Camp Robin Hood

FOR THE 96TH CONSECUTIVE SUMMER, children descended upon The Realm on opening day with anticipation and enthusiasm. They leapt out of their cars or buses and immediately felt at home, immersed in the smell of pine trees in the shadow of the White Mountains. Returning campers quickly settled in, reconnecting with old friends; and by the end of dinner on opening day, our new campers were part of the CRH family.

Once again, The Realm provided campers and staff with safety and solitude from the outside world, away from screens, social media and other distractions. The camaraderie and solidarity we shared while engaging in meaningful conversations, appreciating the pristine natural beauty of our surroundings, and enjoying all of the remarkable activities and adventures camp offers really cannot be replicated.

As always, our counselors proved to be our Special Sauce. With the largest staff CRH has ever had, our campers learned a tremendous amount in small group settings from both the specialty ranks as well as the care and love that only "Blg Brothers/Sisters " can provide from our general staff, 90% of whom are ex-campers. And with a combined 275 summers at Camp Robin Hood, our administration team led with joy and enthusiasm for all things CRH every day.

We again climbed every nearby mountain; swam in the best lake in the world; delighted in weekly camp fires, July 4th parade and activities, trips to the beach, So You Think You Can Dance Night and inter-camp sports; and finished most meals with all-camp dance parties. The return of group excursions following a record-breaking parents' visiting day led us to our Green & White, where the winner was again decided at song night judged by more than 70 returning former CRH captains and dignitaries.

In addition, we strengthened our resolve to make a positive impact on our environment and each other. Our goal of going emission free was accomplished by every person at camp this summer, helping to prevent more than 70 tons of waste from going to landfills while again leading the way in our industry. We also helped build servant leadership by reminding each other to be mindful of the needs of others and embracing opportunities to give back; made it clear that people from different backgrounds and religions from all around the world will always be welcomed at The Realm; and stressed the importance of tolerance, understanding, compassion and empathy…qualities that carry over into every aspect of campers' lives. Kindness and respect for each other and our environment are what our world needs more of.

Thank you again for entrusting your children with us. I hope they enjoyed the time of their lives and will return for our 97th season, which begins on June 22, 2024.

Love,

Woody

HEY TPS!

Welcome to the yearbook! Who's ready to relive summer 2023? Remember getting off the bus and running to our group huddling in the rain? Who would have thought that this would be the beginning of one of the strongest TP groups I've ever seen.

YOU GUYS WERE AWESOME THIS SUMMER!

Remember when we played Danish Longball in the rain for our first Ea? Remember the Brock and Krish 1v1 in dodgeball at the end of the game with Krish winning? Remember when we all went tubing for the first time, and went flying through the air and water? Remember doing minecraft trivia on the benches in between activities? I think all of our knowledge of minecraft has improved a lot, especially Rusty's! Remember when we did Dizzy kickball? It was definitely one of the funniest EA's we've ever done, and Gonzalo killed it running the bases. Remember doing gymnastics for the first time? You guys showed off some unbelievable moves, especially Blake S with the front flips! Remember when we had senior waterfront? Undoubtedly the best period out there, and wrestling with you guys during the period was so much fun. Remember when we got to watch Spiderman Across the Spider Verse? Rainy days can be brutal, until they bring you a surprise movie trip! Remember when we went on the pontoon ride during the entire morning? It was a great way to start off the day, and watching you guys wrestle and play football in the water was a blast. Remember random dance parties in the bunk? Aidan for sure showed off his dance moves throughout the day, and it was great to see the rest of you guys follow his lead.

STAFF TALENT SHOW Remember when we did the staff talent show? I'd be lying if I said I wasn't a little bit nervous, but you guys were an awesome audience to our "amazing" singing and acapella.

MOUNTAIN TRIP Remember the mountain trip with the fog? The view might have been a little hazy, but it was a blast to reach the top and get ice cream as a reward! Here's to many more mountain adventures with you boys in the future!

CAMP FIRE Remember campfire with the Saxon buddies? You guys killed it with your enthusiasm and the way you remembered all of the facts about your Saxons was awesome. It was also super fun to lead the baby shark chants with you guys. That was a night I'll never forget.

4TH OF JULY Remember going on all of the water inflatables and tasting all of the delicious food? 4th of July was a blast, and it was awesome to see the enthusiasm that you guys had for all of the activities that day.

SYTYCD Remember the incredible dance that you guys pulled off? I was so proud of how hard you all worked and how much you guys improved by the end of it. The dance for "Baby" by Justin Bieber was so much fun to watch, and you boys poured your hearts into it.

BEACH TRIP Never have I ever had such an amazing beach trip. Going to the beach with you boys was one of, if not the best days of the summer. From wrestling in the water, to doing chicken fights, to just relaxing in the sun, this day was a blast and you guys made it such an incredible day.

JR CAMP TALENT NIGHT What a night! Seeing Aidan rap his heart out to eminem was truly a pleasure, and it was for sure one of the best performances I've had the privilege to watch at camp.

FIRST SESSION ENDING Having over half of the group leave at the four week mark was definitely a tough blow. However it was also amazing to see how each of you throughout the four weeks grew in tremendous ways. I'm so proud of how you all played your heart out on the field, and continued to push through even in the tough moments. You boys are amazing and you should be proud of what you guys accomplished.

EXCURSION Story Land Amusement Park! What a way to blast off after the four week mark. From going on super fast rides, to getting as many slushies as our stomachs could handle, this day was truly amazing. Also, who can complain about watching the cinematic masterpiece: Elemental at night.

GW BREAK It's here, and who's ready to rock! What a break it was, from confetti to firetrucks, to jet skis zooming across the water, this Green & White break is set to kick off one of the best color wars yet!

GW EVENTS Watching you guys participate in Green & White activities was an absolute privilege. You guys played your hardest and I am so proud of how you boys demonstrated not only amazing athleticism, but also fantastic sportsmanship and leadership. No matter the outcome, we came back as the TP's after the color war ended stronger and united.

TINKERS/PAGERS

HEY
TPS!

TINKERS/PAGERS

MY STAFF

Thank you all for a wonderful summer. I couldn't have done it without each and every one of you. Even though the bunk was often noisy, we functioned as a unit and gave each camper an experience they will never forget.

See you next summer!

HEY JUGGLERNAUTS!

GET READY FOR BLASTOFF...

Time to relive your amazing summer at camp! Remember getting off the bus on the first day and meeting all the guys you'd become such good friends with over the next seven weeks? I sure do, and it was such a treat watching you guys start those relationships with your new brothers.

NEVER FORGET, ONCE A JUGGLER, ALWAYS A JUGGLER!!!

I'm sure you guys remember hearing my amazing rendition of "Take Me Home, Country Roads" at the Staff Talent Show – it was hard to forget. My act was definitely the best, and your cheering gave me the courage I needed to stay up on stage – SO THANK YOU!

The Fourth of July was another great day. I really loved seeing all your red, white and blue gear, and your funky hats and face paint. I just wish I could've gotten all of you up on my shoulders during the several laps we did around the quad. And the carnival is always the best part of the day, with the ice cream and Ring Pops they give out, even though Juju slapped me in the face with whipped cream. Don't worry though, I got him back!

You guys did not fail to impress me with your hiking prowess. Going up that mountain went by in a blur, it was like you guys were professionals. The view from the top was amazing, and I'm so glad I got to share that moment with you all up in the clouds. Not even a little rain could stop us from having a good time!

Remember your dance during the So You Think You Can Dance show? I sure do, because it was so incredible. We learned the entire dance in one day – don't tell anyone – and you guys absolutely killed it. We covered a couple decades, none of which you lived through, but after seeing your moves I swear the 70s and 80s are in your blood. GREAT DANCING!

Beach Day is always one of my favorites, and I couldn't have asked for a better group to share it with this year. I loved tossing frisbees and footballs with you guys, making four-person towers in the water, and escorting you to the Beach Store. Robert took all the time he needed, and Noah wasted no time buying those inflatables. The sun was shining and we had a great time!

The Junior Camp Talent Show was great, and I'm so glad I got to see your acts. "Ezra" is a great name for a dance group, and you guys danced like nobody's business. Well done! Your talents clearly translated over to our Juggler dance. I'm so proud of you guys for getting up on stage in front of the whole camp and showing off your great moves.

The end of the four week session is always a sad day, but it's also a day full of memories. Watching you guys hug each other goodbye is always a pleasure, because it reminds me that the most important thing in the Jugglers is the brotherhood we forge throughout the summer. We'll miss those of you who left, and the rest of us look forward to Green & White coming in the next couple days – when we fight, we fight for the Jugglers!!

Do you guys remember Story Land amusement park? You'd better, because some of you went on the Bamboo Chutes ride at least twelve times. There's nothing like six hours in the sun, roller coasters, unlimited slushies, and all the Jugglers! I had the time of my life. Not to mention getting pizza and seeing Elemental in the theater afterward – definitely one of the most epic love stories of all time.

We could all feel the hype building around Green & White like electricity gathering before a lightning strike. All the fake breaks got you guys, even when it was just a Yeoman outside yelling, "Green & White!" But when it actually broke, it was so exciting. The firetruck, the confetti, and judges arriving on pontoons. And thus began the most intense five days of the summer.

Green & White is a classic clash, two forces equal in strength and will, but only one can ever come out victorious. The mighty White Raptors went up against the glorious Eternal Green…and you guys made it a fight for the ages. I really enjoyed watching your brotherly competition. I loved when you guys lifted each other up during the games and cheered your teammates on from the sidelines, but nothing was better than the very end, after Green emerged on top, when you guys crossed the Barn to give each other big hugs and reunite as the Jugglers. You're much stronger together than you ever were going up against each other.

The last night of camp is always a special one. We started with a wonderful dinner banquet style – and way too many chocolate strawberries for some of you – and then went to Founder's Night. Going up onto the stage and presenting the sign you guys made for the Barn volleyball court made me feel so proud – we've made our mark on camp forever.

The award ceremony afterward was phenomenal. Watching you guys win awards for various activities made me so happy. You guys deserve it! And watching Syl, Charlie, and Matthew win the big three awards made my day. Those three awards are a big achievement. Great work, everyone!!

The last day was a tough one, like it was always going to be. Saying goodbye to you guys never gets easier, not even the third time around. If you'd been with me before, I want to thank you for giving me the three best summers of my life. You guys were always my reason for coming back. Those of you who joined us for the first time this summer, it was my pleasure getting to know you, and I'm so glad you came. Thank you all for making the group what it is. You're the best, I love you guys.

JUGGLERS

Holden Bash – I think no one on camp picked up more trash than you this summer– and that's just a droplet of the goodness you brought to camp and to the Jugglers this summer. Your bubbly composure constantly brightened up the bunk, so thank you. Not to mention, you might be in the running for best hair on camp. Can't wait for your long career in The Realm.

Robert Buman – I'll always remember your first shot on a soccer goal. You were one of the first guys to arrive, and your charming personality shone on me every day since the first. The Buman family name is a big one at camp, and your career is lined up in front of you for greatness. Keep coming back, I can't wait to see what you'll accomplish.

Sam Chua – Thanks for teaching me how to say your last name. I loved your enthusiasm when we played sports, particularly soccer. I can tell you've got serious moves, and I'm excited to see how they'll grow in the years to come. Keep coming back, and bring your athletic prowess with you!

Avi Cohen – Your thoughtfulness was astounding. One of my favorite moments from the summer was when you gave me a Pokemon card because I had lost one of mine. Your fierce defense of your friends is a virtue, and I was lucky to know you. Keep coming back!

Jonah Cohen – Candy Canteen will not get rid of your post-dinner hunger, I promise. Jonah, your inquisitive spirit is stronger than any I've ever seen. I'll always remember our conversations about candy bars and dessert. I can't wait to see how tall you'll be next year, and how important you'll be to the group.

Pierce Collmer – The tickle monster has left The Realm! The streets of the dining hall are a little safer now…Pierce, your laugh and your smile are so contagious, and they made my day every time I saw you. Have fun with your LEGOs, and come back next summer!

Charlie Corr – I think you were the first one on the benches every single time. I can truly say you always made my job easier, and I'm so thankful for that. You're the sweetest kid of all time, and your positivity was such a great influence on the bunk. Keep coming back – the Jugglers need you.

Ranger Curran – What are we gonna do next? Ranger, your questions always make my summer. Whether it's playing in the sand, or playing Newcomb, your sense of humor was always uplifting. It was my pleasure to have you for the second year in a row, and I hope you keep coming back for years and years.

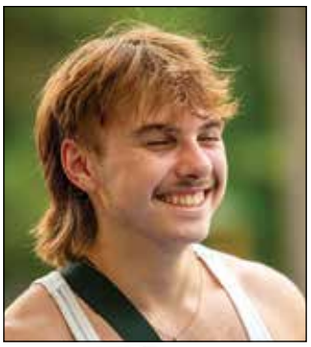

Connor Deane – Don't talk about anything Hungarian and we won't have any problems. Your eccentricity was on full blast this year, and in the best way. You never fail to make me laugh with a bad joke or a penguin dive, and your maturity is admirable. I know you'll become a camp legend and I can't wait to see it.

Spencer Dickerman – The Dickerman name lives on in you with all the greatness of your father. The "Spencer for captain" chants in the dining hall were chanted with good reason. Your smile is contagious, and your energy was essential to the Jugglers. Keep coming back, you deserve all the wonderful things waiting for you here.

Eli Goshin – Tell 'em to bring out the whole Goshin! Eli, your knowledge of the world is astounding, and your maturity helped keep the group up. I loved your jokes and your eccentric ideas – you were constantly making me laugh. Keep coming back and bringing greatness to the Goshin name.

Penn Harawitz – Your kindness was a beam of light in the bunk, and nothing made me happier. Your smile is impossible not to reflect, and your good humor was a beacon for me. I'm excited to see where your camp career will take you, and to see how you'll grow.

Noah Hochman – The woodshop and the riflery range are going to be so sad without you around this offseason. Noah, your passion for activities and for your friends was great to behold, and your creativity in the woodshop and the craft shack were very impressive. Keep coming back to The Realm and you'll find out what wonderful things await you.

Syl Holz – I don't have to say anything about your leadership skills. Your captainship this summer during Green & White speaks volumes. You maintained levels of competition and kept everyone involved and happy. You were a wonder to have in the group, and I couldn't have done it without you. Keep coming back and being yourself, there are great things in store for you.

CJ Josephson – Your maturity is one of your best qualities. You always try your hardest in the sports we play, but never at the cost of your friends' feelings. You're a good friend to have, and I'm so glad there were so many Jugglers this summer who get to call you their friend. Keep coming back, and bring your enthusiasm and positivity with you every time.

JUGGLERS

Alex Kesselheim – Your athleticism jumps to the front of my mind like always. You're a star on every field you find yourself on, and your commitment to always trying your hardest is truly admirable. Your sportsmanship is your best asset, and I know you'll remember that to lift your group up for a long time.

Juju Klassman – You always had the loudest personality around, and this year was no exception! Your wild sense of humor was uplifting to your friends and your counselors. And I couldn't finish this without talking about your sports intensity – I'm always shocked by how much energy you have. So glad you got your first Green & White win, you deserve it. Keep coming back and being yourself!

Harrison LaRose – It might be time for a haircut. Your personality was as large as your head of hair, and I loved seeing how much you had grown from last year. Your voice was louder than ever, especially on long van rides, and it was always a positive addition to my day. Keep coming back summer after summer!

Alex Leebow – Your character has never been bigger and more precocious – and I loved to see it. You were still as popular as ever, making friends all across the board. Try to remember which songs are by Imagine Dragons so you can ask your counselors about them next summer, and keep putting your group over everything else whenever you find yourself back in 03836.

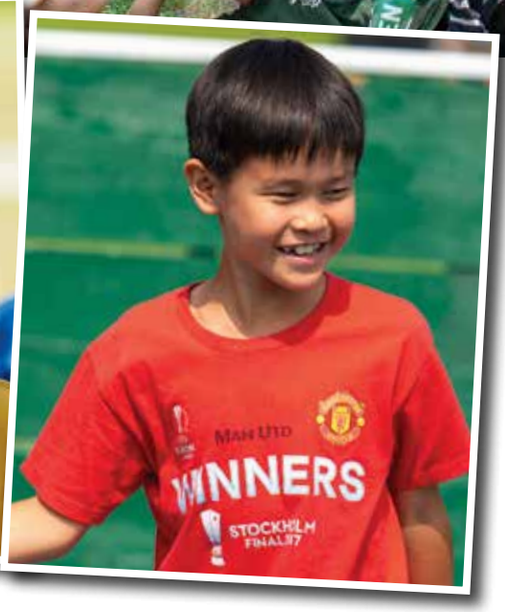

Kelan Natauri – Your heart is made of gold and I love it. A highlight of my day every day this summer was hearing something you wanted to tell me, whatever it was. Your dedication to keeping your friends happy and included is a great asset, and it's more powerful even than you realize. Keep coming back and being a positive force for your group.

Phillip Porres – Quick, explain the spawn frequency of spiders when the light level is below 7! I'll never forget hearing about your unique DNA, and I love the way it shaped your personality. Keep coming back and being you, and keep trying to figure out your own paradox – I know you'll get there!

Jake Radvinsky – As always, your leadership shines through. I love watching you take my instructions in the most literal way possible to skirt around them. You're a little too smart for me sometimes. You have to keep coming back, keep being the best leader you can be.

Matthew Ross – Catching clouds was tougher than we thought, but we got the job done. Matthew, your kindness was truly astonishing. Your concern for your fellow Jugglers and your dedication to honesty and fairness were beautiful to watch, and I know you'll go on to have a great time here at camp, for the next ten years or longer, lifting people up everywhere you go.

Ezra Singer – Your friendship around the bunk is your biggest asset. The Jugglers benefited a lot from your kind spirit when you lifted up your friends, and your presence in the bunk was tangible. Your basketball skills also sparkled, and it's clear you're going to carry on the Singer legacy as long as you come to camp. I can hardly wait to see the mark you'll leave on this place.

Jacob Sperling – I'll forever root for the Dodgers' downfall – sorry not sorry. When you weren't roasting the Cardinals, I loved how kind you were to everyone around you. Your smile was impossible to extinguish, and it lit up my day at least once when I really needed it. Keep coming back – your group really needs you, and your counselors will be lucky to have you.

Dean Squires – Put down the shampoo solution and clean your area! You have one of the most contagious smiles in the bunk. Your kindness was a wonder to behold, and I loved how your personality knew no bounds. Keep coming back and keep being who you are, and one day you'll be a big name at camp!

Lucas Waldman – Have you finished your Percy Jackson book yet? I was impressed to hear you had already read the first book when we started reading it as a group, and I'm glad you kept listening even though you'd heard it all before. Your care for your friends, though, is what I liked most about you. Keep coming back and being there for your friends.

JUGGLERS

TO MY STAFF

Guys, we had a lot of nine-year-olds in the bunk, but somehow we made it through. I could not have done it without you. Nick, I was so lucky to have you on my staff again, you pack all the punch. Chase, you were the right guy for the job, thanks for being there for us. Peter, you were a great fit, I'd never stall to talk about how well you did. Robbie, I can't tally how many times I was thankful to have you around. Gabe, it's freaky how good you were, you really lit up the group and opened the door to a great summer. Jolly, you lodged yourself in our hearts, I appreciate you. Ronan, you helped design a great summer. Thanks for a job well done, everyone.

I LOVE YOU GUYS!
JUGGLERS FOREVER!

SQUIRES

Put down the ping pong paddles, stop playing carpet ball, stop saying "FERDA SLAYYY" and get ready to reminisce about one of the best summers of our lives.

Squires, think back on a group of 15 young men who took Junior Camp by storm while playing lots of Ping Pong and Carpetball on the side. Our summer kicked off with a huge football catch from Epi that set the tone for all of the fun activities to come. Remember our first EA? We played a super wet game of Capture the Flag in the pouring rain. Remember the 4th of July marriage booth? Sammy and Luke tragically got divorced and Cayden married himself.

Despite the constant rain early on in the summer, we were still able to have lots of fun in the water. Remember the battle at sea? The Pedal Boat vs. Mothership war. The winner is still being debated to this day. Remember the senior waterfront kingdom and throwing your counselors off the floats? The favor was definitely returned. Remember how much Diego liked the cold water? Remember our canoe trip to the marina and the catfish? Remember seeing a Bald Eagle on our pontoon trip and Cooper learning about Pike? Remember when Cooper got up on water skis for the first time? Remember deep-sea diving? Remember the sand hole at the Waterfront? I know the lifeguards were pleased with how well we filled it in every time.

As the summer moved along we continued to make the best out of each and every activity. Remember Tyler's game-winning team handball goal and Abel announcing the whole game for us? Remember hitting dingers at Blitzball and the camper hunt ambushes?

Our group's true natural athleticism really showed when intercamp rolled around. Remember when we had a playdate with westend and Theo's House performance? Remember Ben's Dodgeball skills? How about our mountain trip? It sure was a tough hike to say the least but we persevered and the view, rock towers and Cozy made it all worth it. Remember the birds Nest and the baby birds pooping on the Clip? Remember our dance? All of you guys worked so hard and it paid off when you absolutely killed it on stage. Remember Tyler catching every frog in The Realm? Remember finally turning out the lights in the bunk for inspection? Remember the Ferda movement? I think now is a good time to take a break from reading and let out one loud "FREDA SLAY!" Remember the Saxon morning raids? Remember getting to sit on the back porch of the Dining Hall for our Tailgate before the Squarcher Football League championship? What about the 76ers making a Cinderella run?

After four weeks, Parents Visiting Day had arrived and it was a blast! Remember the Steele father/son football duo balling out. What about the PVD cookies? I don't think any of us could get enough. Next up came EXCURSION! The coin factory was awesome and the U.S. Postal Museum of North Conway was even better. The day started with an exciting trip to Whales Tale waterpark. Remember going on the Half Pipe water slide as a group? Remember Spencer and Calvin facing their fears and going down the toilet bowl slide? After Whales Tale, we drove back to North Conway where we were surprised by Wendy and Peter with pizza. After Pizza it was finally time to check out the Coin Factory only for us to realize it was closed and we would have no other choice but to go watch…INDIANA JONES! Remember listening to Barbie Girl and Umean in the parking lot while we waited? Remember stuffing our faces with movie theater snacks and Icees? I think it's fair to say we all had a stomach ache after excursion.

Next, it was time for Green & White. The Firetruck, confetti, and Podl and Woody on a Jet Ski marked the beginning of the war. Remember Spencer and Theo becoming the captains and leading their teams flawlessly? Remember Watching Paxton in the cracker eat? All of you guys gave it your all during the war and made your Staff really proud. Remember Ty Mann's Pizza party? Remember Ben's birthday and him hooking the whole group up with cozy? Remember the canteen method and Saxon speeches? I think it's fair to say we didn't waste a minute and had one of the best summers ever.

Stop playing teather ball, please put down the rocks, throw up the X, and save all questions for the end as you relive the memories of 2023.

The summer started off with an absolute bang after the New York bus finally arrived and we officially had our full 19 person group. Even though it was raining, the Archers spirit was alive and well and we became one big family right away.

Remember when we played football in the pouring rain on the first day? How about after, when we started Alpha Chi, Robin Hood's second ever fraternity? THROW UP THE X! I could tell that all of you guys truly understood the importance of brotherhood at camp. Remember when we played hunger games, and we learned that Micheal has a hidden talent for it. How about later that night when the "Archers are meditating"? How about the very next day, when we beat the scouts at Gaga and the Jugglers in bombardment all in one day?

Remember after our epic battle when Woody gave us candy canteen, but on the condition that we shower in only five minutes? I've never seen the archers put more effort into completing a task than I did that day. Who remembers how much it rained the first week? That didn't stop the archers though, as we saw how well Jasper could do leading gymnastics, and Sobel running sharks and minnows on the quad. Remember when the archers fell in love with Nitro ball? How about when Strauss got mad after Woody gave the Archers candy canteen AGAIN on the condition that we shower fast. Who remembers the 11U soccer tournament and we saw our old friend Owen playing for Kenwood? What about ref Evan? Boy was that tournament fun to watch. Who remembers when we hiked "Mt. Washington"? Grossman brought out his old radio, Sam had business in the forest, and we got our first time at Cozy Corner. Even though the view wasn't what we expected, it was still a great bonding trip for us. Who remembers that same day when we swept the Squires in bombardment!

Who remembers July 4th? The Archers showed unbelievable spirit for the 4th and we had both an amazing sign, thank you Drew and Jasper, as well as an incredible parade. Who remembers that day when Michael jumped off the tower for the first time? How about the amazing water slide, Ali dunking Chuck in the dunk tank on his first try, and fantastic carnival food? Nothing beats July 4th at camp. Who remembers when we got to pontoon to the main lake? What an unbelievable morning, as we saw Eli juking out all the campers, great weather, and took a fire group photo. Who remembers our first beach day at Ogunquit? The Archers loved following the four people rule, as well as the high tide that forced us to move spots several times. Even though the water was cold, everybody got a chance to swim, and it was amazing to see Robin Hood bringing back this tradition. Who remembers the next day when we destroyed the Squires in soccer 5-0? Sevens and Zach looked like Messi and Ronaldo out there. We capped off an amazing victory with Rocco scoring a penalty on Boomba to get the Squires and Archers candy canteen. Who remembers when we got an impromptu trip to see Spider-Man? What about the Archers versus the exit sign? How about when Levi killed it at the Junior Camp talent show singing You Belong With Me? What about when by a miracle, the Archers were the cleanest group on camp and we got our Giblets?

Who remembers the Mariners game? Logan winning the dizzy race, all the autographs from the players, doing the chicken dance, or those crazy sound effects? Who remembers when we went mini golfing with the Yeoman and Lucas went into the water to retrieve his golf ball? What about that same day when we beat the Bows in Gaga, and that same day had a victory dance party in the bathroom after we got candy canteen? How about the next day when we won the 11u baseball tournament, and Gus went off in his archery tournament? Or how about when we won the 11u soccer tournament at Indian Acres and Evan broke the trophy? What about when Drew did so well in his swim meet that he got to go to a second Mariners game? Who remembers the first Monday Night Football game? It was amazing to see how committed everyone was to the league and how competitive everyone was during every game. The league saw both its ups and downs, but in the end, with every week we saw better and better play by everyone on the field. Who remembers before the Super Bowl when we got a chance to tailgate outside with the foresters? How about the 76ers who won no games before the playoffs coming back and winning the whole league? It was unbelievable what this league brought out in all of you and I hope you play again next year.

Who remembers the day before the 4-weekers left and we played infection before going to cozy for Levi's birthday? It was very sad to see them leave, and the Archers shed a couple of tears at breakfast as we unfortunately had to say goodbye to five of our group mates. Who remembers when after the 4-week mark we merged with Squires and we were officially known as the Squarchers? I was so glad to see how close everyone got at the end of the summer. Remember when Jordan hit 14 three pointers in a row?

Remember when Chris White was GL for a day and we played Gaelic Football? How about when Evan broke Logan's mini hoop and then Julien had to come in to fix it? What about Eli cheating at every sport he beat Strauss in? Remember when we went on excursion? We went to the water park with the Bows, got McDonalds, and watched the greatest movie of all time in Elemental. Who remembers the crazy movie theater we went to? Not only did it have an arcade right next door, but also had desk chairs instead of real seats?! Who remembers on the van ride back when we debated how many views Zach's tik tok got, or how when we found Harry's tik tok and played it on the van speaker? I have seriously never laughed harder.

ARCHERS

Who remembers when Green & White broke? Everyone thought the break was fake since all we heard was a siren, but when we saw the firetruck, confetti, and jet skis, we knew that we were in for a fun five days. Following shortly after was the bean pick, and then we finally got to start Color War. I was so proud of the level of play and sportsmanship I saw. Everyone competed hard at every activity, and Snyder and Grossman truly showed what being a good leader is. My favorite part of the whole war was coming together after tug of war and realizing that at the end of the day, we will always be brothers. Speaking of brotherhood, who remembers when we got initiated for Alpha Chi and got to go to cozy afterwards for Ben Berstein's birthday? Who remembers awards night? Congratulations to everyone who won a big award. How about after when we stayed up all night and got pvd cookies? A picture perfect end to a picture perfect summer.

Levi Applebaum – Your kindness and thoughtfulness for others was prevalent throughout the summer. You really impressed me during Green & White and put in your all. I could see your passion for winning but also having the most fun you could. Keep coming back and keep your passion for Robin Hood.

Paxton Bash – It's amazing to see the unwavering kindness you show to everyone in the group. You're a true individual, but everyone around you loves you for the unique personality and perspective you bring to camp. It was a pleasure to see how great of a big brother you were this summer as well, and I know you'll make a difference in other junior campers for years to come.

Gus Beauvalot – The smile that never leaves your face lightens up everyone's day. Your love for this camp is unlike any other. This place is so special to you and you're so special to camp. You truly didn't waste a second and fit in perfectly with a new group for you! Come back every year this place needs you more than you know.

Ali Callahan – Coming in at guard all the way from the West Coast…Ali Callahan!!! I can already hear Woody calling your name to play in the house. This summer you continued to blow me away with your skill in all sports. Your effort and skill do not go unnoticed by the campers and we are all in awe of you. I know you have big things ahead of you so keep working hard and always keep your head held high. Seriously, please let me know how many points you score against West End.

Micheal Chua – You are probably the smartest 11 year old that I have ever met. You were an absolute great addition to the group and I hope you keep coming back for years to come. It was joyous to see you excel in multiple different activities and I think you have a very bright future in inter-camp archery tournaments.

Sam Evans – Sevens, you are a beast. You are a great athlete and an even better competitor. You show nothing but respect in all your activities regardless of the outcome. You try your hardest and don't step on any toes in the process. Your skill in soccer is something to behold and you're one of the chillest campers I have ever had. Have a great school year kid, can't wait to see your camp career develop.

Lucas Frank – To be Lucas Frank with you, you were an absolute pleasure to have. Your positive energy and charisma is unlike any other. Your ability to never back down from a challenge makes you one of the leaders of this group, and you have a contagious smile and a special love for camp…never stop coming back!

Morris Glaenzer – You are always doing the right thing and know how to make everyone around you smile. Your love for this place is so strong you know how special camp is to you. I hope you can eventually stay for the whole summer but I see how much you cherish your time here. This place loves you more than you know.

Jack Grossman – You are a natural-born leader. Your group mates look up to you and you are truly a terrific camper. There were many times throughout the summer where I honestly felt that you were another staff member due to your maturity and great decision making. You are a great person and you have such a bright future here that is yours for the taking.

Drew Hoglund – You were the first one in the group here, and it truly shows. You show constant love and commitment to the people and place around you, and camp loves you back for it. You're a smart, self-aware, funny kid, and it's amazing to see you use these qualities to make every moment with the group better. I really can't wait to see the impact you'll have on camp as you get older.

Harry Klassman – OH YEAH!! Your constant positive energy and karisma makes a difference in the group. When you are positive, everyone's positive. People feed off of your energy and smile. Your accepting attitude and willingness to try anything new makes your group mates want to do the same! I can't wait to see you grow up at camp for years to come!

Boomba Ladov – I honestly don't have a word to describe how awesome of a kid you are. Watching you shine this summer was absolutely incredible and I don't think anybody on camp realized it was only your first year here. I hope you continue to come back because you truly are a special kid and this group needs you more than you realize.

ARCHERS

Rocco Milite – You are one of the funniest people I think I have and will ever meet. Your positive energy and happy attitude was super important to the group and made such a big impact in keeping everyone happy. I hope you keep coming back to camp because you have such a large role in this group and a smile that everyone should be around.

Austin Ponsky – Your way to put a smile on anyone's face truly is a one of a kind talent. You have so much energy and never fail to put your all into any activity, you are a very clear leader in the group and are a great role model to the younger kids in junior camp! You have an outstanding camper career ahead of you and you're only getting started.

Zach Radvinsky – Your enthusiasm and light sense of humor always gives the group a good laugh. Your personality in and out of the bunk is contagious and feeds the group's positive mood. Keep coming back and never stop being yourself because you are a great person.

Will Reed – You are one of the most mature people I have ever met for your age. Additionally, your ability to crack a joke whenever one is available is unlike anyone else's. I always found it easy to talk to you and I could tell everyone loved being around you. I hope you stay seven weeks next year because The Realm is always better off with Will Reed in it.

Jordan Simanovsky – Your kindness and positive attitude lights this group up. You care not about yourself but about what others want which ties to your positivity. You are also a model example of being a good sport and being friendly to everyone no matter what. I can't wait to see what the future holds for you at camp.

Logan Slitt – You're not the loudest person in the group, but you're absolutely one that everyone else can rely on. It's clear you understand what it means to prioritize the group over yourself, and I know everyone around you appreciates the integral role you play in the group. We were all so happy when you extended this summer, and I'm excited to watch you keep coming back.

Alex Synder – You are a model example for every other camper on camp, not just in this group. You truly are a leader both on and off the fields and exemplify what it means to be a Robin Hood man. I can't wait to see what your future holds here, and I hope you understand how important you are not just to your group, but to all of camp. Keep coming back.

Ryder Ziman – What a summer man! You are an amazing part of the group and the summer wouldn't be the same without you. I am envious of your self-confidence and your awesome hair. Your positive energy and swag are much appreciated by the group everyday. Don't let anyone change who you are and keep coming back to camp.

To the Yeoman of 2024

You guys really made my last summer in The Realm an unforgettable one. I can safely say that Robin Hood is in great hands and I look forward to all of your camp futures. I hope you all have a great first year in middle school and always remember to never waste a second.

To my Staff

My goal at the beginning of the summer was that you guys could run the group without me being there, and I think you all achieved that and more. It was a pleasure to work with all of you, and this summer would not have been what it was without all of your help. I love all you guys and will miss working with you dearly.

What's up Yeomen?!?!?!

STOP PLAYING TETHERBALL, PUT DOWN THE MAGIC CARDS, AND TURN OFF BLOODY VALENTINE AS WE UNPACK THE MOST FUN SUMMER OF OUR LIVES.

Remember Opening Day?!? I was a little nervous about the pretty bad weather but we still managed to have a fire first EA. Game night in the lodge went crazy, Baumoel went off at the blackjack table and August won big too. Remember our first bathroom rave?! I don't think anyone knows how to bathroom party like the Yeomen. Remember rainy soccer? You guys didn't want to get wet at first, but we ended up having a blast, although it took some of us weeks to get our shoes dry. Remember our first game of rainy infection, you guys dove and got so muddy but it didn't matter. Remember when Lil Mabu got his name? Remember Alex's not so good drafting skills in flag football? Remember when we raised the flag for the first of many times this summer? I don't think we ever really perfected it.

Remember the staff talent show? How could you forget our beautiful rendition of Take Me Home Country Roads, and Alex and Buman's incredible dance moves. Thank you for being a wonderful audience.

Remember our first camp fire? We taught Boys Camp pump it up and everyone got really into it, even Chuck!

Remember YASL? You guys split into two teams, Lightning and Thunder and competed heavily for an entire week. Expertly coached by Ben Buman and Alex Young, the league came down to the final game of newcomb. The Lightning ended up winning narrowly. Remember the awards ceremony, you guys earned some much deserved medals and trophies. Van ended up taking home MVP, while Mason took home rookie of the year honors and Jake got DPOY.

Remember the 4th of July? You guys got some pretty awesome face paint before Wyatt and Gonzalo started an all out whip cream pie war. Everyone got hit pretty bad, especially JC. Remember the dunk tank? You got the chance to soak all your counselors although I'm still pretty sure you guys cheated.

Remember our hike up Mount Major? The weather was less than perfect with the lightning and downpour but nonetheless we braved through climbing up those super steep ladders and squeezing through the cave. In the end we were all soaked and all smiling. We also got to take some awesome pictures on the top.

Remember our playdate against West End? I don't think I've seen a more intense game of soccer. After a 3-3 tie at the end of regulation we had to go into penalties. After Yoni, Eli and Sebby scored their penalties and Xander had a couple incredible saves, it was all in the hands of Gonzalo. Gonzalo sank the final penalty shot and we won!!!!!! Playing softball was not nearly as close, after going up 20-0 the West End coaches decided to call it and we were undefeated on the day. Remember our Tennis tournament wins? Congrats to Van, Cayson, Cole, and Gonzalo for bringing home medals! You boys also took big wins in intercamp basketball and baseball tournaments. Remember intercamp swimming? Wyatt and Jake blew the competition out of the water and Max and August also placed. Our final playdate was against Winakee where we ended with an amazing win in flag football thanks to Hunter's star play at QB and some impressive catches from Buster in the endzone.

Remember So You Think You Can Dance? I think our human pyramid shocked the entire camp. You boys went all out so we could have the best dance possible and the hard work paid off. We were an instant fan favorite.

Remember the Mainers game? Sebby got to compete on the field and I even got to throw the first pitch! We all enjoyed lots of fun snacks and watched the Mainers dominate the competition 8-1!

Remember Beach Day? The water was the warmest it's been in recent memory and we could not get enough of it. Some of you boys (especially Wyatt) stayed in the water all day! Remember the boardwalk? Remember when Gonzalo ordered the Lobster Roll and it was everything he hoped for? Remember the party bus with Hattie? The aux was perfect.

Remember Gymnastics? Hunter was so close to learning that backflip, and we all enjoyed working out to the tune of Bring Sally Up, especially Owen!

Remember JC's Bugatti? A beautiful car constantly double parked outside the Yeomen bunk for the rest of the summer. Remember Simba? Although short lived Simba really enjoyed the bottom bunk and was a vital part of our group for that week. Even though he eventually popped mysteriously, he will live on forever on the Yeomen Ballon painted on the craft shack.

Remember the end of the first session? Remember Cozy extravaganza for Owen and Eli's birthdays? Remember our bombardment challenge against the Quills? Woody tried to bet against us but Jacob defied all the odds and won it for the boys. Remember sock wrestling? Remember when Jake beat A. Young? Remember sending people to the shadow Realm at senior waterfront? What about the live band? Remember when Jack lost a tooth on the boat? Remember the social, Max and Quique had a really good time dancing the night away!

YEOMEN

Remember PVD? Seeing you guys with your parents was awesome; the only thing better was the cookies! Our last EA we ran one last infection game with the entire group to your guys' delight and we said goodbye to the four weekers.

Remember Excursion? Our day at Fun Town Splash Town might have been the best day of the summer. Remember the splash wars with the lifeguard? Remember Excalibur, where Alex made sure that his seatbelt was tight? Remember Chipotle? Remember when JC got DQ instead? Remember the Barbie movie? You guys loved it so much you begged to see it again but we had to go back to camp. Remember when Oscar got scared of the horse? Remember Digital Alex? MEETING!

Remember Skit Night with the Foresters, it was awesome to see you guys combine your creativity to create some magic. Remember when we got poured on in the boats? Remember the slip and slide down the quad?

Remember when Green & White broke? The fire truck followed by the confetti, followed by the judge pontoons was crazy. Pretty soon we were split up into Green & White teams for five days.

Remember Green & White? You guys competed hard in every activity and they were all pretty close. Remember Buster's buzzer beater three in Yeomen Basketball? What about Adam and Eli's goals in soccer? You guys put everything you had into this war and it was awesome to watch. So when it was finally time to come together on Night Five, you guys teamed up to move my bed to the rink which I found "delightful."

Remember Founder's Night/Awards Ceremony? Mason managed to snag Effort and Skill in arts and crafts and Ben V. got it for softball. It was awesome to see Ben Marks, JC, and Max get Master Camper, Fellowship, and Sportsmanship for the group respectively.

Remember our last night? We stayed up so late telling stories about the summer and hanging out as a group one last time. Thank you boys for an incredible summer and I cannot wait to see what The Realm has in store for you next summer. Stay Ferda!

Drew Coslov – You truly have a place for camp in your heart. From every activity to every meal you're always smiling and making the best of the summer. Can't wait to see you next year and what you will continue to bring to The Realm.

Cole Cuddeback – Okay Beast, you are a gifted athlete and you showed that time and time again this summer. It's clear you love this place, hold onto it because it needs you as much as you need it.

Yonatan Gartenberg – You were such a great addition to the group this year. You always had a smile on your face and your positive attitude towards every activity was crucial to the group. You definitely have a bright future in inter-camp soccer and I look forward to seeing you come back for years to come.

Max Gottsegen – I'm so glad that you stayed seven weeks this summer because I don't think there is a kinder kid than you. You have incredible sportsmanship and I think everyone can learn a thing or two from you, me included. Thank you for being you.

Buster Heller – Even though you came late this summer, you immediately showed your love and enthusiasm in the group. Your ability to connect with everyone and show your love for camp is immaculate and I can not wait to see your future in The Realm.

JC Hernandez – You are the embodiment of fellowship. There isn't a room you can't brighten up with your smile and silly jokes. You aren't afraid to dance and just be yourself, which is an impressive trait to have, especially for someone as young as you. You are everyone's friend and you have an incredible knack for making people feel better when they're down. Keep being yourself, every group needs a little JC.

Adam Jablow – Jabz, I really saw your personality emerge this summer. You are hilarious and your smile is contagious. It all started with "can I get a buck". I can't wait to see you continue to grow throughout your years here.

Jacob Josephson – I am so incredibly proud of how much you have matured since I had you as a Squire. You are a joy to be around in the bunk, you are a loyal friend, a fierce competitor and a fantastic kid. Your sportsmanship this summer was very impressive. I can't wait to see you continue being a star as you head into senior camp.

Hunter Justice – While there's no denying your athletic abilities, this summer I saw you grow off the field and I am very proud of that. You are strong-willed, charismatic, and loyal. Hold onto your love of this place, because you are going to be a star here.

Eli Kesselheim – You are such a strong presence in this group, you are a leader on and off the field and your energy and enthusiasm is inspiring. You are such a joy to have in the bunk, can't wait to see you next year.

Becka Kvirikadze – It's so hard to believe that this was only your first summer with us. You truly went all out at every activity and it was great to see how active and energized you always were. Keep coming back and blessing camp with your chess skills.

Jack Lipton – You silly boy! Your playful jabs at all of your counselors were always so funny (even if we tried to act like they weren't). You are a clear leader and this group obviously benefits from your presence, your wit, conversation ability, and so much more. Thank you for being such a pleasure to be around.

Owen Madigan – Bro. You are hilarious. Your love for all around you radiates and uplifts the whole group. From your out of pocket jokes to your infectious hugs, the whole group missed you from the second you left. We can't wait to do it all again next summer, so see you then!

Ben Marks – We watched you become a leader this summer and this group was much better for it. You are a beast on the field and just as kind off the field. You are thoughtful, curious, and an incredible friend. Keep coming back please!

Gonzalo Mas – Watching you shine everyday in this special place has really shown your love for The Realm and your group. Watching you enjoy every activity and continue to smile shows how important this place means to you and that you will kill it in the future years.

Jake Matsuzaka – I don't think there is a more crucial member of the group. You are the glue. From your amazing athleticism on the field to your kindness and care for others off the field, you are essential to keeping this group functioning. Can't wait to see you thrive in The Realm for years to come.

YEOMEN

Mason Moore – It's so hard to believe this is your first summer here. You give so much effort at every activity. Your ability to provide a relaxed but hilarious vibe to the group was such a crucial part of the summer. You were so helpful during cabin clean up and I don't think you ever complained once. Keep coming back, camp will be better off because of it.

Van Patterson – I can't believe it is your first year here in The Realm. From watching you dominate every sport you really proved your athleticism and sportsmanship as you made a voice in the group. Can't wait to see what you do in future years as you continue to thrive in The Realm.

Cayson Seley – You definitely left an impact on the group, whether it be your crazy magic skills or your wild abilities on the kneeboard, you always managed to bring a wild energy that this group needed. ¡Te Amo Cayson!

Xander Slayton – You are a ray of sunshine. Thank you for always being optimistic and curious. Even though you've been here forever, you were so welcoming to the new kids and you made the transition easier for everyone. Thank you for your kindness!

Neil Varghese – Your cool demeanor definitely stuck with the group and calmed everyone down. You were the rock that the Yeomen needed and the group would not be the same without you. I hope you realize how camp needs you and you need it back. We look forward to seeing you for many summers to come.

Lancer Year...Automatic!

Drop the poker chips and digital cameras, we've got a Realm to take over. Eli came first, and we had our first epic count off; One TA! The weather didn't stop our first EA, as we hopped right into sock wrestling. Sebby pulls off a crazy upset on Kyle, and we got a few more infamous grudge matches.

Remember the staff talent show? How could you forget our beautiful rendition of Take Me Home Country Roads, and Max Grad's incredible dance moves. Don't forget about Drama Will and his performance of We'll Be Back by Hamilton.

Remember our rainy day water ambush? Although rainy soccer would have been fun, we decided to load our water bottles with enough ammunition to run around and spray unsuspecting groups. Nobody is safe from the Lancers' attack.

Remember the 4th of July? Whipped cream madness! Sprinting up and down the quad, nobody is safe from getting pied. Everyone was sunburnt. We all got married without the rings, and we tried our best to get Chuck in the dunk tank. The food was delicious, and the bunk was filled with patriotic spirit.

Remember Camper hunt? You could hide, but you couldn't run from Nacho's golf cart. Nobody was safe, except Lachlan who had a getaway driver in Gary, who's windshield blocked our attacks. But ultimately, Kyle is too athletic.

Remember Peaked Mountain? Only four miles up, but it felt like an eternity. It was all worth it at the top when we stopped for a picnic and quick cloud interpretation. The fake Chipotle stop got you guys so good!

Remember SYTYCD? Big smiles, show me your teeth boys! Our glorious transformation was made complete with Mama Mia, Billy Joel, and even some show tunes. We let the sun shine in, and I'm so proud of our commitment and full effort. It turned out exactly how we wanted it, and it was a blast.

Remember PVD? A great reunion, and a sad departure. A game of family dodgeball broke the ice, and revealed why a few of us were more competitive than others. As PVD cookies filled our stomachs, we rejoiced, as I had a family picnic with Antonio and Laro.

Remember the roofball league? With Alexander and Wyatt as chairmen, the epic intros and draft night transformed the seemingly mundane sport of roofball into a multi-million dollar conglomerate, with players signing max contracts, and tears being shed over trades and cuts.

Remember Beach Day? Ours last year was completely overcast, but we got our repentance. Incredible sunny skies, plus clam strips and fresh lobster, what could be better. Despite the freezing cold water, we couldn't stay away from it. It felt so refreshing until the tide came in and almost swallowed all of our belongings. Before we knew it we were back in vans shouting fight songs.

First session ending. It's always difficult to say goodbye. We lost our brothers, but we knew it was only temporary, and that we would see them again. On the other hand, Green & White excitement only just began.

Remember the poker room? The renovation of Dick's den made our little side room into its very own card room; Welcome to Lance-vegas. Rainy day periods, magic tournaments, and lots of Giblet bartering. David was the designated dealer for his shuffling prowess, and our poker room was always just as lively as ever.

Remember Excursion? Canobie Lake Park hosted us and the arrows, but Jelin lost his ticket before even entering the park. We exhausted ourselves on all of the rides and water slides we could, before trying the seemingly impossible escape room. Good thing it only took four tries. The stomach bug made our travel precarious, but the combo of the Barbie movie and Chipotle made it all worthwhile.

Remember the GW Break? Mid blitzball, we all thought that the blaring sounds of sirens were quite suspicious. After a casual sprint, we all got covered with Green & White confetti. After seeing Dick in full hat and cane, we knew to sprint down to the waterfront, as we were greeted by the judge pontoons. As everyone got to the barn, the excitement rose, as we realized that the captains would be selected one by one. You all fought your hearts out at each and every activity and influenced the rest of camp to leave it all on the court and field. That soccer game was so riveting the judges had to look away.

Thank you for helping me create such a loving and open environment, I wouldn't change a thing about the summer. We couldn't have done it without each other.

Hey Friars!

Stop playing tetherball, put down your ping pong paddles, stop playing on the mini basketball hoop, and get on the benches so we can remember our amazing summer of '25!

We started out the summer with a game of rainy capture the flag, remember going sliding through the mud after Miles stole the flag for the win? The summer soon kicked off quickly with an array of intercamp sports – basketball, soccer, baseball, and even archery. The Friars dominated all of these tournaments, with our group making up the majority of every roster. My bad for the west end game by the way. We all know why Ben opted out of the soccer team after one soccer period with Mercer.

Remember how much it rained? Remember playing sea pirates at paddleboard when Jorge showed up out of nowhere with his new signature move: the torpedo. Remember always wanting to go to the gym during every free moment?

Remember the senior camp football league when despite losing to their first two opponents, the Jerry Stars won in insane fashion when the man the team was named after brought in a game winning touchdown at the buzzer. Remember how proud everybody was of Calum when he successfully docked the pontoon boat perfectly on his first try without crashing at all?

After settling in for the first couple weeks, remember having smores and good conversation around the campfire? I'm so proud of you boys for opening up to each other and allowing your group mates in on who you are.

Once we were settled into camp, the real fun began. Remember the last couple years when we couldn't go out of camp? Well you don't need to remember that anymore. Remember going to cozy ten times throughout the summer, one time even after Sunday Sundae? I can't believe any of us were able to eat that much ice cream. Remember our hike up Mount Major? It was a life changing experience for Zachary CC. Remember beach day? We got to eat out, have fun in the water, and explore Ogunquit. Remember our bowling trip with the Foresters…

yeah, no you don't!

Because it was your first year in senior camp, you guys were introduced to many of the rewards and responsibilities that come with age. Remember our combined hunger games EA with the Squires? I'm so proud of the bonds that some of you were able to make with your new little friends, some of you (ahem Viraat). Remember getting to do the island swim without life jackets? I was honestly a little annoyed that the whole group wanted to get up so early to swim a half mile, but I respect the grind. Remember when Caleb Nadell became the forever softball pitcher after Hudson, Will, Julian, Jerry, and Tyler all hit trees for the first time off of his tosses? Remember how entertaining our dance was? Other groups should take note.

Remember seeing everybody's parents on PVD? That was a nice break from the camp routine that set us on a good path for the last three weeks after we had to say goodbye to Cooper, Henry, Ben, Zachary, Miles, and Jonathan, and got to say hello to Landon and Matteo. After PVD, and after eating a tasty meal outside of the bunk and moving into bunk 17, we were swept away on our whitewater rafting trip. Remember going through Big Mama? I think Matty Ice even got knocked out of the boat on that wave. Exhausted from an exhilarating morning of whitewater rafting, we got to enjoy some steak and salmon later that evening. Remember greeting the Bards at the hotel with a Karaoke night? I think Viraat and James stole the show with their beautiful rendition of One Dance. Remember how wild Mauro, Jorge, and Freddie went when they saw a somewhat large moth? That encounter is one of many crazy animal experiences the Friars had this summer, including Nate finding a snake on the quad, Calum's caterpillar, and the tournament sized fish that Luke and Miles caught. Remember paintballing on the way home from the trip? Or at least what driver Mike thought was the way home.

Remember our pontoon trip and the demolition of the volleyball net by a brass member who shall remain unnamed? Remember when Nate thought it was time for a cut so he called up Yensi to give him a killer fade? Remember the amazing Green & White break? That was one for the books. We got to see who our six fearless leaders were and split up into two teams. Remember talent night and the Viraat vs Arsene facedown as Groot? You closed out the war with fierce competition, and I was proud of how quickly you boys came back together once the green team was victorious.

Remember our closing campfire? You guys really showed how much you truly care for each other around the fire and I hope that you can take what you learned there and enjoy your last two camper years as a happy family.

FRIARS

Conrad Anton – You came into this summer with a goofy personality that we all adored. I applaud you for making as many new friends as you did and hope that you continue to build from here. You were a key member of our group!

Hudson Berger – HudSON! Your rambunctious attitude combined with your competitive spirit provides an intensity to activities that many groups could only wish for. I can't wait to see you flourish in summers to come. Have a great freshman year!

Ian Carreiro – You are one of the most driven people I know. You lead others with kindness and wisdom, which is a rare trait for a guy your age. Keep always doing the right thing and keep the CRH redhead community strong. Ginga ninjas 4 life.

Nathaniel Carreiro – I am grateful for all the nighttime talks about anything from our favorite foods to quantum physics. You always have something interesting to say and you never hesitate to help out a brother in need. I hope your hair actually ended up being donated!

James Cleveland – Going into the summer you were one of the few Friars that I hadn't had the privilege of already getting to know and it was a pleasure sharing these past seven weeks with you. You really came into your own once the 4-weekers left and I know that your confidence and level headedness will only continue to grow in years to come.

Zachary Corbin-Cheah – I know you were a little nervous going into the summer, but your comedic condemnations of the other kids' accents and antics made you a huge part of all the memories your group mates will have of Friar summer. I hope you had a good time man.

Landon Devine – Coming into camp only to immediately go out on our excursion must have been quite an interesting experience, but you hopped right into the summer seamlessly. Your calmness in stressful situations is to be admired. Your presence is greatly valued to the group and I hope you understand how much you mean to everybody.

Cameron Emanuel – Though you were a bit quiet at first, you soon came out of your shell this summer and proved why you are such a good friend and teammate. You are a genuinely trustworthy and kind person who I admire. Keep on hooping and maybe we can go get some BBQ next time I'm down in NC.

Matteo Ercolano – You are such a hilarious individual. Your ability to have as much fun as possible while still being respectful and not crossing the line is quite admirable. I wish I had gotten to spend more time with you because I will cherish the time I got forever. Hope you enjoy your dad's cooking after weeks of camp food.

Miles Frank – Although you couldn't stay seven this year, you definitely made your mark on camp this summer. I respect your constant energy and willingness to play sports, and you are such a good person to hang out and crack jokes with. Good job this summer buddy.

Oskar Goshin – I imagined that you would grow up to be a cool guy when you were an archer, but I couldn't imagine how funny and smart you have become either. I can talk to you about anything, and I never have to worry about you doing the wrong thing. Take care of New York for me while I'm off at college!

Tyler Grossman – You have impressed me all year with your sports and camp knowledge, and I still can't wrap my head around how you literally played every intercamp sport. But what blew me away was your leadership and persistence when you were color war captain for the first time. You were amazing during that war and I applaud you for always managing to have fun while still looking after your group.

Henry Harrison – Even though your summer got cut short, I loved getting to know you and understand how much of a funny and motivated guy you are. You are growing as a basketball player, and it's really fun to see you progress.

Julian Heller – I envy your positive energy and ability to turn any boring situation, even the meals, into a memorable event. You have the "it" factor that makes people have fun when they are around you. Keep bringing that fun – the group loves it and they love you.

Gus Hope – From the way you jumped back in with the group, I would not be able to tell that you are coming back after missing a summer last year. I like how you are always up to something cheeky but at the end of the day are still a dear friend to all.

Matty Ice – You are truly one of a kind, and you are so much fun to hang out with. You have a way of keeping that big bright smile on your face even when life gets you down. Never change Matty – keep doing you – it really works here at camp!

Jack Ilardo – You are a great guy with a good heart who never ceases to keep me entertained. Don't let anyone tell you to stop talking, unless it's me and we're on benches. Seriously though, your enthusiasm for all things camp is infectious! Keep bringing it, Jack!

Arsene Lengele – I'm not gonna lie, it was a little intimidating to have a camper taller than me, but you deserve the great stature you have. You are a great young man who cares about his friends and you always know what the group needs. The group needs you!

Jerry Lewart – You're such an adventurous and kind kid, and I've loved watching you come out of your shell this year. I'm so glad you were able to extend and come on excursion with us. Keep coming back, because this group needs your positivity.

Jorge Llari – For having a small stature you definitely make up for it with your big personality. I remember the first sport we played together was basketball and you made 8 threes. You kept up that work ethic throughout the summer but you were always ready to crack a joke about anything. You bring such a chill and lighthearted vibe that is so important to the group.

FRIARS

Will Morrison – The positive attitude you bring to this group influences everyone to be the best versions of themselves. The balance of being goofy and grounded truly cements you as a leader. You will be running this camp so soon and I'm ecstatic to see it.

Luke Orlowski – You continue to establish yourself as an irreplaceable member of this group. You always have a smile on your face, and yet you have a wisdom beyond your years. You understand camp, so keep killing it!

Mauro Perez-Orive – When I found out you are from Spain, but American (real) football was your favorite sport, I already knew I liked you. Keep dominating sports and being such a good friend and a friendly resource for all.

Jonathan Rosenbluth – You were so upbeat and chipper every day with only positive things to say about the rest of your group. It's a shame you only got to spend four weeks here because you were such a well respected and gleeful part of the group.

Owen Rothstein – Your energy and happiness always lights up the group. It's been amazing to see you find your place in the group, and discover what camp means to you. I can't wait to see what the future holds for you!

Viraat Sharma – You have to be the funniest 14-year-old I know. Whenever I told the group anything I came to expect a sassy Viraat comment backchatted at me. You have a good heart and it is so fun to goof around with you. You always manage to put a smile on my face!

Cooper Sobel – Although your summer was cut short, the group really cherishes the time we got with you. You are a very devoted basketball player and a good friend. I miss your silly antics and I can't wait to see you again soon.

Zachary Tirell – Whether it's breaking into a southern accent for two days straight, or coming back from the woodshop with a well-made ladder three weeks after I jokingly instructed you to make one, you always keep me on my toes. I can tell that you secretly get more fun out of camp than anybody else and I love your style. Keep being you bro!

Robert Torocsik – It has truly been a great time watching you grow this year. Seeing you lead your team during Green & White showed how much of a leader you are in this group. Keep coming back and you will lead your own Green & White team as a captain.

Ben Varghese – Your consistently positive energy and incredible singing and dancing skills will not be forgotten. I was sad to see you go so soon but just know that your whole group is excited to spend more time with you in future years.

Josh Weiner – The passion you have for this place is so amazing to watch. The effort you give day in and day out is infectious and the humor you have always brightens everyone's day. Can't wait to see you conquer The Realm!

Mercer, Theo, Freddie, Daelan, Thomas and Caleb – I couldn't have asked for a better team and friend group for these last seven weeks. You all helped give this rowdy bunch a fun summer full of growth. You are the role models I wish I had when I was fourteen.

FRIARS

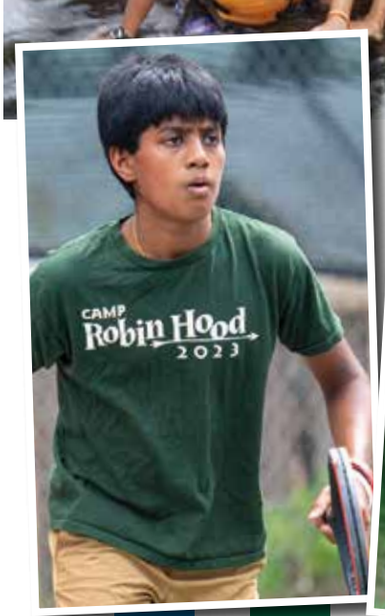

To the Friars of 2023!

Good luck in your first year of high school, fellas! Don't be afraid to reach out if you need someone to talk to. I'm so proud of what we accomplished together this summer and I hope you will cherish the memories we have made together for the longest time!

Foresters!

Get out of bed, stop playing basketball, come back from the homerun diamond, and get ready to remember the best summer yet!

The summer started with a slew of rainfall but that didn't stop us from hitting the fields. On day one we had a ridiculous football period in the rain, where the intensity rivaled that of Green & White, featuring Fino mossing Perry. Remember when Noah thought it would be a good idea to have a sword? I do. When Nate and I set the tone by wrestling in the lake? We were underwater and we couldn't hear anything, sorry. Gavin threw a toad at Kramer and Green field went 1-30 on trees? How about when Fino pied the staff and spent his night cleaning the dining hall. I'm sure we all remember the amazing chant "International Cocobo". Remember when Alex slipped fielding a fly ball which led to a string of errors, and when Rafe pulled up and had a strong introduction to the group. We had a very meditative tennis period with Amos and later that day, Robert managed to make us get our toilet replaced (for the first time). What about the sock wrestling war? When Perry ordered sprinkles, Kag's elbows became sharp weapons at the dismay of Gavyn, and of course, the first intercamp game of the year (we won).

Remember when we cheered for the Yeomen during their challenge, Henry had the wrong schedule but still hooked it up, and then later hit trees? When Gavyn and Milite got into a scuffle about LeBron? How about our first skit night starring Quinton at the restaurant and Rafe's shirt. When we went bowling but dollar general was the most exciting part of the night?

We then slowed it down a little and had a phenomenal campfire at the ODT that brought each and every one of us closer.

We then closed the night off with a "quiet" wade in the water all the way back to boy's camp. Remember Ian's try not to laugh challenge? We had an amazing handball challenge against the Saxons where it was so awesome to watch you all play your hearts out. Remember the carnival and beach party on the 4th? It quickly turned into an all out pie battle. Remember when Ian learned to pitch and we had a very zen yoga period where we learned our spirit animals? Sadly Gavyn wasn't a fox this time. We had a 3v3 tournament where Kramer, of course, played great and Milite turned into LeBron. Green field simply couldn't hit a shot. Remember warzone at crafts and Quinton catching frogs? "I am the frog man". Remember our rainy days? We had an amazing soccer period where Rafe played insane and Alex kept slipping. We also had a super fun rainy senior water front period and then invented a new game, "Pierre Ball". Remember the Babadook and our balloon pop EA? Remember our Marina trip? Remember Kramer's attack and Noah's revenge? Remember Quinton's jumpscare? Remember when Rafe hit trees and Reid hit two trucks? Remember the Lob City Lumberjacks and when Zane dunked on Noah? Remember the West End game? Kramer dropped 30 and Ian got a Mount Washington. Remember the dance? We proved that we were the best dancers on camp. Alex was a star and Hudson and Milite in Copacabana were unforgettable. When Henry hit trees and Perrino got put in his place by the truck? You all then had your first ever early off. We went to Fiesta Jalisco where we waited 2.5 hrs for Noah to get his food and Ian racked up a ridiculous bill with ice milk. We didn't have time for Pirate's Cove but we still stopped by Walmart before Toby drove us home to Heavy Eyes. We then followed that up with Beach Day where we had an amazing day. Remember when we cleaned around and behind the bunk? We then had a spectacular PVD where it was so great to meet all your parents and you all got to go out for nice dinners and, of course, Walmart runs.

Who could forget our adventurous excursion to the great city of Boston? We started off with a duck tour where we met the founder of Celly Hats and Fino enjoyed a chicken nugget. After that we took a tour of historic Fenway park where we met an old friend and Hudson recreated an old video. Then things took a turn as we explored Newbury Street. The rain dumped as a few of us forgot the meeting time. Zane "fell" in a fountain and Quinton played hide and seek. We then piled into a restaurant absolutely soaked where Eduard was craving pizza. From there we voted for Larry T'Challa Muhammad and went to the Blue Man Group. On day two we got insightful, starting the day with a Jane Goodall documentary at the Museum of Science, and then hit the JFK Library. After that we stopped by Castle Island for a quick break and then headed to fire and Ice for a delicious dinner. We then went back to Fenway to watch the Red Sox make a spectacular comeback in the late innings to beat the Braves. Kag and Fino found better seats and Rafe went crazy over Devers' homerun and lightshow. We were up bright and early the next day to get active. We pushed our limits at Treetop Adventures ropes course. At lunch Eduard finally got his pizza and then we headed back to The Realm where Green & White was nigh.

When it broke and you split into teams, and it was clear to see we had some great competition ahead of us. On day zero we had a ridiculous game of football where Serafino played out of his mind and yet again it came down to the last play. We then had an unreal game of volleyball that went into a never ending overtime and soccer penalties with Mikey. It was amazing to see you all play your hearts out those five days and show off all of your talents, although naming female GLs was definitely not one of them. After the war, we got back into the swing of things. Remember Chief Little Buffalo's dance? How about the FoYeo skit night? "Chill bro, OD!" as Buman would say. Remember when we finally went mini golfing at Pirate's Cove, the rules of the back 9, and how we had to make a pit stop for Serafino and Gavyn? On the last full day we took a trip to a rope swing on the main lake where we met some of Gavyn's friends and capped off the summer in spectacular fashion.

Quentin Lacroix – What up Quinton. Having you back this summer was so great. Your curiosity and knowledge is amazing and I cannot wait to see you again next year. Keep coming back because you're such an important part of the group.

Noah Martin – The Spartan. Throughout everything, it is clear to see that you truly love this group and camp itself. You give your all in everything and always have a trick up your sleeve. I cannot wait to see you lead The Realm next summer.

Robert Milacci – What up big guy. Your work ethic and sportsmanship is admirable. You always know when to be goofy and when to be a leader. This place is your home and you need to come back every year forever.

Luca Milite – King. You are one of the most mature people in the group and are a great leader, but at the same time always know how to have a great time and get a laugh. RBH is your home and will be for years to come.

Reid Olynick – You are the epitome of a great person. You are always in a good mood and fun to be around and also one of the most down to Earth people I know. Keep coming back, this place needs you.

Eli Perrino – Perry, you are the goofiest and funniest person I know, but also the realest. When you give something your all, your dedication is unmatched. You're never afraid to speak your mind and stand up for yourself, and I see a true leader in you.

Lucca Serafino – Fino, it is so amazing to see how much you've grown this past year. You are a great leader and groupmate, but also hilarious and caring. Come back every year, you have a bright future ahead of you.

Gavyn Shepard – Your adventurous attitude never ceases to amaze me. You are always down to make the most out of anything and have a good time. You are a huge part of this group and I cannot wait to see you next year.

Colton Stratman – I'm so glad that you were able to come back to camp this summer even for the short time you were here. Your love for camp truly shows and I cannot wait to see how your future unfolds in The Realm.

Alex van Rossum – It was awesome to see how much you came out of your shell this year. You really are an integral part of this group and as we saw in the dance, a true star. The group needs you!

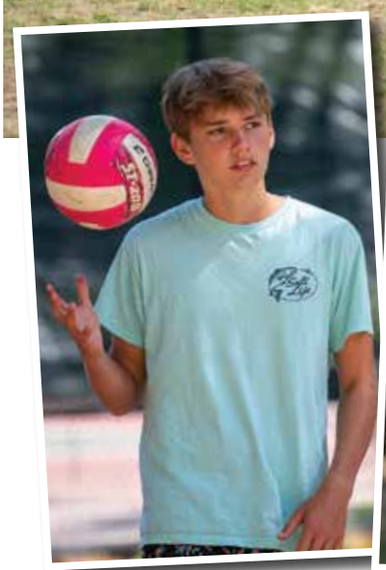

John Zaccaro – Despite showing up a little late, you took The Realm by storm and it was like you were there from the start. You're always down to have a good time and be an intellectual when needed.

To my Staff – Nate, Henry, and Toby, thank you all so much for everything. You guys were everything I could have asked for and more. This summer would have not been the same without you all and I again thank you so much for everything.

FoFo 23 forever.

FORESTERS

to the Foresters!

Being a part of your group for the second year in a row was the best thing I could have asked for. I love each and every one of you so much and you guys are all amazing individuals. I cannot wait for all of you to lead The Realm next summer and show everyone what I already know...that you guys are the best!

Yo Saxons!

Can we pause the ping pong and put the cheeseballs away for a sec? How about we chill out, grab a seat and take a mindful moment to reflect on and appreciate the unreal summer we were all so fortunate to share with one another.

Week 1

The soft opening was anything but as we settled into the bunk that would come to be our home for the next seven weeks. You guys absolutely killed your swim tests with Miss Andrea before breaking in the new and improved lower camp basketball court with a game filled to the brim with green beans, and hall of fame finishers. Chipotle night was the perfect muck for our first meal on stage as leaders of Boys Camp at the Saxon table. We had a chill first EA of volleyball at the barn with Nate Dogg before welcoming the Euro-Bros Thomas and Carlos after their long overseas voyages. Although there were only 12 of us at the time, you guys made sure to bring the energy in an opening morning that included some rather intimidating pickle balling by the front gates and the invention of an entirely new sport altogether in pickle volleyball. You guys showed everybody how we bring the hype as the NYC and Boston buses pulled up to the gas pump and we welcomed Ryan in style. Not even an absolute monsoon of a rainstorm could dampen our spirits as we threw our cleats on and our immaculately designed opening day shirts off, before valiantly charging the far far field for a game of muddy soccer. Nobody can say we didn't make the absolute most of our first real activity of the summer.

We maintained that same energy as we led Boys Camp through our first campfire of the summer. Seeing you guys up there introducing the TP's and teaching cheers was so wild for me personally. To watch each of you step up and embrace your roles as mentors the way I've known you guys to be capable of from a young age was really special. It set the tone for the rest of the summer and your collective leadership abilities only shone even brighter as the days and weeks went on. Despite some less than ideal weather, you guys squeezed every ounce of enjoyment out of your first week as the Saxons of '23. From watching Marty have his cake and eat it too in the lodge, to getting in touch with our emotions on sad rain walks, you guys made sure to take Scotty's advice and made every minute count.

Weeks 2-4

Remember Blitzball with the TPJs? Gonzalo inspired Keiran with his smooth sliding snags. Remember the inaugural season of the CRH Football League? You guys took charge as captains and general managers at the Friar combine and opening day. Remember Gregor and Johan's 'Ring a Ding' play? Captain K-Star stayed making moves to take Jerry and his Stars to heights that only he could see. Shoutout to my Dogs Smith and Schlieman for what would surely have been a chip had we seen it though to the end.

Remember the Fourth (and Fifth) of July? Although the carnival was postponed, that didn't stop you guys from making the absolute most of an unfortunate situation and having a great day and even better night. The concert and fireworks in North Conway was one of the most memorable nights I've had as a counselor. It was an absolute blast watching you guys do what you do best, bringing the fun to anything and everything you do. The party didn't stop as you guys carried that energy into the next day at Robin Hood's very first Fifth of July celebration. You guys may not have all been there to enjoy it, but the carnival was an absolute blast and a great day for all. We carried the momentum from the Fifth of July into a week 2 that saw Thomas absolutely nail Dr. Rowe in the leg during his pitching debut, the beginning of what would develop into a ping pong/foosball obsession, and the purchasing of our very own Saxon microwave. Thanks to which we were able to enjoy all the pizza rolls you guys desired.

Remember the return of trips and intercamps? We became some of Walmart's best customers and some of Chipotle's worst, and even got to head to the Lippard compound for Bryce's birthday. Huge thanks to GL Greg for a great afternoon. 15U intercamps allowed Ratner and his mullet to truly shine. Remember when we brought the energy, chests painted (shoutout to apostrophe Schleiman) and stormed the field for each goal? Remember 15U basketball? You guys brought the energy reppin the hood at the house (or at least right outside the house) as well as at home. Their team may have won but our spirit prevailed when K-Star snagged the megaphone.

I don't think I have to ask if anyone remembers Mt. Washington. Thanks to Ted, Aaron, and Toby for getting us through an unforgettable hike. Many walked, others ran, some of us had to crawl but we all made it up and down the highest peak in the Northeast. And remember 16U soccer the very next day? The Euro-Bros finally got to show off their 'football' skills as you guys took home the chip thanks to a goal from Ratner, and a lockdown performance by Smith in net in a 1-0 championship game victory. Remember the robbery at Wigwam? Despite some great defensive play from Schlieman and a gritty late and 1 from Ferds, the game was taken from us for reasons outside our control. Walmart was sonked (sorry lads) but that didn't stop us from having a great din with Peter and Scott at Flatbread.

Remember putting on an iconic Saxon Dance? It was an epic undertaking but you guys put in the work and it showed on that stage. It was one of the most creative and well thought out (don't forget longest) Saxon dances I've seen in my time here at camp. I hope you can all look back and feel proud of what you were able to produce together. Remember tailgating with Peter, Mike, and JJ at Nascar the next day? We quickly hopped on the Chase Elliot bandwagon and brought back tons of merch to show for it. Remember our grand entrance at the Boys Camp camp fire that night? The Saxon Hooters Helmet shall be remembered for years to come. Can't wait to hang that in my dorm room (thanks for the heartfelt message Rat).

Remember our team handball challenge against the Foresters? The whole camp pulled up and you guys put on a show, running up the score and doing it in style. Remember our soccer challenge against the Scribes? The girls denied the help of Carlos and Rat, a decision we made sure they'd regret. Other highlights of the first four weeks include a camp social, the return of international coco bo, and the most intense game of rainy handball this camp's ever seen. The stakes were high and the terrain was treacherous. Many ankles were taken, but I still thank heaven above that my team stepped up and took it home 5-2 (shoutout to Melo for the last minute dagger), avoiding the mud and securing candy canteen (sorry Cal but I'm still not sorry). Remember our countless movie nights? I loved showing you boys some of my favorite movies and shows and welcoming you all to the Matthew McConaughey & Dirk Diggler fan clubs respectively. In Rust we did trust.

Post PVD/ Excursion

Before we knew it, PVD had come and gone and we were off to Cape Cod for excursion. We awoke at the crack of dawn and set off for Provincetown, where we enjoyed monuments, whale watching, and merch… lots of merch. We made our way back to the hotel, grabbed some ice cream and day 1 was a wrap. Remember surfing lessons at Marconi beach? Tacos for lunch and mini golf? Overdressing for dinner at Luke's before heading to the Firebirds game? We may not have stayed long but Rat and Bryce made memories with the mascot they won't soon forget. We spent the next morning biking the Cape Cod Rail Trail and then stopped at Mike's Roast Beef/Dunkin before making our way back to camp. The return of Scraxons excursion in Cape Cod was well timed and much appreciated. It was such a blast hanging out with you boys off camp and absolutely annihilating the Scribes at count off for three days straight.

Back at camp, the anticipation for Green & White was high but we didn't let that stop us from making the most of the activities we had left as a group. Remember the longest basketball game ever? Melo's not so subtle travel? Remember the birth of the Ringers? No matter the sport, we were snappy, happy, and always calling.

G&W-End

Remember the Green & White break? There were trucks, there were boats, and just like that, the war had begun. You guys all stepped up big time for your teams and made the absolute most of the leadership roles that Saxon year naturally entails. Whether it was the activities or singing/ dancing your hearts out in the talent show, you guys put everything you had into everything you did those five days and it was so much fun to watch. That basketball game was one of the best camper activities I've seen, as you guys rose to the occasion and showed this whole camp that no moment is too big for you boys. Remember your last tug? You guys fought hard but you left it all out there and came together in the end arm and arm. It was a great moment and a great way to end your Green & White camper careers. You guys competed hard, but the moment that score was read, we all came back together and set our sights on making the most of what little time we had remaining as a group.

Remember our sunset pontoon ride? Grilling steaks and salmon burgers with Peter by the chalet before volleyball and basketball under the lights? For the last EA of the summer, you guys took the stage and gave some of the best Saxon speeches the brass had ever seen. The speeches were short but the message was clear: give everything you do here all you've got and don't waste a moment. The love for one another you boys share shone through your words and was really special to watch on display that night. A rainy last day of camp may have prevented us from running activities, but it most certainly did not stop you boys from singing your hearts out on that u-haul. Before we knew it, awards night had come and gone. Shoutout to Smith, Rat, and Coop for taking home some big awards. We hit the grandstand one last time and made our way back to the bunk for a sentimental game of Family Feud. We said our goodbyes and that was all she wrote for our Saxon summer. And man…what a summer it was.

A-Will – I don't think anyone in this group has come into their own more since I last had you guys Friar summer than you. It was so sick to get to experience this group with you being as large a part of it as you were this summer. You made hanging out and just chilling in the bunk so much fun. Your intelligence and sense of humor were such an integral part of the group's vibe/dynamic/morale this summer. I don't think I laughed harder this summer than seeing you at swim meet screaming your bald green head off. Hope to see you back on staff next summer.

Archer – This crew just wasn't the same without you man…From the second you stepped foot on camp, it felt like all was right in The Realm again. You've always been such a mature kid, but your soft spoken and thoughtful leadership style was on full display this summer and your presence was appreciated throughout this group and Boys Camp as a whole. I can imagine you'll have a lot on your plate with squash these next few years, but this place needs you and I know that your love for camp will bring you back when the time is right.

Bryce – It's been such a pleasure watching you grow up these past few years. For as long as I've known you, you've been a leader in this group. The way you led this summer was beyond what I ever could have asked of you. When times were tough, the boys looked to you and you stepped up in a big way. The qualities you exemplified this summer will carry you far at this camp and in life. You were one of the first campers dropped off my FYA summer and I gotta say I never thought I'd see the day that I'd be raving about that crazy 13-year-old's maturity and leadership but here we are. You've earned it bro and I'm proud of you.

Cal – You've been coming to this camp for longer than even I have and it shows. You understand camp on a level that few others your age do. Your experience and appreciation for this place made you highly sought after as a teammate at activities, Green & White, and also as a Saxon aid, and I'm sure things will be no different as a FYA next summer. It's been so cool watching you grow up here and getting to be a part of your journey here as a camper and its culmination this past summer as a Saxon did not disappoint. Pumped to see you kill it on staff.

Carlos – Coming to camp as a new Saxon isn't easy. Especially when English isn't your first language. But the confidence and maturity with which you pulled up and immediately made a mark on this group was so impressive to watch. You found your place at this camp without breaking stride and made such a great addition to this group and the camp as a whole. I had so much fun getting to know you this summer bro. Hope to see you back next summer on staff.

Cooper – It's difficult to put into words how much I appreciated all you did to support me and the group this summer. You earned everything you were given, from the nickname GL Ferds, to Color War captain, and ultimately Master Gentleman. I know the weight of the responsibilities that were placed upon you was heavy at times, but every day you carried yourself with the grace and maturity everyone at this camp has come to expect of you. You've got big things ahead of you and I'll be there, continuing to cheer you on at Robin Hood and beyond.

Gregor – You've always been such a sweet kid, and you've stayed true to that part of yourself even as you've matured these past few years. Whenever I was tired or low, I knew I could always count on you to pick me up. You did all the little things I asked for even when no one else would and I appreciated that more than you know. It was awesome getting to be your counselor for the third time and I'm really looking forward to seeing you continue to thrive here on staff.

Isaac – Your arrival in week 2 gave these boys just the energy boost they needed. You are such a huge part of this group and that was clear to see in the way your presence positively affected the group dynamic. You're the epitome of what it means to be a glue guy. You were a friend to everybody this summer and people naturally gravitate towards you because of it. It's been a pleasure getting to know you these past four summers. I'm sure I'll be seeing you at BC bro.

Johan – I was so pumped to hear you were staying full session this summer, and the impact your decision to do so had on the group cannot be understated. You are undeniably yourself at all times. You have such a creative and original sense of humor and no one provided the boys with more laughter than you did this summer. Like a med kit after running in the storm, you were always there to build the boys up when they needed it most. This group is better with you in it. Thanks for a great summer bro.

Keiran – K-Star, K-Train, Boomerang. You're a man of many names (as Nacho should've known), and as such your return to The Realm for Saxon summer was highly anticipated. You most certainly lived up to the hype, and showcased your ability to make the most of a difficult experience and utilize it as an opportunity for growth. We've always had a lot of fun together, but this summer I knew I could rely on you whether it was a difficult aiding assignment, using your superhuman speed to retrieve kids from the bunk, or winning us senior camp glee. I'm confident that whichever group leader is lucky enough to have you as their FYA is going to feel the same way.

Melo – Whether you were aiding for the Jugglers, taking aux on our water jug joyrides, or bringing it at pickle volleyball, you killed it in every possible way this summer. I can't thank you enough for the way you stepped up into a leadership role this summer. Those TPJs absolutely adored you bro and I know you're going to make a fantastic counselor at this place for years to come. From you losing my necklace to now, you've grown into such a chill kid and I had a blast hanging out with you this summer. Hope you've been playing some Kings of Leon on that new speaker for me.

Levine – Whether you were hitting tree bound dingers or hanging out in the bunk, you did everything with a smile on your face. At activities, you brought your all and had a good time doing it. But at the same time, you always had a sense of when the group needed to relax and just take it easy. Your ability to always brighten the mood and lift your groupmates spirits at activities and at the bunk was much appreciated by all. Your family should be proud of the way they were represented by you at camp this summer. Excited to see your journey here continue on staff.

Quentin – I am so glad to have had the chance to get to know you this summer. Your intelligence and maturity made life as your counselor easy as could be. Despite all the fun you had, I knew I could always count on you to be a calming, level headed presence for the group. I never had to worry about you doing anything other than what was supposed to be done and for that I can't thank you enough. You have all the qualities that make a great counselor as the Squires were fortunate enough to witness. Hope to see you put those to use on staff for years to come.

Ratner – Rat…it was a nerve wracking couple of days as the boys and I prayed your soccer team would just lose already and you'd be back in The Realm with us where you belonged. Your presence was sorely missed that first week but from the moment you stepped foot in this bunk, you didn't waste a second making up for lost time. You understand what it means to love camp and it showed in everything you did from killing it at intercamps to bringing the house down with that Green & White skit. It's been such a pleasure watching you rise through the RH ranks these past four summers. You made the absolute most of your camper career and I know you'll do the same on staff.

Ryan – From mini hoops in Cooper's apartment to Saxons of 2023, we've certainly come a long way. It's been such a pleasure watching you find your place in this group over the years, from a shy Lancer to the best dancer in all of Boys Camp. You are such a chill kid and I genuinely enjoyed getting to hangout with you this past summer. I don't think there is a single person in this group or at this camp with a bad word to say about Ryan Rowe. Hope to see you back in The Realm for years to come.

Schlieman – Schlime! My guy…I had such a blast hanging out with you this summer man. It was so cool to watch you step into your own as a leader of Boys Camp this summer and be the role model for the TP's that you were. I know you needed camp this year more than ever and I hope the summer was everything you wanted it to be and more. You're such a great down-to-earth person and your presence in this group and at this camp has always been such a positive one. Thanks for all the doff recs. Appreciate you boss.

Smith – Although you ended up finishing your camper career only taking home two big awards, I think I speak for everyone in the group when I say you match the description for each of them. You're a natural leader for this group and Boys Camp as a whole. Your natural tendency to make sure every little thing you do is done the way it is supposed to be done will carry you far at this camp and in life. You brought the same enthusiasm to everything you did from intercamps to our Saxon dance and ultimately Green & White. I know you'll bring that same energy on staff.

Swartz – Sam, from a young age, I feel like you've really understood what this camp is all about. Your kindhearted nature combined with your competitive spirit are such a fantastic combo for camp. I'll never forget you draining threes and hustling on defense with your shirt torn to shreds as the whole camp watched that G&W basketball game. When you came back from that baseball tournament, your positive energy and commitment to making the most of the time we had left was infectious. you were really committed to making the most of the time you had left here with your boys and that positive energy was infectious. Thanks for a great three summers bro. Hope to see you back in The Realm for years to come.

Thomas – You were one of the few kids in this group I didn't know particularly well coming into the summer and I could not have had more of a blast getting to know you. You are such an intelligent and funny kid. That mix made you such an awesome camper to have in the bunk and at activities. You brought the fun to everything you did and I knew I could always count on you for a laugh. I was so glad to have you here to experience everything the second session has to offer. It was so fun watching you kill it at your first Green & White, and live it up during excursion. Hope to see you back for staff next summer.

Ted & Aaron – Thank you both for an amazing summer. I know you were both running children up and down mountains most days but when you weren't, it was a real pleasure getting to know you guys. I could not have done this job without your support. Love you lads.

To my Saxons!

It brings me so much satisfaction knowing that while I may be leaving this place, camp will be in good hands for years to come with you guys at the helm. As Woody said, this is just halftime for you guys. You have so many more memories in this place to look forward to. Thank you boys for the three summers we shared together. It was such a pleasure watching you guys grow into the leaders and people you've all become. I've always known this was a special group and I am so grateful to have had the opportunity to see things through with you boys to the end.

Love you monkeys...Monkey king out.

SCOUTS

Put down your fidgets and pop in your jibitz because we are about to relive the best summer ever! I knew our summer together would be amazing the second you all walked into bunk 10 on opening day, and the bunk quickly filled with laughter, music, and chaos.

Although the tassel and streamer decorations did not hold up very long, we knew that all of the memories and friendships that were made in the bunk would last forever. I can still remember the first day like it was yesterday. Picking each of you up from your cars and getting to be there for the start of your Robin Hood journey were such special moments that I will remember forever. Speaking of remembering…remember when we had to wait in the pouring rain for the New York bus to arrive, but it was so worth it because Joey and Chapin completed our group! Also, remember the first thing we all did when we got to the bunk was make so many rainbow loom bracelets? Remember when we all cheered super loudly for each other during the swim test on the second day? Or what about when we buried Mary after taking our swim tests? How about when we beat the Archers in gaga? I will always remember climbing Rattlesnake and the amazing view from the top (and obviously the Cozy Corner that made the hike SO worth it). Remember when it rained for the whole first week but that gave us many opportunities to dance and play in the rain? I remember how excited we all were when we got the cleanest bunk in camp and got candy canteen, all of the sweeping paid off! And how could we forget all of the gymnastics that was performed everyday in the bunk (I am still jealous that you all can do a cartwheel). Remember when we did sunset paddleboarding? Do you remember when Alice lost two teeth in a week (one of which Natalie pulled for her)? Remember when we did midnight McDonald's on the tennis courts?

Remember when we took part in the junior talent show, all of your performances were fantastic from solos to group acts. Alice and Addie, your singing performances were amazing, and you showed so much confidence going up in front of the whole camp solo. The group dances showed off all your dancing skills and the time you put into each dance was clearly shown. Hannah, your face tricks were loved by all, and the days after all we heard was "do the double white eye!" from other campers.

Remember the two day celebration of Fourth of July? We didn't let the rain stop us on the 4th, and even though we didn't win, I still think we had the best poster, and our spirit was incomparable. On July 5th, going around to the booths that the Saxons and Scribes set up only increased the spirit, and everyone's energy was contagious.

Remember when we went to the Mainers game? I can still hear the chants that were ringing throughout the scumbler bus. Meeting the players at the beginning was so fun, but the food and snacks were even better! I could tell how much fun you all were having by the bright blue color of your mouths from the slushees. I know we had to leave the game early, but the Mainers ending with a win finished the day off on a high note!

So you think you can dance! You all worked so hard and dedicated so much time to the dance. It turned out amazing and we had so much fun! Our dog costumes were definitely the best, and all of the compliments I got at the end told me that it was the best Scout dance they have ever seen.

Remember when we went White Lake for beach day and ate way too much candy or when we did chicken fights? The water felt so refreshing on that hot summer day. The hours at the lake filled with laughter and fun were followed by the amazing Social. Our theme, Animals, was perfect for us and we definitely fit in with our dog ears from "so you think you can dance". We danced the night away and played an intense round of Mafia. What we know for certain is that nobody had as much fun as we did.

I will always remember Alice's and Quinn's back-to-back birthdays. Waking Alice up with birthday sunglasses and Dunkin Donuts for the group was the best surprise. The day was filled with birthday signs, the best activities, infection, and then ended perfectly with a trip to Cozy Corner for some ice cream. No one woke up the next day sad that the celebrations were over because it was Quinn's ninth birthday! Again woken up with birthday songs and sunglasses, we started our day going through the schedule that Quinn picked out. The day was completed when we got to go to the ODT for surprise pizza and M&Ms. I am so happy that we were able to introduce you guys to the infamous M&M pizza because it is truly the best duo that was invented at camp.

Remember when we went on excursion? The super early wake up and long bus ride were so worth it because we got to go to Storyland! Having a smaller group allowed us to all stay together and enjoy all of the games and rides together. I know we were scared at first, but the Roar-O-Saurus ended up being our favorite ride. I will forever cherish the keychains of the group screaming on the big drop, everyone's face and blue mouths from the slushies makes me laugh every time. After Storyland, we picked up some pizza and enjoyed some food before watching Elemental. It was so fun having a movie theater to ourselves and the popcorn and soda was a huge plus! We all left the movie with full stomachs and a great rating of the new movie (yes, it even made a few of your counselors cry). A memorable day in all, and I am so happy I got to spend it with all of you!

The anticipation of Green & White breaking was something that kept the energy high in our group for days. We all thought it was going to break many days before it actually did, and the fake breaks got us all! I remember all of us going to crafts and hearing the fire truck sirens and sprinting to the soccer field, all hand-in-hand. The group being split up for five and a half days was hard, but I am so proud of every one of you for all of the hard work and spirit you put into the war. For most of you, it was your first time experiencing Color War, and it overjoyed me to see you all in the dances, skits, and glee, as you put all of your energy into the activities and song practices. Coming together after the scores were read for the goodnight song is something I will always remember because we were all so happy to be back together. Fight white fight and go green go!

I will forever remember this summer, and you are all the reason for that. Thank you to my staff for making this a swift and easy transition for everyone, your hard work never went unnoticed. Scouts, being your counselor this summer has been one of my greatest privileges and I can't wait to see you all next year. Please always reach out to me and keep me updated on everything you do, I am going to miss you all like crazy!! Love you all so much.

Serena Cheney – Since the moment you arrived at camp you brought so much joy and positivity to the group. You effortlessly spread kindness to everyone around you. Although you were shy at first, I have loved watching you grow and create so many special friendships not only within our group, but all throughout Girls Camp. I am going to miss you so much, but I can't wait to see you next summer. XOXO

Abbey Cox – Your excitement and enthusiasm whenever we would do something new always encouraged others to do the same, showing your amazing influence on the people around you. Whether it's you jumping on my back at the most random times, or you humming Taylor Swift around the bunk, you always lift up spirits and your friendliness never goes unnoticed or unappreciated. Can't wait to see you next year! XOXO

Eliza Gans – Your smile is infectious and your positive energy radiates within the group. Whether we're at senior waterfront or gaga, you always put all of your energy into the activity. With you, it is always koala time and we wouldn't want it any other way. Please keep coming back, the Tumblers of 2024 need you! XOXO

Alice Greenbaum – From the moment you arrived at camp you were full of energy and ready to go. With your knowledge from last year you really helped the first-timers adjust and settle in. Your dance moves have been a highlight of the summer and we can't wait to see them again next year. Remember, I will always practice catching and throwing with you after newcomb! XOXO

Chapin Gresens – What an amazing summer it has been with you at camp! Your boundless energy has made every moment unforgettable. From your olympic jumps off the tower to laughing by the campfire, you've brought joy and excitement to each day. We're so proud of you and can't wait to see what fantastic adventures lie ahead. You'll always have a special place in our hearts. XOXO

Aviv Gray – Even when your mattress fell through your bed on the top bunk, you had a smile on your face and laughed through it. You never fail to make the group laugh everyday, and camp would not be the same without your presence and chaos ringing throughout the bunk. Never change, and I can't wait to see you next summer staying seven weeks! XOXO

Livvy Hoglund – Your love for camp is unmatched. You were the first one to arrive and that day with you was so special for all of us. In such a short amount of time, you have accomplished so much. From throwing the ball over the net in newcomb to popping the balloon during the Green & White archery, you've made us all so proud to be your counselors. Keep on shining and we can't wait to see you next summer. XOXO

Quinn Horowitz – You've been such an amazing addition to the Scouts this year. Your positive, can-do attitude has been so amazing and you are always enthusiastic in every activity. Your funny stories have made us laugh so much this summer and you are so encouraging and kind to your fellow campers and friends. You have been a ray of sunshine and we have loved watching you become more and more outgoing over the course of the summer! XOXO

Harper Jacobs – You have the purest heart of anyone I have met, and to know you is to love you. I could not be happier that you stayed with your decision to stay seven weeks because the group and everyone's camp experience would not be the same without you. Your want to include everyone and make sure that everyone is having fun is something I will always admire about you. You better be back next summer! XOXO

Olivia Leebow – You have really shown your outgoing and vibrant personality this summer. I'm so impressed at how you're always enthusiastic to get involved in activities and improve at them. You're kind, intelligent and caring towards your fellow campers, making sure to include them in both outdoor activities, and when playing in the bunk. Come back next summer! XOXO

Joey Mann – I remember you stepping off of the New York bus, and my first thought was how quiet and shy you were. I would soon be proved very wrong! Your outgoing and personable attitude constantly brings up the group and your participation in activities and evening activities is something I will always appreciate. Keep smiling and please come visit me in NYC! XOXO

Grace Nickerson – Graaaaace, wake up! I truly do not know how I am going to get up every morning without you as my alarm clock. Being the youngest girl at camp is not an easy job, but you took it on and jumped right into the camp culture and embraced all of the new friendships. You may still need help hanging up your wet towels and swimsuits, but watching you grow throughout the summer has been some of my happiest moments. Can't wait to see you next summer! XOXO

Ayla Raivich – When I first met you with awesome blue hair, I knew that you were going to be an amazing camper, and I was right! You are full of energy and such a funny girl with such a big heart. You have made us laugh so much in evening activities like 'Marriage Game' and 'Make your counselor laugh'. From saying that you can't throw a ball, to getting FIRST PLACE in the Scumbler ball throw, you have shown your determination and we have loved having you as a camper this summer! XOXO

Kailey Rosen – Your kindness and compassion have made a significant impact on everyone around you. You've been an amazing friend, always ready to lend a helping hand and support others in their camp journeys. Your ability to bring people together is a gift, and we're grateful to have had you as part of our camp family. Please come back because the group needs you! XOXO

Hannah Seley – Take off your eye mask and put away your slime, it's morning! You fill the bunk with energy and kindness. I have loved watching you grow and create strong friendships with so many new girls. Although we may have missed Chuck's study group a few times, your determination and work ethic is something we all admire. XOXO

Addie Stone – You are such a fun and caring member of the Scouts. You have really come out of your shell over the summer and are so funny and silly, making us all laugh when we do dress up or acting evening activities. Your kindness has really shone through, constantly giving others words of encouragement when they need it, and helping them with acts of kindness, I have loved being your couselor this summer. XOXO

TO MY STAFF

Thank you for giving me a summer that I will never forget. I know we often had our hands full, but we managed to provide each camper with an unforgettable summer and gave them an effective Robin Hood foundation to build off of for years to come. I hope to see you all soon!

Tumbie Dreamhouse

Also known as bunk 9 quickly became our home decorated in LED lights and gold and pink tassels.

Remember when we played all Junior Camp dizzy kickball because Neve and Quinn were our only two campers before opening day? Remember our first evening activity, lip sync and every group chose a Taylor Swift song? You all quickly became friends and made great performances before running back to the bunk through the rain. Circle time was always a fan favorite as each group member got to ask a question with a one word answer. The first night was: what is your favorite animal? Two days after you all arrived we woke up, ate waffles, and were off to climb Rattlesnake Mountain. The view was so pretty and everyone raced down the mountain knowing that we were going to have our first trip to Cozy Corner for ice cream. The day did not end there as we went to the waterfront, jumped off the tower, heard the story of Bertha (so scary!!!!), played gaga (campers won against staff), and had makeovers with the Shires!

Remember when we were signing up for intensives and Rosy thought ultimate frisbee said unlimited fibers? As you all wake up super early to play outside, remember when a bear was walking through camp? Dhall dance parties are a staple in The Realm, but Susan brought it to flagpole and beat the Color War in a dance battle! The Green & Whites ruled JC talent show when most of you performed and quite literally slayed. Quinn's birthday was filled with so many sweets including munchkins, cookie cake and even a trip to cozy and ended with an evening activity of hunger games. Remember when Evergreen came here and we crushed them in sports and with our amazing cheers?

What is better than only one day of 4th of July? Well, we had a parade and fair food one day and the carnival and beach party the next. Our flag was obviously the best with everyone's talented art skills. We went to Robindale, played sports and won, might I add. We had meatball subs, pasta and tons of bagels there before heading to Cozy for ice cream.

Remember Maya's birthday when we all celebrated and she got to do all of the count offs? Challenging the Jugglers to Gaga was so fun and even though we lost we met the one and only freckle face. One of our favorite periods was gymnastics on the quad. You all did cartwheels, flips and played on the beam. Remember when we canoeed to the marina and each boat had a counselor? I know the best part for all of you was definitely the treat once we got there then we had to canoe back to camp. Rainy days at camp can be boring, but we managed to make it fun by practicing our dance, making bracelets, and watching Victorious at Woody's cottage. So You Think You Can Dance could not have gone better. Our Barbie compilation slayed and you all crushed getting sturdy and gritty.

Remember when we went to the Mainers game? White Lake might've had a small beach, but we made due by going in the water all day and shopping at the store. The playground was filled with slides and many of your mouths were bright blue because of the warhead galactic gummies. After a long day at the beach. we managed to gather all our energy, dress in Barbie theme and dance our hearts out at the social. ABC fashion show could easily be the funniest evening activity we had. Maya we are all thinking about you. How about our afternoon pontoon ride when Carly drove and we played at the sandbar and ate Pop Tarts? PVD was a great day filled with activities, sun, smiles and of course cookies. After the parents left we had waterfront and Sienna went from a belly flop to a perfect dive for the first time! To end the four weekers' journey we played camper hunt and ate a bunch of sweet treats during circle time sharing our favorite memories of the summer.

Excursion was a blast! We woke up early, loaded the bus with the Scouts and TPJs, and then we were off to Storyland. We were amazed by all the slushies, candy, ice cream and of course the rollercoasters. We started off with the two water rides and after Bamboo Shoots everyone ran to the photo booth to see their crazy faces. We made it through half the park before stopping for chicken tenders and fries. We definitely saved the best rollercoaster for last, which was the Roar-o-saurus. Some of you even rode it twice! Arielle was definitely the most frightened, but we were so proud of everyone who tried it. That was by far the biggest and scariest drop of the day. A fan favorite was rainbow Dippin Dots. We finished up the park, went on the bus to the theater and enjoyed a few slices of pizza before heading into the movie theater to watch Elementals. And what else can I say other than Ashba, Ashba, Ashba. You all sat with eyes glued to the screen stuffing your faces with popcorn until the ending. On the way home the girls' cheers were definitely louder than the boys', chanting rowdy, show me how to get down, and many others. Safe to say it was a successful day of fun!!

TUMBLERS

After our fun excursion, the Green and White anticipation started to build even when it was storming. Instead of sitting in the bunk, remember when we all went and groomed the horses? Never forget Cam being Ella's first horse she pet. It was downpouring after snack, but we decided to run and roll down the quad to fully embrace our fleeting seconds at camp. To end the night we had an iconic rap and dance battle. Julia spit major bars while Kendall and Arielle slayed the dance floor.

Before we knew it, Color War broke during crafts. It was not a lazy Sunday, which should have been our first clue. We ran from crafts to the soccer field for a fire truck and confetti then down to the waterfront to see judges come on pontoons. As it was only lunch time, we picked beans and started activities with a long day 0. Our first activity was bombardment and the war zoomed by. Everyone was in the talent show and screamed their heads off during song night for Green to become victorious. Lazy day was not so lazy when our normal wake up time is 7am. Donuts, donuts, donuts! In order to have a calm day we decided to do a picture scavenger hunt, but one task was incomplete as you guys could not find Ryston. Half of us headed to the beach for cookout while the winners ate their steak and we all rejoined to have Saturday sundaes. As one of our final evening activities we had greasy watermelon with the Scouts and free swim. The next day was not lazy and we celebrated GL swap in the afternoon and you all had Eli as your counselor. We ended the night hearing the wise words from 20 Color War. As the summer came to a close, we played one more round of infection, cuddled in the mega porch bed, and ate tons of candy and popcorn. I love all 16 of you so much! Study hard and I cannot wait to be back here screaming cheers and dancing in the dhall.

TUMBLERS

Anya – The queen of cards specifically Gin Rummy. Your laugh is contagious and I have never seen someone so small eat so much ice cream during Sunday Sundaes and when we went to cozy. Continue shining brightly and sorry Eliz and I never did our singing battle for you.

Arielle – Confident, courageous and sassy. You are a natural born leader and take control of every situation. You are funny in the moments when people are down and are always calm in the craziest of times. Also you have some of the best dance moves I have ever seen. Sleep tight and don't let the bed bugs bite.

Caroline – You are so intelligent and full of questions that we were all shocked everyday by the little facts you shared. Your goofy personality made activities fun and you turned into a little fish in the lake. All the stuffed animals found a place on your bed just like you found your place at camp.

Coco – I have never met someone with more sass, but you are so empathetic at the same time. You can always pull out a tik tok dance move and sing your heart out in the dining hall. You are so stylish and smell amazing due to your copious amounts of Sol de Janeiro.

Ella – Throughout the summer you really showed your crazy and confident personality. You started off as shy and by the four week point you spoke out and said what was on your mind. You continue to shine bright in the jc dance and try your best in every activity.

Julia – I will never be more in awe or smile as big as when you played fake trumpet on the stage during jc glee. You have the kindest soul and when you are loud everyone notices and praises you. Your jokes are hilarious and you have found your place in this group.

Kendall – The one who always brightens up the room. I have never seen a bigger smile that is more contagious or a laugh so distinct. You are the glue in this group and lead everyone to happiness and inclusivity. Camp is so lucky to get such a loving girl to come back each year.

Maddie – Even from the top bunk your goodnight hugs were always something to look forward to. You dominate activities with a competitive nature while also having good sportsmanship, which will take you far in life and hopefully in future Color Wars!

Maya – You go full force for every activity and it is what makes you so special. From falling out of your bed most nights to drawing a mustache on your face for newly weds, this camp loves having you here and we are so glad mountain camp is in the past. Your fun energy never fails to uplift the people around you ;)

Neve – Little miss smarty. You are so wise beyond your years and live your days to the fullest. You embrace camp and all it has to offer from playing in the bunk to winning Gaga to swimming in the lake. Becoming your own person and leader during Color War has shown the empathy and perseverance you have.

Quinn – Remember when you were one of the first campers?! You were so shy then all of a sudden you were running circles around the homerun diamond. From the first day your personality has shown through and you have never failed to participate or try new things. You made so many friends and you will continue to thrive in years to come.

Rosy – From Jonas's joggers to archery during rest hour, you have embraced everything camp has to offer. Your enthusiasm when we act out the days schedule or announce evening activity is unmatched. Can't wait to see all the new customized Robinhood merchandise next year.

Sean – My little Sean burrito, I just want to give you so many hugs and goodnight tuck ins. Your dance moves were out of this world amazing. Your outgoing personality and spirit was the driving force behind amazing days for the group.

Sienna – My little unicorn! Your energy and smile is so contagious and you never fail to make anyone laugh. Your kind soul shines through in everything you do. You are the epitome of camp and will continue to run the group. Give Coco, Peanut Butter and Soupy big goodnight hugs for everyone.

Susan – SUSANNNN!! My o my, I have never seen someone so outgoing and go with the flow. The whole camp fell in love with your amazing dance and rap skills. Your presence was missed the second you left camp. You light up every room and The Realm cannot wait for you to return for summers to come.

Vivian – You always have so much energy and for sure knew how to wake up the counselors with loads of smiles and screaming. No one should ever get in a staring contest with you because it wouldn't be fair. See you and Pearl next year.

To My Staff

I hope you look back on this summer and hold these memories throughout the year, and I can't wait to see all your smiling faces on opening day 2024.

Jester 2023 forever!
I love you all from the stars on the quad and back!

To my Staff

Thank you for being so amazing this summer. We were able to give each Jester the best summer possible, and I couldn't have done it without you guys. Through ups and downs, you were always there to help out. Can't wait to see you all soon!

HEY YY BOWS!

Stop admiring your millions of jibbitz, no more playing spit, and get the crystal light packets out of your mouths so we can reminisce on the best summer yet!

I'm taking you all back to June 22nd, Savvy and Tessa were the first Bows to arrive, so that night we met up with the rest of Junior Camp and played an intense game of dizzy kickball. We came back to the bunk and rested up because the next day, 24 other amazing Bows were coming to fill up Bunk 4.5!

After everybody finally arrived, we all gathered in the Bunk to play FishBowl. All I remember is Taylor Swift, Ice Spice, and BlackPink but from that moment on I knew that we were going to have the time of our lives this summer.

Remember how much it rained in those first few days? Luckily we were so excited to finally be at camp that we didn't let it dampen our moods. Instead, we got so much time to watch Now You See Me and TSITP, which in my opinion was a great way to spend those rainy days.

Remember when we did paper bag skits? Sloane turned into a type of punctuation…I won't say which but I know you all remember that all-red outfit that made us laugh so hard.

Remember when we climbed Mt. Rattlesnake? Tillie told me all about her Viking ancestors and even though the mosquitos kind of went crazy at the top of the mountain, our first Cozy Corner of the summer made it all worth it. Especially when Tali Smith decided to get a side of sprinkles and before I knew it, you were all crawling back into the van with little to-go cups of rainbow sprinkles. We finished off the day with a game of infection and since no one could tell if we infected Ryan or Rilyn, Ryan got to sneak up on everyone to infect them.

Remember when there was a chemical burst in the pipes for our showers and we all couldn't shower…JK but then we went sunset pontooning! We all jumped out of the boat with the sun shining through the trees and it was a night to remember.

Remember when Annabelle hit that home run shot in Danish Long Ball on the quad? Remember when Nellie was the only girl at the lacrosse intensive? She killed it and showed all those boys exactly who was boss. Remember backwards scavenger hunt? You all chased down Herma and Julie so well, they couldn't even find each other after.

Remember when we played, how well do you know your GL? You guys killed it except for thinking I was from South Carolina. Then we ended the night with the staff talent show where you got to see our lack of talent. We watched an amazing Hamilton performance and got to see Andrea and the lifeguard put on quite the show. But nothing could've prepared me for how proud I was of all of you when you got up there for your group dance.

Remember when we played Hunger Games? The cornucopia got a little dangerous, sorry Zinnia, but we powered through and got to have a nice candy canteen to end the night. Remember the Fifth of July? We started the day off with a playdate against Kenwood Evergreen. The soccer game was so much fun to watch with two amazing goals scored by our very own Sloane and Tali Shear. Even though that game didn't go our way, we came back and won basketball, kickball, and Newcomb. It was so much fun watching you all compete as a group and then we got to celebrate with a late Fourth of July Carnival! We got all kinds of sweet treats and ended it all with a Girls' Camp cookout. Remember that night we had a scavenger hunt and we wrote "Polite Boys Shirt," and Nellie found a boy she thought was polite and took his shirt? A very creative take on the item even if it was not quite right.

Remember when we all went mini-golfing? It was probably the hottest day of the summer but you guys put on your most positive attitude and we got a few holes in one before getting back in the van and heading back to camp. That night you all became little mini Pablo Picasso's at cookie decorating. Each group stuck to their theme and we got to see some really creative cookies before heading down to the waterfront for a sunset circle time.

Remember the Junior Camp Talent Show? The Bows talent took up at least half of the show and we all go to watch you kill it on stage whether you were dancing, singing, or acting.

Remember when we went bowling with the Quills? We got so many yummy appetizers and we hit the alleys. Rilyn and Sloane played darts and even damaged the actual bowling facility with their shots but hopefully Archie didn't notice.

Remember going to the Mainers game? We waited in line for so long to get concessions and you guys bought everything you could with the $10 you were given. We all sat down to watch the game and then by the end Sloane, Tali Smith, Phoebe, Devan, Nellie, AJ, and Raleigh were on the field themselves trying to throw the ball into the hole in the wall. Even though no one got it through it was still so cool to see some of the Bows getting in on the action of the Mainers game. The drive home was even more fun, Rilyn started laughing so hard that she ended up crying which made for a hilarious and eventful rest of the ride.

Remember the next morning when we woke up bright and early to head to Ogunquit, Maine for Beach Day? The water was freezing but I was so impressed by you all for getting in the water. We walked up to the boardwalk and shopped around and ate. Remember when you all bought those little lollipop toilets with sugar in the bowl? After a long day at the beach, we came back for a spa night, and zucchini may or may not have been involved…

Remember when Morgan left Phoebe at camp before going to Cozy? We never forgot to count off after that day.

BOWS

Remember swimming at Woody's cottage right before our big challenge game against the Archers? You guys played so well and watching you win that one game was one of the best parts of the summer. I was so glad when Woody came to announce that we all got to get candy canteen, and despite our loss, we wouldn't have to pick up trash the next day.

Remember So You Think You Can Dance? You guys went ALL out and I have really never been more proud. We absolutely crushed it and my favorite part was watching you all together for "Let's Get Loud," to finish it all off. I'm still thinking about Devan's sassy face and Tali Smith's killer moves.

Remember when we washed Morgan, Jessie, and Peter and Wendy's cars for evening activity? I bet that was a new one for all of you. It was so memorable and watching you all get so into it was so fun and one of my favorite things about all of you. No matter what it is, you all put your all into everything and can make the simplest things the most fun.

Remember Parents Visiting Day? After the dramatic run to your families, I met all your excellent parents. We brought them to soccer, Newcomb, and Gaga, and they were all such great additions to our group that morning. After we said goodbye, we had a chill afternoon at the waterfront and that night we all got to roast s'mores together right outside our bunk. I couldn't have thought of a better way to end the summer for the four-weekers.

The next morning we said goodbye to the four-weekers and then got ready to switch around the bunks. Let's just say that the state of the bunk was absolutely horrifying that day but with all of your help we turned it around and finally got everything into place. Thank you all for your patience and again I am so sorry that there was a hurricane that took place INside our bunk that day. We had a nice calm evening sunset paddle boarding and then made it back for our first night's sleep in what felt like a brand-new bunk.

Remember excursion? We set out that morning for Water Country and even though it wasn't the sunniest day, we still had the best time. I was so impressed with all of your bravery to try basically every water slide because I was terrified of half of them. Remember when Nellie almost got chased down by the Water Country staff for accidentally stepping on the slide that was out of order? I thought we were going to have to go back that night with 14TA. After spending a few hours there we packed up and headed to McDonald's where we tried to drag out the time as much as possible. We giggled so much and then moved into the vans for two intense car jam sessions before arriving at the movie theater. Once we all stocked up on popcorn, candy, and slushies we headed in and watched the long-anticipated Barbie movie.

Remember when Green & White finally broke? We were down at the waterfront and we knew Peter and Wendy were being suspicious. We raced up to change and the break was in full motion. It started with us running to the far far field to see Scotty on a fire truck, then before we knew it – Green & White confetti was shooting out of a cannon. We sprinted down to the waterfront and all the judges came out on pontoons with Woody on his yellow jet ski! We all headed into the barn and we figured out who would be leading camp for the next five days.

Watching you all compete during Green & White was so much fun. You all showed such intensity and spirit and I felt so proud to be your group leader. I loved watching you all in the talent show and the way you all came back together as a group at the end was so impressive to watch. Thanks again for moving my bed all that way through all those puddles, you guys really are the best. The next morning you all greeted me and we got to cuddle together in the big mega bed. Then we ended the day with the slip and slide backwards scavenger hunt. Nellie gave the best Green & White pump-up speech I have ever seen and then we all raced to the candy canteen window to get a treat one last time.

Remember when we went to the main lake and had a Green & White sing-along on the boats? Remember when Julesey-bear was your group leader for the afternoon? I missed you all so much but it was fun to see you get so excited for Jules! Remember that night when we woke you all up from your deep slumbers for Mcdonald's and stargazing at the rink? I was worried I would never be able to shake Nellie awake because she just wouldn't budge, but thank goodness we all made it there to have a peaceful moment under the beautiful Freedom stars.

Hiiii QUILS! QUILS! QUILS!

Come over to Crystal Palace and Bunk 3, turn off the music, and get ready to remember the greatest summer of our lives.

Thinking back to the summer we spent together and all the great memories we made, I really wish we could do it all over again a thousand times. Right from day one, when we were playing in the rain during the swim test and dancing, I had a feeling this summer was going to be incredibly legendary…

We laughed a lot, especially when we played Make Your GL Laugh. Remember when Brooke showed up dressed as a platypus?

Our bunks – Crystal and Bunk 3 – became our comfy place where we would share stories and lots of laughs. Those late-night talks and special moments turned these old camp bunks into our home away from home.

We slayed camp activities together. We created dance routines for our Taylor Swift Eras Tour and then performed the best concert CRH has ever seen. The marriage game for EA had us laughing so hard, especially when Gomez earned her one-of-a-kind name.

Rainy days turned into playful tickling sessions, and remember when we had to run from the grandstand to the bunk in the pouring rain after softball? Soon after we got hooked on watching the "Summer I Turned Pretty" series – our ultimate guilty pleasure.

Watching Kyra's awesome awe moments at the ODT always left us in amazement. Our victory in the bombardment game against the arrows was a team effort, with standout performances from each of you. Shoutout to Kavya for catching the winning ball!

Our hike up Mount Major showed us what an "Awe moment" really is. The 5th of July celebrations, the fun Beach Day, and the jazzercise camp social all made our summer unforgettable.

After saying goodbye to the 4-week campers, we came together to create a mega bed and became one big family. Excursion was way too much fun. We went down waterpark slides, watched the Barbie movie, AND treated ourselves to Chipotle and Dairy Queen. I'm proud of how kind and respectful you all were when we left camp, showing we care about each other and everyone around us.

Remember Green & White? Blake and River were captains, and it was a very intense five days. The Green team won, but the White team brought the fun vibes…obvi.

I want you to know I appreciate each one of you. The way we come together makes these moments special. The laughter, support, and strong friendships are very special in this group, and you need to hold onto it forever.

Our last EA together was the perfect ending to an amazing summer. Paddle boarding under a beautiful sunset made us feel like we were in a dream. We then listened to some sad Almas and cried about how little time we had left together. It showed us how connected we are, and how we'll always have each other's backs.

As summer ends, I'm grateful for the laughs, challenges, and memories we made. Your humor and charm light up any room and put smiles on everyone's faces. As you get older, remember to stay silly and not take things too seriously. I'm so jealous of your future counselors who get to hang with all 32 of you every day. Never forget about me cause I know I'll never be able to forget any one of you. I love you all so much.

Note from Lia

Quills you are all such awesome gals! I felt constant pride to be your counselor and will never forget the absolute masterpiece our Quill tour was. You all know how to have fun while also being chill, laugh together, have rainy day dance parties, and bring your individual sparks together to create a magical energy. Hope you all enjoyed summer as much as I did.

Note from Ella

My Quilldren I love you all so much it's insane. From the very beginning of opening day to our very last seconds together I have felt like I have been surrounded by all of my lifelong best friends. You are all the most hilarious and mature 12 year olds I have ever met and I can't imagine my summer would have been even close to as amazing as it was if I didn't get to spend it with you. You all know how to have a good time while also taking in camp every second and living your fullest. I am so grateful that I got to spend this amazing summer with you all and I will miss your energy every day over this year. You are all so perfect and amazing actually never change because you are definitely the best group on camp. Get ready for my constant texts because I need your energy with me every day. I love you all so much and thank you for making my summer so memorable. Can't wait to see you all next summer.

Note from Sassy

Quillssss thank you all for the best summer ever. I'm so lucky that I was put with a group that was just as silly and weird as I am :))))). You guys always have the best energy surrounding you and I'm OBSESSED with our crazy vibe. Even with having to take a two week break in the middle of the summer, you guys still accepted me into your group and became my 32 new little Quilldren. THANK YOU all for the best FYA summer ever. I can't wait to watch you all grow up here.

Abigail – I miss you so much already. Your positive attitude and energetic willingness to help clean in the morning were actually so helpful. When you would start cleaning, people would follow your example. That's a superpower to have, so keep being a leader and leading people to do the right thing. You did that all summer, and our whole staff was constantly impressed with you. I hope you have a successful year and know that camp will always be there for you.

Audrey – You are so sweet and kind, and being around you makes everything feel easy. Your skills as a horseback rider are impressive, and it's a joy to watch you in action. Getting to know you has been an absolute pleasure, and I'm grateful for all the great memories we've made together!

Ava – Your maturity at such a young age is truly impressive. You have this incredible strength that will take you far in life, and I can't wait to see what the future holds for you. Color war next summer would be perfect for someone as amazing as you, and we're all looking forward to having you back. Have a fantastic year, and remember that you're loved and cherished by all of us!

Betsy – You're a queen. Seriously, I've never met someone who has it all together like you do at such a young age. You are always thinking about others, even when you have your own stuff to deal with. You are everyone's favorite person, and I know we will be friends going out to dinner together in a couple of years, reminiscing on Quill summer. I also wanted to mention that the way you always asked me if I was okay and checked in with me during Green & White was so sweet. I can't wait until you're a captain, and I'm going to do the same for you. I'm always just a text away Betsy!! I love you forever.

Blake – Oh Blake, who would have thought that planning your soccer private lessons would create such a special bond between us? I am unbelievably impressed with how you handled every situation this summer. I also wanted to announce in this yearbook, THAT YOU MADE, that insane soccer team that was considered impossible to join. But, of course, Blake Rabin did it, obviously. I genuinely never had a doubt in my mind that you wouldn't make that team, but your modesty throughout the whole process was so cute. I want you to promise me that you'll always fight to be at camp, even if you're becoming a famous soccer star. You're such a huge part of this group and a role model to all. I miss our talks at the spot, but I have a feeling we'll have many more to come. Call me, text me, I love you.

Brooke – You are the sweetest person! I am not kidding. After every period, a specialty counselor would come up to me and tell me how polite you were following every activity, and you always said thank you. You never forget to say thank you, and that might not seem like a big deal to you, but it is to others. People will never forget the way you made them feel so appreciated, especially me! Promise me you'll come back forever? Love you so much Brooke!! Please never change.

Charlotte – CHAR, my girl! Having you by my side all summer was a pleasure, and I'm so happy we're close. Ever since my Scribe summer, I wanted to be close with you, and ending my last summer at camp with you feels so full circle and right. I already know that when I come back for your Scribe summer, I won't be able to look at you without tearing up. You were such a big part of my love for camp. Stay true to yourself always and keep taking care of your friends the way you do. It doesn't go unnoticed. I love you so much Char!

Chloe – Your kind and friendly nature makes everyone feel comfortable and welcomed. Your athleticism is truly impressive, and you excel in everything you do. I hope you'll consider coming back to camp forever because your positive energy and spirit bring so much joy to all of us. Please know that you have a special place in all our hearts.

Dahlia – I think this was supposed to be your first summer staying seven weeks, and I think going forward, you need to stay that amount of time every summer. I knew you were going to do well during Green & White, but I didn't expect you to do so well and be such a good leader like you were. Thank you for always being such a pleasure to take care of, and I'll never ever forget your Taylor Swift solo. You were amazing. I love you!!!

Ellie G – You were such an amazing fit into the group. Coming to camp as a Quill can definitely be intimidating but I am amazed at how easily you integrated right into the group. Your gymnastics slays every time and was a key feature in our eras tour. Even being new you are truly camp and were able to appreciate every second of it with a smile on your face. Keep coming back forever because you light up the entire group.

Ellie H – Your presence this summer was always essential in making our group happy. You have a laugh that makes everyone feel good, and you're friendly to everyone, so we all feel like family. I'll never forget on the excursion when you waited for Gomez when she wasn't feeling well. All your friends had just run into the Barbie movie, but you weren't going to leave your friend alone. Actions like that do not go unnoticed, and I can't wait to watch you grow up to be such a good person. I love you!!!!

Emily – It amazes me how much history you have here at camp. Your last name is literally hung up in our bunk that we slept in this summer! I also will never forget your duffel suitcase heavy thing that your grandpa passed down to you. So cool. You are not only a joy to be around but also incredibly skilled at riflery. Remember when we held hands the entire mountain trip? Theres no one else I would of rather talked and laughed with three hours up and two down. I love you, Em, and I hope you come back to camp forever.

Emma – You are not just sweet and kind but also an incredible older sister. The way you take care of your siblings is heartwarming and sets an example for others. Your hugs have this magical power to brighten anyone's day and make everything better. I'm truly grateful to have you in my life, and you better remember forever that I gave you my fav stuffed animal for the summer!

Esther – You are so special. You are truly such a mature and amazing girl. Although the summer was cut short you made sure to take it all in. Your volleyball skills amaze everyone and I admire the way you can start a passing game with anyone around you. You came right into the group as a perfect fit. I hope to see you next summer with a couple of volleyball medals you can show off!

Eva G – GOMEZZZ!!!! Watching your camp TikToks is a favorite part of my day. You are quite literally one of the funniest kids I've ever met, and I'm so impressed with how much you know about skincare at such a young age. When I was a Quill, I think I just learned I needed to wash my face in the mornings. You've come such a long way, and I would do anything to sit and talk with you at the waterfront again. I love you forever.

QUILLS

Eva T – I just wanted to tell you that you're one of the kindest people I've met here. It was so beautiful to see how easily you made friends with the staff and kids at camp. And the way you spoke to your family here was touching. Your caring nature makes you really special, and I'm thankful for getting to know you!

Evie – You are truly the sweetest and cutest girl I have ever met. You are always willing to help out, never complaining, and always walking around with a smile on your face. Your dance moves and your singing are one of a kind and light up every room. You treat everyone with such kindness and you are one of the most fun people I have ever met. This group needs you and your happy energy, keep coming back forever.

Georgia – Your integration into camp was nothing short of remarkable, and your sweet nature made you easy to connect with. Your outgoing personality is a true asset, and it will undoubtedly take you far in life, not just at camp. You brought so much joy to everyone this summer, and we're already looking forward to having you back. Skincare sessions with you were a highlight, and I can't wait to do that again!

Grace – You might not even realize it, but you're a natural leader. Your kindness has this incredible power to make everyone feel cared for and valued. Camp wouldn't be the same without you, and we really hope you'll be a part of our Quill family again. I'm grateful for the chance to know you.

Hannah – Hannahhhh, my sweet Hannah. It's getting really hard to write these shoutouts without crying. I'll never forget that time when you, Mack, and I sat outside at the Girls' Camp spot, and I cried happy tears with both of you. You deserve all the candy in the world for helping me with my bed in the mornings. I hope you know how special you are Hannah, and I'll always be there for you, even 20 years from now. We are connected forever!! I love you.

Jorja – Sometimes, I would mistake you for a counselor due to your incredible maturity and responsibility. I still remember when you were just a young Scout, running around, and now here I am, your Quill group leader, asking to borrow one of your tank tops! Life is full of unexpected turns, isn't it? I never mentioned this, but I felt so cool using the same skincare products as you did this summer. Whenever I see Drunk Elephant cleanser and moisturizer, it will always remind me of you. I want you to know that I'm here for you whenever you need and I have so much love for you!

Kai – You are always enjoying camp and everything it has to offer. I swear I've never seen you rest; you just keep going and going. Whether it means laughing with your friends, excelling in an activity, or even in the water, you take full advantage of camp and what it has to offer. We all know you didn't waste a single minute. I hope you bring that energy with you every summer; camp will always be your happy place as long as you keep treating it that way. I miss and love you so much!

Kavya – Will I ever be able to forget your winning catch in the arrow dodgeball challenge? No, I will never be able to forget that. WOOOO, Kavya, I always felt so proud to be your counselor, and you are so bright and smart. I really want you to come back to camp forever because you never know what you could accomplish. You are looked up to, and you're such a sweet girl. I'm going to miss you so much when the summer is over.

Kyra – Where do I even start? I'm not going to lie; on the first day of camp when you showed up in your Robin Hood vest, I was intimidated. OOOOP. You've been at camp almost the same number of years as I have, and I knew you were a big deal. Well, look at us now; we've become as close as ever, and I know I'm going to come back and watch you become a captain one day. I'll make sure to tell everyone about your "awee" moments when you were a Quill. I love you so much, and I'm only ever a call away.

Mack – I love you so much. You have the sweetest heart, and you're one of those people I just always want to be around. You are so special, and people will never forget the way you make them feel. I loved watching you grow into such a strong, beautiful girl these past summers at camp. I can't believe I went from being your Green & White GLEE coach to your group leader. Imagine if the old us knew how close we would get. Let's stay bestie friends forever. I love you forever Mack!

Maddie – You know how much you mean to me. Literally from the first day you arrived I thought we would become super close, and boy was I right!! I wouldn't have been able to survive Green & White without your constant reassurances and you being proud of me made me the happiest counselor ever. Continue to be the leader you are because everyone in this group – especially me – admires you. I love you so much.

River – Rivveerrrr. I'm literally tearing up as I write this. I always knew, since I was a Scribe and you were a Scout, that you would come back forever and make such an impact here… sounds crazy, but I was right!! I give you so much credit for bringing the group together this summer. I miss your laugh, and I would do anything to hear it one more time on benches. I also want to mention that the way you always took care of me this summer was something I'll never forget. You always made me feel so good about myself, and I genuinely looked up to your attitude this summer. You are so loved forever, and I'll be texting you every time I play "Illicit Affairs" and think of you or whenever I see Summer Friday lip gloss.

Sarah – Remember the first day of camp when I met your dad, and we found out our parents went to camp together around the same time? I knew I always wanted to be close with you, but I didn't realize how close we would get. It was a sneaky friendship that I'll value and cherish forever. Hearing you, Char, and River giggling in your area always reminded me of myself as a camper. Never stop laughing, and remember this is your place to have fun. I'm going to miss your back tickles more than anything. I love you Kramer!!!

Sidney – SIDDDD! You're my very first camper as a Quill group leader. When I met you on the first day, I knew that I was going to enjoy being around you. You embody the spirit of camp in every way — your bed, your clothes, the way you interact, and the way you get excited on benches. You just get it all, and I know you always will. I would have loved to have a friend like you when I was a Quill, so please understand how happy you make the people around you. I love you Sid, and you better wear my orange Cuse tank top at camp until you're a captain one day.

Sienna – Your presence was like a breath of fresh air in our group this summer. Your laughter is infectious, and it's impossible not to feel happy around you. You've become such a special part of our Quill family and you better come back next summer!!

Sophia – Watching you enjoy yourself at camp brought me joy. It's evident that camp is your happy place, and your happiness is truly contagious. Keep being your amazing self, spreading love wherever you go, and know that you're appreciated and valued by all of your friends.

Zoe – My dear Zoe! I am so impressed by how mature you are at such a young age. I loved watching you interact with your friends, and your laughter made everyone want to join in. This summer has been great with you, and I hope you'll come back to camp every year. You belong here, and you're really good at riding horses. So, never stop doing what you love. We all support and love you forever!

TO MY STAFF

I want to express my gratitude for an incredible summer. Carly and Jules, your influence on the kids was remarkable, and they will cherish those memories forever. Getting to know both of you this summer has been wonderful. Eliasu, we missed you, and the camp newspaper was truly impressive! Millie, you know how much I love you, and I'm thrilled to have gained a new friend through this experience. Ella, Sassy, and Lia, I have so much love for all of you. I consider you all like younger sisters, even though you are definitely more mature than I am. I will always, always be here for each of you. Have a fantastic year ahead, and please don't hesitate to reach out if you need anything. Cheers to the most STACKED staff in Robin Hood history!

VANS

This marks my last love letter to my Quilldren, and my heart overflows with love for you all. I must reiterate this one more time, as it's my final yearbook entry. As I reread all these shoutouts, a happy tear goes down my face, knowing how well I've gotten to know each and every one of you. You are more than just a group; you are a united pack, connected for life. Look out for one another, always be a cohesive unit.

QUILLS! QUILLS! QUILLS!

The world can be annoying sometimes, but camp remains our safe haven. There's no other group of girls who could make me laugh, cry (out of love), sing, dance, or sleep as much as you all did! I can already envision myself in four years, sneaking into the barn to hear your Scribe song and compare the Quills' era dance to your Scribe dance. We'll see which one was better.

I love you all deeply, and please remember that I am always here if you need me.
It's not goodbye; it's just goodnight.

With all my love,
Maggie

Arrows!

WE'RE BACK AND BETTER THAN EVER. I HOPE THAT YOU'RE READY TO REMEMBER SUMMER 23.

Opening Day Zero was one for the books as we ended the day with half of our mighty bunch. Even with only half, we still filled up one of our epic long tables in the dining hall. We started the summer off right with an epic night of charades and s'mores. Do you remember acting out a land animal? What about My Babysitter's a Vampire? The next day went swimmingly as you all slayed the swim test. Arrows can swim for sure. Despite the on and off rain, we all vowed that we would make the most of our waterfront periods whether we were catching the spike ball jumping off the tower in bay 1 or swimming with the lost submarine in bay 2. As the week went on we got to try new things like actually playing volleyball and softball with our favorite specialty staff. I also got to find out just how much you guys all LOVED soccer. Our new friends Bellamy and Cornelia got to experience Danish for the first time while we all celebrated the life of Gary the frog. Remember our funeral? Do you remember ending the period five minutes early just so we could all roll down the quad? Just two reminders that we are the best group on camp. Week one could not have been complete without a good old optional mountain hike. While our remember when poster only said "the hike." I can guarantee we all remember much more than that. Some of my favorites include Toby's nicknames, Nat and her tantrums, Sloane holding onto Arash's head for stability, the rolling backpacks, and obviously our pizza barn feast that night. Somehow we all ended up at the JC talent show the next day in one piece and ready to take in all the talent the junior campers had to offer. Another highlight out of camp had to be our bowling extravaganza with the Bards and Shires. I know that you guys enjoyed the appetizer feast, the candy for sale, and your bowling bracket. Shout-out Ava Lowe for taking home the trophy! As camp continued and the rain started to fall, we adapted and always had a lot of fun. Who could forget our mud sliding, puddle jumping, dance rehearsal in the rain, and swimming in the puddles? Speaking of dance rehearsals, I have never seen a more talented group of dancers on that stage, and I know that the rest of camp was blown away by the way that you all killed it to World Cup and Wavin' Flag. Renata especially killed it after learning the entire dance the day of. Our next stop at Pizza Barn was not one to forget either since you all decided to sport new shirts. We also had a nice slideshow presentation at the staff table as Eden asked to see pictures of me as an arrow. And then Nat unfortunately suffered from an attack, and she had to be escorted out.

Remember songs for confidence? Remember Sloane's backpack took a tumble? Remember when Lou slipped at our challenge? Remember when Josie lost her left croc? She rocked that flip flop croc mix for a few days.

Soon enough we made it to our first big holiday. The Fourth of July certainly stuck out this summer, but I know we wouldn't want it any other way. One of the best memories I have is our whipped cream fight on the quad. In any location or situation, we made our own fun (especially freeze dance)!

Speaking of making our own fun, our trip to Ogunquit beach was a special day. Think high waves, games of under or over, Kathryn falling asleep in the sun, watching Rick griddy, Eden confusing Jolly and Chris, buying t-shirts, and Dylan covering a large bill at Splash. Unforgettable.

As the summer continued, we shared some good times like performing your counselor roasts for Woody, Annie getting carried away during foot massages, wearing the cutest costumes to the social, our line walking adventures down Ossipee Lake Rd, and moving into one bunk. Living on the porch was a new level unlocked for Goldman and I, and I will never forget sprinting to our soaked beds during a rainy day Girls' Camp movie, but I guess all is well that ends well.

We definitely had a memorable couple of days before PVD. I remember our M+M pizza party in the rink like it was yesterday, and I can't help but remember our unfortunate stomach aches afterwards too. Then there was our incredible pontoon ride through the grey and cloudy night and Dome trying to race me even though it was obvious that I was nervous about my first time driving after getting my license. Honestly, maybe Dome was just racing to get back so that Josie would stop doing her dance routine. Or maybe he was punishing her for our seaweed fight. I remember Josie's seaweed glob making Dome very angry. Good thing we made it back to camp safely.

Meeting your parents was just as exciting as getting our annual taste of PVD cookies. Lucy Lippard even won her first ever game of gaga. Plus, Cornelia's sister got her first taste of camp. Finishing up with sandwiches by the waterfront and a pickle eating extravaganza, PVD was all wrapped up in a bow, and we were craving an excursion and the best five days of the summer. As I'm writing this, I'm honestly craving another PVD mango.

Excursion finally arrived and the Arrow Lancer trip to Canobie Lake Park surely didn't disappoint. Rides, escape rooms, Chipotle, and the Barbie movie were definitely crowd pleasers. Who could forget about the wrong check in fountain? I'm still happy we finessed our way to the girls first at Chipotle. We got back with plenty of time to start the Green & White fever and we all know the Arrows started breaking a sweat first. We expected the break way sooner than it came. You all know Goldman and I were sure it was happening five days before it did.

ARROWS

Remember when we called Whale's Tails? Remember when we hit up Funtown Splashtown? But sooner or later Green & White came crashing down upon us just like Caroline falling through my bed. I remember the war like it was yesterday. The teams were so evenly matched every competition was unforgettable. Soccer was a game I will surely never forget, and I am so proud of all you accomplished together as one group, and I hope you enjoyed my sideline coaching. Remember to tell yourself one thing you love about yourself whenever you are facing moments of adversity. Song night ended in a close battle, but we all came together to scream the goodnight song ready to rejoin as one. We ended the summer with Twilight marathons, a great day doing makeovers with Calum and Gavin, and a wonderful night playing We're Not Really Strangers.

As you are all at home now sitting reminiscing on the summer, I hope you all remember the times we had and the ways we impacted each other, and I hope you take to heart every piece of advice we, as a staff, gave to you. You are the most amazing, awe-inspiring, dedicated, thoughtful, kind, and selfless girls I have ever received the privilege of knowing. You taught me things about myself and about camp that I never expected to learn, and I am so beyond grateful to know each and every single one of you. Keep loving camp, never stop jumping in puddles, and always roll down the quad when you get the chance. Arrows 23 forever and always.

Agnes – If I didn't look around, I swear I would find you climbing something. Your easy-going and happy-go-lucky attitude made the group a better place. I will never forget the way you made the best of every situation. You are so easy to be around and love, and I promise your group loves you.

Allie – I am so proud of you. This summer was incredible for you, and I hope you know how people around you look up to you every day. Not only are you thoughtful and kind, but you are always down to do whatever and have a good time. I know that sometimes camp can be a lot, but you keep things lighthearted, and you are such a good friend to everyone.

Anabel – I have never met a girl with such spunk in my life. You are the epitome of a good time and are always looking to have fun with your friends. It is a gift to be so outgoing, and I can only hope you never let anything dull your sparkle. I will miss your hilarious remarks and the genuine care you have for your friends. Keep shining, Anabel!

Annie – What can I even say? The group would not be the same without you. You bleed camp, and it will always be a part of you. Your selflessness is noticed, and you will always embody camp. Never doubt who you are because I never will. Call or text whenever. I am always here for a hug, and I will always be there for you the way you are there for other people.

Ava – Where would I be without you Ava? Probably still lost on Chocorua. I'm joking, but I seriously want to thank you for being the amazing camp person you are. You radiate camp, and I am so serious when I say your group would not be the same without you. With that being said, I don't think you would be the same without camp, and I had the privilege of seeing how much this place has had an impact on you and you have had an impact on this place while getting the privilege of being your counselor this summer. I will always have immense respect for the way you handle yourself and the way you treat your friends.

Bellamy – I truly believe you needed camp and camp needed you. Making friends with everyone you could, I will never forget your empathy. The way you feel your friends happiness, excitement and sometimes pain shows just how much you care for the relationships you make. This will be the place where you continue to make lifelong, irreplaceable friends. Never forget that.

Caroline – Sweet Caroline, you are the absolute best! If I ever saw you without a smile on your face, I would have to do a double take because you are constantly lighting up a room. Not only is your kindness contagious, but so are your giggles. Not only are you always smiling, but you embrace everything about camp, and I couldn't be more excited to see where your camper career takes you.

Clem – If I could be more proud of someone it would be a feat. You are the most amazing young woman, and your resilience is inspiring. This is your place, these are your people, and we will forever be here for you. Your caring nature is inspiring, and we love you more than you could ever imagine.

Cornelia – You were a perfect fit for the group from day one. Your ability to join in any activity without fear, your kind disposition, and your desire to be yourself proved your affinity for The Realm, and we all knew you were going to stay for years to come. Keep loving everyone and everything and you will always be successful here.

Dylan – I want to thank you for the example you set. You are always a group mate to look up to and I truly believe that stems from your love for camp. Always trust your gut, believe in yourself, and claim your rightful place underneath the trees.

Eden – You are the epitome of camp. You love to have fun, celebrate the small things, and you make the best out of every situation. Without you, I really do not know where the group would be. Balancing being outgoing and humorous while also knowing when to uplift other voices is a skill that you naturally have. You are a born leader, and you will always have a place here.

Jenna – You just know how to make me laugh. Our conversations on my bed before lights off were some of my favorite memories of the summer. I am so glad you finally got to sleep on a real bed and got out of the air. In all seriousness, you are such an integral part of the group and of the summer I look back on now. I hope that you are enjoying your school year, and I am counting down the days until I get to hug you again.

Josie P – You are downright hilarious. The laughs you elicit from your group mates prove the way you connect with your friends. You lighten the mood with a well placed joke at the same time that you know how your friends are feeling at all times. Your group needs you, and you need your group. Never doubt that.

Josie R – When I found out I was going to have you as a camper, I was immediately excited. Not only are you the most hilarious girl ever, but you also have a deep emotional connection with every single one of your group mates. You feel for them, you care for them, and you are always there for them in ways that every group leader can only hope their campers are. I know that your future is bright because you exude sunshine. Never ever forget how special you are and feel free to come have a laugh with me any time.

Kathryn – I cannot tell you how proud of you I am. You embraced this summer with open arms, and I will always think of the ways that camp embraced you back. There are no words to describe the growth I saw in you this summer, and all I can ask is that you never miss a summer. This is your place, and this group is filled with people who care about you. I can't wait to hug you in June of 2024. Text me whenever.

Lexi – I could not ask for someone better to understand the pulse of the group. At any given moment you could tell me what was going on and what the move was. I am forever grateful to you and your love for camp. I know how much you love camp, and I know how much you love your sister. You two will always have a place under the trees, and I hope you never forget it.

Lila – You truly crack me up. I don't know what it is, but every time we talk, we have the best time. I love your smile, and your thoughtfulness is unmatched. Your first priority is always mindfulness in your words and your actions, and it is such an admirable quality. Keep smiling, keep having a good time, and always keep coming back.

Livy – As Arash likes to call you, I miss you my little mountain goat. How is it over there out west? I hope you are remembering your summer with fondness just like I remember my time with you. Just having you in the bunk, I couldn't have asked for a better camper. You were always there to lend a helping hand where it was needed, and you were especially there to bring a smile to all of our faces. Livy, camp lives within you, and The Realm needs you back. Never leave.

Lou – I know that camp is your place. You connect with every group here, and I know that you know that. Keep making this place your home because you are hilarious, kind, and a major part of the group and camp as a whole. I can't wait to see you in June.

Lucy F – Boy, am I proud of you. I can't believe the way that you took advantage of everything this summer had to offer. You know that you are a natural leader, and you show the group that. Keep being you and proving to yourself that there is no other place that you belong.

Lucy L – My leprechaun! I can admit to you now, any time I am in a patch of grass, I look for four leaf clovers like the ones you would stick in my clipboard when I wasn't looking. I swear just being around you brings good luck. Always aware of the feelings of your bunkmates, you are truly a selfless person, and your good nature brings you positive karma. Keep shining bright Lucy!

Lyla – Lysol where do I even begin. You are a force to be reckoned with. A natural leader filled with a sweet spirit, the group would simply not be the same without you. You are hilarious and always have a smile on your face. I know that I can always count on you, and we miss you like no other.

Marissa – You have the absolute biggest heart. I have rarely met someone who is so in tune with the emotions of the group and is always looking to do the right thing. You love camp, and I promise you that camp loves you. Come back and keep coming back Marissa, the group needs your kindness.

Nat – You are the spunkiest, funniest addition to the group, and I could not be more proud to know you. You push the limits, but you always stay true to yourself and I love you for it. Can't wait to see you in June.

Renata – It's like you never left. I am amazed at your presence in the group and the way you encourage everyone to be their best self. You are an amazing person and an asset to the group. Always remember that and keep being you.

Sammy – I couldn't have asked for a better camper. You are always on time, you are always doing what I ask of you, and you are always making me smile while doing it! What's so amazing about you is that you never take life too seriously, but you never take it for granted either. You know that your time at camp is so precious, but you know that you don't need to dwell on everything. I hope you're rocking it in Chicago, and I know I will see you soon.

Sasha – You are hilarious, thoughtful and caring. Your love for camp is unmistakable, and so can't wait to see what you accomplish at The Realm. If I have learned anything this summer, it is that nothing matters more to you than your friends and your time at camp. Keep being an amazing big sister, a wonderful role model, and caring individual. The group needs someone like you.

Siena – A fearless competitor, a thoughtful friend, and a wonderful person. I am forever in awe of you. Siena, you belong here, and you always will. Camp is your home, continue leading your peers and being exactly who you are.

Sloane G – I have never met someone more in tune with their group. You know what's going on at all times, an you are always doing the right thing. It is so obvious to me and all that meet you that friendship is your biggest priority, and I know that will always take you far. I hope you keep coming back and keep encapsulating the magic in the trees. We all love you Sloaney.

Sloane S – After giving you field hockey lessons since I was a scribe, I knew I was lucky to have you as a camper when I found out I got the arrows. Not only is your lighthearted spirit so contagious, but your mindfulness is inspiring. You really encapsulate camp. You will always have The Realm on your side, and I hope you never forget how special this place is to you. Keep coming back.

Zoe B – I love who you are inside and out. You are an athlete, a friend, and an overall amazing person. Everyone slooks up to you and I cannot be more proud of the summer you had. We love you to the stars on the quad and back, and I hope to see you coming back for countless summers to come.

Zoe D – You are the most mature 13-year-old I have ever met. Everything about you epitomized the camper who cared for their friends, and I respect you endlessly. I know you are fighting to come back next summer, and I cannot wait to see you.

To my Staff

Goldman, Dani, Ella, Elethea, Lauren, Kate, Jasmin, and Rosie,
I do not know where I would have been without you. Your dedication to this group of girls was unmatched and never went unnoticed. Whether it was new ideas, an extra set of eyes, or a stern voice when mine was going in and out, I couldn't even begin to describe the ways you guys supported me. Thank you for doing whatever it took to have a wonderful summer, and thank you for caring about our girls the way you did. Please never hesitate to reach out to me for anything, and I hope you had as amazing of a time as I did.

Arrows!

Bardy Party 2023

Get your feet off the rug, turn off "Honey I'm Good," find out what the surprise song was, turn on the LEDS and get cozy to look back on the best summer of your lives.

You almost wouldn't even remember that the first week of camp was rainy. We got there with so much energy we were jumping off the tower rain or shine. Remember when you all found out that camp started composting? (shoutout Carly in the news video).

Remember when Carly retrieved her candy bag from Woody? (or more like retrieving half of her candy bag from Woody…) Remember conquering Inter-camp soccer? Remember when Jesse broke the hammock? Remember taking advantage of the sunny weather and going to Diana's Baths? Remember how cold the water was? Remember when Elle got a picture during photo Scav with that certain person? Remember Sophie's shower? (wink wink). Remember Eliana and Marni's alter ego? Remember when Evvy and RATner didn't leave Callum alone? Remember our dance party in the rain? Remember Jesse, Fiona, and Alexandra's pro tiktoking skills? Remember Caroline's storytimes?

Let's take a second to remember beach day…the sun was bright and we could tell it was going to be a great day for Ogunquit. Remember when Izzy asked if she could eat her bagged lunch when we were still in the dining hall for breakfast? Remember Eliana's "allergy"? After breakfast, Sam and Lola got into the drivers seats and kicked off our day. When we got to the beach we all got into the water the first chance we could get. Even though it was so cold, we played over-under in the waves until we were too numb to feel our bodies. After going to the boardwalk for ice cream and lunch, we packed up our bags and all drove back while listening to Speak Now (Taylors Version) for the tenth time in a row, (even though it had come out that very day).

After beach day, we got to do little fun adventures like the island swim. It was that morning Andrea accidentally said she was hungry instead of mad (if you know you know), and Esme had a tantrum on the shore of the waterfront because no one warned her about the Island swim the night before (sorry again Esme…). Remember when we went bowling and Carly spent way too much money on a sweatshirt from the bowling alley? But of course, she must get a sweatshirt from every place we visit. Remember mini golfing? When we all got to indulge in some ice cream inside the air conditioning after our tough game? The aux there also went pretty crazy for a mini golfing course in the middle of New Hampshire. Remember "So You Think You Can Dance"? Brooke got to redo her solo flying part in a camp dance and this time, SHE ATE. Shoutout to Sophie and Fiona who were pretty great DJs. Speaking of Fiona… did she go to the infirm?

Remember when Elle, Esme, and Alexandra didn't constantly ask to get the mail? Remember when Eliana and Marni weren't horse riding obsessed? Remember when Sophie's area was clean? Remember when Grace, Lucy, Esme and Alexandra weren't talking about Taylor Swift? Cause I sure don't! Elle…why did you want mail so badly again?

Remember walking to the spot? (or running for some…cough cough Ratner and Eliana). Remember when everyone thought the Spot was closed because Esme tried to walk through the wrong door? All of your faces were priceless. Remember when we thought Lila Solomon's dad was a random stranger for a minute? Remember when we held a birthday party for Andrea? Remember when Alexandra's dad surprised her with Taylor Swift tickets? Remember beating RobinDel 2-0 in volleyball? (we don't have to talk about basketball…). Grace, Alexandra, and Lucy really carried us in that Volleyball game. Remember when Scotty surprised us with Cozy Corner after our trip to RobinDel? We could all agree that ice cream was needed that day. Remember how fun the Fifth of July was?! We got to eat ice cream, cookout, and jump in the lake. As the four week session approached its ends, we welcomed our families into The Realm for PVD. It was perfect weather outside and we got to eat some delicious PVD cookies. The next day we sadly had to say goodbye to Caroline as she headed to her Boy Scout convention, Izzy, Grace, Lucy, for their competitive sports, and Jessie and Andrea. We missed you guys so much but respect your grind!

Finally, as the summer continued we packed our bags, and hopped in the vans and made our way to crabapple. Obviously – we HAD to stop at the rest stop along the highway. Sophie was dying for McDonald's and everyone else was craving Starbucks, but low and behold – there was no McDonald's or Starbucks…however there was a Burger King AND a Dunkin'!! After Sophie talked so much smack on Burger King, she shamelessly walked over to the rest of the group with her Burger King Crown and her Burger King food. Sophie, you are FAKE for that (but so real honestly). Although you all were expecting a Starbucks, you managed to power through by drinking a Dunkin' coffee instead (ugh our lives are so hard). After our exciting rest stop experience, we got back in the vans and made our way to Crab Apple for our white water rafting extravaganza. The first night there we sang our hearts out with the Friars. The next day we were all so afraid to go whitewater rafting on the river, but it ended up being one of our best group memories of the summer. We conquered our fear and eddied down the river. After our three hour white water rafting, we were welcomed back to Crab Apple with a great steak and veggie burger meal along with yummy brownies. Remember when we saw the Barbie movie? Remember when we got to go shopping in Portland? Excursion was amazing…there's just something so special about experiencing the real world with your camp friends and no phones.

When we got back to camp the tension in the air was HIGH. Anticipating Green & White, we all wore sneakers everywhere. Brooke refused to change for soccer after waterfront, and it turns out, she was right! It broke before lunch with a fire truck, confetti, boats, and Woody on a Jet Ski. It was no Noah Kahan but it did the job! Our captains Marni and Ratner, along with their co-captains Evvy and Eliana, led with ease. All of you brought the heat in your Green & White sports, and Jordana's competitive side came out! Boy can you play hard Jordana. You guys killed every activity in Green & White, but once it was over it was so great to be one big group again. We all appreciated every last moment by jumping off of the tower every chance we got, stargazing on the pickleball courts, making our own Starbucks coffees in the dining hall, sitting at the waterfront together during beautiful sunsets, singing and dancing at meals, playing a scavenger hunt, and indulging on a camp classic – M&M PIZZA!!

As the summer came to a close, we celebrated with a combined founders and awards night. We gave thanks to another year of camp with our "Woody says…COMPOST!" sign and we got the opportunity to celebrate our very own Evvy Boren on her big award. Congrats Evvy! After that, we all snuggled up together on our porch for some snack eating, hot seat, and one last giant sleepover all together in bunk 4 before the best summer of our lives finally came to an end.

My sweet Shires...

I knew this would be the most amazing summer the second you all got out of the cars and the bus. You all were nervous and asked me what this summer would be like with such a small group. I said it would be the best summer ever and I was so right.

Remember the first night when we went to Cozy and Ellie dropped her ice cream on the ground? We made it back in time to watch the first sunset of the summer at the waterfront.

The rest of you arrived the next day and we spent the rainy day unpacking and decorating to make bluff our new home. We embraced the rain for the first EA by walking around camp puddle jumping and making a bucket list for the summer ahead. Thanks to Cate we quickly found our favorite game (queue calabria).

You all never failed to keep activities interesting – from tag in senior waterfront to pickleball queen of the court or playing agag instead of gaga. And we found that there are many perks to a small group, one of which is that we can all fit on one paddle board.

Remember when Sabrina took the marriage game to a whole new level? Remember paddling to the island? We kept rainy evenings busy by watching shows in Woody's cottage and an amazing Tumbler/ Shire makeover!

Ellie's 15th birthday began with some donuts and ended with some delicious mac & cheese with lots of fun in between!

Remember our first big out of camp trip to Diana's Bath with the Bards? We made it back to camp in time for a rest hour pontoon trip!

Remember all of your amazing outfits for the tower fashion show? Reagan and Sabrina really killed that one.

After another rainy day filled with movie watching and hanging out in the bunk, we went bowling with the Arrows and the Bards!

Remember the 4th of July…and the 5th? After two fun days of celebration, we took a sunset pontoon ride! Remember playing calabria in the lake? Remember beach day? We started the day with a van ride dedicated to Speak Now (Taylor's version of course). After the best day in the water and on the beach, we made sure we all did some self care on the bus ride back.

Remember the JC talent show? I loved seeing you all cheer on the amazing acts. Another rainy day at camp was spent doing some reading in the bunk of course, and watching The Summer I Turned Pretty with the Bards at Woodys! Remember the Scout/ Shire makeover? The Scouts did an amazing job of making you all look more beautiful than you already are! The next morning we were sent off to hit the course. After Ellie's hole in one, mini golf quickly turned into mini bowling. That night we made s'mores with the Tumblers before our unforgettable game of fishbowl. The alarm went off at 5:45am and we were ready to swim to the island! Shires can swim! Remember the best day of the summer? We had the best breakfast ever at Peaches before heading to the nail salon to get manicures. A little spa day never hurt anybody. Remember the West End game? Small but mighty, you guys definitely brought the energy! The next night you showed off your incredible dancing talent to the rest of camp! So proud of you all! And of course you can't forget the long awaited arrival of Andrea! You all brought the beachy vibes to the camp social! In the midst of all the PVD prep, we had to stay crazy with Brittany snow day! All of your outfits were crazy cute! You can't forget about fight night! After absolutely killing the rap battle and dance off, you all made us laugh with your skits and showed off your strength with leg wrestling. I had the best time meeting your amazing families at PVD and I'm so glad you all had a chance to get out of camp, relax, and refuel before an amazing second half of the summer! We spent the few days before excursion soaking up the waterfront, pontooning on the main lake, and of course a classic back scav for EA.

Remember Excursion? Bright and early on July 25 we boarded the bus to Boston! The second we stepped off the bus the fun didn't stop! We started off with a duck tour…Quackkkk. After that we took a tour of fenway park! We then walked to Newbury Street before it started pouring. Put on your ponchos! Safe to say I will never forget that walk to dinner! And then the blue men… I have no other words. The next day we started off at the science museum and then to the JFK Museum – Shires are smart! After an afternoon hanging around Castle Island and playing lots of ninja, we had a great dinner at Fire and Ice and then headed to Fenway for a game! Go Sox! Before heading back to camp the next day we had to take a mandatory stop at Treetop Adventures! You all are such amazing climbers! Excursion was so fun and I will never forget it!

As the anticipation for Green & White grew, we had to keep busy. Remember watching the Barbie Movie? We were on to something when we left waterfront to change into sneakers because shortly thereafter, Green & White finally broke! Green & White with such a small group was definitely a different experience for everyone, but you all made it your own and had so much fun with it! I loved coaching so many of your activities and the talent show acts you guys were in! So proud of all of you! After Green & White our family was back together and closer than ever! RBSA! Even though the last day of activities was rainy and cold, we embraced camp and went paddle boarding and jumped off the tower one final time.

Chloe Buckle – Your constant optimism and empathy was extremely beneficial to the group dynamic this summer. Your ability to always see the good in people and your creativity is what makes you so special. I admire your maturity and the way you carry yourself through every situation. Keep coming back! Your passion for camp and for your friends is so strong and I am so excited to see you be a killer Scribe! I love you!

Andrea Lopez – I couldn't be happier that you came to camp this summer. You are such a perfect fit for this group. It's not easy to come into a close group of girls who know each other and the place so well, but you did so effortlessly and I admire that so much. You are such a light and can always make anyone around you smile no matter the situation. Please come back next summer! Camp needs you! I love you!

Sabrina Bruder – It's Sabrina's bathroom and we're all just living in it! It's hard to find a friend that's as loyal and caring as you. You are the most amazing group mate and I know you will always be there for your friends no matter what. Thanks for keeping the group entertained all the time, your laugh is so contagious. And you never fail to make me smile! You are so special and I hope you keep coming back here forever and ever! It's been so amazing getting to know you this summer! I love you!

Reagan Van Horn – You are amazing. I've never met a more selfless and caring person in my life. The way you drop anything to help the people around you is remarkable. Whether it's cleaning the table in the dining hall or comforting a friend when they're sad, you will do anything and everything for the people you love and it's truly amazing. You are going to be the best Scribe and I can't wait to see you thrive next summer! I love you!

Clara Yager – My ray of sunshine! You are the sweetest girl ever. You have the brightest smile that lights up every room you walk into. Getting to know you this summer was the best thing. Your positivity and enthusiasm made every activity better for the whole group. Thanks for always bringing the energy. You love camp and your friends so much and it is so evident. If anyone can be an amazing leader and Scribe, it's you. I can't wait to see you next summer! I love you!

To my Shires...

I don't even know where to start. This was the best summer of my life and I owe it all to you. You guys are my people. Thank you for making me feel like a camper again every day and making sure I never take myself too seriously. You make me smile and laugh harder than anyone else. I am infinitely grateful that I got to be your GL this summer because you are the most amazing people I've ever met. I'm so proud of you all for the energy you brought this summer, for showing your true love for camp every day, and for fully embracing every minute of this summer despite the different circumstances. Each of you are here for a reason, and this place needs you more than anything. I cannot wait to see you all be the best leaders next summer. The Realm is in the best hands I'm so glad that I have seven new best friends for life. I love you all more than anything and I'm here for you no matter what.

GOOD MORNING SCRIBES!!!

You know what that means! Everybody up! Let's go...because it's SCRIBE SUMMERRRR. Gotta go count all the bees and chase all the clouds. It's a Scribes world and everyone else is just living in it. The rain's coming down but we're coming down stronger. From the moment you arrived I knew I was making 23 best friends for life. Scriberia is our home forever and I am so lucky to have you all forever.

HERE'S TO THE BEST SUMMER OF OUR LIVES!

Remember Day 0 when we started our Scribe song? I knew from then you were going to be the perfect Scribes. Remember THE FIRST furry friend that came to visit? I wonder whose fault that was…Bulldog. Remember when Marlena and I tanned in the rain? Or when Ava Serafino had a little sagging action during soccer? #london #france Remember when you guys threw me a surprise party and I actually didn't know about it? Whoever screamed ALL SCRIBES OVER HERE needs some work though… and let's also not talk about the back scav version of the surprise. Remember when that Chipotle trip turned into a fever dream? Noco Chipotle is canceled forever. Remember when our first lemonade stand was the talk of the town…and not in a good way? Remember Nora's bee in a cup turned into a baseball period? Or when Abby's Brookside started raining in the middle of the night? Remember when the Fourth of July turned into the Fifth of July the moment after you got dressed? TWO FOURTHS IS BETTER THAN ONE. Remember when the face paint was acrylic… oops.

I'll never forget when the Scraxons created one of the best mosh pits North Conway has ever seen. Bruce will remember you forever. Remember when we had a little morning visitor that jumped on everyone's beds. Yeahhhh that wasn't Ceci scratching your head Mandy…#alvin Remember when you had photo scav but instead of actually doing it you just took pictures with random people and told them they were on it. Bulldog again.

I'm SURE you all would never ever forget Mount Washington, as much as you might like to. Kidding because it was one of the most memorable days of the whole summer. Your faces when Trips Sam said no trolley. Lylas on the leaderboard! You guys all slayed it up and down and it will be a day we'll all remember forever. The hail was a bit unnecessary though.

Remember when Noa was munching on a frosted cookie at 7am? And we'll never forget the megaphone beef. Beat West End right? July was on the rocks for sure, but Lady Gaga carried us to shore. Nora probably has a sore throat though. Remember pajama jump with the boys? The heavy t-shirts were so worth it. Remember the best day we've ever had at Ceci's house. I don't think we've ever said "this is the best day ever" so many times in one day. Ivy is fully prepared to fight a shark and I don't think she'll ever let anyone forget it.

PVD came around and the dining hall sadly felt a little emptier, but Scriberia kept all residents loud and proud! The bunk was so clean that day it was actually scary. I woke up and was like where am I? You guys had such a fun night and then woke up the next day to spend what felt like five hours packing for excursion! Classic. WE GOIN'TO CAPE COD BADDIES.

We all hopped onto the 6am bus that was really 7am and headed four hours to P-town. Remember Paula eating her salad in the middle of the night? She really held down the fort. Remember when we all went surfing and every one of you got up? It's Giving Ross Lynch. Remember when Julia Baumoel was in one corner and angry middle aged mom was in the other? Remember the bus ride home? I was scared. We got back to camp and with a quick turnaround around it was Green & White!!!

This Green & White was one of your best and you all reflected such maturity and poise with every activity. At the end you all came together and sang your song and cried your tears. You played every game from the heart but kept your cool in the end and I admire you guys so much for that. I was so proud. You all wrote incredible Scribe speeches that touched all of Girls' Camp and left remarkable impacts on so many camper careers.

As our time at camp came to end, the bittersweet feelings hit. We never wanted to part, but our memories from this summer have become a part of us and will sustain us. I cannot wait for you all to come back and be amazing counselors and make your mark on The Realm. You all mean so much to me and am so grateful for the 23 best friends I made this summer. I know we will be friends forever.

Love, Jessie

Julia Baumoel – PRINCESS JUUUBE.
I have no words to describe you. You light up every room you walk into. It's actually bringing tears to my eyes thinking about how much you positively affect others around you. Your loud and silly energy is so contagious and you make the most out of everything you do, and teach others to do so. You truly embody camp and every special thing about it and I feel such relief knowing camp has you forever. You are going to be the next Chuck one day I know it. I cannot wait to watch you become the strong, beautiful leader you were always meant to be. You have such an impact on the group and Girls' Camp and I know you will continue to until you eventually lead half of the entire camp. I am so proud of you. I love you.

Eliza Bloom – ELIZA BRO WHERE DO I BEGIN? You already know what I'm about to say. Actually everything that comes out of your mouth is too funny. It's admirable how you bring your humor to anything and always bring everyone up in that way. Whether it's a gloomy rainy day or a bright sunny waterfront period, you're always making the people around you happy and giggly. I love how you're always yourself and have such a silly side but can also totally keep your mature composure. You're going to be an amazing counselor and keep Girls' Camp so silly. I have so much faith leaving knowing you're there. I'll literally never forget AVI it makes me laugh every time I think about it and please try to think of what that other thing was from that lower bball period because it's still driving me crazy. I'm laughing just thinking about you. I love you.

Meadow Brunelli – You are crazy and we all know it, but that's why we love you!!! You make everything loud and fun and always know how to bring the energy. You are a friend to everyone and know how to keep such a positive attitude about everything. I loved when the Jesters would come and jump on you at the meals because I got to watch you be such a natural leader.
I pray and hope and manifest that you can come back next summer because I know you would be actually so perfect on staff. You had such an impact on so many girls this summer and the group wouldn't be the same without you. I wouldn't want to wake up anyone else at 6:45 and have them JOLT AWAKE. You are such a BEAST and so inspiring and as much as I love watching you ski with no hands, I can't wait to watch you SKI PRO one day. I love you.

Abby Carneal – ABBBBYYYYY BRUH.
I value every second of the time we had together. You are such a special girl. There is truly never a dull moment with you.
You bring the most chaotic but amazing energy everywhere you go. You are loud and passionate with everything you do and I love that so much about you. I could spend forever with you doing nothing and would never get bored. Your genuine care for those around you is so apparent and anyone in the group would say they love to be around you. You make people feel so loved and cared for and that's an amazing energy to give. You are literally a beast and you know I love the way you run. I miss your sneaky smile, you know the one. I am so so proud of the person you have grown into and the lessons you have learned. I wish we could make one last smoothie but we will one day. I am so happy you're coming back and I know you will be the best counselor there ever was. I love you.

Ava Charney – We've been waiting for this one. From the moment I became your counselor Arrow summer, there's been no going back. Watching you grow into the loud, hilarious, beautiful girl you are has been such a privilege. You are crazy and you know it, everyone on camp knows it. But that's what makes you so so special. Your crazy energy is so contagious and brings joy to so many people. I admire your constant energy and persistence in being your true, authentic self. You are what camp needs the most and I am so happy you're there to teach young girls how to be their silly selves and never hold that side in. Just shed a tear check! Camp wouldn't be camp without Ava Charney. I love you. Popop bag forever.

Seven Danziger – I loved every second I got to spend with you. You are really just such a beautiful girl inside and out. You weren't always the loudest but you brought such a fun and humorous energy to every room and everyone in the group would back me up on that. Your humor is elite and everything that comes out of your mouth is funny. You just know how to get us. You are such an essential part of the group and your presence was missed immensely when you were gone. You have grown into such a mature girl since arrow summer and I've loved watching that. I am so proud of everything you have done and gotten through and I can't wait to see you back in the place you belong next summer. I love you.

Rebecca Ger – I have too much to say. You are truly an amazing person. Your genuine care for others is apparent in everything you do. You think of other people but also know how to do things that are good for you. Your camp road was a bit rocky for a sec but you hopped right back in and grew into such an amazing person. I'm so happy camp has you now forever because you belong there, and the group wouldn't be complete without you. I will literally never forget EDM. How much wood could a woodchuck chuck if a woodchuck could chuck wood, it's too good. I miss our boat rides and practically flying out of the boat together. Small queens for life. I love you.

Noa Goldman – You are one of a kind. You carry yourself with such grace and put so much thought into everything you do. You are the definition of empathetic. You constantly think about how others feel or what they are going through and go out of your way to assist them. You care so much about your friends and even people you don't know that well. Simultaneously, you have such an outgoing, crazy side that is so contagious. You're never not dancing or singing and you embody the silliness of camp. I'm so proud of the person I have watched you grow into and I admire you every day. I can't wait to watch you be such a strong counselor and I hope you come back forever. I'll never forget when we found that lucky penny and then the bag ripped. Or when you were munching on a frosted sugar cookie at 7am. Matilda forever. I love you.

Audrey Gore – GRAPEYYYY. My gluten free queen. Thank god I had you this summer to stand with me at the door. I'm actually getting emotional writing this because I love you so much. You have the biggest heart and always make others around you so happy. You have such a silly side but also know how to be cool, calm, and collected. You're such an essential piece of the group and bring such a fun but chill energy. I'll literally never forget when the boat was flooded and the guy started spooning it out with his singular hand. Or remember when you sat on Melissa. Call Morgan up and tell her you want your speaker back because that thing never left your side. I can't wait to see you be the amazing counselor I know you'll be. I love you so much and would do anything for one more walk to the door together. I love you.

Asha Kumar – ASHA BABBBYYYYY. You are so so special. You truly care so much about the people around you and have the biggest heart. You always put others before yourself and are honest and genuine. You make me laugh so hard and I love every second I spend around you, and it's clear the group feels the same way. I'm so proud of the way you stood your ground and bounced back after some rocky parts of the summer. You really demonstrated such an admirable resilience and positivity that gave such strength to the whole group in a harder time. You really held your own. I'll miss our silly bedtime chats. Please come back to camp forever because it won't be the same without you Asha. I love you.

Jeanine Lengele – JHA NEEEEEN. You are perfection. I admire you more than you know for coming to a place where only like four people spoke your first language. But you conquered it like a champ and I am truly so impressed and proud of you. You fit into the group so so well and are literally so cool. You are main character vibes. I loved spending time with you and getting to know you more and I am so happy I got to be your group leader. You carry yourself with so much grace but can also be so silly and I love that about you. You have such a fun side of singing and dancing that is contagious. I loved listening to your French music and getting to know more about your life. I hope you come back on staff because I know you'd love it. I love you.

Cami Merino – CAMIIIII. You are so special. I was so lucky to meet you and be your counselor this year because you are really just so amazing. You made me laugh so much and are always so caring and compassionate. You are thoughtful about others and their feelings and such a great role model. I admire your strength in coming to camp for so many years from so far away but you truly fit so perfectly into the group.

You are a friend to everyone and always make the person you're talking to feel listened to. That is an extraordinary quality. I loved every moment I spent talking to you and I am so excited for you to be on staff because I know you'll be amazing. Seeing your bond with Emilia the Bow made me so so happy and she looked up to you so much. Never change because your impact is strong. I love you.

Ivy Olynick – Where do I begin? You are truly the best friend ever. It is so clear you care so much for the people around you always go out of your way to make other people feel good. You know everyone in Girls' Camp and everyone in Girls' Camp knows you. You're so personable and I love every second I'm around you. You have the biggest heart and everyone in the group can see it and feels the love. Thanks to you everyone is fully prepared to fight a shark. My fear of large bodies of water is slightly less scary now. I'll also never forget Chris at campfire. Iykyk. Never ever change because you have such a beautiful impact on the people around you and Girls' Camp wouldn't be the same without you. I love you.

Mandy Rosenfeld – Where do I even start? There are too many funny things you have said. Every single person in the group knows exactly what I mean when I say you are a wild card. You are truly so fun to be around because you keep everyone on their toes. You are so caring and giving and always making people around you laugh. You bring so much joy and laughter to the group and I am so happy to have experienced that this summer. Everything that comes out of your mouth is funny. You know we'll never forget when you asked if we could shower for ea and I said no and you said no we can shower or no we can't shower. And no, imputed viruses can't spread. But don't worry I'll always be confused with you <3. Never change because you bring such good energy everywhere you go and I know your future campers will love you so much. I love you.

Gillian Rosenstock – Gillllllian you are truly one of a kind. You radiate so much love and compassion at all times. You make me laugh so hard and always know how to bring up the mood. Even though your shelf was in a really weird spot, I loved having it next to mine. Except I never told you this one time during Green & White you weren't there I spilled your coffee all over the ground sorry. Actually I'm not because I cleaned it. Anyways, I always loved watching the Jesters come up and jump on you and Meadow during the meals because I got to see how good of a counselor you're going to be. I can't wait for you to come back and fall in love with being on staff because you're clearly made for it. I love you.

Marlena Krnic – MARRRR MARRR. Where'd you go?!!! The time we had together was so fun. I was so lucky to watch you fall in love with camp this summer and I was so sad you didn't stay for the whole thing. I'll never forget when we went sun tanning…in the rain. At least we did it together so we looked a bit less stupid. You were always calm, cool, and collected but knew what you wanted and went for it. I hope you take with you what you've learned and experienced at camp and cherish the friendships you made forever.

TO MY STAFF

Ellen and Melissa – I am so lucky to have had you both by my side this summer. You bring such a comforting energy to any room and I know every Scribe loved you so much. You're so sweet and I could tell you cared so much. Thank you for such a great summer.

Gives Back Day

As we have done every summer since 2012, we pause on this day to celebrate and to call attention to the notion of giving back to our community and to the world in many different and creative ways.

The idea behind Robin Hood Gives Back Day is to take some time to reflect on how lucky we are to be able to enjoy all that camp has to offer, to enjoy each other, and to get immersed in our little world where we can quite easily forget the real world and its issues for a little while.

Matt from World of Change came over this summer to help us with all of that. He arrived with his custom pick-up truck that has a little chalet-style coin depository on the back. There are six individual coin slots on the back representing six different charitable categories including food, housing, health care, animal care, education and play. He made his way to the stage and in a very engaging manner he talked to us about the difference every one of us could make with our spare change. He told us that Americans have millions of dollars of spare change in their homes. He told us that one in five children suffered from food insecurity in the United States, and that a quarter could buy one of them a meal. Matt talked about how we can help provide backpacks with school supplies for children in need with our spare change, buy beds and help provide housing, provide access to health care and even help animals in shelters. He got us thinking about what kind of a charities we would donate to, if we had the opportunity. Then we armed our campers with hundreds of quarters and let them do just that! They decided which category they wanted to fund and began. They were very deliberate in their choices and honestly put a lot of thought into it as they put the quarters in the slots. We were so proud of them. At one point a little boy dropped a quarter on the ground by accident. His friend picked it up, handed it to him and said "Hey that's a meal you just dropped on the ground!" The message had definitely landed well. We all received bracelets from World of Change with the email address printed on it in the event that someone would want to get the World of Change truck to come to their school for a community service opportunity at home. In the event that you would like to know more about WOC here is their website: https://www.worldofchange.world. We are so grateful to be part of this process that inspires and empowers kids to help others, even in small ways, like with their spare change.

It was a great day!

GREEN & WHITE 2023

If you thought we would go a summer without everyone's favorite event, Green & White, think again! After all groups returned from excursions, tensions were high as chants of 'Green & White' rang throughout the dining hall at every meal. Finally, on July 30th, a siren pierced the tranquil and relaxing feeling of The Realm. This could only mean one thing: Green & White was breaking!

A FIRE TRUCK PULLED INTO CAMP BLARING ITS SIRENS for all of camp to hear as kids stormed out of their cabins not wanting to miss a moment of this much anticipated event. Green & White confetti poured from the sky and campers didn't miss a beat when they were called to the Waterfront for the second part of the break. On the shores of Ossipee, campers chanted as Woody and Josh Podl rode a Jet Ski around the bend of the lake and into view of the packed Waterfront. Finally, three pontoon boats with judges from years past sped laps around the Waterfront as giant Green & White flags whipping in the wind followed on the backs of the boats. When the judges touched land and Woody proclaimed the start of Green & White, we all knew the next five days would be days we would never forget.

This led us to the awaited moment of the counselor captain reveal. Six captains were announced. In the end, Javi Gushue, Maggie Shanahan, and Jules Taylor Kerman captained the White Raptors. For the Eternal Green, Elisabeth Charney, Jessie Zweifler, and Jack Shanahan were tasked with leading their team to victory.

The timing of the break allowed for a new slate of activities in the afternoon of Day 0. To kick off the war, our three youngest boys and girls groups competed in various activities in front of the whole camp. In addition, two campers from each team competed in a game of chess while campers from each team competed in a time trial of Rubix Cube. The vibes were electric on the fields in the afternoon of Day 1! After a hard-fought afternoon slate of activities, the score at the end of Day 0 was White 185 and Green not far behind at 125. Green did not hang their head with this deficit as they won Day 1 by 25. The White did all they could to win Day 1 as they swept all three volleyball matches in the evening. By the time afternoon activities concluded on Day 1, the score was White 849 and Green 750, a margin of 99 to the White. Green woke up feeling motivated on Day 2 and dominated the swim meet by a margin of 78. However, in the afternoon White made it clear they preferred the land over the water. In the activities at rest hour White won by a margin of 30 and in the afternoon their momentum continued as they won the afternoon activities by 100. The end of Day 2 left us with a score of 1,655 to 1,488 in favor of the White team – a margin of 167.

Would Green make a comeback? Would White run away with the war? Only time would tell. At the track meet White continued to pull ahead. While Green did demonstrate more team spirit at the track meet, White still won by 45. Night 3 was highlighted by the talent show, an event where both junior and senior camp must perform a glee song, a skit, and a dance. Both teams performed admirably! The margin heading into Day 4 was 142 to the White.

Day 4 gave campers two activities, one in the morning and one after lunch. Teams then had the opportunity to practice their songs for Song Night, an emotional event of Green & White as it is the last event before the final scores are read. Before the staff events in the evening, it was time for the flag presentations and the anticipated flag reveal. Both teams executed creative, memorable presentations. In the end, Green won points for both the presentation and the flag. Congratulations to all the flag makers for constructing such beautiful flags that will live on forever in Chuck's Playhouse. For the evening event, both the female and male staff played intense basketball games under the lights at our premier court next to Chuck's Playhouse. White took both these games which made the margin entering Day 5, 252 to the White.

Bigger comebacks have been staged and the Green team did not give up. After a morning slate of activities that saw White make a small gain on Green, it was time for tug of war. This year, each camper group had one tug, as opposed to best of three. The intensity did not waver as campers pulled their hearts out for their group and for their team. Green took the majority of tugs and won by 35 which led us into Song Night with a margin capable of being overcome. Judges placed themselves on the stage, ready to hear teams sing about their love for camp. Both teams sang magnificently and memorably. As fate would have it, Green almost swept Song Night and all the points associated with it. Tensions were high as the score was read as both teams knew that the outcome of the war would come down to the judges' votes. In the end the final score was…White 3,339 and Green 3,407.

Final Score: Green 3,407 | White 3,339
A margin of 68 to the Eternal Green!

Green 3,407/ White 3,339

– Margin of 68 to the Eternal Green –

Congratulations to both teams on such an amazing war and we cannot wait to see you all compete next year!
