your carefree attitude is so special, especially at your age. You took a chance on camp and I hope it did not disappoint since camp certainly loves you.

Nina – You are so funny and quirky and you don't even know it. You say things as they are and you're not scared to stand up for what you believe. When you put your mind to something you get it done. It was amazing to watch you become a core member of the group this summer.

Elisabeth – You have the biggest heart of anyone I've ever met. You are endlessly kind and supportive. Everyone who comes in your path is lucky. I believe that you came into this summer with an openness that allowed you to get everything you wanted out of it.

Maddie – You are amazingly self-aware at only 15. You always know the right thing to say to make someone feel better. You have a perfect way of pushing the boundaries just enough but always knowing when to retreat. You are so campy and I love it.

Grace – You are my spirit animal. From athletics to joke cracking you do it all. I'm still salty that Brown stole you for the first part of the summer but it took no time to get you into the swing of things. Thank you for entering the summer with an open mind and heart.

Jessie – I miss your accents and hilarity. You are everything that a 15 year old should be. Thank you for keeping me on my toes. You are adorable, and I can't wait to come back and see you take over camp.

Sloane - You eat, sleep and breathe camp which I love about you. You don't let anything get you down. You are beyond resilient and I am so grateful to have gotten to know you. I can't imagine this summer without you. Thank you for immediately opening to me.

Ruby – You were made for camp and camp was made for you. It's amazing to me that this was only your third summer. It feels like you have been coming to camp forever. You have changed the group for the better, and I hope you get to affect many more campers lives. You are a rockstar.

Mackenzie – You put your heart into everything you do. I loved watching you yell and dance in the dining hall. It's clear how much you love camp. I'm so happy that you were here this summer for the full time.

SHIRES

My Staff – Thank you for everything. Thank you for helping with anything and everything. This summer wouldn't have been possible or the same without each of you. I can't imagine having done this with anyone else. I have learned something from all of you and can't\ wait to see where your futures take you.

Shires – Thank you for diagnosing and dealing with my verbal dyslexia. Thank you for teaching me that 16 slices of pizza is not enough for 11 campers and 4 staff members to have 2 pieces each. I hope that your Scribe summer is everything you want it to be and more. Your Scribe GL is one lucky gal, I would give anything to be in her and your place. I love you all more than all of the stars on the quad, the cups on the ground after snack, and all of the crunchy pinecones we stepped on. You girls are everything camp is meant to be. Keep every tradition alive for me…whether I'm in Norway, New York or LA. Tell your moms you're sorry and never stop telling each other how much you love each other.

ZKREBZ...the crafts shack has no letter beads.

It all began on day zero, when you guys arrived a day early ready to take on your summer as the leaders of Girl's Camp, and I could not have been more excited and proud to become a part of your group from that moment on. Since the second you stepped foot on camp, you all were ready and determined to be the best Scribe group The Realm has seen, and I can confidently say you accomplished that goal. Then came opening day, where we started the summer off with dope apparel since day one, you guys killed it. Remember when we went Pajama Jumping on the first night and you performed your first huddle of fifteen in the lake. Wow, you guys were so happy to be here and be Scribes…it was a moment to remember. Then obviously since it's the summer of eating, we had to test out our new fire pit by making s'mores, a classic night one activity.

Day One before we knew it had to start off with beginning the Scribe song. We couldn't waste a minute so you guys got right into it. Before I knew it you guys were all sitting on my bed just hanging out, being weird, and teaching me about the Jamaican accent vine. Um, what is it? You know how the rest goes. Day two came in hot and heavy climbing Green Mountain with the Tumbies. Definitely was a fun day followed by our first time on the boats all summer with Glen and Ellie. Need I say more…? I don't think so!

And in the blink of an eye, June 27th came along and we were hiking up Mt. Washington! I could not be prouder that every single person made it up. Yes, even you Izzy Weitzen. Cue the Izzy clapping song. Shockingly, I think I can say we all had fun even when Chloe would say that the hike was easy before getting to a hard part every time. Classic. Pizza Barn with the Saxons after was a chill way to the end the day, and so was our rainy day schedule the next day. Chipotle, Walmart, and Incredibles 2.

Vine Compilation theme day was 100% a hit. Sitting outside of bombardment replaying the song that Paige's meme was to was probably one of the funniest and most accurate things ever. Our peak of the summer was undoubtedly beating West End by one point at the house. Although no body paint was featured, our skills were proven by our shirts and signs and cheering. Glad the pickle was able to make it the house for good luck too btw.

Evening Activities started to get intense at the 2-week point, hint hint, backward scavenger hunt. Billi's Green & White competitiveness came out when Molly took a tumble lol. Sorry Molly but it was the funniest thing ever. Two fingers up for Molly everyone. And then came July 4th. What a time to be alive. Sick tanks, sick food, and sick Scribes. You all KILLED the carnival. We made Chuck cry from our wake up calls, made dope BLANK America shirts, and Jordy successfully pied Serena in the face. Whoops.

Then it was the night before beach day, if you aren't triggered right now you need to take a minute to rewind to the night before beach day. Scribe Song. Those two words should say enough. And, Cari's always right. Although we chalked the old Scribe song and decided on a new one in the most chaotic manner and last minute timing, it was the best decision we've ever made. Stayed up until 12:30 am the night before beach day but hey, that's what I call dedication. Then came our last Beach Day at Ogunquit as campers, where we ended off the tradition right by staying late with the Saxons. Singing our Scribe song in the ocean, eating dinner in town, and driving back to camp at 10 pm with all of you passed out in the van after a long, exhausting, but fun day.

Remember the DJ Wood social where Chloe had an accident? Whoops. Then came So You Think You Can Dance, and let me tell you…SCRIBES CAN DANCE. LIFT YOURSELF BABY. Never been so proud of such a weird, awkward, but amazing dance. Poopidy Scoop. And then we sang the Scribe song, a great call to switch and White Houses will go down in history as the best and most last minute Scribe song ever! And the night obviously ended in the rink with our nugs and our fries.

Mini Green & White with the tumblers and jesters was a LIT way to lead into Katahdin. Never forget setting up the tents at the campsite and moving to a different one, the park ranger kicking us out of dinner and us shoving steaks and potatoes down our throats to get out of there as soon as possible, Izzy rocking the fever and being quarantined in the isolation tent, and finally climbing up the mountain and all summiting (and maybe even getting a ticket while we were at it!) Proud moment!!! Even though it was a struggle at Baxter State Park, we did make some ravioli, s'mores, chocolate eclairs (which Haley attempted to one bite), and Ruby aka DAD grilled up some apple pies on the fire. And to top off the eating part of Katahdin, we returned to Chipotle for the second time this summer.

Mamma Mia…HERE WE GO AGAIN. Although you may not have thought Mamma Mia 2 was as good as the first movie (and as good as I thought it was, aka I'm the only dedicated Mamma Mia fan who liked it), I think we can all agree we still had fun seeing the move together for Jordy and Rena's birthday. We also had fun when the tumbies made over the Scribes and then played volleyball with the Saxons in our beautiful outfits. Remember when the Tumbler was trying to say that Billi's theme was Vegas and I just had no idea what she was saying and couldn't understand a word. Sorry girl. The outfits then continued for frat boy day: boxers, pinnies, hats (Haley has a strike: strike, strike, strike).

We then were the first Scraxons to start a new tradition of Portland for excursion where we went to the beach, went on a woof duck tour and didn't go in the water (with a woof tour guide), escaped the room, shopped, ate, kayaked, and more. At least we went on a food tour where we had donuts, lobster rolls, and french fries. Excursion ended with an interesting fake break that may or may not have been a failure but hey at least we tried. And had fun.

Then a day after we arrived back on camp from excursion, Green & White broke. We were at volleyball and I warned all of you at 9 square before that it was going to happen any minute and to put your shirts on (we were in sports bras because it was so, so hot out). Never forget when JK thought the photographer actually told her the real break time and I said that would never happen… sorry JK you are gullible. After the break of ATVs and a plane in the lake, your last 5 days of color war all together came to a start. With Ruby and Dina as captains and O and Billi as co's, you all were intense, competitive, funny, amazing, and all around my all stars.

After color war ended, we had a nice lazy day looking for your time capsule that, no offense, just will never be found and Izzy you can look all you want girl, but you have lost it. "I found it," as she hits a rock in the ground every five minutes. Lol. Sorry not sorry. Then we swam, sang our Scribe song, and ended our first night back as a group with a photo scavenger hunt and our last drive to Cozy Corner.

SCRIBES

Before Scribe Speeches, we had our second to last day of camp filled with 10 minutes of every activity to cherish the last full day as campers. From an early morning PJ jump where we started the – summer of the flop – to spud where Izzy was slapped, dance, office games, drama (lil bit of wax museum), basketball, soccer, newcomb, volleyball, gaga, lacrosse, dizzy kickball, visiting Kate at the stables, rink, tennis, and ending again with waterfront. From hitting every spot on camp, we ended our camper careers with our Scribe speeches. And although they may have been in the barn and not the waterfront, they were still the most special, amazing, and heartwarming speeches I have ever heard a group of girls give. The night ended at ODT with our nugs and fries as usual.

Billi – I think your actions in make your GL laugh show how much you love this place through your dedication to getting 8 girls to spit water out of their mouths. You would do anything for camp, and I seriously mean that and it's a quality about you that so many people admire and look up to. Your humor, attitude, and kindhearted way of life are what makes you so special.

Chloe – You're loud, crazy, fun, weird, and don't forget awkward personality is what everyone loves about you. Whether you're buying some weird tank on excursion wasting away $20 or attempting to braid your hair in a huge knot, you still always manage to be an amazing friend to everyone. Every group of girls needs a loud, crazy voice and I can without a doubt say that the Scribes need yours, and they wouldn't be the same without it.

Claire – I thought it was low key at first but I now know it's high key, you're a savage. You are so funny whether you are acting during the marriage game on the first night or screaming "don't say it" on the mountain, you can always make me and anyone else die of laughter. Don't stop being the funny but chill girl that you are, and continue to do spontaneous things like get your ear pierced, you are DOPE.

Claudia – Since the day you arrived to camp, you have been nothing but the most helpful, caring, and appreciative individual. You are always making sure that the group is helping each other out and being present for each other and it doesn't go unnoticed how considerate you are. The sweet and fun girl that you are is so amazing inside and out and the love everyone has for you is so clear.

Dina – You are a leader, a weird dancer to Chocolate, an even weirder singer to scatman, but overall an awesome and super cool person. I and so many others look up to you in so many ways as you have such an amazing personality and can make anyone laugh but also be so serious and meaningful at the same time. Don't stop being weird, it's what makes you who you are.

Emily – Some may say you are shy and quiet, but your moments on excursion before ice cream prove differently, haha. But in all seriousness, you have come such a long way this summer and have truly come out of your shell and out from your rock, like the song says. You love camp so much and it constantly shows in your daily activities.

Gina – You are the funniest, most chill girl I know and you are so easy going about everything. You are always down for whatever and go with the flow but embrace camp and love being here at the same time, which is why you are amazing. We missed you so much the second half of camp, and it wasn't the same without your humor and fun energy.

Haley – I have never met a stronger individual than you. You have truly amazed me by the independent and mature girl that you are. You're so funny and crazy all the time, but can also turn serious and real so quickly when necessary. The qualities that you have are so amazing and you should never let anyone tell you otherwise. Maybe stop peeing in every public place and chill with the dance moves, but other than that keep doing you. Also, you have a strike.

Izzy – There is no cuter, smiley, more camp loving girl than you. The fact that you couldn't start off your Scribe speech because you were dying in front of all of Girl's camp shows much you love camp and have been waiting for that moment since you were a little girl. You have your own song like come on. Camp needs people like you who are funny but so kind and caring.

JK – It's hard for me to believe that this is only your third summer at camp because you fit in so well with the group and are such an important part of the Scribes. You have this amazing quality where you are truly friends with everyone in the group and are so easy going and fun. I love how much you care about everyone and everything and always show some love to everyone.

Jordy – The love you have for camp is clear and evident through your craziness, humor, and smile. There is no one I would rather do my weird dance moves with at the DJ wood social, pie me in the face on July 4th, or just talk with on my bed. You are an amazing and strong person and your presence makes a whole room smile. Love you forever.

Leah – You have such a big heart with so much love for all of your camp friends and camp in general. The fact that you "say sorry one more time" just shows that you care so much about other people and never want to offend them, which proves how sweet and kind you truly are. This group wouldn't be them without you, and keep coming back.

Lily – It's crazy to think that you only came to camp at four weeks halfway through the summer because it feels like you have truly been here since day one. Ever since you got to camp you jumped right in with craziness and love for all the Scribes. You have a wild, crazy side but also a genuine and sweet part of you, which is the perfect balance. I love that you pretended you were here all summer because in spirit you truly were.

SCRIBES

Livy – The crazy fun side of you and the mature and real side of you are the two perfect combinations that any person would be lucky to possess like you do. You know how to keep it real but also live every moment up to its fullest and make the most of it, something I admire so highly of you.

Maddie – Whether you are saying hi to others or just walking around camp, the happiness that you have is always so obvious. You are always smiling and have such a bubbly personality that makes others wants to be around you. I love watching you thrive at camp in your favorite place with your favorite people and I can't wait to watch you share your happiness with your campers in the future.

Molly – The saying "what a catch," perfectly describes you in three words. You are an amazing friend, camper, Scribe aid, and overall person. The love that you have for camp is so clearly evident through your smile on good days and even your tears over camp on sad days. Don't ever stop being the sweetest girl and such\a good to friend to others.

O – If there is one word to describe you, it's wicked. You are wicked annoying, wicked weird, wicked awesome, wicked athletic, and a wicked girl. Sorry I just used wicked way too many times. But in all seriousness you are such a cool, fun person to be around and you try your best at everything whether it be Green & White or making the Scribe song, you always want what's best. Thanks for clapping in my face all summer, you rattled?!

Paige – Paigey, Paje, Paigey Pugs. You have the cutest and most genuine smile that I have ever seen, and I love that sometimes you act like a tumbler at heart because you are so positive and energetic about everything. The group needs someone like you to always be fun with and to make the most of situations and I truly admire that about you.

Ruby – I know for a fact that everyone agrees with me when I say that you are perfect inside and out. You are the best helper, you're way too funny, you're a dad who cares for everyone, you're so friendly, and most importantly you are an amazing, outstanding friend. I know you will be such an unbelievable counselor and I can't wait to watch all that you do for your kids one day.

Serena – Although your summer didn't end on the note that you hoped it would, you killed Scribe summer inside and out. You always put on a smile and had energy, and you were so dedicated to putting camp over sports in a heartbeat which shows how much you care about your group and this place. I wish I could see your funny faces dancing to Sweet Louise one more time.

Shaina – You are such a strong, determined character which was evident throughout your time at camp this summer. It is clear how much love you have for each and everyone of your friends. Throwback to the best ever beanbag seat steal of all time in backwards scav!

Siena – Take a deep breath as you read this, I'm sure you will need it. Hahaha. It doesn't matter if you are talking at someone 100mph and them not understanding one word you're saying, because you are always talking to someone with good intentions and as an amazing friend. I know I can always come to you for advice or help, and it is so amazing how open and loving you are to everyone.

Ailsa & Kate – I couldn't have asked for a better staff to have by my side this entire summer. There aren't two other people as amazing as both of you, especially amazing at being both counselors and friends. You guys always had my back and were my go to people for everything, and I can't thank you enough for all that you did this summer. Love you to the stars on the quad and back.

To My Amazing Scribes of 2018 –

There aren't 22 other girls I would have wanted as my best friends this summer other than you guys. You are an amazing group of strong, mature, funny, weird, and of course dysfunctional young girls that have so much to look forward to in your camp future, like staff. I can't express how lucky you all are to have each other and to have camp to thank for bringing you guys together. Don't waste a minute, don't take anything for granted, make the most of every situation, and most importantly, keep coming back. It's worth it. Forever and ever and ever.

Well Scribes,

Time to turn off the walkie talkie, remember your last belly flop off the tower, remember your last sit on Jacoon, and relive your last party on the porch together. And don't forget…with love like this you can't pretend.

Camp Robin Hood Gives Back Day

Every year we invite a special guest to camp for Robin Hood Gives Back.

Our guest speaker this summer was Randy Pierce from 2020 Vision Quest. Randy lost his sight in his mid-twenties due to a genetic disorder and had to learn to adapt. He has not allowed his disability to get in his way of living life to the fullest. He has hiked all of the 4k footers here in New Hampshire, Mt. Kilimanjaro, and competed in a Tough Mudder. He qualified and ran in the Boston Marathon as well as many other races across the country. He also plays on a blind basketball team. During his time here, he engaged our campers in a conversation about abilities, perseverance, and teamwork. As part of his visit, he led our campers in a hands-on demonstration of how blind athletes play soccer and basketball.

It was a pleasure having Randy in The Realm.

GREEN & WHITE

Camp Robin Hood 1927 2018

Shut Up and Dance

Judges you can't vote White
Cause they picked the wrong bean
Now that we have Dick back
The score can finally go to Green
This team is our destiny
We said oh oh oh
Stand up and sing with Green

White team were victims of the war
Were sorry White your trembling at your core
Evie we can't hear you, they needed more
Cari and Mikey are together
This will be forever
The 6 day war
The Guardians took it over
We stood our ground and said

We are the great Green team
Vikings can taste defeat
We carry Andy's dream
So this war has gone to Green
These captains have a legacy
They were born to be born to be the Green

A chipped tooth and some cracker eat
Cari's now lived her 12-year dream
Mikey's known all along it's meant to be
Now their running this together
Four-year staff forever

We raised the score
We know how it happened
We want it more we say

We are the great Green team
Vikings can taste defeat
We carry Andy's dream
So this war has gone to Green
These captains have a legacy
They were born to be born to be the Green

Oh come on White

Is that team fun
I think we know the answer
you realize you've lost your last chance
To win the war
Cause right now it's over
We hold our shields and say

This is the final night
the war will not go White ever since the break
We could taste our juicy steaks
For-ever loyal to the Green
Now's the time to Stand up and sing

So Green team let's get hype
Because this is our night
Let's give it all we have
This is our time to fight the White
So Vikings won't you say goodbye
Because Oh oh oh tonight we chalk the White

Our veins run deep with Green
We carry Andy's dream
This war was meant to be
These captains are a legacy
So sing along with our mighty team because
OHOHOH THIS WAR HAS GONE TO Green

And We Danced

Oolay hey hey oolay hey hey oolay hey hey,
And we fought, Mikey laughed, Joshy cried
And now the Vikings know that this is our night
Picked the bean, BDE team,
Guarding The Realm- for the rest of our lives.
JC: Rikleen SC: DC JC: Woody SC: Scotty
Oh oh oh oh oh oh oh oh oh
JC: Our time SC: our right JC: our fight
SC: tonight
Cause tonight's the night am I right, WIN

(straight in) Did you meet our captain Cari?
She leads us, she's scary
There's a cop on the camp, where's the watchman
Quick keep running
Were the fun team, you can see that Don't make us eat our steaks yet
Cause the beefs there, are the teams fair
Hey Vikings should we braid your hair?

Guardians, sing along,
Night 5 bring us home, come on Leave the fear, defend the wall
Don't make us wait and read the score (mm)
So if you're a Viking
You know you picked the wrong team, not the Green team – Green TEA

And we fought, Joshy's whipped (SNR boys sound), Mikey's not
And now the Vikings know that this is our night
Care and Mike
Did it right
The Realm will stay safe for the rest of our lives

We will not
We will not

Let you break down our walls
We will fight
Till you die
White team say your goodbyes BYYEEE

So Evie was it worth it?
Worth it to go to London

Hope you saw a lot of movies

Guess we all miss PG
We will not
We will not
Gives a damn who watches us
Joshy look at your own team
Cari is just for us

We will be the guardians
Leave you in our past
That's where you belong
History are we wrong?
Wish we could ask John

Show us a good loser, White
Cause woody said so, THE GreenS ON FIREEEEE

Just look at our team DOE
Ev, we've booked your flights to go to Venezuela
But Joshy don't you worry
This bubble is a secret

RIP to the king Andy Freedman
WE OWE IT ALL TO YOU
Car and mike have made it happen
Bye bye to chalk city, till the gates are again opened, but we Pledge allegiance to the villa
Put your swords up

And we fought, Mikeys Hot, Joshies not
And now the Vikings know that this is our night
We can't wait, for our steaks
Guardians over Vikings, to-night here is our fate

Already Home

We hope all we have we put into it
This time it all becomes real
Don't you know that here's all that we think about?
Together our hearts become whole
They say that there's no alternative
They say that we mustn't let go
There's nights where our minds can't stop wondering
Just how many days till we're home

If only the lake wasn't so far away
Just promise the world cannot get in our way
From the memories we own
To the tears that we cannot control

We've learned to carry johns love with us
A love only he understands
We would trade every site in this city
To lay under these stars again

If only the sun could forget how to set
Maybe our memories of you could be kept
Growing older each day but we know
The traditions won't fade

John said "maybe and that's final"
His love will never be replaced
We'd rather be here next to you
Judges remember this, hold on, wait till your home

I can't leave with this feeling inside of me
The pain hurts me more than I know

Judges you are the reason we stay
We promise your legacy won't fade away
(pause) When you're scared and alone
Just know that we're keeping your home

Memories etched on the hearts of our friends
Then we'll be there every step of the way
And when it's the time to move on Just know that you're never alone

Here is your home
And together its half of our whole

Tonight Tonight

It's been a really long six day war
Best days of the summer, schedules not a bummer
Josh and Evie could take some more
She might've lost her voice, but Schumann's our first choice

Joshy got the girl, okayyyyy
Mikey on the bus, keep your hands down
Ev traveled the world, so cultured
SKOL CLAP GO!
CLAP

Tonight, tonight
There's a party on our boat while we conquer the world
Tonight, tonight
Vikings run The Realm, while the Guardians burn
Green you almost made it, now watch us as we take it
White wins this fight, this fight, tonight, tonight

Not sure if anyone knew
Mikey wanted captain
Bucking like a camper
Cari smells like a skunk pee yoo
Think theres two under the Scribe bunk SKRTTTTT!!!!

Lost swim meet, but not grandpa's
Triple booked boats, whatever
Doo-doo in the shower, where's Dermer?
SKOL CLAP GO!
CLAP

Tonight, tonight!
There's a party after dark and we're all getting in Tonight, tonight, when FYAs sit duty nobody wins!
I don't know if I'll make it, hope the infirm can take it
White wins this fight, this fight, tonight, tonight

Dramamine, please eat first
Swam 10 laps, not 16
Dick is back, camp daddy
SKOL CLAP GO!
CLAP

Mikey's fireworks overrated
Evie likes her movies PG
Josh is on top, Cari is rattled
Vik-ings will take this victory

Co-ed danish, camp is progressive
Tug of war, we jerked that thang
It's night five we'll dance if we want to Do what you want when you're the fun team

And the, Guardians are runnin' out scared
And the, Vikings like steak medium rare
And it's the judges, and they're tappin their canes
Ain't nobody gonna end our reign

La la la, FULL SEND
La la la, SHIP IT
SKOL CLAP GO!
CLAP

Tonight, tonight
There's a party on our boat while we conquer the world
Tonight, tonight
Vikings run The Realm,
while the Guardians burn
Green you almost made it,
now watch us as we take it
White wins this fight, this fight, tonight, tonight
White won this fight, this fight, tonight, tonight

STEAKS!

Good Girls Go Bad

Viking Andy
Came here on a boat
Put down his axe
And then laid down his fur coat
He said "2018 White Vikings will win"
Grandpa Flash had to agree

With Duff by his side
They had their third child

The baby Viking named Drew
The founding member of crew
He was putting out the fire while the guards were asleep
Saved the sailing shack and protected our fleet
In the snow we pushed through
That's just what White Vikings,
White Vikings DO!
White Vikings DO!

Two chucks
Are better than one
Downy and Illig
Learned it wasn't all fun
One week before camp the d-hall burned down
The brother Vikings took control

What were they to do
They got in their canoe

To Boston they made their way
A new kitchen saved the day
Camp was still alive
In summer '74
Not Campbells or progresso
We serve Robin Hoods own
And the kids still came to play
That's just the White Viking,
White Viking WAY!
White Viking WAY!
White Viking WAY!

Boys: Viiiking Klein had a way with the staff and the boys
Taught 'em how to be gentlemen
Girls: Brought 12 girls here in '87
Don't you remember when

Boys: DC and Wood have taken the reins,
Stuck with the Viking plan
Girls: It's present day, we made it here
Have you met our captains

Josh Podl is in the crew
Evie is at the spot too
Hope you enjoyed history with the smart team
Vikings couldn't swim but we still conquered the Green
Judges thought that you knew,
What the Vikings could,
Vikings could DO!

Old Pine

Nobody knows, the feeling at the end
Until it goes, these memories
Are the best that we'll ever have
Our summer home became our heart and soul
Not long ago when we first stood
On the dust and pine cones

We shared our lives under the starry skies
And thanks to John and all of you
Andy's dream is alive

We stand
Generations hand in hand
So happy hearted as the clouds
Break for the morning sun
As we see the sign we sing
And we are home

The fated shore, unfailing as years pass
I've come to know the friends 'round here
Fam'ly you'll always have
Sun in my eyes, tears as we say goodbye
Careless and young, why didn't we realize
The magic lives inside

We stand
Taller than we ever planned
There's no uprooting
The feeling that's taken hold of us

We stand
Generations hand in hand
So happy hearted as the clouds
Break for the morning sun
As we see the sign we sing
Forever our home

BOW/ARCHER DOWN: We grow, grow, finding who we want to be
We grow, grow older still

ARROW/LANCER DOWN: Yeah we grow, grow learning as we go along
We grow, grow older still

SAXON/SCRIBE DOWN: Yeah we grow, grow this place remains a part of me
We grow, grow older still

EVERYONE: Even though, though life tries to take control of me
We know, know where we must be
And it's home

GREEN & WHITE

It's Monday, July 30th. It's a beautiful day in The Realm. For the first time in a week, camp is at full capacity with every group having completed their excursions. How about having a quiet, normal day for everyone to re-connect with camp? *Heck no! Let's just break it!

IT WAS A PRETTY NORMAL MORNING until two ATVs, a motorbike and the dump truck emerged from the driveway and the woods, horns blaring, driven by judges and bedecked in Green & White. They tore through camp gathering campers and staff in their wake, and headed for the far, far field, where tension mounted as we waited for something to happen. Then a seaplane buzzed low over the fields and headed for the waterfront. The throngs turned heel and followed down to the lake where we watched the plane land and beach by the waterski docks. Judges Scott Rimer and Diane Morath climbed out, closely followed by DC in his Green & White regalia, signalling the official start of Green & White 2018!

A hush descended before DC announced our four captains – Mikey Brockmann, Josh Podl, Evie Schumann and Caroline Rose.

Campers and staff were dismissed to their group areas to elect camper captains and co's. Then after lunch we assembled on the quad for the Jelly Bean Ceremony. Each camper captain and co-captain was announced, and they stepped forward to draw a green or white bean from the hat and so determine the teams in traditional, random fashion. The beans decided that Mikey and Carrie would lead the GREEN, and Josh and Evie the WHITE.

So it was straight to business with the Junior Jamboree – Kickball, Gaga, Dodgeball and 9-Square all happening within yards of each other with the rest of camp watching and cheering – a spectacular sight! After dinner we had two staff Softball games to round off a terrific day.

A busy, busy Day One offered up around 1400 points, and White edged the day very slightly. Green 676 | White 736

Day Two heralded our traditional morning Swim Meet. The weather cooperated and we saw some terrific competition in the water; however, the Green team seemed to have been blessed with the better water-wings as they took the meet by a margin of 132 points. So White needed to rally strongly in the afternoon to close the gap. As it turned out the rest of the day was pretty even, so Green ended the day ahead. Green 1540 | White 1417

On to Day Three and the Track Meet. Green may have had the swimmers, but White responded with a big track meet emerging with an 84 point victory. But Green were determined to maintain their lead and had a strong afternoon, to end the day ahead by a similar margin. Green 2388 | White 2264

Day Four began with early morning staff soccer games to make up, followed by another big and busy day for group competition on the fields and at the Junior Regatta. We were entertained in the evening with campers showing off their skills and expertise on the stage in the Talent Show. The day ended with Green stretching their lead slightly, but still very much within reach.

We entered Day Five with 1200 points still out there to play for. A morning of group activities was followed by an afternoon and evening of traditional and exciting special events – the Giant Relay, the Rope Burn, the Tug of War, Flag Presentation and the final Song Night. The Giant Relay was edged by Green, but White eventually won out in an intense and spectacular Rope Burn. An energy-sapping Tug of War saw Green take the majority of the points.

So we moved to the quad to witness the Flag Presentations from both teams. The Green Guardians and the White Vikings both produced amazing flags presented in skit style, with inspiring speeches by their senior campers.

Going in to Song Night it was clear that in order to close the gap, White would need to sing their hearts out, and rely on good showing in the as yet unannounced points from Talent Night, Nature, Crafts etc.

It was not to be, as Green emerged as clear winners.
Final score: GREEN 3660, WHITE 3319. A margin of 341.
