Camp Robin Hood

19 RH 27

YEARBOOK

2025

FOR THE 98TH CONSECUTIVE SUMMER, children from around the world came to our summer home in Freedom, NH – the large majority of whom were returning campers eager to reconnect with campers and staff, with joyful anticipation of the fun ahead of them. Our new campers arrived with both excitement and uncertainty; but as we like to say, strangers become friends, and friends become family. By the flag pole and dinner the first night, it was clear this adage is true. The energy, excitement and connectedness were already palpable, and continued throughout the summer. Since 1927, children have traveled to CRH to enjoy a wholesome old fashioned summer camp experience, make lifelong friendships and create unforgettable memories…which is incredibly inspiring.

The key to everyone's success is the incredible staff who assemble each summer. This past summer, all but one general counselor was a returning camper. These passionate, dedicated and enthusiastic keepers of The Realm bring their own experiences to everything we do at Camp Robin Hood. Like Chuck Illig, who celebrated his 60th summer at The Realm last summer, they continue the circle of giving…striving every day to make sure campers have a consistently exceptional experience each summer.

While ensuring campers have the time of their lives in an inclusive and welcoming setting, for close to a century The Realm has continued teaching the same basic principles for character development and personal growth: respect for oneself and others; integrity; accountability; and most importantly, compassion and empathy. Before every meal we say the words, "Make us ever mindful for the needs of others." We appreciate that families send their children to CRH to not only experience new adventures and learn new skills, but also to take back home with them values and beliefs that will make the world a better place.

As you read through the pages of our yearbook, remember the summer of 2025 as one consistent with the blueprint for success that Andy Friedman started 98 summers ago. As much as the world has changed since then, we swim in the same lake; compete on the same sports fields; climb the same mountains; celebrate the Fourth of July; and share three meals a day together as a family. Our Green & White drone break was one for the ages, ending as always with song night. We celebrated Andy's birthday while honoring those who spent many summers at The Realm during the closing ceremonies on our final night.

I cannot wait for our 99th summer to begin next June. Camp is a privilege, and I hope both parents and campers realize how life-changing the experience is. My parents gifted me with this unique, remarkable experience, and I hope it becomes a cherished legacy for your family as well.

Thank you for making Camp Robin Hood so special by being part of our family; it means the world to us.

My Best, Woody

OPENING DAY 2025

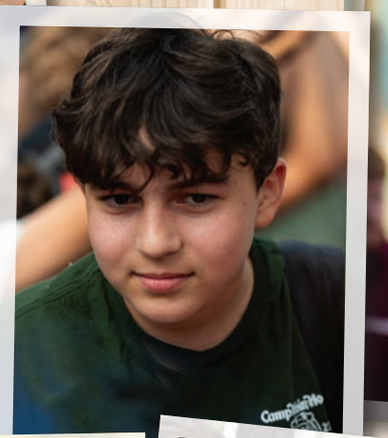

The Realm WELCOMES Everyone!

TINKERS/PAGERS

Felix Cheney, Rodrigo De la Vega, Eli Gray, Adam Haggerty, Evan Murphy, Pierce Rosenberger, Bailey Rosenthal, Zachary Ross, Robert Sandor, West Serrano, Wyatt Shattan, Luca Squires, Greyson Webber.
STAFF: Peter Torocsik, Diego Blandon, Adam Hand, Ingve Karlsen, Eli Perrino, Calum Rodin, Gavyn Shepard.

Thank you for the laughs, the effort, the late-night talks, the energy, and the memories. You made this summer something we'll carry with us for a long, long time. I'm proud of every one of you!

Opening Day kicked off an unforgettable summer as the Tinker Pagers arrived wide-eyed, excited, and ready to dive into the magic of Camp Robin Hood. The tone was set right away – Wyatt and Eli were the first two campers to arrive, and within ten seconds, they were already cracking jokes and becoming fast friends. That instant connection captured what this group would become: welcoming, tight-knit, and full of spirit.

We jumped into camp life with the Staff Talent Show in the Barn, where I performed in an a cappella act with the other male group leaders. The cheers were deafening – and no one was louder than Rodrigo, who hyped me up like I was on a world tour. You guys made me feel supported and confident, and I'll never forget that moment. The 4th of July was a full-on celebration packed with water slides, bounce houses, a beach party, carnival games, and an epic dance party. Pierce was everywhere that day – racing between activities, dancing like crazy, and spreading joy the entire time. The whole group made the day unforgettable.

At the Junior Camp Talent Show, the Tinkers brought their A-game. Evan absolutely lit up the stage, and Zach brought charisma and energy that had the entire Barn on their feet. Whether performing or cheering each other on, you showed just how creative and confident this group really is.

FNOO – For the Needs of Others was a powerful night. With guidance from our very own Juggler group, who came up with the charity we'd play for, we took to the field with purpose. Competing for something bigger than ourselves made every point matter more – and the effort you all gave was inspiring.

When it came to intercamp sports, the Tinker Pagers were proud to have Pierce, Felix, Bailey, and Rodrigo step up and represent our group. You showed grit, sportsmanship, and camp pride in every game, and we couldn't have asked for better ambassadors.

We hit the trails hard this summer, but nothing topped conquering Green Mountain together. That climb tested us, but you crushed it – and getting Cozy Corner afterward made it all the sweeter. That mix of exhaustion, pride, and reward was the kind of camp memory I'll never forget.

SYTYCD [So You Think You Can Dance] turned the Barn into a party, and Pierce and Felix brought moves that blew us all away. Whether dancing front and center or hyping from the crowd, the Tinkers turned it into a night to remember.

And of course who could forget when the legendary chant "Scotty doesn't know!" was born? It echoed through the bunk, on the fields, in the Barn – everywhere. And no one embraced it more than Gavyn, who especially loved hearing it yelled outside the bunk at 6:30 in the morning. That line became a battle cry, a joke, and a part of Tinker Pager lore.

Speaking of phrases…the word "tubular" may or may not have been officially banned in the Tinker Pagers bunk this summer. And let's just say, Wyatt may or may not have had something to do with it. We'll leave it at that.

Our beach trip to White Lake State Park was the perfect day of sun and swimming. You guys had an absolute blast in the water all afternoon – and to cap it off, we somehow managed to each walk away with what felt like $20 worth of candy and soda. No better way to end a day than sugar, lake water, and smiles.

To Rodrigo, Eli, and Pierce – our awesome 4-weekers – thank you for the joy, humor, and warmth you brought to the first half of camp. You helped shape this group into what it became, and we felt your absence every day after. And the night before you left? Who could forget the legendary pillow fight that took over the bunk. Feathers may not have flown, but the laughter, chaos, and energy definitely did. It was the perfect send-off, packed with friendship, fun, and maybe a few sneak attacks from the top bunks.

To those who stayed the full session – you kept us moving forward. You became the glue of the group, and I'm so proud of how much you grew as people and teammates.

PV Day gave you the chance to show your families what this place means to you – and let's be honest, those cookies were life-changing. A top-tier moment of the summer, no question.

Then came the madness of Green & White Break, and once G&W began, the Tinker Pagers exploded with spirit. Bailey and West earned their spots as captains, and Felix and Zach stepped up as co-captains leading with confidence, focus, and heart. Both teams fought with everything they had, pushing themselves to the limit in every event, every cheer, every performance. But in the end, the mighty Green Paradise had to bow down to the greatness of White Heist, who took the crown in a hard-fought, unforgettable war.

Felix Cheney – Your athleticism and drive stood out all summer long. You brought intensity to every activity and always had your head in the game, whether on the field or during bunk competitions. Beyond that, your leadership potential is clear – you've got what it takes to go far here. Keep pushing yourself, and there's no doubt you'll become a standout in the years ahead.

Rodrigo de la Vega – You brought energy, passion, and volume – in the best way possible. Whether it was cheering me on at Staff Talent or going all-out during events, your spirit was unmatched. You were always ready to give 110%, whether on the field, in the bunk, or during a chant. Your personality made a big impact in just a few short weeks.

Eli Gray – You were one of the first to arrive, and right from the start, you jumped in like you'd been here for years. Your kindness and ability to connect with everyone helped set the tone for an incredibly close-knit group. Whether it was joking around, cheering others on, or just being present in the moment, you made your mark. We missed you every day after the 4-week mark.

Adam Haggerty – You were a consistent, kind presence from the very start. Always willing to participate, help out, or lift someone's mood, you made the group stronger just by being yourself. You didn't need to be the loudest to be one of the most appreciated members of the bunk. I could always count on you to do the right thing and treat everyone with respect.

Evan Murphy – You might be one of the youngest in the group, but you brought a level of confidence and personality well beyond your years. Whether it was on stage during the talent show or just being silly in the bunk, you were never afraid to put yourself out there. Your energy, humor, and fearless attitude made a huge impact. Watching a six-year-old own the room the way you did was something special.

Pierce Rosenberger – Your athleticism is off the charts – you were always giving it your all and showing just how much talent you bring to the table. Whether it was sports, dance, or just keeping the energy up, you made your mark. You were a huge part of the group, and we all noticed when you left. Here's hoping you're back for the full seven weeks next summer – you belong here.

Bailey Rosenthal – You've got serious potential – not just as an athlete, but as a leader too. Whether on the field or in the bunk, your competitive spirit and natural ability always shined through. You were a key part of our group's success, especially during the biggest moments of the summer. I can't wait to see how much you grow in the years ahead.

Zach Ross – This being your third summer at Robin Hood, it was clear how much camp means to you – and how much you mean to this group. You brought leadership, experience, and so much heart to every part of the session. Whether it was during Green & White or just messing around in the bunk, you always gave your best. I hope to see you continue growing into one of the greats here.

Robert Sandor – Your energy was off the charts from the moment you arrived. Loud, hilarious, and always in the middle of the action, you kept the bunk on its toes in the best way possible. Whether you were making everyone laugh, starting chaos (the good kind), or hyping people up, you brought nonstop entertainment to the group. Camp wouldn't have been nearly as fun without your wild spirit and big personality. Make sure you keep learning Hungarian.

West Serrano – Your kindness and character made a lasting impression on everyone around you. You always treated others with respect and brought a calm, thoughtful presence to the group. Your positive attitude and big heart were felt in every moment, whether during activities or in the quiet downtime. You're a truly special person, and this place is better with you in it.

Wyatt Shattan – From the second you stepped foot in the bunk, you brought non-stop energy, personality, and a whole lot of laughter. You kept the vibe alive whether we were walking to breakfast or just hanging out at night. Sure, you may or may not be the reason "tubular" got banned, but you wore that badge with pride. Camp wouldn't have been the same without your wild spirit and big heart.

Luca Squires – You had a quiet strength and a laid-back charm that made you a calming presence in the bunk. You were always down to join in, go with the flow, and keep things fun without ever forcing it. Whether it was a hike, a trip to the lake, or late-night laughs, you were always solid. Thanks for being such a steady and positive part of the group.

Greyson Webber – For being only six years old, you fit in like a seasoned camper. Your sense of humor, adventurous spirit, and fearless participation in everything we did made you a standout. You jumped right into every activity with a huge smile and brought laughs wherever you went. You reminded us all that age doesn't define impact – because you made a big one.

To my incredible staff-

Thank you. Your energy, commitment, and patience made this group what it was. Whether you were solving bunk chaos, leading activities, calming nerves, or just being there when someone needed a friend, you were the backbone of the Tinker Pagers. I couldn't have asked for a better team to spend the summer with – thank you for everything you did, both seen and unseen.

Adam Hand – Whether building something or just being there for us, you added a unique spark to everything. You brought a great mix of reliability and kindness.

Diego Herrera – You made arts and crafts fun, expressive, and full of life. Your creativity helped the kids feel free to be themselves.

Ingve Karlson – You held it down at the waterfront and brought steady leadership and calm to every chaotic moment. The campers looked up to you, and so did I.

Eli Perino – Your energy, humor, and ability to connect with the campers helped shape the culture of our group. You always had our backs.

Cal Rodin – Quietly reliable, thoughtful, and kind, you were the glue when things got crazy. You brought warmth and care to the kids and the staff alike.

Jacob Shapiro – Always ready to jump in wherever needed, your versatility and easygoing vibe made a huge difference in the day-to-day.

Gavyn Shephard – "Scotty doesn't know!" was only one of the many ways you brought the hype. Your passion and love for camp were felt every day.

JUGGLERS OF 2025

YOU MADE THIS THE BEST SUMMER OF MY LIFE. YOUR ENERGY, HUMOR, AND COMPETITIVENESS ARE EXACTLY WHAT CAMP NEEDS AND I KNOW YOU ALL ARE SUPER SPECIAL. I LOVE YOUR GROUP ENDLESSLY AND CAN'T WAIT TO SEE YOU ALL KEEP COMING BACK.

OPENING DAY WAS A BLAST! We played Jackpot and Capture the Flag before welcoming the rest of the group coming off the NY and Boston buses, and then ended the day strong with a great EA – sharks and minnows!

Remember when we learned how to joy-bait others on the first day? Who knew you all could be so polite! Or who could forget about when Rusty locked in at senior waterfront and got everyone (including the counselors) off the inflatables. You guys killed blitzball every time we went – remember the one period where 6-7 of you hit dingers out of the park? It was a clear sign we needed to try softball as a group because you guys were too good!

Remember the Staff Talent Show? You all got a kick out of your staff performing on stage during the show! We were glad we could give you all a few laughs.

Do you guys remember the crazy heatwave at the start of the summer, and how during it we hiked the tallest mountain in all of New Hampshire! Just kidding, it wasn't really that big – but with how hot it was outside it definitely was a formidable challenge. We were rewarded with some well deserved ice cream at Cozy Corner on the way back. I can't wait to hear all about your future camp hikes as you get older.

Who could forget when we defeated West End at dodgeball in the house? We took a pit stop once again for Cozy Corner on the way back before showing off our trophy to the entire camp. Shoutout to Jack for building a super cool trophy case so it can be displayed for years to come. And remember when we went to Kenwood and beat them in every activity? There seriously is no stopping you guys when it comes to giving your all in every competition.

Remember our sunset pizza party by the waterfront for Sacha's birthday? Or how about our mini-golfing trip with the TP's? I love seeing you all compete, like when we challenged the Tumblers to kickball. Remember our game of gold rush by the waterfront? I bet there are still some tennis balls hiding around there, because you guys hid them so well! Remember when you guys would go around rage-baiting counselors at meals? Your staff loved seeing you have so much fun as a group. Or how about when you guys played a game of indoor baseball in the bunk. At least that time you didn't break the light!

Remember all the fun we had on the 4th of July? We started the afternoon with a beach party, and followed it up with whipped cream fights, the marriage booth, and so much more! We wrapped up the day having fun on the home run diamond with the inflatables and bouncy castle – and who could forget the dunk tank!

Remember the FNOO challenge cup? We chose our charity to honor Blake, and Mason and Nathan worked extra hard on our sign. We took a hard loss to the Quills, but I was so proud of your guys' effort – you almost won!

Who remembers our trip to White Lake? We played a giant, Junior Camp boys game of dragon tales before enjoying some candy and ice cream on the beach. It was some much needed relaxation before So You Think You Can Dance the next day – and who could ever forget our 3 minutes and 30 seconds long dance? Michael and David displayed some great acting during Nokia, and the rest of you all bought in and absolutely killed the dance. I'm so glad you all had a blast both learning and performing it. One day when you are older, I hope you will look back at it proudly and laugh.

Remember our game of Make Your Counselors Laugh for EA at the barn? The lineup is my favorite part – I love seeing you all get a chance to show off your humor and creativity on your own. Remember our first game of hockey in the rink? It quickly became one of our favorite activities and I'm glad we kept playing throughout the summer. And remember when Blake stopped to say hi the night before PVD and you all swarmed him before he could even reach the bunk? I know you guys can't wait to have him back soon!

It was so nice meeting all of your parents on visiting day. We had a great flag football game, taught your parents how to play 9-square, and then cooled off in the lake. I loved how enthusiastic you all were about showing your parents around both the bunk and the entire camp.

Who remembers when David found out tick marks were fake just after PVD? Wait – you guys didn't know that happened??? I guess I'll get back to that later. Remember when we played a game of Assassin in the rain? Or when we went swimming at Woody's house with the TPs? You guys did a great job picking the energy back up right after PVD – Who could forget about our intense blitzball game right before Green & White? You guys gave it your all in the field and neither team had an easy time scoring. I think that was when I knew you guys would kill G&W. Remember when Mason figured out when G&W would break by tricking Woody? We had a pretty strong feeling it was going to break the next night, but before Color War could happen, it was time for our excursion. We loaded up on the school bus and headed to Story Land. Remember all the cool roller coasters we did? Or how about how soaking wet you all got on the two water rides? I hope the slushies and candy are not all you remember, because we had a blast! We got McDonald's for dinner on the way back, and got some ice cream too!

It was so exciting hanging around the barn with you all waiting eagerly for the break to happen – and it more than lived up to our expectations. Some of you probably ran the fastest you have all summer – not even your counselors could keep up with you! The drone show was unforgettable, and I'm glad you all enjoyed it so much! The war itself more than delivered – Green & White was so much fun! I loved seeing you all so fired up, and I was even more proud of how respectful and kind you were to each other all five days. Never once when we got to the bunk did it feel like the bunk was divided into two teams. You all killed it, and I know you will continue to be great in G&W every year as long as you compete, and bring that same level of respect and togetherness that you did this year. You all deserve a round of applause.

Remember our sandcastle building competition on Lazy Day? You guys gave it your all – shoutout to Michael for finding some very unique resources in the nearby woods. It may not have been our most active activity, but you all bought in and had a great time. I hope in the future you try other things you might not be so thrilled about at first, because who knows! Maybe you will enjoy it just as much as our sandcastle building competition. Remember our second great other rainy day activity – when we played a game of freeze tag around camp in the rain? Some of you were frozen in the funniest spots, and we all got a kick out of seeing you stranded waiting for your groupmates' help. Your guys' willingness to find fun on rainy days is what will make your group so special – they always say that you never want\ to waste a minute at camp, and I can tell you guys understand that!

JUGGLERS

Remember when we took out all the basketballs at the waterfront and threw alley-oops to each other? You guys had a ton of fun – but I think our best water period of the summer was pajama jumping. You guys went nuts when we announced the EA and clearly had a blast. And wait, do you guys remember what happeneduhhh at 9-square? Or when some of you got in the boats in the rain to go tubing. Good thing we brought sweaters and towels to stay warm on the boat! Remember building our beach chairs for founders night. Jack, Michael, Mason, and Nathan worked super hard with Tom and I to build the chairs, and the whole group chipped in to paint them. It was a whole group effort and the camp was super impressed with your work! Who could forget when David was finally allowed to tell you guys tick marks weren't real the whole time right before camp ended??? You guys claimed you knew all along – stop lying, no you did not. Remember when you pooled your resources and built an epic fort?

You guys managed to build that while also building our beach chairs for Founders Night at the same time! I hope you guys are just as excited to use them at the waterfront next summer as I am. Remember when your counselors surprised you with some midnight McDonald's? I'm not sure it was better than the chocolate covered strawberries at the banquet dinner on the last night, though. And finally, remember the last night of camp? We watched Home with the TPs, got candy and cookies, and Gregor and I bravely fought off a bat that flew into the bunk. The next morning, it was time to say goodbye. You grabbed your stuff (or at least some of it) and headed under the sign for one last time this summer.

SUMMER 2024

Adam – Your effort in every activity helped each period become more special. I loved seeing you try your hardest in everything, even if it was something you weren't thrilled with right away. You really stepped into your comfort zone this summer and became a large presence in the group. You constantly look to uplift others and keep your group mates engaged, and have started to grow into a real leader within the group. I can't wait to see you back next summer!

Ayan – AG! Dude! You are the most positive kid I know. You made so many connections this summer with your groupmates that I know will continue to grow each summer you come back. You never failed to put a smile on my face with one of your jokes. I hope to see you back next summer!

Blake – Although you were only able to stay a short while, I was really glad to see you this summer. It was great seeing you come visit, and seeing how much the group respects you. I think everyone is super excited for you to come back to camp – this group loves you and misses you!

David – You are one of the funniest kids I know. You did such a great job of helping the new kids become part of our group this summer, and I am so glad I got to be your counselor again. Your love of camp and everyone in it was clear – especially when you were late to benches because you were talking with your friends. It's clear you love this place – even when you claim you don't – and I cannot wait to see you continue to grow up here each summer. This group loves and respects you even more than you know.

Drew – Even though you came in a bit shy and quiet, your willingness to try new things this summer was awesome. Your bullseye in archery was awesome – and the group definitely was grateful for the candy that they got because of it! You are super kind, respectful, and when you put your mind to it you can do anything. I can't wait to see you bring that positivity to the group in the coming years.

Fisher – Any more questions? Your positive spirit shone through every day and helped bring a smile to everybody's faces. I'm glad you continued to step out of your comfort zone this summer – whether it be at the waterfront or hitting dingers at the blitzball field. You were never rude to anyone and helped everyone have a great summer. I'm super excited to see you keep coming back!

Jack – You always had a smile on your face and had unmatched energy every day. Even when dominating an activity you were humble and kind to your groupmates. It was not surprising to me that you were voted a captain for Green & White – you developed into a real leader of the group this summer. You always made sure everybody was having fun, and are so considerate of everybody around you. Keep being you – I can't wait to see you keep coming back for years to come.

Jackson – I think I speak for everyone when I say we are so happy you ended up in our group – despite the day one confusion. You have so much energy and are always upbeat. It can be hard to stay the full session your first year, but you killed Green & White and I am so proud of you. Can't wait to see you back.

Jacob – I am super impressed with how you found your footing this summer. The first few days were a little difficult, but I knew you could do it. Seeing you smile and have fun each day was such a joy, and I'm glad you had a ton of fun at camp. I cannot wait to see you back next summer – and hopefully you will stay for Green & White!

Julian – You are one of the most easygoing kids I've seen. You always have a smile on your face, are talking with a group mate, or making someone laugh. You also totally dominate every time we have soccer, and it is awesome seeing you have fun with all the activities at camp. I know you will keep coming back – you have become such a huge part of the group. Can't wait to see you next year!

Mason – Even though I may have strong opinions about the logo on your shorts, you rock. You always have a positive attitude and a smile on your face wherever we go – even if it may not be your favorite activity in the world. You are super kind to everyone in the group and made life for all your counselors easier. I'm super glad you fell in love with camp and can't wait to see you keep coming back.

Max – Blitzball legend! Those catches from our first blitzball period will never be forgotten, and I loved watching you find your footing within the group early. You did everything with a smile on your face, were always kind to your bunkmates, and consistently looked out for others. I can't wait to see you back next year.

Michael – Peter Schmichael – you are genuinely the funniest kid I know. I loved watching you kill it in activities this year with a positive attitude, and loved watching you welcome your new groupmates right away. It was no surprise that your groupmates voted you captain – you are a strong leader and are super respectful to everyone. Both this group and camp as a whole are better with you in it, and I can't wait to see you keep coming back and maybe some day clean your area!

Nathan – I am so proud of you for trying so many new things this summer. You were a little shy at first but quickly found close friends and fell in love with this place. It was also great seeing you be such a great older brother. You made real improvement in everything we did this year, especially blitzball! You are full of energy all the time, and I cannot wait to see you back!

Rusty – You are such a calming presence in the group. You try your hardest in every activity – especially senior waterfront, where even your counselors fear you! But you also are super kind to all your groupmates, and know how to put a smile on their faces. As one of the earliest members of the group, I've loved seeing you accept your new bunk mates and cannot wait to see you back next summer!

Ryan – I don't think I've ever seen you without a smile on your face. You are the most respectful kid ever, and you try your hardest in everything you do. Your energy is contagious for everyone, and your groupmates respect you so much. I can't wait to see you keep coming back to this place!

Sacha – Suns out, guns out – put your six pack away! You are the greatest athlete Junior Camp has seen, and I loved seeing you compete with your groupmates – and almost beating me at basketball twice! You matured a ton this summer and I was really proud when on PVD when you talked about your efforts towards building more mental toughness. I loved watching you become a leader this summer, and I'm super excited to rematch in basketball next year!

Will – You may be the most competitive kid I know. I loved seeing you bring your all to every activity with a smile on your face and furthering your bonds with everybody in the group. I hope to see you back next year.

Squires!

Stop playing tether ball, get on socks and shoes, and sit back as we reflect on the best summer ever!

Our opening day set the tone for what became an unforgettable summer. The weather was perfect, the activities were nonstop, and the treats and trips out of camp gave us all a taste of the fun that lay ahead. Right away, I could tell this group was special. The athleticism, the energy, and the sheer camp spirit you brought into every single moment showed me that we were in for something incredible.

From there, the summer was packed with memories that we'll never forget. We saw How to Train Your Dragon at the movie theater those reclining seats were unbeatable. We played mini golf with the Saxons, hopped into Lake Ossipee on a scorching day, and felt the instant relief of that cool, refreshing water. Our very first skit night proved we had a group full of comedians, while the staff talent show gave us a chance to laugh at our counselors making fools of themselves on stage.

The highlights just kept coming. We crushed the American Ninja Warrior challenge and put on unforgettable Senior Waterfront Kingdom performances. On the 4th of July, we celebrated with water inflatables, fair food, and an incredible beach party. At FNOO, we focused on giving back, raising money for a cause that mattered to us. Even though we didn't win the Challenge Cup, the difference we made was what really counted.

There were victories too, like our sweep at Camp Kenwood, where you showed amazing teamwork and sportsmanship. There were speeches that stuck with us, like Illad's much-needed cleaning pep talk and his heartfelt goodbye. And of course, there were all the little traditions that became big memories: trips to Cozy Corner for ice cream and laughs, a morning at the Mainers game, and the challenging but rewarding climb up Green Mountain, where the view from the top was worth every step.

We also had plenty of fun and silliness – veggie power (enough said), dizzy kickball, Shark Tank pitches, the bench's unforgettable song, and the Squarcher football combine followed by an all-out football league. We had Beach Day on the waterfront, bowling mornings with Junior Camp, and barn shaking dance moves at So You Think You Can Dance. Parents Visiting Day brought hugs, smiles, and the joy of sharing camp with family.

Then came some of the biggest moments of all. Our pontoon ride across the main lake, the unforgettable Green & White break with its drone show, and the war itself where you showed leadership, enthusiasm, and sportsmanship that made me so proud. After Green & White ended, you came back together as one group to finish the summer strong with Awards Night and Founders Night.

And then, too soon, it was closing day. Saying goodbye was hard, but we left with full hearts, knowing that we had built memories that will last forever and that 2026 will bring even more.

This summer truly was the best of our lives. I had so much fun leading you, and I couldn't be prouder of everything we accomplished together. I'll miss you all, and I can't wait to see how each of your Robin Hood journeys continues to unfold.

SQUIRES

Aadi – Your willingness to see the good in people helped you make such great bonds this summer. Even though it was only your first summer it felt like you had been here for years. You truly get camp and know how to have fun.

Alex – You're quiet yet so impactful and influential to the group. When you talk people listen because you always have the right things to say. You do everything with a smile and never have a bad attitude.

Andreas – You are an incredible athlete and such a fun person to be around. You are creative and passionate about camp and activities and I loved to see you thrive on and off the fields. Keep coming back, this group needs you.

Archer – You are a big leader and you play a key role in the group. You don't complain or argue and you always do the right thing. Camp is something that I know you cherish and I hope you stay seven weeks next summer.

Beckett – You are so easy to talk to and you get along with anyone. Your friendliness and kindness lead you to have a remarkable first summer and I can't wait to watch you grow into an even stronger leader as the years goes on.

Blake – You are super funny and a key member in the group. Keep coming back and I hope you get to stay seven weeks next year.

Briggs – You are hilarious and such a good athlete. You impressed me on and off the field and you really were an intercamp star. Hope you have a good school year.

Bryce – Your competitiveness and athleticism is impressive. You give everything you do, all your effort and you show determination and dedication to your goals. Hopefully you can stay seven weeks next summer.

Colby – I have never seen you without a smile. You always look on the bright side and you love everything there is to love about camp. Never change brother.

Corey – You are so fun to be around. I love your passion for sports, especially baseball. Glad you had that radio this summer.

Daniel – You are a comedian and you have a bright future ahead of you. Your passion for camp and all it has to offer is so strong. So glad you came back this summer.

Dylan – I'm so glad you came to camp this summer. You are also such a great friend to others. I loved watching you excel at soccer and horseback riding and I'm so proud of you for trying so many new things.

Eli – You are so nice and such a smart kid. You are a great addition to this group and I know you are going to accomplish so much at camp and in life. PS: How did you get so good at dodgeball?

Ellis – You are so funny and such a good friend. You love to have fun and are always in for a good time. Have a great year at school.

Freddie – You are so funny and super creative. You are truly 1 of 1 and so unique in so many ways. I know sports aren't your favorite but I'm so glad you participated in everything and made the most out of your summer.

Freddie H – Your athletic abilities are another level. You play sports with such confidence and it pushes everyone else around you to get better. Never stop being a leader. PS: I don't think I'll ever beat you in tennis Gonzolo – Where do I even start? I don't think a 10-year-old has ever made me laugh so much in one summer. You are a great friend and such a good camp character. PS: Veggie power!!

Grant – I loved watching you get out of your comfort zone this summer. You are an amazing groupmate and your consistent positive energy was contagious. PS: Your dance performance was spectacular. See you next summer!

Holden – You are easily one of the biggest leaders in jr camp. I love the effort and attitude you bring to activities and I know you will continue to be a leader for your group for years to come.

Holland – You are so great to have in the group.You are a great big brother and you always look out for the little guy. I loved your energy this summer and hope to see you next summer.

Krish – You are a great leader and great listener. You are kind and caring and I'm glad we shared an area. Please keep coming back for as long as you can.

Levi – You are easily the nicest kid I have ever met. You look out for others and are always prepared with the essentials. Also you've got speed kid.

Milo – You are super respectful and you love camp already. Even though it was your first summer you fit in perfectly and I saw just how important this place was to you right from the start. I had so much fun having you in the group this past summer.

Rafa – You are super sweet and such a smart kid. You play a big role in the group and that is something you should be proud of. Camp means a lot to you and I'm glad you came this summer. Hope you have an amazing school year.

Summit – You were always there to support your group mates no matter what. You are selfless and love to make sure everyone is having just as good of a time as you. Im so glad you joined the group this summer.

Taran – You are super smart and talented. I have never seen a Junior Camper so good at swimming. I love that your favorite activity is instructional swim. Your positive attitude was so contagious this summer.

Teddy F – I am so proud of you for giving camp a shot this summer. You accomplished so much and you played a key role this summer for the group. See you next summer.

Teddy H – You are such an incredible person. You love to bring people up and have a good time. I'm so glad you fell in love with camp this summer and I know you will be here for years to come. Have a great year and see you next summer.

Theo – You are extremely positive and a pleasure to have in the group. Hope to see you next summer and I love your magic tricks. Please never stop being yourself.

Archers! Archers! Lock In!

Put away the magic cards, and let's look back on all the moments from the best summer of our life!

The weather couldn't have been more perfect for the first day of camp, when 16 of you stepped off the bus together. Greeting you was the other 16, and of course we can't forget about Elad's fashionably late arrival. The summer with the biggest group on camp had just begun and the energy was already through the roof. Once we got going into our first activity, handball on the new quad, it was clear that this would be a summer for the books. The classic pasta and meat sauce opening night dinner meant that our seven weeks was already on the roll. That night, we played Camper Hunt, but everyone was in pairs. That evening activity was so crazy!

When the staff took the stage on the second Sunday of camp to show off their skills, it was such a wonderful night. Remember how the Boys Camp GLs performed their signature acapella, remember the Indian dancers and the ballet performance. This year's Staff Talent Show was filled with so many amazing acts!

The Saxons woke us up early on the 4th of July, running through the bunk screaming to get us all out of bed. Remember the parade and our awesome sign? We had so much fun on the fourth.

When Kelan, Buman, and CJ took the stage for the JC talent show their performance was spectacular! The boys did a wonderful skit about finding Kelan a new sport. The crowd absolutely loved it too. They were the only act to represent Boys Camp, and everyone was so hyped for them.

Remember when we hoisted the cup at the end of the tournament? That was such a big moment in the summer. We beat the Shires in kickball, and the Bards in bombardment. We tied the Saxons in kickball, and then beat them in the electric Bocce tiebreaker on the quad. Then to win the championship we bested the Scouts and Tumblers in a scavenger hunt! When Elad rallied the group to change our charity in support of his people, I've never felt more proud. You guys played so hard so we could make an impact on the world outside of camp!

Remember when we hiked Green Mountain? Ned had to carry Jake's backpack all the way up. We made it back down with only a few minutes to spare and got to have our first trip to Cozy Corner! The view from the top of that tower was amazing!

Remember our amazing Green & White dance? You guys showed so much dedication and heart to learning and performing our dance. I was so proud when you took the stage and absolutely killed it. Remember the swimming and track meet scenes? The judges in the corner snapping their fingers? You guys put so much heart and energy into the activity.

When we traveled to Kenwood Evergreen, the excitement was unreal. Our soccer team came out strong, showing off their teamwork and hustle on the field. Dodgeball had everyone on their toes, diving and dodging like pros. Baseball brought some clutch hits and impressive catches that had the whole team cheering. Finally, we wrapped it all up with a high-energy basketball game that kept the crowd on the edge of their seats. It was a full day of competition, sportsmanship, and camp pride!

Our day trip to Crystal Lake was nothing short of perfect. The sun was shining, the water was sparkling, and the beach was absolutely packed with people soaking up the summer vibes. We spent the day swimming, lounging on the sand, and enjoying the warm weather. Of course, no trip would be complete without stopping by the store for candy and ice-cold sodas. Between the laughter, the splashes, and the sweet treats, it was the perfect mid-summer getaway. We came back tired but with smiles that lasted all evening.

Parent Visiting Day was a highlight of the summer, with smiles all around as families arrived to see camp in action. Everyone was excited to show their parents their favorite activities, from sports on the quad to projects in the art room. The bunk had never been cleaner, ready for tours and proud moments. Lunch was a spread of delicious sandwiches that everyone enjoyed together. And who can forget those cookies! There was definitely a few stashed in the bunk until closing day. The weather couldn't have been better, adding to the cheerful atmosphere. It was truly a great day filled with laughter, stories, and family pride.

ARCHERS

Color War broke in spectacular fashion during an unforgettable night break. The drone show lit up the sky with tug of war ropes, canes, hats, and flashes of Green & White, building the excitement for the week ahead. The judges made their grand entrance at the rink, and from that moment on, every game was played with heart and determination. It was an incredible week of competition, filled with energy, cheers, and camp pride. In the end, White took the victory, while Green enjoyed a well-earned cookout for dinner. The sportsmanship and athleticism from both sides made it a Color War to remember.

Founders Night was a special evening honoring campers and staff. Camp celebrated their first, third, fifth, and even tenth summers at camp. The night was made even more festive with a celebration for Andy Friedman's birthday, complete with cheers, laughter, and a powerful speech from Chuck. Each group presented a gift to camp, adding to the sense of community and tradition. Our group proudly donated a brand-new sign for the towel shack, something that will be enjoyed for years to come. It was a night filled with pride, gratitude, and the spirit of giving that makes camp so special.

Awards Night was a celebration of achievement, tradition, and camp spirit. Honors like Master Camper, Fellowship, Sportsmanship, Service, and Inspection were presented to campers who truly stood out this summer. Every winner was outstanding and deeply deserving of their award, but the night was also a reminder that every single person in the group is an important part of our camp family. We also celebrated an incredible milestone – Chuck's 60th summer at camp which brought extra cheers and applause. The atmosphere was filled with pride, joy, and a deep sense of tradition. It was the perfect way to close out another unforgettable summer.

Closing Day was filled with bittersweet emotions as we packed our bags and prepared to leave. The buses rolled in, and with them came long hugs, heartfelt goodbyes, and a few tears we couldn't hold back. Everywhere you looked, friends were exchanging promises to write, call, and keep in touch. Though it was hard to part ways, we knew this wasn't the end – just goodbye for now. The memories we made will carry us through the other ten months until we're all back together next summer for our two.

Remember when the Saxons stole our poker table? And when we stole it back? Then remember when it got painted white and became the mail table? Remember when we got Cleanest Bunk? I thought we would be clean all summer! I forgot to knock on wood. Remember all those games of ping pong Jesse lost when the table was outside? Or that time that Avi got pooped on by a chicken? Remember when the Saxons came back for the table and Chambers got stung by a wasp? Remember when they added the ice machine to the towel shack? And how we made a sign for it for Founders Night?

Remember when we took that trip to the gym? I thought Josh wasn't going to make it! What about the time that Jake pushed cooper off the dock twice! Remember when Ned almost jumped, and then when he actually did! Remember when we beat west end, Juju mooned the crowd and everyone loved Johnny! Remember poop stain Zane? Or what about that time we beat the squires in capture the flag? Remember how the soccer team won, and the day that Elad arrived? How about the time that Neds flashlight got flushed? Maybe that's what broke our toilets so badly…Remember Connor's game winning catch? Remember the flag football combine, when Alex moonwalked the 40, and how our first game got cancelled by the huge rain storm? Remember Rashard's old hair? Remember when we did sock wrestling? What about the headline match up between Jake and Elad.

Do you remember when Chambers went up against the FYAs? Remember when Ned finally jumped off the tower? That was such a huge moment in the summer! How about the time Elad fell in the water in slow motion while fishing. What about the time we made a soapy slide n slide on the quad after it rained? I wonder where we got all that soap from, Robbie Levine might know. Remember the times we went sunset pontooning? We had so much fun out in the water on the main lake. Remember our hike up green mountain? Remember when Phillip showed us his very serious brick? That thing was not goofing around! Or when he pulled out his pyramid he'd been working on and dying to show us? What about the Techy Touchers? Remember when we changed FNOO charities? How about when Micah thunder clapped his nose during dodgeball?

Remember the bot squad lineup? The starting 5 was stacked, and the bench had some crazy talent too! Remember when we beat the Bards and the Shires in the FNOO cup? What about the time that Josh ran the 40k? Remember when we had J Walks birthday pizza? Remember when we went to the Mainers game? Remember when Elad said "what's so funny" on the bus ride back? Remember the 4th of July? That day was so much fun! Remember when we moved tables? I liked it better when we were near the porch. Remember when Cooper died and came back? He was sick for SO LONG.

Remember Cooper's stache too? That was around for a long time too. Remember when Team Crusty Poop won the hunger games? The finale was so awesome! Hunger games was so much fun this summer. Remember Sammy the dog? What about the time that Jesse ragebaited Syl? Remember when Jonah ate his team's pasta during the dick activity? Remember when Cooper made the winning Green & White alma? What about the time we went in the warm lake during the rain and it was awesome! Remember when we started CASL? How about when we played Rugby and Gaelic Football? Remember Green & White staff basketball? Remember when Connor threw Micah in and he squirmed?

Remember JuJu's pump up? What about Alex's pump up? Those two can really get a team going! Remember when Mikey was asking for all six while reffing danish? Remember when Elad left? That was such a sad day. We were so happy to have him back. Remember our campfire? You guys took that so seriously, it was amazing. Remember when Jake took a tiny taste, and then a real man's bite? Remember when we were 32 TA? Remember all the great moments we had together, happy and sad? Of course you do! Archer summer was insane, here's to an even better Yeoman summer!

Alex – You're one of the most energetic and funny kids I've ever met. You take commanding athletic control over any activity that we play, and you provide such a distinct and strong energy in the bunk. Keep coming back and growing your love for camp.

Avi – You have such a strong love for camp, and it really shows. You are always bringing energy and an outgoing spirit. This summer you really established yourself in the group. Foreve a member of the bot squad! Love you kid.

Buman – You are the sweetest kid I have ever met and your ability to cheer up others is unmatched. You care so much about your friends and the people around you. You have such a strong camp career ahead of you. Keep coming back!

Cash – You had such a great first summer. I've never seen a kid more obsessed with Gaga. You were amazing in the cabin and a great friend to those around you. I'm excited to see you back in The Realm next summer!

Charlie – Though you may not be the loudest in the bunk, you have a strong presence within this group. This summer would not have been the same without you. You always listen and approach everything with a smile. Your kindness was contagious this summer. Bring that smile back to The Realm next summer!

CJ – I've never met a kid with more passion about everything he does. You have such a strong fire inside you for every activity and moment. Keep channeling this in a positive way and you will find great success.

Connor – You have so much positive energy that it's almost uncontrollable. You never fail to crack me up. You bring a smile to every face around you. Please keep coming back to camp and bringing your contagious happiness.

Dean – You really came out of your shell this summer. I was so excited to see that you've become more responsible for yourself. You really stepped up your cleaning game this summer. You're an amazing kid who loves camp and I'm so excited to see you grow up here! Bot squad for life!

Elad – You are one of the happiest kids I've ever met. During the day I never saw a smile drop off your face. You are such a force in the group that it isn't the same without you. I'm so glad you came back for your second summer. I hope you continue to grow your love for your summer home. Elad is king!

Eli – You are so strong and independent for your age. I love your ability to drum to your own beat regardless of what others think. You bring such a positive and upbeat energy to the group. Please stick with camp, you are beyond loved.

Ezra – You are such an amazing athlete and basketball player. I'm excited to see you play in the west end game when you're older. You have such a strong energy in the bunk and constantly bring a smile to everyone's face. Make camp your home, keep coming back.

Holden – You never fail to have the biggest smile and always enjoy anything that comes your way. You're such a creative individual, keep coming back to camp and loving what makes you happy!

Jackson – I didn't know going into this summer that this was your second year at camp. You fit so well here at The Realm and with this group. You made my summer so much brighter and entertaining. You always did anything that was asked of you and more. Keep loving The Realm and great things will come!

Jacob – I never saw you without a smile this summer. You are a leader in this group more than you know. Your constant love for camp and your group guides others to enjoy camp too. Your respectful and excited attitude towards anything that comes your way is beyond commendable. Never leave camp, you have a great future ahead.

Jake – You are such an outspoken and strong leader. This summer you really channeled this into being an amazing positive role model and an outspoken leader in the group. Your love for camp and the members of your group is never ending. You are a great kid and I can't wait to see you grow up!

Jesse – You had a killer four weeks in The Realm. You fit in the group like a glove and never looked back. I was so happy to see you excel instantly and find friends. Your athleticism and leadership will bring you to great places at camp. Keep coming back!

Jonah – Camp is the right place for you. You always have a smile on your face and have such a strong love for camp, your group, and your brother. Keep coming back, this group loves you more than you know.

Josh – Your first summer has been outstanding. You never stop smiling and are always ready to run and play. You are a great friend to those around you. You have a great future here waiting for you. Keep sticking with camp!

JuJu – I was amazed this summer at how mature and respectful you had become. You are such a strong leader within this group. You will grow into such a respectful young man. Continue to come back to camp, success awaits you.

Kelan – It's clear how much camp means to you. Keep coming back and chasing your love for the magic in the trees. This group loves you more than you know, and it couldn't feel the same without you! Love you kid.

Lucas – I've never met a kid who smiles as much as you. Not once did you ever have a frown during an activity. You provide such a distinct presence in the group that this group needs. Keep coming back!

Matt – You are such a strong athlete. You never fail to put a smile on my face. I've loved the past seven weeks with you. Camp will always be here for you, keep coming back.

Micah – You killed it this summer! You are such a great artist and creative. I love your passion for the arts. You've developed a strong love for camp and your groupmates. I hope you continue to come back to camp.

Ned – I have never met a more emotionally mature person in my life. You have such a strong way of understanding how you and others are feeling. You had such an amazing first summer, please come back and make more memories!

Noah – I was so glad to see you back on opening day. I was sad to see the blonde hair go. You have such a strong love for camp and your friends in the bunk. Your smile and attention to what you love makes me so glad to have you as a camper. Thanks for a great summer!

Phillip – Though you may not be the most athletic you are so passionate for your interests. It's so clear that you love camp, you need to keep returning this group needs you.

Pierce – Your time with us was too short! I loved your smile and attitude towards everything. You were so creative, I swear you were always constructing something all summer. I'm sad we didn't get to do our starship battle, hopefully we'll get to play again together next summer. Love you kid!

Quincy – You had such an amazing first summer. You fit right in and found a place in the group so quickly. You were always ready for any activity to play, and play hard. I hope you return for many years, and get the chance to stay for Green & White next year!

Rafe – You had an incredible first summer. I'm so glad you decided to make the choice to stay for the whole time. You bring such a kind energy to the group. Please keep coming back, the group wouldn't be the same without you.

Sam – You had such a strong first summer. Even though you might not be the most outgoing, you have such a strong passion for camp. You seem to have found a great summer home. Keep coming back, you'll have lots of success here.

Spencer – You came into camp homesick, but quickly broke out of your shell. Your amazing attention to detail is evident in how clean your area always was. You have such a strong love for camp and your group. This group needs you more than you know. Keep coming back.

Syl – You are such a fierce and competitive athlete. I love watching you play during activities. You are an amazing friend and group mate. This group is so lucky to have you in it. Please never leave camp!

Staff –

Cooper and Ryan you both were exceptional this summer, you two taught me so much about camp, and I hope to lead alongside you two next summer. Zane, Hudson, Fino, and Quentin you four were the best first year aids I've seen at camp in a long time; all of you had such strong maturity and energy. You have such a strong love for camp and you all have amazing futures ahead. Rashard, Connor, Ollie, and Jamie you guys were the secret glue of the staff. Thank you for all the late night infirm runs, long talks with campers, and odd jobs that needed to be done. I cannot give enough thanks to you three. All of you were so much better than I could have ever asked for. From the bottom of my heart…

thank you!

YEOMEN

PUT DOWN THE SNACKS, GET OUT OF THE HAMMOCK, AND LET'S RELIVE THE BEST SUMMER OF OUR LIVES.

AFTER DAY ONE, we stood 20 strong with some new and old faces. However, it didn't take long for the group to mesh together and we instantly were able to start the fun. The only confusions stemmed from benches being in the front or the back? Do you remember how we got senior waterfront everyday? What about the intense heatwave that struck and even went up to 100 Degrees! We sure did need those water periods, especially the camper vs staff waterfront 1 activities. Although the heat tried to keep us down, it didn't stop us from watching Game 7 of the Finals squished inside the Friar bunk. It also didn't stop us from climbing Mount Bayle in the rain. It also didn't stop Kramer from losing his wallet (sorry Kramer)! And just like that, before we knew it, The Yeomen, stuffed into half the split bunk, aided by nightly Crime Junkies, had already cruised through the first week of camp and into the start of July.

July started sweet, especially the candy canteen that arose from Lorenzo catching Brody's baseball. The Yeomen had basically begun to expect senior waterfront everyday, and we learned that apparently saying "no joke" protected you from being pushed off. Or if you didn't want to say that, you could invest in Diego's grip training. Does everyone remember how Cayden's hat was "glued" to his head? How about our very insightful and deep conversation with Cooper. I think we could all agree that make your counselor laugh was one of our best evening activities. Diego's south park impressions definitively made everyone laugh and so did Sammy's mannerisms. Despite Sammy's effort, Calvin, Cooper, Diego, and Epi were able to take home the win with some questionable tactics. The start of July also brought the Yeomen some other memorable experiences like the 4th of July and our first visit to the farm, also known as Bernstein visiting his home.

Does everyone remember the FNOO cup? The Yeomen were cruising through the bracket until some rather confusing scoring in Bocce found us eliminated. We were all a little dumbfounded but alas, the Yeomen kept on. By now Luca had joined us and the Yeomen of '25 were steaming through The Realm at full force. Next on the agenda we had a very eventful beach day. Everyone ran to the water to escape the harsh sun, only to be surprised that ocean water that cold did not possess massive chunks of ice. Everyone spent their money on copious amounts of candy and soda which lasted all of 20 minutes. Overall, we all had a blast and came back to camp very tan. Another highlight of our summer came when we conducted our joint EA with the Friars. The Yeomen and Friars definitively showed their creativity during Shark Tank.

Despite the Yeomen displaying their athleticism on camp, you all were also able to showcase your skills at what seemed like never ending tournaments. However at our sports day at Kenwood, we definitely had more fun than them and totally no one on our staff freaked out at the refs! Other competitive challenges include Spencer beating Brody in a 1v1 and our first challenge against the Quills which lasted 6-7 minutes due to the rainout. Also Lucas, Spencer, and Cayden's pitching contest, I know my hand was hurting after catching those interesting pitches. Competition in the Yeomen bunk did not only exist on the field, it also took place in fierce staff versus camper Magic the Gathering games in the bunk. It is safe to say the Yeomen competed often this summer.

Rap battles for a second slice were definitively a highlight of the summer. I hope everyone remembers when we restarted our dance a day before. What a great idea! However, the Yeomen were lucky it ended up being the right decision and we cooked on the stage. We were able to enjoy the fruits of our labor with guess what, that's right, another SWF period. However this SWF went from chill to bellyflopping off the floats, and all of you laughing at me land on my back.

The Yeomen were all about bringing back old traditions this summer, and by traditions I mean attempting to whook each other. Let's just say this ended faster than it started and punishments definitely meant hunking all of our towels to the dropoff or the dreaded, BATHROOM DUTY! For the Yeomen, cleaning the bunk was seen as the greatest challenge. Confusingly, cleaning the Saxon bunk was fun? The Yeomen never talk about closets anymore.

As the summer continued, the Yeomen looked for alternative ways to have fun. This included the Yeomen cardio club that went on many walks during their free time. Three weeks in, the Yeomen experienced another flurry of competition. One being the challenge against the Quills, which you guessed, was also rained out. However, the Yeomen still escaped with the dub. The Yeomen also took charge in the U13 Flag Football tournament and earned the trophy. As the 4-week mark approached the Yeomen dreaded losing some campers. We enjoyed one final pontoon ride together in which Beckett could not stop laughing for an hour straight, and the Yeomen could not stop singing "Weiner Dog" all night long. However the Yeomen could not pause time and PVD rolled around.

Everyone enjoyed a relaxing PVD and by Sunday night, the Yeomen had been reduced to 14. The 4 weekers did not leave without a trace, or better yet did not leave without placing a full milk carton in the rafters (yes this was found). The Yeomen did not let the 4 week mark get to them and immediately jumped right back into action. Ben Bernstein transforming into a squirrel and water polo with the Forester aids were instant highlights. World Cup also became a group favorite, especially for Lucas who had found a country that he supported very dearly. Excursion was a group favorite, due in large part to the last minute Excalibur ride. The day was also highlighted by Calvin's great car ride, thanks for spicing it up Calvin. The Yeomen were able to watch a movie in the theater which wrapped up a great day.

After the excursion, it was tense with everyone expecting G&W to break any day. Before it broke, the Yeomen were still able to create great memories like our third challenge with the Quills where we were finally able to win the challenge with no rainout. The Yeomen had to also decide between what was worse, Noah's social media rampage or the new addition to the group, orbeez. During this time, the Yeomen were also struck with the injury plague. This included all the Yeomen laughing at Kramer and me hurting ourselves in a 1v1.

Then it finally happened, Green & White broke with drones flying in the sky and the Yeomen were thrust into a gritty color war. Five days of intense sports and activities left the Yeomen feeling lazy on lazy day. We all knew that our time together would be coming to a close soon, but the Yeomen spent the last few days creating lasting memories. Do you all remember when Tmann brought the function to the function on his birthday? How about our relaxing swim at the ODT on the last day. For our last EA, Squid Game was a hit, chiefly the eating contest. The last night came around and the Yeomen were dead set on staying up all night. The summer ended just as it had started, high energy and ready for anything. The Yeomen departed from The Realm after their most eventful summer yet and yearning for the start of Lancer summer.

Alfonso Baron – Although you had a tough time with your English, it did not stop you in any way from being part of camp. You have a clear place in your group and honestly your enthusiasm is unmatched. You're a hilarious kid and your group benefits from your presence.

Ben Bernstein – THE SQUIRREL! You are extremely mature and responsible for your age. You are a great competitor and will put your heart into any activity we have. It is great to see how much you have grown these past few years and I am excited to see where your camp career takes you.

Anwar Chatha – You have the most contagious laugh in the bunk. You never complained about activities and were always doing the right thing which made my life so much easier. You killed it your first year and I am excited to see you at camp for years to come.

Diego De La Vega – You are hands down the funniest kid I have ever met. No matter the situation you can always do something to light up the room. The only bad thing about you is that you think the Patriots will be good! It was great to have you as a camper again, keep coming back.

Theo Evans – You are easily one of the kindest kids in camp and everyone benefits from this. Everyone can always count on you to cheer us up and you should be proud of that. Keep doing what you're doing and I can see you having a big impact on camp in a few years.

Riley Fein – Your passion for camp can only be matched by your love for Minecraft. Staying seven weeks your first summer in The Realm is not an easy task and I'm glad you had a great first year. It is clear that you are made for camp and you have a promising future ahead of you.

Jake Gustin – No, you may not have my staff shirt. I was so excited to see that I would be having you again and you didn't disappoint. You are able to light up any room with your jokes and everyone appreciates your humor. You mean a lot to your group and have a bright future in The Realm.

Diego Hinojosa – You killed it this year. You took no time to settle into your first year and it was instantly clear that you had found a new home. Your mannerisms made everyone laugh and you could always crack a joke. I'm glad you had a great first year.

Sammy Kroh – Ferda Sammy. Your smile is contagious and I'm so glad that we were able to have you this year. You are the biggest camp person we have ever met because it is clear camp runs through your veins. You've grown so much over the summer and we are proud of all that you have accomplished. Camp needs you more than you realize.

Charlie Levine – I am so glad you were able to stay this year. You were a fierce competitor no matter the sport and your group benefited from your sportsmanship. I'm glad you have become a pragmatic problem solver and I'm excited to see how your camp career continues.

Epi Lopez – No joke, no joke. Besides being insane at soccer, you are one of the goofiest kids I know. You try your hardest in every activity and can compete skillfully in all sports. Having you was great this summer. The Realm needs you and your silly humor.

Emmanuel Makris – The Frog Keeper. Your fascination with catching frogs was hilarious. On a more serious note, you were great this summer. I admire that you move at your own pace and don't let anything affect you. It is plain to see that you are at home when you are at camp. I hope to see you back for years.

Lucas Malko – I don't think I saw you without a smile on your face this summer. You are constantly raising the energy in the group and your presence is invaluable. Don't change and I know you will have an important role in your group for years to come. Thank you for making my job so much easier.

Tyler Mann – T-man. I have never seen somebody as upbeat as you. You are constantly happy and cheer up others around you. You lead by example and compete with all you have in every activity. There is a reason people chant "TYLER MANN" and if you keep coming back, I guarantee you have great years at camp ahead of you.

Luca Miniati – You're an absolute dog, Luca. Sometimes you laugh so much I thought you were going crazy. Your presence is necessary in the group because you don't take, but rather bring so much to the table. Keep up your highly spirited energy and humorous personality and you will always have a place at camp.

Lorenzo Rodriguez – You are too chill, it actually has to be studied. You were always at the right place at the right time and never caused any problems. I admire how levelheaded you are at such a young age. Keep returning to The Realm and most importantly don't change.

Tomas Salajka – I'll give it to you, you know the most random facts of anyone in camp. You are always making the right decisions and right jokes. You made my job so much more fun and I appreciate everything you did for the group.

Cayden Slitt – Although you joined us late, you immediately became an instrumental part of the group. Despite not being the loudest, you still know exactly when to crack a hilarious joke. I hope hockey doesn't take you away from The Realm as you still have a lot of important time at camp.

Spencer Steele – I won't be surprised when I see you drafted to the NFL in 10 years. No matter the sport you compete with intensity and skill. This was put on display for everyone during G&W when you absolutely cooked in every activity. I can see you leading camp in a few years. I hope to see you keep coming back.

Cooper Thau – You are actually crazy! You have so much energy and can always get everyone going or make an activity fun. Everyone was disappointed when you were only able to stay for four weeks and it just shows how big of an impact you have. Camp needs your liveliness for seven weeks from here on out.

Calvin Van Horn – Having you as a camper was so helpful this year. You are a strong leader and always know how to make the right decision and take responsibility. You are able to calm down the group when it needs to be quiet and raise the energy when it's time. Keep doing what you're doing and you will have a big role in The Realm.

Becket Ziman – I think you can officially be crowned the Tetherball champion of Robinhood. I have never seen someone so dedicated to a sport such as you are to Tetherball. Your laugh is infectious and you can always find ways to make people laugh. Thanks for being awesome this summer.

STAFF - I simply cannot put into words how much all of you helped me this year. I would not have been able to do this without each of you and you all should be proud of the summer we had together.

THANKS FOR EVERYTHING.

THE BEST SUMMER EVER!

OPENING DAY CAME AND WENT IN A BLUR, IMMEDIATELY WE KNEW THIS SUMMER WAS GOING TO BE EPIC. We had our first arrivals on day zero – Snyder, Ali and Taylor couldn't wait the extra day for the fun to begin. We whooped and cheered the rest of the bunk in, our group of 19 (soon to be twenty) strong coming together with the arrival of Grossman on Night 2. After everyone arrived and swim tests were conducted repeatedly for hours on end, we finished the night off with a classic game of goldrush! We have no memory of Gus's decoys though, that was simply the will of the waterfront. The week kept pushing strong as admittance to Aura University skyrocketed (Kag is the best professor in town, trust) and lessons were occasionally learned. The weather couldn't handle our rise in aura – we hunkered down through the heat, and dominated the rain with our many games of rainy soccer – socks and shoes beware. We showed off our golf skills, with absolutely no damage to any buildings, trees, or bushes around camp. Remember when the Lancers became referees? We were handing out tech's left and right, there were so many violations in the CRH. We hit a crazy streak of three days in a row out of camp: PE class, bowling with the arrows at Archies and the Libby trail hike will never be forgotten.

Ali lit up West End in the under the lights game that went down to the wire. Respect above everything, always. We all appreciated Zac's amazing G&W chant in the Dhall – I can't say the same about the rest of camp though. Remember Paxton's early basketball practice? The counselors certainly don't. Kyle and Gabe showed off their angelic singing voices at the Staff Talent show, Melo, Kag, Charlie and Bryce lit up the dance floor with their moves, but the night belonged to Will and his legendary performance.

Our fun didn't just end at the talent show as a couple days after we finalized at 20 strong, with Logan making his grand entrance into The Realm. Our EAs leading up to the Fourth were certainly lit, highlighted by the crowd-favorite Fortnite EA (a true top pick) and of course, camper hunt. Who knew Drew had such a love for trees? Our pontooning trip was legendary, the afternoon was full of flips, sandbars, and people watching in the middle. The 4th started as expected, although not exactly welcomed, with the classics blaring on the loudspeakers and a storm of saxons flooding our bunk with airhorns. We maxed out our spirit in red, white and blue and got our signs held high for the annual parade. The activities were phenomenal, the ring-pop marriage ceremony, dunk tank, and heaps of popcorn took over our afternoon and were quickly followed by everyone's favorite dinner, fair food. Those pretzels, corn dogs, fried dough and watermelon stood no chance against our onslaught. Our first farm period was lit; Lars gave a bird a new home atop his head and the Council of Idiots had its inaugural meeting. The jury is still out on the true identities of Idiot 1 and Idiot 2. Ponsky finds himself as a proud member of the solitary confinement club and Goose lays strategic traps for his enemies. (or friends, we're not exactly sure how they work). Who could forget our dominance at Kenwood Evergreen? We swept the afternoon, going 5-0 in basketball, soccer, flag football, and softball. Light work, no reaction. The next day we had BEACH DAY!! Loading up early with the Yeoman, we braved the freezing waters of Ogunquit. Lobster and ice cream awaited us after our swim, with tips beyond generous to all. We all napped on the way home, ready for a relaxing evening of sunset watching and an early bed time. We were clearly mistaken, as FNOO was in full effect when we returned! We battled the Friars down to a close 2-1 loss in soccer for EA, Rocco's brick wall performance will go down in the history books. We were all so proud of how each of you handled the loss in gracious defeat, we couldn't have been any more excited for the rest of the summer.

In the week of "So You Think You Can Dance" we were certainly busy moving about as Kyle showed us all his "average pace" in indian run and left us in the dust. Let's not forget LFC and our amazing dancing skills being put on full display under the dining hall. Nobody can deny the show we put on for SYTYCD, you all put your heart and souls into the dance, we could not be more proud of you. Remember PVD? It was so amazing being able to meet everyone's parents and compete in activities with you all. Who remembers Lancers v Dads? We certainly do. Unfortunately, we had to say goodbye to our 4-weekers, we truly hope you guys had the best summer possible.

After the four-week mark intensity only picked up with Green & White suspicions drawing closer. Grossman was convinced it was breaking on the 22nd despite both Kag and Gabe telling him otherwise (it broke on the 22nd). What a break it was! Our peaceful night was foreshadowed by a Forrester fake break, followed by the actual break! The night sky was lit up with flashing drones, truly a sight to see. With the color war captains announced, we all went back to the bunk ready for bean pick and Day 1 in the morning. After bean pick, we dove immediately into volleyball at the upper court, with it we opened the War with a bang. Although the final game came down to just three points, our energy stayed high. You all showed what it means to fight hard but still remain brothers once the game was over. Remember Rocco's perfectly clean handball during soccer? Or Boomba and Zac testing their Spanish skills? I think it's clear they will not be bilingual in the future. How about chirping both teams during staff basketball? The Jamaica Maan chants will never be louder. I am so proud of how you guys came together after tug ended, the group bond prevailed once again. Even though White came out on top at the end of the war, we all immediately found each other for the good night song, a group once more.

Remember excursion? Our hours at Canobie Lake Park with the Arrows and Zoey/the bros were legendary (just don't ask zoey). Rocco literally didn't miss a single ride. Never forget the fantastic four (you guys definitely knew who they were and RIP Sevan's sprite. Who could forget leaving for Day 2 of excursion before breakfast and heading to some hard fought rainy paintball battles with Gavin. I'm fairly certain we all have some welts from that, but our spirits stayed high despite the rainy weather and lack of vision.

Remember Ryder's workout and his excellent problem solving skills? We know he'd be great in an escape room. Who could forget GL swap? Dani and Eve brought lots of candy and to everyone's surprise Zac and Snyder were demons on and off the court. Who remembers the bat mitzvah with the Arrows? We showed off our dancing skills effortlessly. Founders Night was a blast, with Robert and Alex getting their three year banners and Jordan and Paxton getting their five year shirts.

Our last couple days together couldn't have ended on a higher note. Our last EA of assassin and infection with the counselors was a blast, who could forget Kag being fully aware he was infected? One last campfire, One last homerun, and the final waterfront period of the summer. We finished out in style. Dinner on the last night was amazing, I've never been happier to have chicken uterus and apple pie. What made the meal special though was the unity you showed singing the almas. You showed it didn't matter what team you were on that year, or even if you remembered the lyrics, you were together, supporting one another. I am forever proud of our award winners and anyone else that won specialty awards, and while the all-nighter didn't exactly make it all night, I'd say it was fun anyways. By 10am the next morning you all had left camp, ready for next year.

Levi Applebaum – Watching you come out of your shell and show your personality to the group was one of the great pleasures I got to witness this summer. While you don't say much, you let your actions speak for you, a trait that we all respect and listen to. I hope you keep coming back, The Realm wants and needs you here.

Paxton Bash – The MJ of Magic. You never cease to amaze me in your skills at magic and as a friend to everyone in the group. Your presence at campfires and throughout activities is reassuring, and you are always prepared with comedic relief if necessary. I'm proud of the strides you've made in leadership this summer and can't wait to see what the future holds for you.

Gus Beauvalot – The magic man! You used every moment of this summer to your advantage and I cannot thank you enough for always keeping things fun! Whether it be traps in the bunk or tackling people on senior, your energy was contagious and I hope you continue your story here.

Ali Callahan – Final score 2-1. I'd say you're an athlete, but that falls far short of your role in the group. You stand up for your friends when they need you during the tough times, and you ball out the rest of the time. You have definitely transformed in the last year and have stepped up your role significantly. You have made important strides forward and I hope to watch those strides continue in the future.

Sam Evans – SEVAAANS! Your leadership capacity is one of the highest I've seen at camp. You lead with kindness and humor, both traits that are incredibly admirable. I loved seeing you joke around constantly, you are such an important piece to this group. Please keep coming back, both The Realm and this group need you.

Jack Grossman – Wham Bam Shang-A-Lang, I hope this stays in your head forever. A clear leader throughout the summer, this summer solidified both your love for camp and its love for you. Your drive and compassion to will your bunkmates through the summer was amazing and I can't wait to see what you do as a senior camper in the coming years.

Drew Hoglund – Three, I think I won. Regardless, as the longest serving member you are the silent leader behind the group and the one that people lean to when they don't know what to do. Your spirit lifts others up and despite you using that watergun a little too much, you had an amazing summer. Keep coming back and keep camp in your heart wherever life takes you.

Harry Klassman – When I asked you at the beginning of the summer, "what is it that you do best", you responded making people laugh. Boy did you live up to that. There was never a moment where you didn't have the biggest smile on your face or weren't making someone laugh. You are an incredibly kind and compassionate individual, I look forward to seeing what you will do here.

Boomba Ladov – BENCHES! Your passion and energy for camp is incredible to watch. You embody what it means to care about your friends and camp as a whole. Seeing you grow and mature throughout the summer has been a joy, please keep coming back because this group and this camp need you. Keep head-topping kid.

Lars Lorenz – Uss uss. From the first day it was immediately clear camp was the place for you. You were there for your bunkmates when they needed you and were willing to help at any time (including with towels). I am so happy to have been a part of your first year, and hope you keep coming back to call this place home.

Rocco Milite – YA MOOOON!!!! From the first second you arrived your personality came through in full swing. Thank you for the endless laughs, the legendary quotes, and the never-ending good times. While you might not be the most vocal about your love camp, it's clear to all of us how much you love camp, and how much camp loves you. Please keep coming back, the best is yet to come for you.

Austin Ponsky – The Cool Ponsky! Your laughter and smile is contagious, and you are an amazing person to have around. Though your time here was shorter this summer you still brought the group together during tough times, and remained your typical silly self. I hope you're back again next year and keep being yourself.

Zac Radvinsky – You have been Trik. You never fail to put a smile on our faces. Everyday is an adventure and there is never a dull moment when you are around. Each time energy gets low you find the best way to bring everyone back up. Never forget to be yourself, and please keep coming back for as long as you can.

Will Reed – Legion Leader, reporting for duty! Your presence in the bunk was always a calming factor. I always knew I could trust you to get what was needed done, and could rely on you to help dial your bunkmates. I hope you continue coming back to camp and stay the whole summer in the future.

Taylor Richter – Time flies when you're having fun! This summer was a blast watching you make closer connections with people in the bunk and play in some intense intercamps. You pushed your limits this year and got out of your shell. I hope you continue coming back to camp and let this place stick with you.

Tate Rosen – You are the kindest kid I have ever met. As the quiet kid still finding his place at the beginning of the summer to the loud, silly, jokester you finished as, this was your summer. I could not be more proud of you and your tubing skills. I hope you continue coming back and get to experience Green & White in the future.

Jordan Simanovsky – Your positivity and competitive attitude helped to carry the group this summer. You consistently showed grace and humility after both win and loss, it was a pleasure to witness both your maturity and level-headness. Keep those fingers snapping, you are going to do great things here at The Realm.

Logan Slitt – What a summer! Your mark on this group was incredible. You made yourself known while you were here – the group was all the better for it. We will all miss you taking whatever period we had in stride and giving 100%, regardless of the circumstance. Please keep coming back, this place needs you.

Alex Snyder – Shnunt! You are never the loudest in the room, yet your presence speaks volumes. You are a steady, dependable leader and friend, this group without question could not and would not function as well as it does without you. You have a bright future at this camp, I can't wait to see what you do with it.

Ryder Ziman – Music Man! This summer was a breakout summer for you. It was a pleasure to watch you become closer with your bunkmates and really begin to connect with some of them beyond just being at camp. I am proud of your ability to put effort into every activity and hope you continue to bring energy for years to come.

STAFF – This summer was an absolute blast and you are all a major part of that. You all stepped up when the time came, and made my job so much easier. Without a doubt the best staff ever. I could not thank you enough for your work this summer and wouldn't have had it any other way.

Friars! Friars!

It may not mean nothing to y'all but I'm on the benches alone right now...get out here and let's look back on some him moments from the summer!

Night one started with the arrival of our first two campers, Leo and Luke, and an electric first EA with the Foresters. By the end of opening day our group jumped from 2 to 24 and the summer was off to a hot start. Our first EA was one for the books with Ian's insane Hunger Games clutch and Kyle's exciting introduction to the group accompanied by his new look. We got through the heat wave with lots of water periods and a welcome trip to an air-conditioned gym. Our first week also held three birthdays with JC, August, and Leo all turning 14. Thanks to them, we had that epic late-night karaoke battle for extra pizza!

The second week of camp was just as exciting and energetic as the first as our group grew closer. The Staff Talent Show was hilarious with everyone from the Friar staff performing their hearts out. Also, who can forget Jablow's "himothy" roll call to introduce our group to the rest of camp?

Besides falling into a fun routine with normal activities, there was no shortage of events on camp to change up the pace. Remember the top knot when we went on pontoons? Will Heese was not playing around! We also had no problem with our supply of clean towels in the bunk thanks to Gonzalo's mission. 4th of July was an absolutely electric day with everyone buzzing all day. We all showed up after lunch fully dripped out in our most patriotic outfits. The best part of the day was definitely the afternoon, though. Things got a little hectic as we walked from station to station, but it was so fun. Remember the elite Friar music setup with surround sound? No other group had amenities like us. We also had a bunch of individual adventures. Leo and Gonzalo got on the gym grind and are on the path to getting big this summer. Diego had a miraculous escape during rest hour, and I think we all remember when Deric had to help put everyone to bed.

We also had a great time at the Mainers game. The bus ride there with the Foresters was a party, and once we got there things took an exciting turn as everyone got to watch the game and socialize. We almost had to undergo the intense Katahdin hike, but the rain unfortunately ended our dreams of reaching the summit. We made up for the disappointment with a quick pit stop at McDonald's on the way back, though. We kept the nights entertaining with something new seeming to go down every night in the Friar bunk. From the legendary draft night to midnight marshmallows, there was always something going down at all hours of the night. Remember when we had our FNOO tournament run? We were able to beat out the Lancers but then suffered defeat to the Saxons. It was okay, though, because it was all for charity. Who remembers Xander being caught red-handed and the infamous porch renovation? Namaste, Friars. Do you all remember when JC got banished to the Intercamp Realm for a day because he misheard my question?

The next couple of days we had to really focus on our dance because we were occupied with Friar jersey creation beforehand. It may have been a bit rushed, but we pulled off a great Friar dance despite roadblock after roadblock. Kyle really turned out to be a great understudy and the show went on. Who remembers when we went to Kenwood for the day? That was an eye-opener. We got the long-anticipated Rollins meetup and we won the day 3-2. We also got to go to North Conway that week and have the first ever Camp Robin Hood × Flatbreads excursion. We had so much pizza I thought we would be there all night, but somehow we ate it all. We continued to have some intense days when we were on camp as well. Who remembers running laps after losing in Handball? Beach day was a blast! We started off by catching some rad waves and having to fight some jellyfish (Tom lost), but once we made it to the boardwalk the focus was definitely on the food. Who remembers the circle we had once we got back to the beach?

After beach day, PVD was right around the corner so everyone was getting excited. It was a great day, but bittersweet because we were losing eight people in the group. After PVD we tried getting back into camp, but we barely had time because just two days later we were surprised with an early Green & White break. We all sprinted to the rink and met with an insane drone performance. In my completely unbiased opinion, I think it was probably the best break of all time. The next five days were a blur for everyone, but it was so great to see how into every activity you all were. It was clear you guys understood what G&W is actually about, and you were trying on and off the field with a bunch of the Friars playing key roles in talent night. Unfortunately not everyone can win, and White Heist did take the steak home, but everyone was happy to come back together as a group for the last week of camp.

We didn't have much time to rest after Green & White because we were off to excursion a day later. Who remembers the bounty of baguettes in Portland and the movie theater mishap? Who remembers Too Hot to Handle at Great Adventure – we did not want to watch that! White water rafting was a blast, and we made the most of the campsite, but everyone was ready to get back and enjoy the last couple of days we had at camp. The last day was solemn as everyone dreaded leaving in the morning. We had a great last dinner, banquet style, and went to awards night. Congrats to Ben on the first major award in your group – I'm sure there will be many more to come. After Awards Night we all went back to the bunk and the Friars realized you don't need to wake up and leave if you never go to bed, so we attempted to stay up all night…and failed. What a great summer. I'm excited to see you all back at it again next year!

FRIARS

Adam – Jablow, I always have to watch myself around you because you're always ready with a quick joke but that's what makes you such a pivotal part of the group. Your wit and kindness makes you perfect for camp, keep coming back.

Andreas – It's been amazing watching you grow these past two years. Your constant excitement and enthusiasm have become a critical addition to the group. It was sad to see you leave early this year but I know Billie Jean will be back for a while.

Andrew – You always find your own way to do camp and that is what I love about you. From crafting your area to the random projects you were always undertaking there was never a dull moment around you. Keep coming back!

August – You're such a smart and considerate person, I loved watching you come back like you never left. Robin Hood is perfect for you, I can't wait to see what you get up to next summer!

Becka – You are one of the most considerate and kind friends I have met. It was so great to get to know you throughout the summer, I feel like you really came into yourself this summer and made some lifelong connections. Have a great year and can't wait to see you next summer!

Ben – Mabu, this summer you really thrived. You were a huge part of the group and I can see you really feel comfortable at camp. I can't wait to see what the next two years hold. I'm excited to see how much aura you have next year.

Bryan – Your consideration and energy are very special and this group really needs a guy like you to keep things running. It was so nice seeing you develop your friendships and really get close with everyone around you. Have a great year!

Cayson – You are one of the cleverest people I have ever met. You always have a plan and there is never a dull moment around you. You are a big part of the group, I hope you have fun biking this year!

Diego – It's not easy joining a group Friar year, but I mean it when I say you were a perfect addition to the group. You fit in seamlessly and I couldn't imagine the summer without you. Have a great year and I can't wait to see you back next summer.

Drew – You are such a pivotal part of this group and I cant wait to see you thrive your next two summers. You are one of the most thoughtful kids I've met and everyone knows that you have their back. Have a great year and I can't wait to see you next summer!

Eli – Camp runs in your blood. I couldn't imagine Robin Hood without the Kesselheims and I know you love this place more than anyone. It was so nice seeing you be a leader in the group this year and really find your place at camp.

Gonzalo – You always bring a smile to my face. Your lighthearted energy and constant willingness to join in on anything made the group stronger. I hope you keep bringing that same enthusiasm back to camp in the years to come.

Ian – You are one of the funniest and creative kids I've met, and your extensive wealth of knowledge was an asset to the group. I know this summer meant a lot to you, keep coming back.

Iggy – You've been a great addition to this group your humor and always having a smile on your face continue to help this group grow and I can't wait to watch you come back for years to come.

Jacob – You were such a great leader in the group and whenever you needed to step up you were always ready. Your enthusiasm for activities was needed and you were always ready to do something. I can't wait to watch you excel at camp for many years to come. Camp needs people like you.

JC – You had a unique way of making your presence felt, not by doing too much yet somehow still making everyone laugh. Your laid-back approach and perfectly timed comments were a running joke in the group, and camp wouldn't have been the same without it. Keep bringing that energy back.

Jude – It was really awesome watching you grow into this group and show how great you are. You jumped right in and made camp your own. Your spirits are always high and this group needs you and your energy. Keep coming back!

Kyle – Your addition to the group this year did a lot more than you know. Your spurs of confidence and immunity to embarrassment taught this group how to really embrace what camp has to offer by having truly care free fun. Thanks for bringing this group closer together and I really hope to see you next year!

Leo – Watching you grow throughout the summer was incredible. You really learned what camp is about and it was so nice seeing you get closer with everyone in the group. Your Green & White was electric and I hope you keep coming back!

Luca – You've got such a calm, steady presence that really balances out the group. You were always ready to help when someone needed it, and your dedication to everything we did didn't go unnoticed.

Mason – You've got a knack for making everyone feel welcome. Your enthusiasm and confidence encouraged others to try new things, and you were never afraid to be yourself. That's what makes you such an important part of this group – keep coming back.

Max – You are always a joy to be around and never are in a bad mood. No matter what gets thrown at you, you always make the most of it and have a good time. Your dedication to both camp traditions and your friends made a huge impact this year.

Santi – Seeing the way you interact with the group makes it clear that you play a pivotal role. The group thrives off your positivity and they come to you for advice. I know you might not come next year, but this group needs you. Keep coming back.

Seb – You were both a leader and one of the funniest people in the group this summer. You were always ready with a quick joke that kept everyone smiling, and you had a way of making the whole group feel connected. Your mix of humor, positivity, and leadership made a big difference this summer, and I hope to see you back again.

Xander – Having you for the first four weeks was such a pleasure. Your energy is super contagious and your positivity kept the group going strong and enthusiastic to every activity. You have the spirit for camp, and I can't wait to see you as a Forester.

Zion – I could tell camp was perfect for you the second you got here. You loved to explore camp and we couldn't keep you in one place for more than a couple of minutes. You are one of the most competitive people I've met and your intensity and free spirit really added to the group.

Zubi – You are a perfect example of making the most of camp. I know you love camp and it is clear that you know how to make the most of your days. You really helped bring everyone together this summer, I can't wait to see you thriving again next year.

CARPE DIEM@FORESTERS! LET'S SEIZE THE SUMMER...

A SUMMER FOR THE AGES A SUMMER FOR THE AGES A SUMMER FOR THE AGES

Jelin and Synder were the first to arrive. We were rolling eleven deep by the end of the day, and played a sick game of ultimate frisbee with the Friars for EA. We made a beautiful sign for the New York bus, got the rest of the boys, and we were off to the races. First period of the first day we did our swim tests, and Eli was the first camper in all of camp to jump off the tower. We played some knee 9 square, and later that night, we played infection. Remember the ring around the rosy with Zach? We ran Bay 2 at the waterfront.

The Meg was on the hunt, the log was getting pulled out, and we battled against the Friars. Professor K took y'all to school, and we ate some fresh cookies from Grandma. Remember when we were the only Boys Group on camp during the heat wave? Glimcher and Tom were doing hot yoga in the loft, and the lemonade stand helped the rest of camp cool down. For The Needs of Others! Bowling with the Shires was a welcomed trip off camp. We were shooting darts, playing pool, and Thomas couldn't solve a riddle to save his life. We hit up Cozy Corner for Grant's birthday, and Callum got rizzy. The pizza was delivered when we got back, and we watched a great sunset.

Remember Lachlans NDE while wake surfing? How about Jelin's tumble off Mt. Hood? Zeke, Carter, and Thomas formed the chain. The west end game was a movie. Snyder and Zach showed out, knocking down more than a few triples. It was a hero's welcome in the bunk when they returned. Remember Jelin's birthday party…The next day, a little bit of rain didn't slow our roll. We got more cake and pizza thanks to Max, beat the Friars in Capture the Flag, and ended the night watching Dead Poet's Society.

The Fourth of July arrived faster than we expected. Lincoln, Zeke and Seby's 67, and cream monster Kyle was an absolute menace. Remember Alon arriving? It was so hype when he pulled up in the dining hall. How about the snapping turtle at the waterfront? Or, even more dangerous, Mo! We threw on Maze Runner at the bunk. Not sure if we'll ever see the end of Scorch Trials. Remember the Pontoon trip to the main lake with Andrea and Daf? Everyone was sending backflips. Remember dressing steezy for a day? How about when Gavin came back from the infirm? We ripped a fire real team handball EA on the Girls camp field, and it was so sick to see everyone giving it their all. The C team basketball game against the Saxons For the Needs of Others was one heck of a game. Remember, the great yawning on the FNOO stage? Grant was really tired. You guys really thought shisweet, huh?

We did a sick hike up Mount Major, and were rewarded with blueberries at the top. The boul sesh at McDonalds on the way back to camp was electric. Remember the techy touchers, and the final touch? Poor Archer. We had a beautiful day at Kenwood, where we competed our hardest. Seby had a sick behind the back throw in football. Sketch from Kenwood was out there causing us some problems too. And, we can't forget about foo George. Big D's casino took over the bunk (and some meals and activities). Ya'll we're really about your bread. Remember the revolution against Kieran? Rest in peace Lachlans speaker. Remember Calum and Jelins chairs on the paddle board? Or sinking the mothership and turning it into a hot tub? We lived with some makeshift shower heads for a couple days, thanks to the Saxons, but we made do. Shout out to Tonya, Greg, Zoe, Carla, Linda, Eliza, and Theondra. Remember Magic Rob? That was nuts…and he knew it was Big D's twenty! What about seeing who could jump the furthest off Mt Hood with Tom? People were really eating it, especially Evan.

After some passionate dress rehearsals in the bunk, we absolutely stole the show during So You Think You Can Dance. From Alon in Tel Aviv, to the blue vs red in Poison, Snyder as Justin, our model walks in Luxury, and of course, Lachlan, Zeke, and Seby in All I Want. We were stellar, and The Realm will be talking about that dance for years to come.

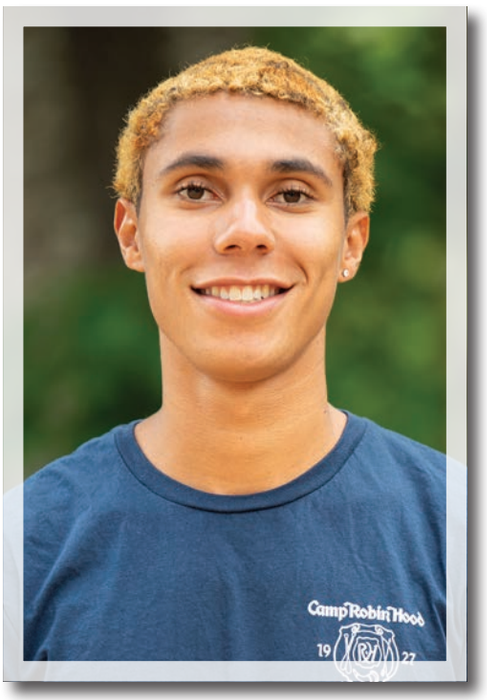

Remember the Harlem Globetrotters at basketball? Rex was getting in his laps after every shot. How about the legendary water battle on the lower court? The ice machine really came in clutch. DBK took an extra wet shower, and Gavin gave Hudson and the rest of the Saxons a tour of the bunk. Did we ever solve the mystery of who moved Fedora's bed? The Saxons of 2026 are the prime suspects. The annual dizzy kickball challenge against the Shires took an unexpected turn. We snuck out of the Outpost to greet them, with Hoist the Colors blasting. But, the weather had other plans for us. The pivot into speed dating was so fun, and the sunset afterward was straight out of a movie. That moment, enjoying the waterfront and singing together really brought us closer together.

Our beach day was super fun. The weather was great, Glimcher was skimming like a pro, and the boys were body surfing the waves. The lobster rolls were bussing, and Zeke and Lincoln paid a fortune for their ice cream.

Parents visiting day was a blast (despite the power outage). It was great to meet everyone's families. While most were out with their parents in the afternoon, the rest of us hit Walmart and Chipotle. The Folos arrived, and we were the most dapper men on camp. Remember parkour? We couldn't have asked for a better downpour to run around camp in, and singing Down By the Bay at the waterfront really put the cherry on top. The Susman's had half the group making sandwiches. Well done boys. The rest of us took a tour around camp, greeting the horses, paying our respects to Tommy, and hanging out with the chickens. Shout out Blasé! The FriFo make your counselor laugh was a once in a lifetime EA, enough said. Poor Lincoln.

Remember DBK's emote wheel? How about life could be a dream? How about the walkie talkie's? Those were pretty helpful. The next thing we knew, Green & White was breaking. You guys really had an incredible war. The spirit and the sportsmanship were second to none. Even after the ultimate game got heated, it was all love. Remember Rex's haircut? Or Rex in glee? How about night five…Tom is still hunting for deer.

Post Color War, we had excursion to look forward to, and it did not disappoint. The bus was a movie, Josh on buckets was dope, and we all had a great time at Dave & Busters. The concert was probably the highlight…The Offspring were lit. Remember 30 versus 0? We're glad team 30 took the win. After we got back, camp was nearly a wrap. The Dot names of FoDOT25 were too funny. We won't ever forget the failed Battle of Boys Camp. How about the dog days? Remember GL swap with Lily aka LDot twice is a habit? How about ultimate frisbee? Our final evening activity was super memorable. Glimcher did get triple blocked by Rex in volleyball. We swam at the New ODT, enjoyed some s'mores, and reflected on our summer by the fire.

And on the last day, we packed up, and reflected on our summer. I'll always remember the tennis golf game with Lincoln, Grant, and Carter.

FORESTERS

Sam Blacksburg – You brought so much spirit and passion this summer. You truly didn't waste a minute, and that energy was contagious. I hope you can come back for seven weeks next summer. You're the man.

Daniel Brindle-Khym – DBK. You arrived slightly late this summer, but immediately made an impact. Your creativity was literally infectious – you changed the lingo of the group forever. But, on a real note, you're one of the smartest and most mature kids there is. You do camp your own way, and it's great to see.

Thomas Calleja Labadie – Robin Hood has officially become your second home after this summer. It may have been your first year, but it looks like it's been your tenth. We got high hopes for you, keep on coming back.

Aidan Chiu – You've really carved out a space for yourself in the group this summer, which is hard to do as an incoming Forester. You knew what camp is all about immediately, and you showed that time and time again. You're a super mature and confident kid, and I can't wait to see what camp has in store for you in the future.

Colin Fuller – I feel like you really came into your own this summer. You mean a lot to this group, and you do things your own way. I think I can speak for everyone when I say you're really a pleasure to be around. Keep coming to camp, and keeping doing your thing.

Alexander Glimcher – Glimcher, get on the benches! But, on a real note, despite always being last, you're such a great kid. At times it feels like you're too smart for camp, but you do your own thing and have fun doing it. You're undoubtedly a trendsetter in the group and it's really cool to watch. Camp needs you, so get ready to kill it Saxon summer.

Gavin Horowitz – You're such a dog. I'm so glad you were able to extend – the group is better for it. You actually gave every activity one hundred percent, and didn't waste a minute. You're one of the realest kids there is, and it's very refreshing. It's always such a fun time with you. Keep up the good work – camp needs you.

Callum Jacoby – You are a trend setter. Always paving the path for your boys. You love camp and camp loves you. Keep on coming back the group needs you.

Max Jelin – When you are at camp you are always having fun! Camp runs in your blood. When I imagine a young Andy, you are the perfect fit. You truly are Andy's dream. You're a bright and high spirited kid. Keep on coming back, you have the potential to lead this place one day.

Sabastian Kaye – Fedora you give everything your all, and you're friendly to all. You are a competitor in all activities and you truly know what camp's about. Camp would be better if everyone was a bit more like you. Keep on coming back to camp.

Sebastian Khalil – Seby, you're a competitor and leader. It's obvious why you were voted captain by your group mates. Just know that recognition from your peers is the greatest honor. You took over from the moment you arrived. From sports, to your legendary finale in the dance, you were stellar in all facets. It would be easy for you to be cocky, but you aren't. In fact, you exhibit such humility and kindness. Keep coming to camp, there are big things in store for you.

Zach Levine – You're such a competitor. Your enthusiasm for everything, from activities, EAs, etc, is exemplary, and what every camper should aspire to be like. It's clear that you really understand what camp is about. This group and camp really needs you, so keep coming back. I can't wait to see what you do. Keep balling.

Alon Lipshitz – I see why everyone speaks so highly of you. You took this summer by storm. Instantaneously, you brought so much fire to the group. Whether it was giving your all in every activity, shining during the dance, or being friends with everyone on camp, you really could do no wrong. Have a great year, and we'll see you next summer.

Noah Lodish – You're one of the most positive people I've ever met. You carry yourself with such confidence and relaxation. There's never a down moment with you. You truly do lead by example, and you hold the group together in more ways than one. Keep coming back for as long as you can, because camp needs people like you.

Rohan Natuari – Sike…you swished it! You're the model camper, and I can't thank you enough. Your kindness is exemplary, your cleaning prowess and discipline is something to behold, and your effort in activities is always on one hundred. Through the ups and downs of the summer, you always stay strong and handle business. You're my dog. See you next year.

Rex Perlman – You're certainly a character. You're a leader in the group, always for better and never for worse! You're always wearing that infectious smile, always having fun, and always making us laugh. To more nights at the docks. Stay safe in Gramercy, and we'll see you back for Saxon summer.

David Porres – Big D, you're really the man. You're such a level headed and considerate person, and that makes you a eader in the group. It's clear that you care so much for camp and the group. Also, You ran that poker ring like no one's business. Camp would be a better place with more people like you – keep coming back.

Aurelio Quintana Gomez – Aurelioooo! You might be the funniest dude ever. Your positivity is unwavering and is inspirational to all of us. You never take yourself or any situation too seriously, but when it's time to stop messing around, you're ready. You're such an integral part of the group, and a true pleasure to be around. I'm so excited to see you next summer.

Evan Ramirez – I'm not sure The Realm has ever seen a person like you. You're a quiet leader. You always do the right thing, and you set the example for the group. You get along with everyone, and nothing seems to bother you. Keep having fun in your own way, keep grinding footy, and we'll see you back for Saxon summer.

Eli Rosenstock – You're certainly rambunctious, and it's so fun to experience. You really are such a light in this group. You're the idea guy, and you always follow through. You're hilarious, and a friend to all. I love that you're always unequivocally yourself, no matter who's watching. I know you have a long camp career ahead – keep doing what you're doing, and it's sure to be bright.

Lincoln Rope Decarilous – You are such a great kid. You are always having fun and continue to make good decisions. Keep on coming back, camp needs people like you. You truly are the magic in the trees.

Spencer Sears – I hope all is well in Steamboat Springs. You were rock solid throughout the whole summer, no matter what was going on. Your love and dedication for camp is clear to see. You've gotten your reps in over the years, and you understand what this place means to the fullest. Keep going – I'm excited to see what you do here.

Benjamin Synder – You really are the nicest kid there is. Your consideration and compassion for your group mates, and everyone for that matter, is so rare. You're a seasoned veteran in The Realm and it really showed this summer. The group definitely needs you, and camp needs you. I know you'll kill it Saxon summer.

Carter Susman – Sus! You played hard, you led hard, and you gave camp your all. You've understood this for a long time. Everything that can be said about you has already been said. You were the model camper, friend, and gentleman. You already know what you're supposed to do, so get it done next summer.

Grant VanHorn – GVH! You always have your finger on the pulse of the group. You're always involved and in the know. Keep having fun, and making the most of camp. You need camp and camp needs you. We'll see you back ready for Saxon summer.

Lachlan Whelan – When you arrived, it changed the game. You brought so much direction to the group, and helped us reach our full potential. Your motor was always running, you socialized like crazy, and led in just about every way. You are an exemplary camper and person, and you really should be proud of yourself.

Zeke Wolff – You're one craaazy guy. There's never a down moment with you. It's admirable how you're so positive. Despite it being your second summer, you clearly understand what camp means on a deep level. I rarely see a guy with more passion, or having more fun. I speak for everyone when I say I hope to see you back next summer. Rock on!

A summer for the ages! FORESTERS

FORESTERS OF 2025, IT WAS A SUMMER FOR THE AGES. YOU GET IT, AND YOU GOT IT. DON'T WASTE A MINUTE, AND SEIZE THE DAY. THIS CAMP IS YOURS FOR THE TAKING... SAXON SUMMER WILL BE HERE BEFORE YOU KNOW IT.

Hudson Berger, Álvaro Carrasco Florán, Ian Carreiro, Nathaniel Carreiro, James Cleveland, Cameron Emanuel, Juan González Castillo, Tyler Grossman, Henry Harrison, Julian Heller, Jack Ilardo, Jerry Lewart, Samson Lipsky, Jorge Llari de Sangenis, Luke Orlowski, Mauro Perez-Orive, Lucas Pérez-Orive, Owen Rothstein, Viraat Sharma, Zachary Tirrell, Robert Torocsik, Joshua Weiner.

STAFF: Jake Baumoel, Elliot Smith, Sam Warren.

Saxons NO NO NO!

Get off the griddle. Put down those campfires and get on benches. Let's truly relive the best summer of our lives!

The summer started off hot, and from the moment you all arrived on Opening Day, the energy on camp completely shifted. You brought enthusiasm into the dining hall and every activity right away. We kicked off the hot summer with a game of Drip Drip Drop, but of course, you took it to a whole new level. Remember when we climbed the mountain with the TPJs and helped them push through a tough hike? The Staff Talent Show was a fun one to watch this summer. The performances were ones we all will remember. Remember when we took all those early trips in the beginning of the summer? The movie theater, Walmart, and our dinner at Twin Docs? Remember the van ride back when all Alvaro really wanted to do was listen to Despacito, and one peso somehow made it happen? Remember when Juan introduced us to Luis Miguel, his alter ego?

Remember our first Sundae Sundaes, and Hudson turned it into a full-on food fight with the Scribes? As the summer progressed, significant days like the Fourth of July arrived. You all took charge of your own station and led the whole camp to a great day. Ian was grinding at the home run diamond all afternoon. Off to a great start as campers, it was only right for your bunk to be filled with treats. Remember when the freezer somehow every night was filled with ice cream and popsicles? Shoutout to Samson for making that happen. Remember stargazing at the rink and seeing those lights in the sky; the ones we thought had to be something more than just stars? Remember when you took charge of the first cookout of the summer and made burgers for the whole camp? I've never seen it run more smoothly. Remember Luke behind the grill cooking like he had done it a thousand times? Remember the third shower with the colorful curtain. Remember Julian's favorite saying, WYLL? The late-night stroll through camp, where we made a pit stop at the tennis court. The stars were really beautiful that night. Who remembers the dock behind the bunk? Because I sure don't. Remember when Owen dropped 50 points in the West End game which shocked the whole camp. That game was electric.

As FNOO was a big part of the summer this year, we tried everything in our power to win. Remember Jorge and Julian hitting buzzer beaters for our first FNOO challenge. Then later on we took on a tie-breaking Bocce game on the quad. The one that the entire camp was watching. JUSTICE FOR JUAN! The whole crowd was shouting. As we make our way through the summer, So You Think You Can Dance arrives. Our dance took a few days of planning. But ended up being the best one ever. Jack and Jerry absolutely killed it in the dance. Remember Cameron's dance move that no one saw coming? Remember Nate and Tyrone's favorite meal of the day being breakfast.

Mount Washington was a milestone in the summer for you all. A challenge you all overcame and conquered together. Remember the Dream Team? It only took them nine hours to get to the top and back. Remember the dogs? Viratt knew the dogs were out for him that one waterfront period. Our softball games were always intense, but what sticks out the most is when Alvaro saved camp. Remember the chaos of beach day and learning 100 ways to love a cat? Remember when Tyrone and Jorge thought they were slick and tried running across the bridge without anyone noticing? It's always nice driving by 120 Carol Street on the way home. Remember when dry ice just appeared behind the bunk and no one asked questions? Let's never forget about the importance of Jerrys mouth tape. THANK YOU Jerry! How about when we went to Woody's cottage for the evening and grilled steaks? That night I didn't realize you all had a passion for fishing. PVD rolled through quickly, and we all shared a great day with your parents. It was great seeing them again. I know that Walmart trip was a good one that night.

Heading to the excursion, we had a jam-packed schedule with almost six to seven activities a day. Surfing in Portland was a highlight of everyone's trip. Every person in the group was able to get up and shred. Remember our luxurious hotel and living situations. It came with a great pool, and of course we had a Memphis pool party. Remember Henry's Jamaican accent and when he lost his glasses in the bottom of the pool and didn't realize. How about that fantastic tour around Portland we had? Remember all the lobster we caught on the excursion? Because I don't.

Remember Robert's Green & White chant in the dining hall and how it…didn't quite work out? As G&W began, let's not forget the few seconds we had outside the bunk together before you knew it was breaking. Everyone on camp ran to the rink to witness the best break ever. You all showed toughness and leadership those five days. A highlight is definitely your last sport as campers. Your soccer game. Things got intense, and everyone definitely played by the rules. Mauro scored the tying goal to take the game into penalty kicks.

Remember the Yeoman cleaning crew stepping up when we needed it? Remember when AYEEEE took over the bunk and stuck for the rest of the summer? Remember when Tyrone broke his door and then fixed it the same day like it never happened? Remember our under-the-lights basketball games and our campfire that truly showed the bonds and friendships you have formed with each other? Remember all of James's failed attempts? Remember when we were playing Family Feud and found out Jerry's favorite meal at camp? I don't think he quite got the memo. Towards the end of camp, Grossman discovered his new favorite passion for paddleboarding. As our final days of summer were winding down, all of you participated in all the activities and most certainly never WASTED A MINUTE!

Remember your Saxon speeches; all of you touched my heart as well as the crowds. You all did a great job summarizing your camper careers in a short period of time. Let's not forget about the greatest Founders Day gift built in years. The Rendezvous. This is not just a rendezvous but something that will cement your names in the history of camp forever. Tyrone, Luke, and Josh cranked the roof out in only two days, and we were able to put it up faster than anyone could have ever imagined. This summer ended perfectly, and you all showed camp what it means to be leaders of The Realm.

SAXONS

Alvaro – Your presence this summer was felt in every way. You are a great person to be around and you always light up a room. You became the kind of person others could count on, and look to for a laugh. I saw you help others and trust yourself. You brought great energy to everything you did. You gained confidence and became a better version of yourself. Keep coming back and always be you!

Cameron – You've grown into someone who truly belongs at the center of this group. Not just as a teammate, but as a friend and leader. This summer, your confidence showed up in new ways, both on and off the court. Whether you were playing basketball or just hanging in the bunk, you brought energy, humor, and a sense of loyalty that brought people together. You've figured out who you are here, and it's clear how much others value and respect you. I hope you come back on staff, your impact is just getting started.

Henry – It was so good to have you back this summer, even if just for the last three weeks; it felt like you'd never left. You jumped right back in like no time had passed, bringing your signature humor and that constant smile that lights up the whole bunk. You've always had a way of making people laugh, and this year you reminded us how much that matters. Camp is just more fun when you're around. I hope you come back on staff, because your energy and spirit make this place better.

Hudson – You have a presence in the group that people naturally gravitate toward. You bring a mix of energy, personality, and reliability that creates a strong sense of connection among everyone. Whether you're cracking jokes or just being yourself, you help shape the tone of the group in a real way. People respect you, enjoy being around you, and know they can count on you. This summer felt more complete with you here. There's no doubt in my mind you're going to be a great counselor. See you next summer!

Ian – Seeing you back this summer reminded me how powerful of a leader you can be. You didn't need to be the loudest voice in the room, you led by doing the right thing, always. You've grown into someone who others look to when they need calm and clarity. I saw so much maturity in the way you carried yourself and supported the group. I can already picture you thriving as a role model on staff.

Jack – You never stop talking, and honestly, I wouldn't want it any other way. You've got this hilarious, nonstop energy that somehow makes everyone feel like they're part of the conversation. You're friends with absolutely everyone, and your ability to float between groups and keep things fun is one of a kind. The bunk was louder, funnier, and better with you in it. Camp wouldn't have been the same without you this summer. I hope to see you in The Realm next summer. Always be you!

James – This was the summer where everything clicked, not because you suddenly became someone else, but because you started trusting the person you've become. You took up space in your own way, with more confidence, more humor, and a deeper connection to the people around you. You've grown into someone who doesn't just belong here, You help define what this place is all about. Watching you engage, take ownership, and step into your role was powerful. I really hope you come back on staff because who you are now is exactly what younger campers need to see.

Jerry – You were someone I could always count on this summer. You listened when it mattered, gave full effort in everything, and brought a great attitude every single day. You're athletic, funny, kind, and the kind of person who makes the bunk feel more connected. Everyone genuinely enjoys being around you, and it's easy to see why. Camp was better with you in it, and I hope we see you back next year. You will make an unbelievable staff member.

Jorge – You have this quiet spark that made a real impact in the group. You weren't the loudest, but when you were around, everyone felt it in the best way. You brought good vibes, real kindness, and a laid-back energy that people naturally wanted to be near. Even if you kept things low-key, you were always a big part of the moments that mattered. I'm so glad you were here this summer, it wouldn't have been the same without you.

Josh – You bring a constant stream of energy that the group needed, always talking, always joking, and always finding a way to make people smile. There was never a dull moment with you around, and that's what made camp so fun. You have this gift for keeping the mood light and making sure everyone feels included in the laughter. Your smile and enthusiasm are contagious in the best way. Camp was a lot more fun this summer because you were in it. Keep coming back!

SAXONS

Juan – It's never easy being the new kid, especially in a group that's been together for years, but you made it look effortless. You came in quietly, felt things out, and before we knew it, you were one of the loudest voices in the bunk (in the best way). Your ability to connect, jump in, and be fully yourself was seriously impressive. It was tough seeing you leave early, because you'd become such a big part of the group in such a short time. I'm just really glad you came; you left a mark that won't be forgotten.

Julian – You have this one-of-a-kind energy that completely takes over a room, in the best way possible. Whether it was racing from activity to activity or cracking jokes in the bunk, you kept the entire group on their toes. You're naturally funny, always upbeat, and never afraid to be yourself, which makes being around you so much fun. What really stood out this summer was how people looked to you, not just for laughs, but for direction. I hope you come back on staff, because your energy, leadership, and personality are exactly what campers will love.

Lucas – AYEEE Lucas, this being your first summer at camp makes it even more impressive how fast you became a big part of the group. You've got a huge personality, and you brought something different in the best way, a mix of humor, confidence, and nonstop energy. You made everyone laugh and kept the vibe fun no matter what we were doing. It honestly feels like you've been here forever with how naturally you fit in. I'm really glad you were here this summer, you made camp more fun for everyone.

Luke – You've got a real talent for building and creating, whether it was a rendezvous structure or some wild camp project, you were always at the center of it. You brought ideas to life in a way that made people stop and pay attention. The bunk respected you not just for what you could do, but for the way you carried yourself. You were a huge part of what made this summer special. I really hope you come back, campers could learn so much from your creativity and how you bring things to life.

Mauro – You're the kind of person everyone just naturally likes, and that says a lot about your character. You don't need to be loud or take up space to make an impact; people notice the way you carry yourself and how genuine you are. You're always tuned in, always respectful, and always real. There's a quiet confidence in you that people respect without even thinking about it. I'm really glad you were part of the group this summer, you made a big difference just by being you.

Nate – There's something about you that everyone connects with. You show up with a great attitude, bring good energy to everything, and make people feel like they belong. You're someone the whole group enjoys being around. You're easygoing, thoughtful, and always yourself. Whether we're in an activity or just hanging out, you make things more fun. I'm really glad you were here this summer. It wouldn't have been the same without you. Keep coming back.

Owen – You've taken things to another level this summer in the way you show up, the effort you bring, and how much you've grown. You've put in the work, and it shows in how confident, focused, and dialed-in you've become. You bring something really solid to the group, and people notice it even if they don't always say it out loud. You've become someone others can count on and enjoy being around. I've really enjoyed spending time with you – you made this summer better. I hope to see you on staff next summer.

Robert – You may be younger than the rest of the group, but the way you carry yourself says otherwise. You bring a kind of wisdom, thoughtfulness, and care that's rare at any age, and it makes people want to be around you. You've got this unique way of connecting with everyone while still staying completely true to who you are. It's easy to see how much the group values and respects you for exactly who you are. I'm really glad you were here this summer, camp was stronger because of you. You will make a great counselor; I hope to see you next year.

Samson – The fact that you were new this summer still blows my mind; you showed up and immediately felt like part of the group. You found your rhythm so quickly, and it never felt like you were trying to be anything other than yourself. You've got this awesome ability to be chill and observant one minute and then fully in the mix and making everyone laugh the next. People genuinely like being around you, and it showed every day. I'm really glad you're here; camp got better the second you showed up. I hope to see you next year.

Tyler – You've been a leader here for as long as anyone can remember, and this summer was no different. Being a Color War captain again felt like a full-circle moment, and you led with the same intensity and pride you've always brought to camp. Your athleticism has always stood out, but this year it was your ability to lead with confidence and clarity that made the biggest impact. You've grown up here, and your experience has shaped you into someone younger campers already look up to. I really hope you return on staff, you've got so much to pass down, and you're exactly the kind of leader this place needs.

Viratt – You jumped back into camp like you hadn't missed a day, and within minutes, it felt like you were right where you belonged. You've got this natural way of keeping things light and making people laugh without ever forcing it. Even with just a few weeks here, you made your presence known in all the right ways. You brought fun, timing, and that classic sense of humor the group needed. I'm really glad you came back, it wouldn't have felt complete without you

Zach – The name Tyrone isn't just something we call you, it's a legacy you've built here over the years. That name carries so much meaning because it represents everything about you at camp: the respect you've earned, the way people listen when you speak, and the impact you've made just by being yourself. You might not always be the loudest, but your presence is strong, steady, and impossible to ignore. Tyrone is more than a nickname, it's a symbol of how much this place means to you and how much you mean to this place. Keep coming back.

…bonds that will last a lifetime…

Saxons

There are no amount of words that can express my gratitude and thankfulness to you guys. You made my summer and created bonds with each other that will last a lifetime. I hope to see you all on staff next summer, and just remember when times are tough and there are challenges you must overcome, we are all a phone call away from one another.

Love you boys from the bottom of my heart.

Hey Scouts!

Put down the sticker beans, stop the tetherball, pause singing Pink Pony Club and lock in because it's time to recap the best summer of your lives.

June 21st was the grand opening with all of you arriving to complete what is the best Scout group in history. With some sparkly decorations and amazing lights, our bunk was ready for you guys to shine! Sparkle like a scout truly came to life! You entered the bunk and took The Realm by storm immediately with your enthusiasm and energy. Our first day was amazing as we welcomed each other with such kindness and open arms. We jammed out to some amazing music and got settled into our comfy areas. Remember when we had a candy party the first night! We sure do! On Day 1 we woke up and immediately started celebrating Morgan's birthday! The vibes were high and the sun was out. Remember when Mia knew all the lyrics to It's Time by Imagine Dragons?…song of the summer. Although, the excitement did not end there. We were the first group to ever go to the farm, and hold the baby chicks! Scout's making history left and right. Later in the day we had Sunday Sundaes and had cookie cake decorating…talk about a sugar high. Both Charlotte and Bea lost a tooth and got to me first in line for Sunday Sundaes! We were all so jealous. Later in the week we discovered our new found love for kneeboarding, and senior waterfront. Nobody can keep the Scouts away from the big slide and obstacle course.

As the temperature rose so did the amount of things we got to do! We visited Cozy Corner for the first time and ate some cold and refreshing ice cream and then got to see How to Train Your Dragon in the movie theaters with the Tumblers! Whitney really enjoyed laying all the way down on the movie theater seats. Talk about the best two days ever. Remember when you went on the flying squirrel for the first time? You were all so brave and confident trying something new for the first time. On our first rainy day we took advantage of all the camp has to offer and even watched a movie at Woody's house! Quinn got to show off her fancy umbrella. Remember when you tried pickleball for the first time? New sport unlocked! Noa and Jojo gained a newfound love for pickleball. The first week was better than we could have ever asked for…and the fun only continued. Believe it or not, the second week was filled with even more fun. Remember when we had a water balloon fight with the Tumblers and it turned into a water fight with the hoses! You all certainly loved spraying everyone on camp with water. The next day was a day to remember. We hiked Rattlesnake with the Tumblers and Scribes and enjoyed the amazing view at the top. On the way back we got ice cream and had a blast in the vans! Our out of camp activities did not end there…We soon after went to the Mainers game to enjoy some amazing baseball and yummy food! Remember when you guys decided to have some fun with drawings on the bus ride back? Best day ever.

Remember the Fourth of July? We pontooned all morning and partied all afternoon. From the carnival, to the water slides, to the beach party, we had the time of our lives. Your outfits were definitely the best on camp. That night we got to do a backward scavenger hunt and utilize the quad. Remember when you chased someone through the office for their shoe? That's dedication! Remember when we got to go tubing for the first time? I think you guys go even faster than the Scribes! Talk about bravery. Going into the third week, you were all settled in and the fun only continued. Remember when we went to Forest Acres and played kickball? You all impressed us with your skills and incredible sportsmanship and energy. After the game, we cooled down with popsicles and made friendship bracelets for our new friends. The next day, which all of you had been eagerly awaiting, was the Junior Camp Talent Show. Remember when Logan debuted her awesome dance to Sunroof ? You all were amazing and so talented. The Scouts dominated the talent show! In the fourth week, we truly lived our days to the fullest. A few days later the Challenge Cup began and the Scumblers got to support the cause for Education. Beating the Scribes, the Quills, and the Yeomen, we made it to the finals. You all worked so hard and won $750 for an amazing cause. Go Scouts!

Remember our challenge against the TPs? Our all pink outfits were definitely the star of the show. A couple days later we took an awesome field trip to Camp Matonpanai and got to meet so many new friends! We played kickball, gaga, and ate an amazing lunch. The vibes were high and the sun was out. We've never seen better kickball players. The fourth week was full of dancing as we prepared for So You Think You Can Dance. We dousted ourselves in glitter and got on that stage with so much pride. We performed the best dance this camp has ever seen to Bejeweled, and took sparkle like a scout to a whole other dimension. You all did so well. Remember when we had s'mores and swam at the ODT? I think you guys may have had one too many s'mores. Remember our night time stories? We don't care, we don't care, we don't care a snitch! Peter Rabbit storytime will never get out of my head. I don't think Nellie will ever stop singing it either along with her crazy accent.

Remember when all of your parents came to visit for PVD? We played 9 Square with your families and made bracelets at crafts with them. You gave them a tour of the bunk and showed them all around camp. Later that day we had an awesome candy party with all the snacks your parents brought. I think we still have candy left over from then! The fun didn't end there, though. Just four days after PVD, we went to Storyland with the Tumblers and TPJs. We spent the day riding all sorts of rides, eating so much yummy food, and laughing nonstop all together. After the park, we stopped at McDonald's for dinner and then got ice cream before heading back to camp. To your surprise, our day didn't end just there. When we got back to camp, we watched Shrek in the barn. Little did we know, something even crazier was about to happen. Just as the movie came to a close, loud sounds started blasting from the speakers, and everyone on camp started running towards the rink where a surprise drone show lit up the sky overhead. And just like that, the most exciting five days of the summer began. Green & White was so much fun! With Logan leading the Great Green Paradise and Jojo leading the Mighty White Heist, the war began and you all crushed it. Each of you brought so much enthusiasm, energy, and amazing sportsmanship to every single activity. We learned so many new songs and even some of you took the stage for the talent show.

After the five days ended, we were all so excited to finally come back together as a group. Our first Evening Activity reunited was pajama jumping! We ran down to the waterfront and jumped off the tower in our pjs, listening to music and dancing until the sun set. It was the perfect way to celebrate being back together. As the summer came to an end, we began to celebrate camp and all it has given us. On the third of August, we celebrated Andy's birthday. This year the Scouts gave camp signs for the new towel system in Girls Camp. Everyone loved our gift and we cannot wait to see it hung up next summer! The next night we had our last EA for the summer. You got into two groups and completed an awesome scavenger hunt in record time and then celebrated with Candy Canteen! Best night ever. On the last night we had Awards Night where you were all celebrated for being such amazing campers. Claire really swept the night winning Master Camper and the Inspection award! We cannot thank you enough for the best summer ever and we hope you guys keep coming back forever. See you next summer. Scouts OUT!

SCOUTS

Bea – Our girl Bea! You are so silly, beautiful, and loving. You walked into this group and immediately made close friends. You are always smiling and bringing such amazing energy to our days. Please keep coming back because camp needs you and your kindness. Love you.

Charlotte – Char Char!!! You came to camp and instantly cliqued. You are so full of joy, silliness, and love, and you make everyday brighter with your infectious smile. You are such an important part of this group and make every day more fun. Camp is your place and we are all so lucky to share it with you. We can't wait to watch you continue to thrive year after year. Love you.

Claire – You came into this group with such ease and humble energy. You always listen and are friendly to everybody, while also enjoying every day to the fullest. You and your brother embody camp and all that it is. Keep coming back. Love you.

Jojo – Jojoooo! You are so mature and creative. Your dancing never fails to amaze us and we appreciate your love for this place, mostly in your second summer. You and your sister are perfect for this place. Keep coming back because your future is so big here. Love you.

Logan – Logieeeee! You came here and fit right in. You are always dancing, singing and smiling and it makes our days even brighter. You are so passionate about everything you do and you and your sister will keep coming back forever. Always remember how important this place and these people are because you are meant to be here. Love you.

Mia – Your energy is unmatched and your enthusiasm for everything you do really shows. You entered the group and immediately made an impression. Everyone respects you and finds you incredibly hilarious, and it is so amazing to watch you thrive here. Keep coming back because this place is meant for you. Love you.

Nellie – Nellie nelllersonsss! You came into this group and seriously took camp by a storm. You are so fun, energetic, and eager to try new things. You immediately made so many new friends and will forever be a significant part of this group. Love you.

Noa – You are so athletic and we love watching you put your all into everything you do. It's surprising to think that this is your first summer, because you truly fit right into this group. Keep coming back, we cannot wait to watch you thrive. Love you.

Quinn – Quinny, from the day we met you we recognized your amazing attitude and happiness to be at this place. Keep smiling, laughing, and being yourself because this group needs you and your energy. Love you.

Whitney – You are such an amazing kid with so much potential. You entered the group with such ease and fit right in. This place is certainly meant for you and you and your sisters truly shine here. We cannot wait to watch you grow up here. Never stop coming back because your future here is so bright! Love you.

...loving the Scouts!

To our amazing staff –

Thank you for being so helpful everyday and giving it your all. We couldn't have done it without you and we love you so much! Keep coming back because the kids need you.

ALRIGHT BUBBLE TUMBIES!

NO MORE ACTING OUT COMMERCIALS, PLAYING THE ROSS FAMILY GAME, DRESSING UP AS LABUBUS OR TRADING STICKER BEANS, IT IS NOW TIME TO LOOK BACK ON THE BEST SUMMER EVER!!!

Opening day was filled with excitement and energy as the Tumblers arrived and jumped right into the fun of camp life! By car, van, and bus, our group began to become more and more complete. Remember our bubble wrap carpet? Remember Livvy teaching us our count off chant…Bubble Tumbies, Bubble Tumbies in the sea, can you count us 1, 2, 3? We kicked off the summer with our first evening activity, a hilarious game of Backwards Scavenger Hunt that had us all racing around with the biggest smiles. Remember your awesome impressions of the counselors and the hilarious skits you all made? Our first dance party in the dining hall created such an amazing energy that really kicked off the excitement of the summer. Another amazing first of the summer was the first campfire, where all of our new Tumblers got to be introduced by their big sisters and learned some of camps most popular cheers. Being able to visit the brand new farm where we got to meet the adorable baby chickens was an unforgettable memory. Remember Tod, Carl, and Blondie? The first time that we all got to go on Flying Squirrel and also jump off the tower that summer was an absolute blast. Remember all our "would you rather" questions? Remember the hot day during the first week when we were surprised with Cozy? Remember when we got to watch Parent Trap at Woody's with the Scouts? The start to the summer had been one of the most exciting I'd ever had, but I just knew the best memories were yet to come.

The Tumblers unforgettable second week was packed with excitement, creativity, and pride. At the Staff Talent Show, we laughed and cheered as female leadership, first- and second-year Aides, and waterfront staff wowed us with dances, while male leadership sang a fun number and the Brass brought the house down with a hilarious Friends intro parody. Remember Rick's awesome magic trick with Perin and Izzy? On the 4th of July, perfect weather and endless sweets set the scene for a day full of celebration, capped off by a hilarious evening activity of paper bag skits. Remember when Woody was GL and gave everyone Candy Canteen? Remember the ship game on the paddle wheelers? Remember when senior waterfront was a bit deflated, making it all the more fun to bounce around and off of? Remember all our awesome costumes, accents, and characters for dog show?

The week ended with the Jr. Camp Talent Show, where nearly every Tumbler sang or danced, showing off their talents while we all had a blast cheering for our friends. Everyone's performances were super unique and most definitely remarkable. Remember Blakely, Margot, and Caroline's awesome dance to Better When I'm Dancing? Remember Livvy absolutely slaying her performance to Valerie? Remember Bailey's dance to Shake It Off? Remember Livvy, Juliet, and Maggie's beautiful lyrical dance to Champagne Problems? Remember Ainsley and Bailey's cute dance to Diamonds? Remember Juliet's amazing dance to California Girls? Remember the killer dance Ainsley did to Confident? Remember Caroline's fabulous dance to You'll Always Find Your Way Back Home?

Another big highlight of this summer was the For The Needs Of Others (FNOO) challenge cup. Save the Children was the charity the girls decided to support, focusing on equal education opportunities for everyone around the world. The Tumblers dominated every round they played, eventually competing in the finals in a scavenger hunt against the Archers. It was a close battle and we finished in second, which was still an awesome win! We were able to donate $750 to Save the Children!

TUMBLERS

We were also able to hike up the scenic path of Rattlesnake Trail that led us to a glorious view of Squam Lake alongside the Scribes and Scouts. Remember how delicious and refreshing the Cozy after was? So You Think You Can Dance was one of the most anticipated events of the summer by both the Tumblers and all over camp, with excitement to show off their own moves to the Bubble Guppies theme song, Under the Sea, and Hawaiian roller coaster ride. All of the other groups dazzled and entertained the Tumblers throughout the night. Remember how awesome the Scribes dance to Kesha was? Remember crying to their Scribe song with the thought of you all up there one day in mind?

One of the other great memories of this summer was traveling to Camp Mataponi for a playdate with their campers. We were able to compete against them in newcomb and kickball while also bonding with a new and kind group of girls. Getting to meet all of the girls from Mataponi was very special for the Tumblers. We all got to make new friends with more awesome girls!

Another awesome time out of camp was going to see How To Train Your Dragon in theaters. Remember how hot out it was during that first week? Remember how nice and refreshing the A/C in the movie theatre was? The Junior Camp beach day spent at White Lake State Park was absolutely spectacular. The water was so clear we could see every detail of the lake's floor and the people standing on it. Also, remember how scenic and picturesque the view out from the lake's shore was? The store at the beach was another highlight of this day, we all got to stock up on sweets for the day and even buy some beach toys.

As we approached PVD all of our 4-weeker friends were doing some of their activities for the last time. We reminisced over our summer after one of our final evening activities, pajama. All the candy we got to eat and the beautiful sunset rounded out the perfect night. Parents Visiting Day was such a perfect day with the most awesome schedule. Starting the morning with Waterfront 1 really set the tone for an amazing day. Next, we had that awesome soccer game! Remember the comeback the adults made and how far ahead the kids were for so much of the game? Our last activity of the day being drama was fate. The Tumblers got to show off their awesome dance from So You Think You Can Dance to their families! Remember the amazing sandwiches we had for lunch? Remember all the new PVD cookie flavors? Remember the s'mores cookie? Remember the red velvet cookie?

Right after PVD we got right back into the swing of things with excursions. Camp took us to the awesome amusement park Story Land. We got to spend the day on awesome water rides, roller coasters, arcade games, and some nice and easy rides like the ferris wheel. All the goodies at the park were such a fun part as well. Some of us stocked up on candy, some of us went to the gift store, and some of us used our money to play arcade games. Once we had ridden practically every ride and visited all the attractions, we headed to McDonald's for some dinner. We all hung out in the McDonald's as we enjoyed our Happy Meals. Remember the awesome gondola seats in McDonald's? After that we finished the day off with some ice cream? Remember the playground at Lickety Splitz? Remember our slide pile up?

Following Excursion, we returned back to camp to watch a movie. As the movie concluded, the energy around the possibility of Green & White breaking was rising. Just in case it were to break, we decided to stay up a little later and watch another movie. However, the movie was soon interrupted by a commotion on the Quad that led us to all run that way. Soon there was an announcement to go to the rink. The entirety of camp was running and screaming. The excitement was unmatchable as we ran towards the rink and saw the drone show in the sky. The drones created classic Green & White pictures like Hats, Canes, Tug-of-War, and Swim Meet. The judges came running out of the woods and counselor captains were announced. We all went to bed that night knowing the best five days of camp had begun!

The five days of Green & White were packed with so much fun. The teams for Green Paradise and White Heist were made at the Bean Pick. We started it off by competing in sports like kickball, bocce, and gaga alongside the Scouts. We soon began preparing for the Talent Show dance, skit, and glee performance. As the war continued on, we never failed to have fun as an entire group, teams aside, in our downtime. We closed up the war with an intense competition of cookie decorating and tug-of-war. Leading up to Night 5, Song Night, we all worked hard to learn the Robin Hood songs and each teams' fight song, alma, and cheer. Green Paradise won most of Song Night, but White Heist stole the show and won the war. While some of us got to have a steak dinner, the rest of us made our way to the waterfront to eat cookout and watch the sunset as a perfect closing to a fun, intense, and energetic Robin Hood Color War.

When Founders Day rolled around, the magic in the trees was more noticeable than ever. Livvy had the great idea of making an iPad case for the iPad in the dining hall that controls the music. We decided to paint the case a pretty teal color and wrote "one more song…" on it. Then, we also got to include all of our names and "Tumblers '25" on it to show our ownership. Livvy got to share a short speech about the case while we all got to present it on stage. Remember the delicious steak and brownie sundaes? It was such an awesome night!

Banquet dinner was another unforgettable meal that had us all reminiscing over the summer we had just had. Remember the amazing last dance party we had? After dinner, we headed over to the barn for Award Night. It was such a proud moment for the Tumblers and was also so much fun being able to cheer all our friends on!

TUMBLERS

Ainsley – You are such a gem to this camp. Everyone around you can feel the pure joy and kindness that you exude at all times. Watching you settle into camp and make all the friendships you did brought everyone so much joy. The generosity and empathy you display for others is truly admirable. It's so fun to see the sassy spunk that shines through when you dance, sing, or perform. I can't wait to see you make your mark on camp.

Amal – You are so amazingly gracious and sweet to everyone. Your contagious laugh brings a smile to everyone's face. You always put your most into everything and inspire others to do so as well. I always know you can cheer others up when they're down with the positive attitude you constantly spread. I hope you will continue to come back for many summers to come!

Bailey – This summer has been full of all kinds of memories, and camp wouldn't have been quite the same without everyone who was part of it. You never fail to make us laugh, especially when you woke up to Midnight McDonalds! I hope you had moments that made you laugh, learn, and grow. Wishing you nothing but good things as you head into the next school year. Thanks for being part of this camp journey.

Blakely – You are the spunkiest, silliest, and sweetest girl I've ever met. There is never a moment where you don't fail to make the whole group start laughing. You are always thinking of others and spreading so much kindness. I can't wait to see you grow up here and the amazing woman you'll become!

Caroline – You are such a special girl with such positivity and love surrounding you. Your energy and raw talent truly never fails to dazzle everyone around you. You are such a loyal and true friend to have. There is nowhere I can imagine you thriving more than here as you grow up to be the amazingly selfless person you have already shown to be.

Juliet – You are one of the most genuine and sweet girls there is. You know how to brighten someone's day with a simple hug. There was nobody more suited to receive the sportsmanship award than you. Never has there been a time where you didn't celebrate the group as a whole after either a loss or win. I have never met someone who has an easier time making friends. Make the most of all your summers here because I know you are someone so full of gratitude. I'll see you next summer!

Livvy – There is nobody better suited to be the veteran camper of the group than you. You have such a welcoming and warm presence to you that makes creating friendships and helping others come so naturally. Your smile lights up a room and your beautiful voice makes everyone want to join in on whatever song you're singing. Imagining you as a scribe brings me so much excitement for you and your group. I can't wait to see you next year!

Maggie – You are so loved by our group. The kindness within your heart is so evident in everything you do. You will always look out for the group, absolutely kill it in every sport, and carry such a bright smile with you everywhere you go. It is clear that your adventurous nature will continue to create exciting memories for as long as you come back to The Realm. So keep coming back because the joy you bring to the group is undeniable.

Margot – From the second you stepped out of the car on Opening Day, I knew you'd be a perfect fit here. You always carry a smile on your face and have such a loving energy around you. I hope you continue to come back to camp forever because The Realm is better with you in it!

Riley – There is nobody else in the world quite like you. You are so goofy, have such a kind heart, involve yourself in sports while still displaying such amazing sportsmanship, care so much for others, and always have a smile on your face. Nothing and nobody can dwindle that contagious spark of yours. I hope as you come back each summer more and more campers and counselors can experience your awesomeness.

Ruby – You are truly the glue of the group. You keep those around you positive and calm with your beautifully kind heart and loving energy. You are always so inclusive towards others and so much fun to be around. There is no doubt in my mind that the group will continue to be as carefree but excited as you are as long as you continue to come back.

To My Staff

This summer would not have been nearly as amazing and successful if it weren't for every single one of you. We all worked as such an amazing team and I hope we all stay in touch!! Arabella, you are truly one of a kind. Nobody could ever be as perfect a drama specialty and basically general as you were. Gabi, you are such a positive energy to be surrounded by and it is so contagious. Helena, you were made to be with our Tumblers, they loved you soooo much! Gill, couldn't have imagined a better SYA to spend the summer with. You are an absolute ray of sunshine and such an easy person to talk to. Mary, you know the love I have for you is infinite. You were my rock this summer and I hope we grow old together.

As a first time group leader, I could not have hoped for a better summer with cooler campers. The infinite amounts of giggles, silly stories we shared, and deep bonds we formed will continue to multiply as the summers continue. Each and every one of you adds something special to the group and all the memories we share.

I Love You All So Much!

From the east to the jest and you say the rest!

The Jesters got an amazing start to the summer!

The day before opening day we had Harper, Tribeca, Quinn, and Alice here early to get our summer started. We decorated signs to welcome the rest of our group on opening day! Opening day began and we got all of our campers totalling 31 girls and making us the biggest group in Girls Camp! We welcomed everyone on the New York and Boston buses and all of our other arrivals! Remember our first evening activity where we ate s'mores on the waterfront with the Bows and watched the sunset! The next day was our first full day at camp. After we did the swim test we were able to waterski and go to senior waterfront. We ended the day with hunger games as our EA.

Remember the epic final showdown in front of the office? The first few days of summer were definitely scorching but that didn't stop our fun! Remember how we beat the heat by watching Moana and then swimming at Woody's house? In 1, in 2, in 3, and BAM! It was so nice to cool off in the lake and play the color game! Remember when we did backwards scavenger hunt on the quad and our last item was a group hug and we fell into the chairs? Deve's failed attempt to be wholesome!

Remember when you guys practiced for the Junior Camp Talent show during every spare second of the day? Remember Kennedy and Jordi's dance to APT? Lielle and Joey rocked the stage to Barbie girl. How about Sloan and Blakely to Pink Friday Girls? And we can't forget Olivia's classic line of the night, "Was it crunchy?!" Remember Taliah calling up Eve and Dani to ROAST us. But don't worry, it was hilarious and we loved it. Let's just say the Jesters shined at JC talent.

Then it was time for the 4th of July! We were all decked out in our best America attire. Tribeca, Hannah, and Serena took creativity to a new level with their face and body paint! Our outfits were in fact the best in camp and won us first in line for every meal that week! Remember the huge inflatables, activities on the quad, and delicious fair food! The Fourth of July at camp never disappoints!

Remember the FNOO cup. We chose to play for Saint Jude's Hospital to fund cancer research. Our first round was newcomb against the Bows! We played hard and although we didn't win, we still got to donate money to our charity! We had a great summer thinking about what we can do for the needs of others. Speaking of others, can we talk about Kailey's passion for sweeping? Never did we think a broom could bring someone so much joy, but it sure kept the bunk clean!

Remember all the activities we got to do this summer? Audrey, Ari, and Violet were our resident gymnasts and we could catch them flipping around at any time of the day. Emily and Aiya dominated the pickleball courts. Home Run was well loved by the Jesters with Joey playing softball and Taliah crushing it at baseball. We loved crafts and making lanyards and bracelets. Addie mastered the difficult heart bracelet just in time for PVD. Newcomb was also a Jester favorite, with Ellie and Leia being real MVPs on the courts. And of course we can't forget Alana and her favorite activity, PADDLE!

Remember our amazing EAs. From Pajama Jumping, to American Ninja Warrior, to Quinn's invention of Infassion we really did it all! Olivia rocked skit night with her hilarious acting. Luli killed it during Hunger Games, another top Jester EA. Remember after Hunger Games when Chapin showed us how much she knew about Taylor Swift. Our EAs were so fun and many of them ended with a camp favorite: Candy Canteen! And no one loves canteen more than Aviv!

Remember our awesome trip to White Lake for beach day! Remember all the duck floaties we got. Those sure were a fun addition to our waterfront periods! We also left camp for our intercamp sports tournaments where we challenged other camps in newcomb and basketball. Even if we didn't win we had so much fun competing as a team! Remember our hike on Green Mountain! Followed by Cozy Corner of course. Ayla is our biggest hiking enthusiast bringing good vibes to Green Mountain.

Remember So You Think You Can Dance? Our plane theme dance was perfectly executed and we had the most fun practicing and performing. Serena rocked center stage during Welcome to New York, and Alice guided us through the dance with her captain announcements. We might not have had an official competition but I think it's safe to say the Jesters won.

Then it was time for PVD! We got to finally meet all your amazing families. It was so wonderful to see everyone reunite and we had a blast doing some activities all together. As always, the PVD cookies did not disappoint. We had our final night with our 4-weekers and said our goodbyes to 11 of our best friends. The next day we all moved to Bunk 7 for the rest of our summer!

After the 4-week mark the countdown to Green & White began! The anticipation was huge but with the break so early, we didn't have to wait long! The war began only four days after PVD and we were so excited! The night break was amazing and we all watched the drone show in awe! We went to bed that night awaiting the morning for the war to officially commence!

From swim meet, to track meet, to talent night, the Jesters really did it all during Green & White! Remember Abbey, Olivia, and Sloan crushing it at flag presentation! How about Lielle and Skylar rocking the stage during JC dance. Chloe brought her amazing swimming skills to the swim meet. The war raged on for five jam packed days and when the final scores were read and white had won, we were able to all come back together and sing the goodnight song. Then we had a full week left of camp to enjoy all together getting back to regular camp activities. We truly had the best final days doing all our favorite camp activities and EAs. Remember when we presented our Founders Day gift to Chuck? We can't wait to see it hang in the dining hall for years to come!

JESTERS

Abbey – You embody everything that makes camp so special: fun, fierce, and full of life. Whether a regular period during the day or an intense match during Color War, your competitive energy makes every activity exciting. Your spirit and humor always fired up our group and we are so lucky to have you. I cannot wait to see your goofy and competitive self grow in this group for years to come.

Addie – You bring such great energy to this group. You are such a caring and compassionate girl. You go through every day with such a smile on your face and are always so considerate of everyone around you. We are so incredibly lucky you extended so we got a full seven weeks with you ! Keep coming back, we can't wait to watch your impact on camp every year until you are a Scribe!

Aiya – It's hard to believe this was your first summer, you fit in like you'd been here for years. You did every activity with such calm confidence, always kind and always easygoing. You are the kind of camper every group is lucky to have. We're so happy you joined us this year, and we can't wait to see you back again and again!

Alana – This was your first summer in The Realm and you definitely made your own mark onto camp. We watched you make the most of everyday, constantly giving your all into every activity while making sure all the girls around you were having fun as well. Watching you fall in love with camp was such a privilege. Keep coming back and we will forever think of you when we hear the word paddle!

Alice – You've been part of camp for so many summers, and it's clear how deeply it means to you. You take every tradition to heart whether it's Green & White, singing camp songs, or just the little daily moments that make camp special. You live and breathe the spirit of this place, and we have no doubt you'll be here for many more summers to come.

Ari – Your smile and laugh can light up any room. You bring such a bubbly, joyful energy to camp, and it's impossible not to feel happier when you're around. We were so excited when you extended this year. Whether you were showing off your amazing gymnastics skills or just making people smile, you added so much to camp. We are so excited to see you summer after summer here.

Audrey – Your kindness and good vibes made such a positive impact on this group. You are truly such a great friend to everyone in our group. Watching you flip and fly across camp with your gymnast skills was so amazing. Keep being your sweet self and I hope we can get to have you here for the full summer next year!

Aviv – You are full of personality and always unapologetically yourself. Your sass, your jokes, and the way you totally get our humor had us laughing every single day. You bring such a fun, bold energy to the group and make everything more exciting just by being there. We hope you stay for the full summer next time because camp is better with you in it.

Ayla – The mochi squishie it girl! Your goofy and loving energy has such a strong presence in this group. Your love for camp is clear in the way you go about each day with a big smile on your face. Not only that, but you managed to thrive at everything you did whether it was an ordinary game of newcomb or Green & White swim meet. Keep coming back and continue to spread your love for camp onto the rest of the group and everyone around you!

Blakely – You always found a way to shine everyday. Your incredible dancing skills, fashionable outfits, and genuine care for those around you brought so much fun energy into the group. We are so glad you extended and stayed for Green & White because, wow, you crushed not only JC dance but every activity! We are so excited to watch you continue to shine every year and for your sticker bean collection to grow!

Chapin – Your goofy side and fun energy always found a way to shine through, and you brought such good vibes to the group. Whether it was a random joke or a super specific Taylor Swift fact, you always kept us smiling. Camp is better with you in it, and we can't wait to see you back for many more summers.

Chloe – Thank you for putting your all into every second of every day spent at camp. It's very clear to us how much this place means to you. Not only are you a star swimmer but you are a star friend and camper! You were always first to help out a friend when needed. Your love for camp is unmatched and we know you will continue to shine at The Realm!

Ellie – You came and fit right in with this group. You brought such a calming and mature presence to this group and immediately made such great friends. We are so lucky you chose to come here! You are so thoughtful and watching you support your friends and sisters here was truly amazing. Please keep coming back and I can't wait for you to stay for seven weeks to see your amazing skills in Green & White.

Emily – You jumped into your first summer like you'd been coming forever. You were so sweet and caring to everyone around you, but also brought such a fun competitive side that made everything more exciting. Whether you were riding or in the middle of a game, you gave it your all. You truly took to camp so naturally, and we can't wait to see all the amazing things you'll do in summers to come.

Hannah – We were so happy you extended this year. You brought so much intensity and passion to every sport and activity, and your love for camp really came through, especially during your first Green & White, which you absolutely rocked. You showed up with heart and drive, and we're so excited to see where that takes you in summers to come.

Harper – You have such a calm and kind presence. You're always a supportive friend, sweet to everyone around you, and all-in on everything camp has to offer. Whether it's an activity or a tradition, you show up with heart and positivity. You're such a special part of this group, and we can't wait to see you continue to grow here summer after summer.

Joey – You truly live and breathe camp. You're always the first to jump into any activity, whether it's a tradition, a game, or a competition. Your athleticism, energy, and love for everything camp shines through in all you do. You bring such a strong spirit to the group, and we can't wait to see all the ways you'll keep showing up in summers to come.

Jordi – Seeing your smile truly made everyday so much more enjoyable. You are such a delight to be around and are always thinking of everyone around you. Your compassion is something you should be proud of and we can't wait to see you continue to make The Realm a better place. Keep coming back sweet girl!

Kailey – Oh how we wish we could see you sweeping right now!! Kailey, you are truly one of the most caring girls we have ever met. You constantly put the needs of others before your own while also bringing such fun and silly energy into the group. You are unapologetically yourself which makes camp the perfect place to be. We cannot wait to see you here for so many more summers.

Kennedy – You care so deeply about the people around you, and it showed in the way you looked out for your friends and were always so kind to the counselors. You did so much this summer from dancing on stage to getting up on waterskis! We appreciated your love for the people here, and we hope camp continues to be a place where you can grow, laugh, and shine.

Leia – You were such an incredible camper. You brought such a calm and sweet presence to the group, always going with the flow and making things feel easy. Your area was always spotless and beautiful, and you quietly set such a great example for others in every way. We're so lucky you were part of the bunk this year, and we hope to see you back for many more summers.

Lielle – You shined in so many ways this summer. Whether in sports or on the dance floor you truly mastered camp activities. It was so special to watch your love for camp grow this summer and we couldn't be more happy you decided to extend and stay for seven, camp wouldn't have been the same without you. We can't wait to see you back here for years to come.

Luli – Your competitive spirit and humor made every day more fun. Whether you were going all in during games or cracking jokes with your friends, you brought such a strong energy to the group. You're loyal and always knew how to hype people up. Camp was better with you in it, and we can't wait to see you bring that same fun next summer.

Olivia – Your sass and sense of humor kept everyone laughing all summer. You have such a natural way of making people smile, and your jokes never missed. But beyond being hilarious, you're also one of the most supportive friends and are always there to lift others up when they need it. Camp was so much more fun and full of heart with you in it.

Quinn – You truly embody camp. You lead by example, always giving your all, being a great sport, and jumping into every activity with enthusiasm. Your kindness, positivity, and steady presence made a real difference in the group. Camp is lucky to have you, and we can't wait to see everything you'll continue to bring in the summers ahead.

Serena – Your energy, spirit, and love for camp made it feel like this place was made for you. Whether it was jumping into every activity, being there for your friends, or absolutely owning the dance floor, you brought so much joy and light to every moment. We know you will be here forever and we cannot wait to see you continue to grow up here.

Skylar – This may have been your first summer but you fit in like you'd been coming for years. The fact that you stayed all seven weeks says it all. Camp is truly your place. You picked up every tradition so quickly and brought so much talent with your dancing, singing, and athleticism. You are so perfect for camp and this group and we can't wait for you to come back for years.

Sloan – Your positivity and energy are unmatched. You have this amazing way of lifting up everyone around you and being a true friend to every single person in the group. Whether it was cheering someone on or just bringing the best vibes, you made camp feel brighter every day. You absolutely crushed your first 7-week summer and we cannot wait for more to come.

Taliah – From the moment you arrived, you brought such a cool, confident energy to the bunk. You never tried to be anyone but yourself, and that made you so fun to be around. Whether you were out playing baseball or just chilling with friends, you made camp better every day. Camp is truly your place, and we know it'll be part of you forever. Hook 'em!

Tribeca – Tri Tri! Our bedtime story enthusiast! Your hugs could brighten anyone's day, and your happy spirit made every moment in this group more special. You're the kind of person everyone just feels lucky to be around. We are so happy you decided to stay full this year. You are such an amazing friend and I cannot wait to see you grow up at camp!

Violet – You may have followed your dads footsteps to Robinhood, but you truly made your own name for yourself this summer!!. From doing back handsprings in the sand to crushing it in basketball, you cherished the magic of camp everyday. It was very easy for the group to love everything that you have to offer. We can't wait to watch your love for camp grow even stronger and for you to thrive in Green & White next year!

JESTERS

Such an amazing group of girls!

Jesters, we can't thank you enough for the best summer ever. You are such an amazing group of girls and we are so grateful to have gotten to spend our summer with all 31 of you. We can't wait to see you all keep coming back, camp needs you!

The 2025 Jesters have officially landed!

LET'S LOOK BACK & REMEMBER THE BEST SUMMER EVER!

The summer kicked off before you all arrived. We prepared the bunk with decorations that set the tone for the summer. Two words: colorful and crazy. Maya arrived a night early and we got ready for everyone to come the following day. On opening day we kickstarted our summer by taking the swim test and having almost everyone getting green. Bows can definitely swim. It was so exciting to see everyone get so excited to see one another after a long year apart, but I was ready to make us all one big Bow family. Throughout the hectic day there were campers coming in at what felt like the speed of light and somehow you all were finally here. We ended the first night with s'mores at the waterfront and the first circle time marked our first time really feeling like one group and that it was the beginning of the best summer ever.

The first week seemingly flew by. The heatwave came in strong but we fought through it. Remember THE GYM? Thankfully though we survived and definitely made the most of the first week. We tried new activities like the farm and slayed old ones. Who remembers Caroline being the chicken whisperer and me taking everyone to steal the animal cracker supply? We also made sure to test out the new floats at senior waterfront, what seemed like everyday. Remember when I peed my pants because we weren't allowed in the water yet? Not only did we try new things but we also kickstarted the summer off with winning the cleanest bunk in Girls Camp, and then got cleanest bunk again and got Candy Canteen. By the end of week one it felt like we had also somehow already had the best EA's. Remember scavenger hunt: "everyone deserves a second chance." And your impressions of your counselors? Remember assassin and Sydney and Evan chasing each other around the bunk? Remember the dog show when Sienna M wore her blow up pig costume? Remember when I faked everyone out about Candy Canteen and called out Arielle? Remember when we went pajama jumping at sunset? Remember sunset circle time at the waterfront? The only evening activity fail of the week was our denied challenge to the archers. Good EA's call for good food and from cookie cake for Sienna's birthday to cookie decorating and going to Cozy Corner twice in one week, we ate good (not like we had candy and food in the bunk or anything). The ice cream was well deserved too because we ended the first week with going on a hike which resulted in Quinn being piggy backed down the mountain. One of the best moments of the week was having Rosy jump off the tower in front of all of us for the first time as we cheered in excitement. That was the moment I knew this summer was going to be special.

It's a party every night in the Bow bunk which I quickly realized by the second week. The energy carried through to week two starting with us being sent to the Mainers game! Bows are magic because that was our top request for outtings. Remember when we requested ramen and THAT NIGHT it was ramen for dinner? Although the concession line took almost an hour to wait in, it was well worth it for the loads of candy and soda that everyone got. We never skip a day getting a treat in the Bow bunk cause after cozy and cookie cake for Quinn's birthday, It was the Fourth of July. On the Fourth we were woken up abruptly by the Scribes screaming and blowing horns. Bows know how to turn it up because we (should've) won the costume competition with Sienna in her inflatable pig costume. We played around the inflatables and acquired an insane amount of candy for everyone's candy stash and finally ended the night with fair food. I guess everyday is an amazing EA because remember playing hunger games on the Fourth of July?? Although hunger games didn't work out, at all, after some intense playing, at least we got the quote "Bows back to the bunk to shower, if you want." We came back to the bunk for a compliment circle at circle time, which was a disaster as well, but at least we had double stuffed Oreos (the Bows can't win everyday I guess). The luck for us never stops because the next day we realized that we had won the raffle for pontoons and were out on the water all morning! Remember the dog we met at the sandbar? The challenge cup then finally began and we started by crushing the jesters, MAZEL TOV, but then were brutally defeated by the Quills in Danish.

As the third week approached we only got more and more excited for visiting day, but it was hard to know that the four-weekers were leaving us. The Junior Camp Talent Show was the first EA of the third week and although no Bows were in it, we still had an amazing night. Who remembers our Boys Camp Bow roll call? After the Talent Show, who remembers our private scary story screening with Steve and then getting Candy Canteen? An EA highlight of the week was also backwards scav; remember Lucy's rap freestyle? Lucky us because right as the week began we headed off to the beach! We really tore up the shop at White Lake because they had to shut down the store for 15 minutes because we were buying so many snacks and candy! Remember the floaties we bought? We ended the first session with a porch filled with floaties! Since we challenged the Jesters in week two we obviously had to then challenge the Quills to see if we could beat them! Unfortunately they honestly crushed us in an epic game of Danish but we made up for it when we almost won against the Archers in Newcombe. Remember justice for Jesse? Remember when they came as skins? It was so hilarious…and how could it get better?! It got better because after the challenge you all went to benches and we surprised you with DUNKIN DONUTS! Not only was the third week filled with Dunkin but so many treats. Who remembers the pretzel cups and candy cups; it was giving preschool snack time but it was amazing…and who remembers the candy scavenger hunt I left you guys on my night off? After White Lake we had Mayas birthday and we celebrated with chocolate cake and a magic show! Remember when the magician read Olivia's mind? The next few days we just got ready in preparation for PVD

BOWS

And our beloved four-weekers leaving. The short heatwave to end the session was also finally more enjoyable with the floaties we got at White Lake to use at Waterfront. Snapple caps and paper plate awards were a highlight for everyone and cracking open the piñata on the second to last night of the four weeks marked all of our amazing memories that we made with our whole group. Remember Olivia not being able to hold it together at Snapple caps and when Woody called us his favorite group on camp?!

PVD finally arrived and so did your candy! Seeing you all run up to your parents definitely had all of the counselors crying and it was so special to spend the day with you all. After a fun filled day of activities and PVD cookies, your parents all left; Arielle's parents definitely won with the amount of things left. We all sat in a circle to distract from the tears to do tours of all of the things that your guys parents brought you. Later that evening after packing everyone up we attempted hunger games again for the last time, and I would say it was much more successful.

The next day we cried seeing Maddie C, Ava, the Dooleys, Caroline, and Maddie R leave but we quickly got to work moving everyone's areas. After some long winded sagas I think we finally perfected where everyone would be for the next two weeks. Then…REMEMBER RAIDING THE KITCHEN?! The first night of the second session we put on all black and ran with the Shires to sneak into the dining hall and raid the kitchen of all of their snacks and desserts. After grabbing handfuls of things and enjoying some boujee ice cream bars that we'd never seen on camp before, we rushed back to the bunk and were caught red handed by the brass; definitely one of my favorite memories of the summer.

Once the four-weekers left the group felt smaller and it certainly felt different, but exciting to try something new! Almost immediately after the second session started the anticipation grew for when Green & White was finally going to break. From the second that PVD ended all of us were almost certain that Green & White would break right away. No one seemed to wonder about when excursion was breaking for us, so when it did you all were caught by surprise. We left bright and early for Water Country and slid down the water slides while buying overpriced candy and unnecessary boba around the park. After the water park we went to the movies, with the Archers which was fun, but remember the amount of popcorn in the theater after the movie ended?! You all fought tooth and nail for who could have the front row in the van and my van certainly had fun talking and listening to music as we drove around. We went to Chipotle for dinner after the movie which was amazing; so amazing that you guys didn't even want ice cream afterwards. #bestexcursionever.

After the excursion it really was just crunch time before the Color War began. The day we had inbetween we did our epic fake break at snack and honestly got a few people to believe it. You guys all came up early from Waterfront to change into matching outfits and rushed up to the barn to trick everyone. We did our photo scav, on Chavi's camera, and because I thought Color War was breaking, I obviously had to get pizza for you guys while we could. That night we all were amped up and as Sam and I headed away from the bunk for the night, despite you all being more awake than ever, and drums began to play! Green & White was finally here! Drones started flying and everyone was screaming, Color War was finally here. We all might have been shocked by the captain picks but we rushed back to go to sleep, ready to begin the war. Chaos inside the bunk is an understatement when we all returned from the break and were eager to begin the war. Captains Emma and Arielle picked fire teams and after the bean pick we got started right away. With their best friends by their side Sienna M and Kendall helped the teams to victory regardless of what activity we were all going to. Some of you danced, sang, or skirted on the stage and all of you sang your hearts out. Equally so, you all competed so hard on the fields and every game reached the intensity that everyone loved. The blitzball game was nothing short of amazing when Arielle hit the trees and Sydney ran across the bases faster than we'd all ever seen. Lucy crushed the swim meet and so did everyone else, despite dreading getting in the water. Tug was intense for the Bows and you all fought on that rope so hard as everyone yelled in your faces. By song night everyone was tired and honestly ready for the war to be over, but white took it home. Who wanna rock like Jenny??

Anyways, the Bows took lazy day pretty seriously cause we took the entire day to relax as a group from the crazy five days before. Remember the amazing breakfast? Remember the steak dinner, in Evan and Sienna's words "dipping in the steak juice", was amazing and it was even better when we all ended the night eating sundaes together in the dining hall. Remember on lazy day when we had a period with Dick, touring around camp and hearing stories?! Well after last day we got right back into the swing of things by participating and winning in the camp cleaning competition, taking first place to claim our Candy Canteen. The next day we did evening activity with him again and he even got us s'mores! Dick said he loves the Bows and that definitely proves we were the best Bow group of all time. The next day the sweets continued cause when do they ever stop in our bunk and for Coco's birthday we got cake and Cozy Corner! Coco's birthday would forever remain memorable if you know what I mean…Well the next day was just as special because it was Kendall's birthday! Cozy hates to see us coming because we got to go two days in a row!!! Regardless, the looming sadness of leaving started to creep in. After seeing Abby and Sydney leave our group and felt smaller but we still continued the #bestsummerever.

Days off definitely felt weirder leaving just Sam or I but the last few days felt special in our small tiny group. Bunking periods, which was once impossible with a larger number, turned into the fondest memories of all of us just hanging out together as one group. Remember when we plotted in the bunk to crash the Archers basketball period to challenge them to Newcombe and we won?! We definitely saved Founders Night until the last second, but we persevered. We ended up having the rainBow chair made that's shape has never been done before! Everyone was so amazed by our chair and now it will remain in the adirondacks forever! After Founders Night, and me getting #vestedup, we came back to the bunk and wow was it a night. I was left to my own devices and we stayed up talking and hanging out all the way until 11 o clock and then Sam came in and surprised everyone with McDonald's. Finally, defying all odds, you guys finally got McDonald's. The last full day was sad for us all but we made the most of it very second. Remember how we added the bedazzles last minute to our chair? Remember the second to last night spa night; snailing? Well after doing Hunger Games for the third time in a row as our last EA, organized by Kendall and Emma, we realized how not ready we were for camp to end. The last day finally came and we all spent the morning packing our things and finally moving all of the beds together to make a camper mega bed and a counselor side of the bunk! Of course Newcombe was our last activity after we bunked it all day. Remember Rosy and Olivia's epic trade and our food shelf the last night? We had Award Night where Neve deservingly won Master Camper for the Bows and I got the staff award which honestly is an award for all of us because nothing I do matters without all of you. The night was still young and we stayed up almost all night eating snacks and watching movies, or at least you guys did! We closed our Bow summer with a bang, and an emotional speech from me. The next morning the buses all rolled out and we all cried, hugging, remembering the best summer ever and wishing it would never end.

Although I could write down every memory for you guys and recount every day we had, there is nothing that can make us travel back in time to relive this summer. I've waited since I was your age to lead a group by myself and I would never change all 22 of you being my campers for my first GL summer. You guys will always be my group no matter what and will always be my babies. I'm crying writing this right now but even when things were rough whether it be an asthma attack and or crazy heatwaves, it taught me valuable lessons that can never be taught to me the same. Being with you all showed me how much I could care about girls I had just met a few weeks prior. Seeing you guys cry makes me cry, seeing you guys laugh makes me laugh, and seeing you all happy and healthy and smiling this summer was the greatest gift I could have asked for. I wish I could've done more to make this summer even more special but I hope you look back on your Bow summer forever and think fondly of the time we spent together. I would climb down 50 mountains with every one of you on my back again to just go back and spend one more moment with you guys in our almost pristinely clean bunk, that no one had faith would be kept clean. You all will be Scribes one day, but we'll always be the Bows of 2025.

BOWS

Arielle – You remind me so much of myself as a camper. You're competitive in the best ways and care about everything you participate in which is just awesome. Whether it is Scribe songs or soccer you always try your hardest. Your athleticism and love for camp is amazing to watch and I know you'll be back for so many years. It was so amazing watching you this summer and I'll miss being your counselor next year but I know I will see you here for many more years to come.

Ava – No one would ever know that it was your first summer. You are so elegantly and gracefully lovable and so easy to be around. You are a great friend to all and most importantly a team player. When anyone needs a shoulder to lean on or a partner in a game, you're always the first one there. You never complain, never bring the energy down, and you always have a smile on your face. Please never stop coming back because you are the best edition to this group.

Caroline – You are the most gentle kind soul I've ever met and seeing you interact with the group, it is evident how much everyone loves you. You are mature and wise beyond your years and your level of empathy is astonishing whether it be for your friends or the beloved farm animals. I will always cherish our long talks together and little jokes we made throughout the day. I missed our time together in the last three weeks but I know you will be back next year and years to come. Keep busting down those dance moves!

Coco – Coco beannnnn. You are so precious coco and you are the most caring and loyal friend. I'm so happy that we got so close this summer and I'm so grateful for all of the memories we've made. You love your friends and group so much and they love you just as much. You are an integral part of this group and always bring a light and fun energy to everything you do. You truly are the sweetest and I hope you always come back every summer.

Ella – You love camp and it is so clear to everyone. You are such an important part of this group and everyone values your place here so much. You love everything about camp and it makes me so happy to see you spend your summers here with your family. You're a loyal friend, a great sister, and a caring camper. Your smile is so infectious and your giggly and bubbly personality brought so much fun to this summer. Bus buddies forever, I can't wait to see you here for years to come.

Emma – You are amazing at anything you do. From playing tennis and soccer to stringing friendship bracelets you excel at every activity the group does. You are not only a star athlete but a star friend. You care for your friends and are nice to everyone more than anyone I've ever seen and it's exceptional to watch you find your way through the group as an essential member. Every room you walk into you bring a maturity and kindness and it's evident to everyone. Keep coming back and keep playing hard because the group needs you!

Evan – Evannnnnn!! Everyone you meet wants to be your friend and you always bring fun to any room you walk into. You make me giggle, you make your friends smile, and you are so caring and sweet. I have loved every second of this summer together and I value every talk we've had this summer. You really are such an amazing person to be around and a light energy that your friends love and need. Don't stop coming back!

Julia – You are the silliest girl I've ever met! You lead with humor and your bubbly energy and your friends love you for it. Whether it is making sloth forts or making a goofy skit, you can always make your friends smile. Watching you play sports and do activities is a joy and it is amazing how much your friends all love you. I love the relationships you have with the girls in the group and I know you will remain an essential member of this group for many more years to come!

Kendall – You are so sweet with the perfect amount of sass. Your spunkiness can make anyone laugh when they're upset and your kind words can make anyone feel better when they're sad. You are truly a dear friend to every member of this group and there is not one person who could say that you are not an amazing friend to them. You never complain and are always making everything better even if it's a simple activity that seems boring to most. I am so proud of everything you do at camp and I know that I will see you here until you are a Scribe. Keep being the infectious and smiley girl that you are.

Lucy – You are such a light to be around. You are always happy and make everyone around you feel the same way. I love how you are always down to try anything new or participate in anything we ask you to. Your friends love you and everyone in the bunk can agree that you are undeniably a reliable and loyal friend. Your presence and maturity is needed in this group and I've loved watching you interact and grow closer with everyone in the bunk these past few weeks. Keep coming back forever because this group needs you!

Maddie C – You are truly the epitome of maturity for a Bow. There was never a complaint out of your mouth which showed your consideration for the counselors but more importantly your love for camp. You never aren't smiling and it is infectious to your friends and everyone around you. If someone is upset or things are going crazy, I know I can always count on you to be a display and an example to everyone around you. Keep coming back because I know how much you love camp and how much camp loves you.

Maddie R – I am so proud of the summer you had. Coming into a new environment is hard, especially knowing no one coming in. Every day you participated and showed your excitement for everything involving camp. It was a privilege to watch you grow here at camp, make new friends, try new things, and most importantly have fun. I'm so proud of you and so happy you love camp as much as I do. Keep coming back.

Margaux – I truly am so proud of the summer that you've had. Coming from someone who was very homesick as a camper it was so special to see how that subsided this summer and to see you find your place as a concrete member of the group. In every activity you bring energy and competitiveness that adds such a positive light to anything we do. Some of my favorite moments have been our time together just walking and talking and I will forever be so impressed with the ways in which you matured this summer. Please don't ever stop coming back!

Maya – My little firecracker!!! You're exceptional at anything you try. Watching you compete in sports is a joy and everything you do, you somehow find a way to excel at it! Whether it is crafts, Newcombe, or even assassin you put your every ounce of energy and effort into it. You are passionate about camp and the relationships you hold and I know I'll see you here for years to come. Keep dancing and flipping and I'll hopefully see you in senior camp dance one day; I can't wait!

Neve – Neveeeeeeeee!! I wish I could repeat this summer as your group leader because you make it so easy! I know we talked about corny shout outs but you truly are so special and such an amazing person. You embody every good quality, putting your every ounce of energy into the sports you play, while also being so gentle and kind to your friends. I seriously am going to miss cleaning and talking about aquatic animals together but I know you will keep coming back and I will get to see you grow up and lead at camp. You're the best.

Quinn – You are truly so funny. I have enjoyed watching you come into the group a few days late and pave your way as your own. You are so uniquely yourself and make every darker situation lighter with your goofiness. I love how much you clearly love camp and especially the care that I see in you with your brother and your friends. You're always looking out for those around you and I'm grateful to have someone like you to let me know if there's ever an issue. I'll miss our giggles and chats and I can't wait to keep seeing you come back!

Rosy – My Rosy Luuuu. You are truly so sweet and hilarious which are two qualities that everyone should embody like you do. You make me laugh when I'm having a bad day and you're a shoulder for your friends to cry on when they're sad. You are so essential to camp and this group and I hope you always remember that your presence is needed here. You always try your hardest in everything that you do while still putting others feelings first and making sure to be a good sport. Keep making everyone laugh and I'll miss you so much.

Sean – You are so goofy and it is infectious. You always are giggling and it lights up every room that you walk into. It's clear that you are a friend to all in the group and always enjoying your time at camp. The bond that you and your sister have is integral to this group and so special to watch. I've loved watching you this summer be with your friends and participating in all of the activities was so amazing. Thank you for being you and making this summer so much more amazing!

Sienna C – You are just so purely yourself in every way and it is nothing short of amazing. You always bring the goofiest energy into every room and try your hardest in everything you do. There's never a complaint out of your mouth and not only do the counselors love you but your friends love you just as much. You're a great friend, an inclusive bunkmate, and already such an integral part of your group. Never stop coming back.

Sienna M – You are just amazing. Everything you do you put your all into. Whether it is your relationships with your friends or playing the sports that you love, you do it with passion and humor. Every room you walk into you can make everyone laugh, including me which is hard, and on top of that you are most importantly kind hearted. You love your friends so much and camp loved you back just as much.

Sydney – Your smile is infectious! I never see you not smiling and it brings light to any room that you walk into. You're such an admirably humble person that even when you excel at a sport or activity that someone doesn't, you help them before showing off your own skill. Your first priority is always making others feel happy had safe and that is what makes you so special. Your fun and kindness is valued in this group so much and I know that we all hope you come back for years to come!

Vivi – You are so mature beyond your years. You truly are always going to be my camp little sister because you are perfect to me in every way. You love your group and I can always count on you to get along with any singular girl in our group. There is no one that is as easy to get along with or as kind to everyone as you are. You never complain and always are having fun which makes you so amazing. Please keep coming back so I can be a big big sister one day!

MY QUILLDRENNNNNNNN!

Put down your cards, take a seat and relax while we take you through our BEST SUMMER EVAHHHHHHHH!

By now you're all reading this at home dispersed into different corners of the world, hopefully having the best year ever! But put down your homework and procrastinate for a minute while we reminisce on the summer of a lifetime! From the minute Kylie and the LA mob arrived I knew this was going to be my group forever. Not knowing you guys too well before this summer I was a little nervous, but by day one when everyone jumped out of their cars with hugs and the biggest smiles I immediately felt a connection to you guys and knew we were about to be best friends. On opening day we all woke up with so much excitement, eager to see each other again and start another amazing summer. As I sprinted back and forth between the bunk and the pickleball courts with each new person's arrival I had the pleasure of being the first one to welcome you back into The Realm and once we all settled into Bunks 8 and 9, our electric summer was ready to begin.

Remember when we all gathered in Chuck's Playhouse for the first time to see how talented our staff truly is. Our Fya's amazed us with a BLANKKKKKKK, our SYAs followed with a Bruno Mars remix, and female leadership wrapped it up with the extraordinary dance to all that she wants. Not only did we leave this night with many laughs, but we then knew that we had the littest most talented staff ever!

Remember when we had our very first campfire of the summer? We almost missed the whole thing because we were distracted by Vindaloo Singh and the Poop song series. The evening was spent learning and singing along to classic camp cheers as the sun blinded us, while setting over camp. My favorite part of the night was when the Scribes and Shires introduced the new campers. We all loved cheering for Stevie and Julia!

Remember when we were awoken by the Scribes running into our bunk, all decked out for the FOURTH OF JULYYYYY! We put on our most outrageously spirited red white and blue outfits and hit the inflatables and water slides, followed by a dance party in the barn, a BEACH PARTY and a carnival on the Quad where we all got our fortunes read, pied in the face and watched as Yrsa and Sophia renewed their beautiful vows. Best. Day. Ever.

Remember FNOO?! That challenge cup was ours to take and although we didn't end up winning, we showed this camp that we were the group to be scared of with our fierce competitiveness and athleticism. In all my years I've never seen a more intense game than our Rink match against the TPJ's. We fought hard for mental health and I am so proud of the caringness and maturity you all displayed.

Remember our hike? I'm winded just thinking about it, not gonna lie. While harder than I expected, the view at the top was truly magical. We listened to Lorde's new album all the way up and then again on the way down. Remember when Joe fell but didn't even break a sweat. After all that she still wanted to do another hike the day after!

Remember when all of Girls Camp banded together to defeat Evergreen in a day of sports. For us Quills it was a wipeout. It wasn't, even, close. Wholy most athletic group on camp!!

Remember So You Think You Can Dance?! You guys came out SLAYINGGGGG with your Brittney mashup and became known around camp as best dance all night!

Remember our trip to Ogunquit? Did someone say Ogunquit?! Beach Day was truly the best day of the summer.

Remember when Green & White broke with an insane drone show?! As sad as we were to see PVD come to an end, the extreme anticipation of Green & White kept us on our toes all weekend. Although many of our predictions (or basically all of them) were wrong, it was so exciting running to the rink that night. With Elsa and Joe leading such strong teams everyone fought so hard in every single activity giving it your all. From swim meet, to track meet, to tug and song night every event was fun and full of so much energy.

Remember when we shocked all of camp with the most amazing gift on Founders Night, OUR MAP! I seriously don't know how you guys pulled that off but it was your passion project and I am so proud of what you created. Definitely the best gift of the summer, (I watched everyone gasp in awe as we revealed it). The night was also perfect as we watched you guys get your five-year shirts and three year water bottles.

Remember when we went swimming in the ODT after EA during the heatwave? Remember buying all those fun hats at Funtown Splashtown? Remember when Yrsa and Livvy hid under people's bed and pretended to be Clemintina? Remember Isabelle singing in French and Chinese? Remember when a chicken pooped all over Leila?

Remember our iconic battles in American Ninja Warrior at Senior Waterfront? Remember our belly flop challenge? Remember when Poppy peed her pants laughing during a try not to laugh challenge? Remember when we threw our bocce balls off the top of the infirm? Remember Olivia laughing and running around the bunk before bed? Remember seeing the snapping turtle when we were on a boat?

Remember when we woke you up and sent you to the rink for stargazing? Remember when Kylie slept walked out of the bunk? Remember our intense game of blitzball with the Arrows? Remember when Celeste sang "sing to me"? Remember when Joe fell on the hike and handled it like a beast? Remember when Gabe was our GL! Remember when we did a Scavenger hunt and ended it with pj-jumping!!

The summer came to a close after a successful all-nighter, where we said our tragic goodbyes at the gas pump. While the goodbyes were filled with tears I love watching you all love camp and I can't wait to see you guys continue to thrive every summer as you grow into my prediction of the best Scribe group of all time. I love you all and you made this the summer of a lifetime for me.

QUILLS

Blake – You are the sweetest and silliest girl ever. The way you care about everyone and are there for all of your friends is so amazing to watch. You bring such fun and energy to everything you do and you are such an important part of this group. I have loved watching you thrive this summer.

Britt – You are the greatest friend and are always there for others. You have such a fun, bubbly personality that stands out in this group and makes everyone around you happy. Keep coming back forever because this group needs you as their anchor.

Celeste – You are one of the funniest and silliest girls I have ever met and always put a smile on everyone's faces. You are so special inside and out and that is what everyone loves about you. You're always there for your friends and always staying true to your goofy self.

Claire – You bring such a mix of heart and humor to everything you do. Whether you're cracking us up or stepping up when it matters, your presence makes camp warmer, brighter, and way more fun. It's clear how much this place means to you and it's even clearer how much you mean to it. Watching you grow here is already such a privilege.

Coco – You are the perfect balance of silly, crazy, and mature. You're such an asset in the group, making people laugh, listen, and always leading with grace. Getting to know you better this summer has been such a pleasure!

Elsa – You handle yourself with so much dignity and grace. You lead this group with your "group mom" status and maturity. You are going to be the best counselor ever. Keep coming back forever. The Realm needs you.

Evy – You are truly a perfect person. You carry yourself with such an easy and inviting attitude, spreading joy and excitement wherever you go. You bring the energy at every activity with your insane athleticism and It's been so amazing to get to know you more this summer and I can't wait to see everything that is in store for you here.

Gabby – I will never forget you doing the most perfect, electric, impressive bellyflop after mount hood. I know that hurt so badly but you laughed it off and handled it like a champ. You are so kind, thoughtful and are truly one of the most empathetic people I have ever met. You are always supportive and there for anyone when they need it. Your smile is contagious and you constantly look out for your friends.

Hazel – You are the goofiest and funniest girl I have ever met. Your love for camp is so clear and your excitement and enthusiasm about everything is contagious. You are the sweetest girl and I can't wait to watch you grow up into such an amazing leader of The Realm.

Isabelle – You bring so much energy and joy into every room with your vibrant, fun personality. Your confidence shines through, and you always know how to make people laugh and feel good. You're truly such an essential part of this group, and it's been incredibly special getting to know you.

Joe – Where do I even begin??? You are so incredibly athletic and it's so impressive to constantly watch you give your all in every activity. You lead this group with your mix of silliness and maturity. You are an amazing friend to all and I can't wait to see all you accomplish here for years to come!

Kat – KATTT ATTACKKK. You are so artistic and creative. Watching your mind churn when creating the founders day map was so incredible. Anyone can count on you for anything and your kindness is so present to the group. Keep coming back forever because the group needs you!

Kylie – You always find a way to make each and every day a little bit brighter!. Your silliness and happiness at camps radiates onto others and makes everyone smile. You are always there for people when they need someone and always excited about everything we do at camp. Your constant positivity keeps this group going. Keep coming back forever.

Leila – The cutest and sweetest girl. You are the most caring friend and I love watching you be there for everyone. You truly are so special and so important to this group and I loved watching you thrive this summer. Keep coming back forever because your group needs you!

Livy – You are just the coolest. You put your all into everything and make every activity more fun. You are a leader of this group and I can't wait to watch you run this entire place one day.

Maya – Watching you come back this summer with so much ease and ability to fit right back into the group was amazing. You are so unbelievably mature and fun. You carry yourself with such a confidence that makes people gravitate towards you. You are such a special aspect of this group and I can't wait to see you grow more at camp!

Olivia – You are truly the most curious person I have ever met. You ask such insightful and intuitive questions and it really proves your interest in camp history and your willingness to learn. You are going to become a walking camp history book. Keep coming back until your next Chuck. The Realm needs you!!!

Poppy – You light up every room you enter with your bubbly and fun personality. You have such a strong sense of self and are always making others laugh and smile. You really are a core member of this group and I can not wait to see all that you do at camp for years to come!

Rosie – You've got the perfect mix of charm, wit, and just the right amount of sass…and honestly, it works. You keep things real, keep us laughing, and somehow manage to make it all look effortless. You bring serious vibes to this group, and it's been so fun getting to know the force that is you this summer.

Skyler – You're such a standout…effortlessly cool, always genuine, and fun to be around. Whether you're cracking jokes or just doing your thing, people are naturally drawn to your energy. You bring something real and refreshing to this group, and it's been awesome getting to know you this summer.

Sophia – I can't believe this is only your second summer because it seems like you have been a part of this group for years. You have such a fun, bubbly personality that stands out in this group and makes everyone around you happy. Your maturity is why people gravitate towards you and I can't wait to see you thrive for summers to come!

Stevie – I was so proud watching you step out of your comfort zone and learn to love camp. You thrived with this group immediately and created friends for life. You are the coolest and funniest girl and I can't wait to see you kill it here for years to come! ILY.

Violet – The silliest most loving girl. Your love for camp is so evident in everything you do and you balance your silliness and maturity beautifully. You find a way to make everything fun and I can't wait to watch you grow up and thrive here.

Yrsa – You always find a way to put all of us in a good mood. You are genuinely one of the craziest people I've ever met, but I'm so grateful to have gotten to know you this summer. You have such a strong confidence and friendliness about you that draws those around you in. You are unbelievably outgoing and kind which makes you an irreplaceable part of camp.

Loving camp
and thriving...

You made this the summer of a lifetime for me. I love you all!

Arrows!

The time has come! Now that you are all back home and deep into school, we must look back on the SUMMER OF OUR LIVES. So, please put down your books, pick up the bananagrams, stop the tiktok dances, and get ready to reminisce!!

Greeting you all at the pickleball courts on day one and watching all of your smiling faces realize I was once again your GL made me so happy. Although I already knew most of you, I was so nervous and excited to see all the ways you've changed over the year. I immediately realized this group was stronger than ever and we were in for an unreal summer. After welcoming the buses, blasting music and holding our sign high, it was officially time for our summer in Bunk 5 to begin.

Remember when we gathered as a whole camp for the first time for staff talent show? Obviously female leadership ate down with our dance to "All That She Wants", and Julia amazed us with her SYA Bruno Mars dance! Remember when you guys tried to sing the iconic Wicked belt for roll call? That moment was not only hilarious, but also proved that we were simply the most talented group on camp.

Remember when the Scribes woke us up for the BEST 4th ever? You all decked yourselves out in red, white, and blue tutus, face paint, glitter, and more! After a fair food feast and dance party, we spent our afternoon rotating between the quad, the barn, and homerun. After racing on the inflatables, playing poker, and getting our fortunes told, we headed down to the waterfront for a BEACH PARTYYYY!!

Remember FNOO this summer when we decided to donate to breast cancer research? It made me so proud to watch you all get so into a cause you are passionate about. You then proceeded to crush it in the FNOO cup challenge games, as expected as we are of course the previous Champions. Remember when we went to Diana's Baths on July 5th…when we drove in circles before just deciding to get cozy? A win is a win! Remember when we actually got to go and had the best hiking trip ever??!!! You guys know I love Diana's Baths. Remember jumping into the freezing water and Libby collecting rocks from the bottom?

Remember when we had THE BEST DANCE OF ALL TIME??? Fame is a Gun was a movie. Watching it come together on stage PERFECTLY after days of straight practicing brought a tear to my eye. You all really proved the Arrows were the best dancers on camp!

Remember Spirit Day when we swept Kenwood Evergreen in every single sport??? I do! You all get so intense playing against other camps so I was not surprised by your athleticism and the outcome. Remember Sloane's winning goal?!?? The best part of the day was when you all befriended the girls at rest hour and even ended up trading shirts! Your sportsmanship is truly unmatched.

Remember when we did pajama jumping and Cozy at the beach for EA? Or when we challenged the Lancers to Rink and Gaga?? You win some, you lose some. Remember our slip-n-slide EA that was interrupted by a major storm? When there were some crazy themes and Ryan dressed up as Elmo?

Remember the best beach day of all time??? Perfect weather. Perfect vibes. Perfect company. Remember buying all the candy in the shop and a chicken tender lunch? Remember all running into the water and swimming even though it was freezing?

Remember PVD and the power outage? We really made the most out of a chaotic morning. Remember all the nervous excited energy waiting on benches for your parents to come? As Devan once said in philosophy with Cooper, PVD is the mix of our two favorite things, camp friends and family! I loved meeting all your parents again and watching them put their all into our activities. Rink got intense.

Remember the days after PVD when we ALL knew Green & White was breaking any minute. Talk about stress. Remember making all our predictions…and being right!! That was the best break of all time. First, we played wafection on land, an all time fav. Then waiting around Sula and the GCG with all the Shires, scared to shower or use the bathroom and listening for any unusual sounds. AND THEN the drones??? Like come on. That was simply the coolest thing I have ever seen. All this leads to the most fun five days. With Rachel and Sloane leading the group once again, you guys took G&W by storm! Good sportsmanship left and right. Intense games every period. And of course the talent show! Remember when Savy played guitar for the White alma? You guys make me proud every day!

Remember Excursion??!! Our great day at Canobie Lake Park, going on rides, buying more candy, and hanging out, followed by Chipotle and a movie?!!! Too. Much. Fun. And how about the second day with the escape rooms followed by some delicious McDonald's. While most of us did not successfully escape, it was definitely a time to remember.

Remember our last EA? A group scavenger hunt with riddles leading to all our favorite places (shoutout Toastie and Loretta James). Remember our sunset swim at Woody's afterwards with M&M pizza?? It was so happy and emotional taking in our last moments as a group. Remember the last night of camp? All snuggled feasting and watching a movie after another ARROW SWEEP at Award Night, including TWO big awards!!! Our goodbyes in the morning were tough but I know we will hold the joy and memories from this summer forever.

ARROWS

Tessa – You are perfect in every way. Your love for all things camp is so clear and you spread that love to everyone around you. You lead this group with ease and I'm so excited to see you continue to thrive throughout the next summers. Love you!

Tillie – Tillieeee, you are one of the most kind and caring girls ever. Your love for these girls is shown in so many ways. You bring such a silly and goofy spirit to everything you do and the group loves you. Keep coming back forever. Love you!

Best Staff Ever – I LOVE YOU GUYS. I'm so beyond lucky to have had you guys on staff this summer. Thank you for making it so easy and fun. I'm grateful for every moment we had laughing and gossiping. I love you all so much and cannot thank you enough2

Welcome to Summer 2025

Bards.

Let's get this BARDY started!

On Day Zero Kyra, Charlotte, Sid, and Sarah arrived in the morning, and after lunch we spent the afternoon venturing around camp in an attempt to find Sidney's donuts, which we sadly discovered were eaten by her brother and the other FYA boys. Betsy and Sienna Baker joined us that evening for s'mores and a dance party at the waterfront with the Quills and Arrows for an amazing first night. But it only got better on opening day when more of our group finally arrived. We went down to the waterfront where I watched you all kill your swim tests. That night ended with Fishbowl turned Mole for EA. Then the heatwave hit and we spent lots of time in the water. Remember when we played wahoop ball at Woodys house? Then we all shared pints of Ben and Jerry's and Brooke was extra sharing…

For our first outing we went to Diana's baths and while I think we all wished we had gone there during the heat wave, everyone had a blast doing our cold plunges, even Almu who swore she wasn't gonna get in. And of course after that long, difficult and intense hike we were rewarded with cozy! We then went to Archie's and got to have some BBBT (Bard Bowling & Bonding Time)! We made the most out of being there, egging out the haters, unaffected and happy to be there with just the Bards. After avoiding a potential NDE by switching vans, Hannah's van got a sweet surprise #freemartin.

Remember when we saved three boats in one period on Dom's wake surfing boat? Remember when half the group went to a 12 hour long soccer tournament? The summer continued as we awoke each morning to Lordes incredible new album #whatwasthat?! I can't forget one of the best days of the summer…BEACH DAY! At Ogunquit we spent the day soaking up the sun, playing in the waves and eating a bunch of ice cream. Then came a classic amazing day… the Fourth of July! You guys dressed to the nines before we even went to breakfast, and we had such a fun-filled day of games, swimming and all sorts of special treats. We demolished a couple of other camps throughout the summer, but nothing compared to our playdate with Evergreen. You guys killed it in soccer, basketball, softball and the two (cheating) games of volleyball. Remember when Mack was called "little American cheater"? We got to bring back a little bit of old camp when we were sent to the Mainers game #BBOC. Remember when Carla and Kyra played red light green light on the field?

We competed in the challenge cup to raise money for our FNOO cause. Our first challenge we ate up a game of danish against the Squires, unfortunately resulting in a few tears from the 10 year old boys who didn't want to accept their hard loss. Sorry boys, my girls are just too good! Unfortunately that luck didn't follow us into the second challenge where we lost bombardment to the Archers (a controversial game to say the least.) Thankfully no matter what it was for a good cause and Robin Hood donated money to various amazing charities.

A few days after, the Bards stole the show at So You Think You Can Dance with maybe the best dance in Robin Hood history #everythingisromatic. Seeing you all light up the stage was such a proud Mama moment. Shortly after, PVD rolled around.

Although we woke up to a powerless, waterless bunk, the vibes were high and after a quick breakfast in the dark, your parents arrived at the bunk! Seeing you all reunite was such an adorable moment. I loved meeting them all after hearing so many great things. The day did end a little sadly having to say goodbye to your families and to the members of our group who left at four. Dahlia, Evie, Kyra and Sienna Safchik you all had such an amazing impact on the group and we were so sad to see you go.

Only a few days passed before we were hit with the earliest Green & White break any of us have ever experienced. As soon as the Scraxons returned from their excursion it was in the air all evening, but despite "expecting" it, we all ran to the rink in shock by the Green & White drones above. The drone show was spectacular and was exactly the night break camp needed to build excitement for the next five days. You were all split half and put onto either the Incredible, Amazing, Great Green Paradise or the other team. You all fought so hard and I was so proud of the intensity and sportsmanship at all of your activities. While White Heist ended up winning the war, you were all winners in my heart because of how much you all dedicated yourself to everything you did (and not just because I'm biased. #gogreengoforever)

Our summer ended off with an amazing excursion to Crab Apple. The hike to Moxie Falls that ended in a rainy waterfall swim was one of the highlights of the summer. The incredible moments didn't end there however because the next morning we woke up bright and early to have the rafting trip of our dreams. After taking a trip to the Friars campsite we became even more grateful for the luxury that was Crab Apple. After falling asleep to TSITP we got up to spend our last day in Portland. You all got to have a taste of a typical doff hopefully getting you excited to be on staffin a few years! Finally we arrived back to paradise to spend four amazing days left of camp!

BARDS

Sienna Baker – You're the sweetest person ever. Watching you come more out of your shell this summer was so amazing and I was so so glad that you extended. You absolutely killed Green & White and have made such an impact on this group. Keep coming back, I love you!

Noa Ben Tovim – Despite coming a little late, the second you walked into the dining hall that first morning the whole group fell in love with you. You're the best dancer to ever grace this camp and I am so glad you were able to show off those skills during Green & White. I hope you keep coming back because you had such an amazing impact on your group and on camp as a whole. Love you so much!

Mackenzie Berger – Mack! My (middle) name twin. You have the most bubbly personality in the world. Your kindness radiates and you are so so funny. I am so glad we became so close this summer and I know you'll be back for many years to come making such an amazing and huge impact on camp. I love you!

Zoe Bernstein – You're the most positive, sweet girl in the world. I love your constant cutie little giggles and infectious smile. You always give a 100% is everything you do and your love for each and every person in the group is so clear. Please continue to come back, love you!

Chloe Bjarkadottir – My future sister-in-law (lol). It's been such a pleasure getting to know you this summer. You have all the qualities that make an incredible camper and also an amazing friend. Your caring, funny, mature and your love for camp is so clear in everything you do. I trust you will have a long and impactful camp career. I love you more than you know!

River Boren – I was bornnn by the river! It's crazy to think the little baby Jester I used to sing that to has grown into the amazing girl you are now. I'm so glad I have gotten the chance to get to know you so much more deeply. You're such an important part of this group and this camp as a whole. Come back until you're Chuck's age. I love you!

Carla Cami – You came this summer and instantly clicked with the group. Your constant positive attitude and excitement for all the activities makes you such a joy to be around. You're the most charismatic, sweetest girl and I hope you continue to come back. See you in Toulouse! I love you!

Hannah Corr – HaCo! Genuinely the most adorable girl I've ever met. In a lot of ways you remind me of me as a camper. I'm so excited to see the young adult you grow into and I know you're going to be the best scribe and counselor one day. I love you more than you know!

Almu Fontana – Hi most athletic girl in the world! You never fail to make me laugh at any moment you can. Everyone adored you from the moment you arrived and I'm so impressed by how well and quickly you integrated and made your mark on this group. I hope you come back for as long as you can. You are so loved by all, especially me.

Grace Goldberg – Yes Grace you can go ask the office if they can blow up your floaty. You're the silliest girl with the most creative fun ideas. You keep the fun flowing in your group and I appreciate your constant excitement and positivity more than you know. You have such a vital role in this group and it's been amazing being able to watch you shine this summer. Come back for as long as you can because camp needs you. I love you!

Eva Gomez – Gomey gome! You are the funniest and most campy person. I love watching your clear curiosity and interest in camp people and camp history be fostered here. You're so mature and you've had such an impact not only on your group but on The Realm as a whole. I'm excited to see that impact grow as time goes on. I know you have a long camp career ahead of you. I love you!

Dahlia Hoffman – To the owner of the biggest library on camp: you killed it this summer! You're so true to who you are and your creative mind and confident personality are so admirable. It was great watching you love camp and do it your own way this summer. Never stop coming back, love you!

Emily Holczer – Sister Emily! From farmer girl, to bookworm, to speediest, and of course winner of Green & White bombardment, what can't you do?! You're so enthusiastic and just an all around lover of camp. I loved watching you make such an impact on your group this summer and I know you will for many summers to come. Love you!

Jorja Holdridge – You are the most positive, happy girl I've ever known. Your smile is infectious and I am so glad I've gotten to know you this summer. I can't wait for our LA meetup and Lorde. So excited to have another west coast camp friend. I love you!

Ellie Holz – My fellow NYC queen. It's been so amazing getting to know you this summer. Your bubbly personality lights up all of our days. You are such an integral part of the group and I know you will continue to be for many, many years to come. I love you!

Kyra Jelin – Ki Spiceee. Oh how we love you. When I think of the perfect combination of crazy, funny, and campy, I think of you. Camp is clearly your place and you have left and will continue to leave such a mark on this place. Don't ever let minor hiccups change you or your love for this place because The Realm needs you. I love you!

Sarah Kramer – Kramer! Despite being quiet at first you are the silliest and sweetest girl. Your love and commitment to camp is so clear and amazing. You're such a leader and important part of the group, never ever change. Love you so much!

Betsy Land – Slayyyyy Betsy! Who is more iconic than you! Your constant positive attitude combined with your sassiness makes you such a special member of the group. Thank you for helping me with moves for the Senior Camp dance and someday soon that role will be in your hands. I love you! #theboyismine Evie Larose – You are the sweetest most precious girl in the world. Your kindness radiates to everyone in the group and your love for this place is so clear. Keep coming back because you make this group and this camp better in every way. I love you!

Maddie Lipton – What can't you do! I could confidently say that there is no one who picked up more towels than you on the whole camp. You give everything your all and leave such an impact on the group and everything you do. Love you so much and never stop being you!

Sidney Perrino – Sid! You are so such a big presence in the group. Since our day one donut incident, I knew you would be the funniest and sweetest girl. You love camp more than anything and it's so clear in the way you care for your friends and put your all into everything you do. Thank you for choreographing some of "like Jennie." I love you more than you know.

Blake Rabin – To my fellow Bard green captain, you are probably the most amazing athlete that has ever come through this camp. You never fail to amaze me with your dedication to your friends, camp, and soccer all at once. You are such an important part of this group and you MUST come back to grace this group and camp with your presence for as long as you can. I love you!

Brooke Rubino – Brookie-boo! I am so very proud of you for following in mamas footsteps as a sportsmanship winner. You are obviously much more than that though, a loyal friend, the funniest girl ever and an all around lover of camp! You are the definition of a camp person so come back forever and continue to leave your mark. Love you so much.

Sienna Safchik – You're the most fun and silly girl. I love hearing you giggle all day long and until often til the middle of the night. You always have a million ideas to make each activity more fun than it already is. We missed you the second half of the summer and I home you come back for many summers for the whole time because your group needs you. I love you!

Charlotte Spear – Char Char! Nobody loves camp and people of camp more than you. You are so sweet and positive which makes you such a key part of the group. I hope your mom can forgive herself for the bat mitzvah. Never change because camp needs more Charlotte Spears! Love you infinitely!

Kai Thompson – You are so crazy and funny. You embody camp, your dedication to The Realm is so apparent and beautiful. Your loyalty to your friends is also so clear which makes you such an important member of the group. Never ever change, love you!

Abigail Vuernick – Your commitment to camp and your group is so visible. You're such a leader, but in the most humble way. Your willingness to try anything and maturity makes you such a big part in the group and so valuable to The Realm. Never stop coming back, the group needs you! Love you!

Welcome to Shibizaaaaa!

Shires of 2025

Stop singing one of your many original songs, hang up the phone with each other for one second, and get ready to relive the absolute best summer of our lives.

Finally our girls were old enough to come a day early and it did not disappoint. The energy and excitement even on Day 1 was unmatched. After two minutes we were already rehashing memories from past summers and years, and I was absolutely loving getting filled in. Caroline whipped out the megaphone for its debut during our first circle time though unfortunately it never saw the night time again. After a special surprise from JoPo's sister that was a lovely fan favorite, and of course, recruiting the entire camp to find Lucy's lost bag (spoiler alert it was right in front of her bed), we were unpacked and ready for Opening Day! We got settled in in the morning and greeted the rest of our Shires in the afternoon, including our amazing new camper Sophia who took The Realm by storm! After a couple minutes of being back together, it felt like last summer had never ended, and the excitement and happiness was already at a huge high approaching our first evening activity. We gave the Senior Waterfront its first participants of the summer with our stellar American Ninja Warrior competition. A bracket was made and you guys were locked in. A little deflation doesn't stop us. I saw Green & White intensity on night 1 from each and every one of you racing to get to the top of Da Hill…Plus, we got the strategy of the course unlocked before we even had our first period there. Shoutout to Eden and Nat for spearheading that strategy and leading the Shires through the ultimate record of Senior Waterfront runthroughs throughout the whole summer.

During the first week of the summer, we got right into the swing of things and were already having the best time ever. We acclimated back into our favorite places, going full out in every activity and spending every free minute catching each other up on your years. A few days in we welcomed our second new camper Dalia followed by a night of S'mores and Games at the ODT. Seeing how you all embraced Dalia and Sophia immediately, striving to fill them in on every camp tradition and inside joke you've made throughout the years instantly revealed to me how special this group of girls is. You guys truly love and understand camp so much and it shows through your desire to spread and preserve that love. The rest of the week was so amazing. Despite the insane heat wave which hit SULA the hardest…you guys were prepared with your portable fans and positive attitudes. And the double water periods followed by sunset paddleboarding on the hottest day definitely helped as well. We took every activity by storm, and you guys took so much interest and insane amounts of fun into every single activity we did.

One particular day comes to mind when we went sailing…Caroline, Sloanerman, Allie, Eden, Siena, and I had a great period full of wondrous beautiful memories on our sailboats with laughs and delight. And once that period had finished, it never truly ended because it was at this point that the song of the summer was made. This enchanting parody of "Pretty Little Baby" moved mountains and set the tone for our hilarious and chaotic summer. We had so much fun at camp this week, embracing old camp to the fullest with our hype, perfecting our bunk shrine, and of course beginning to brainstorm our dance that made history.

Although we were having so much fun at camp, we were really excited when it came our time to leave for an afternoon to go bowling at Archies. We bowled, played games, and ate an insane amount of food, soda, and snacks, but it was definitely safe to say that this afternoon reminded us how much we appreciate being in camp, our favorite place, especially now that the weather had cooled down. You guys spent the rest of the week thriving in your camp elements. You guys set up our extremely useful shoe shelf outside of the bunk (#ManOfTheHouse), received and debuted your adorable Bard Summer long sleeves, and took each and every activity we did by storm. Remember the skit we put on during our first (and only) drama period of the summer? You guys assigned parts for everyone, and as one of the three sea urchins, even I was excited. How I would deScribe the performance is how I would deScribe you guys: weird and perfect. It ended with a flash mob to your favorite song, Hoist the Colours, and unsurprising that we never returned to drama ever again. Also, we can't forget about our epic skit night, or as we called it, "Try Not to Cringe." Yes, that was WEEK 1. I can't believe that in just a week, I already loved you guys so much that somehow I did not cringe once but literally just laughed and smiled the whole time. Remember Shadow? Because I'll never forget. Shadow's life changing character along with incredible performances from Livy, Anabel, and Kathryn absolutely stole the show. The week ended as we welcomed Lucy back into The Realm with so much relief and excitement. At this point, the transition into camp had been made, and we absolutely hit the ground running. We had such a fun night the night she returned, leading cheers and bringing all the hype and intensity during the 15-and-under basketball game against our rivals, West End. It was so fun to see you all cheering so loud, especially with the epic win at the end. Unfortunately, the ending of Week 1 also meant the 2-week departure of our girl Noa Goldman. We woke up with a jump scare at 4:30am that morning and said our goodbyes, and got ready for our awesome European video diaries that entertained us for the next 13 days.

The beginning of Week 2 started off incredibly strong with BEACH DAY! I saw Ogunquit again for the first time since 2019 and it did not disappoint. Us and the Bards had the best time eating everything we saw, basking in that sun, and swimming in the – slightly less freezing cold than usual – water! Obviously you took the cutest photos ever and got absolutely burnt to a crisp. We returned that night and got some much needed rest and rejuvenation with our Spa Night that actually ended up with you guys just wandering around camp. Beach Day's amazingness somehow wasn't even close to the best part of that week. In the midst of curating our merch (and capturing some heinous angles of me in the process), we were having more fun than ever at our activities, and making everything more fun in our own ways. For example, remember our Backward's Scav that couldn't be just a normal backwards scav…? And remember when we didn't just do Hunger Games, but did it with themes? For an EA where people are usually in themes by color, these districts were categorized by minions, Tik Tok stars, "Magic in the Trees," and everything else you can imagine. And going to get ice cream at Cozy in these crazy outfits was truly the icing on the cake. Everything you guys do as a group is done 150%. You take everything to the next level in such hilarious and memorable ways, making every mundane or awesome thing we do even more amazing.

SHIRES

Week 2 was also the week of the 4th of July! You guys got absolutely decked out, made the cutest banner, and had the best time at every single point of the day (are we surprised?). Shoutout to Annie bringing all the hype by picking me up and taking me for a joy ride. Even though she ended up dropping me on my head, the day was so amazing and perfect. Clearly you guys bring the energy and I absolutely cannot wait to see what amazing, fun, and silly things you come up with for next year's 4th of July. The way you do everything is unmatched and there's no doubt in my mind that next year's 4th will be the best one that the camp has ever seen. Also, we had our mountain hike this week! Watching you guys start tweaking in the dining hall during the hike announcement was one of the funniest things I've ever witnessed. Lucky for you guys though, we got to go to Diana's Path, the littest "mountain hike" of all time.

Before we knew it, Week 3 had begun. Secret Summer Sisters were received and tensions were high. Although the first two days of this week were definitely rocky as we remember, it was by far the best week of the summer. You guys absolutely killed it at Spirit Week, winning in fun and spirit although not the sports. We went to the Mainers Game and saw some epic action out there. And of course, it was the day we've been waiting for, Nat's Quinceanera. A day full of numerous ups and downs, but incredible memories, and the most fun celebrating our perfect Nat. Although the Challenge Cup did not go our way, starting off with an early morning Pajama Jump and incredible original song from Sloanerman, and ending with a lovely birthday party at the ODT with our new robes, we had ourselves a day. We even extended the celebration, wearing the robes to breakfast the next morning and eating M&Ms and pizza at the waterfront after EA, singing in a circle with no cares in the world. Remember the fashion shows off the tower that night? Lexi and Zoe Bressler embodied high school stereotypes and Zoe Dessen became Jojo Siwa.

Quickly before we move on, I want to acknowledge the FNOO Challenge Cup and how significant it was. You guys made the entire camp so proud with your hard work and dedication regarding this cup, and all things that were FNOO related this summer. I thought it was such a good idea that was beginning last summer, and having young kids, I didn't know if it would be appreciated. But seeing how much you guys care about it made me so happy and proud to go to a camp with amazing people like you girls that are excited and passionate about advocacy, equitable human rights, and justice.

In addition, during this week, you guys had some of the most successful intercamps this camp has ever seen. Hearing about not only your wins at the volleyball and soccer intercamps, but the positive attitudes and impeccable sportsmanship had me feeling so proud. Also, you continued taking activities by storm, especially during our first ever farm period. I've never seen such strong bonds. Oh how I miss Caramel and Natasha right now. With ODT swims, your original Scribe songs, pajama day, ROB THE MAGICIAN, and crazy, lit, interactive time of course, this week was extremely eventful and fun. Remember the coleslaw wedding? Remember Zae's bat mitzvah? We made so many memories that we will never forget.

Before we knew it, it was Week 4. Noa is back. We're happier than ever. You guys absolutely LOCKED IN and delivered the best dance this camp has ever seen. Actually. The bobs were spectacular and so unique, and this is genuinely a dance that the little kids will remember forever and deem ICONIC. Yes, two wigs fell, but they kept going and I honestly think that's what made the dance so incredibly successful and loved by the camp. Hearing people tell me that our dance was the best made me happier than I would like to admit. I was actually so proud I don't even have the words. You guys are going to absolutely kill it next summer.

We were gearing up for PVD, sad that camp went so fast, but excited that the best part of the summer is upon us. Remember our dizzy kickball challenge? Unfortunately the thunder and lightning made us have to stop, but fortunately… that meant we won!!! Incredible win, and incredible night, ending with the beautiful sunset and dance party with the Fofos. Don't forget about Britney Snow Day! You guys absolutely brought it. And remember when it started pouring rain and we had a dance party in SULA? Followed by a run around camp in the rain. What could be better? And as the week came to a close, surprisseeeeee OUR MERCH ARRIVED. Best day ever. We displayed our beautiful nick names and had Snapple caps, commemorating the 4-week point. Remember the fart noises during snapple caps? You guys really make everything silly and I love it.

PVD is here. PVD was such a highlight of the summer! It was so fun meeting all your parents and hearing how amazing everyone's summer had been so far. Dinner out together and watching Bard's clipped had us laughing nonstop, and of course, the legendary Walmart hauls did not disappoint. It was such a warm, happy day that left us even more excited for everything still to come this summer.

PVD was over and the buzz was building. Would Green & White come first or Excursion? We had no idea but we were ready for both. July 21 was an absolutely perfect day. We helped with human sundaes, led dining hall cheers, and played soccer with funny songs blasting as we tried our hardest. Chuck even shouted us out for our awesome energy. Then came the waiting and waiting and waiting for Green & White. Despite the Brass's impressive back office performance, it finally broke and Green & White was on. You all absolutely devoured that war, from talent show to cheers, bringing the energy and spirit every second. Huge shoutout to Lucy and Lila for creating two incredible flags, having the best attitudes, and jumping in to help in any way possible. Yes, White came out on top but you all killed it and it was the best war ever.

Then we left on Excursion and it was perfect. The duck tour, the JFK Museum, the concert, the bus rides, shopping, hanging out, and of course the ropes course made it nonstop fun. You all were so cute, grateful, and polite, and you did excursion perfectly. No notes. Remember when Franny could not for the life of her remember to say her number? Franny really has to step it up for Scribe summer.

The last few days of camp were just as special. Founder's Night brought 5-year shirts for some of you and Anabel's flag reveal which was so exciting. Then came our three part EA to wrap up the summer. The skit was incredible, the paper plates were hilarious, and we had such a fun last swim. And of course Banquet. While you did not sweep quite as much as I imagined (rigged) Caroline and Siena brought home the big cup. Seeing how happy you all were for them was so beautiful and the perfect way to end the night. We truly had the best night together, full of fun and love, and it was the perfect ending to an unforgettable summer.

SHIRES

Allie – You are such an awesome, unforgettable presence in this group. You are so incredibly funny and so passionate, and I love how deeply you feel things and your ability to be open about them. Keep wearing your heart on your sleeve and staying true to exactly who you are, because it's such a beautiful and rare quality. It's so clear how much you care and how much you love the people and things that matter to you. You made my days so much brighter this summer just by confiding in me and sharing what was on your mind. Thank you for always keeping everything light hearted and silly no matter the situation. I'm so lucky to know you. I love you.

Anabel – You are such a powerful force in this group, and I know you carry that same energy into every part of your life. You have this effortless way of commanding a room, and you lead with a mix of humor and realness that people are naturally drawn to. You were at the center of so many hilarious and special moments this summer, and it was so fun to see. I'm so proud of the growth you've shown, and I know this is just the start. I can't wait to see you keep evolving into the person you're becoming. Keep bringing your spark to everything you do. I love you.

Annie – You are truly the kind of person everyone gravitates toward. You have this natural warmth that makes people feel so cared for and safe, like they can be fully themselves around you. You're a comfort person in every sense of the word, and the way you nurture and look out for everyone is so special. You lead without even trying, always wanting the best for those around you, and it's such a gift. I'm so happy you had the summer you did. Watching you open up, thrive in your happy place, and fully embrace camp has been amazing. You know exactly when to be silly and when to be serious, and you simply are camp through and through. I am so lucky to know you and I can't wait to be friends forever. I love you.

Ava – You are truly a perfect person. You are kind, considerate, hilarious, and so confidently yourself in a way that inspires everyone around you. You know exactly who you are and what you value, and you carry yourself with such maturity and understanding of both people and the world. Watching you grow since your bow summer has been nothing short of incredible. You've blossomed into someone who not only shines on their own, but also uplifts everyone in the group. I feel so lucky to have you as a camper and even luckier to be so close to you. Your presence makes camp better in every way, and I can't wait to see all the amazing things you'll continue to do. I love you.

Caroline – WTP. You embody everything that this place is about. Your wonderful energy and intense care is like nothing I have ever seen in anyone before. You have a way about you that everybody wants to be around. Whether it's your friends, your counselors, or a random Scout, once you meet someone, you care so deeply for them in such a genuine way. It is such an amazing quality to make everyone feel so important and loved, and you do it because it's who you are. You have brightened every day of my summer with your hilarious announcements, stories, and nonsense, and your upbeat, unmatched energy. I can't wait to watch you own this camp one day. I love you.

Clem – You make everyone feel better by just being there. You are the go to person if anyone needs a hug or advice, and your sweetness and gentleness are so loved and adored. You are such a selfless person, always making sure everyone else is okay before even thinking about yourself. I love seeing you in a camp environment, watching you be surrounded by the million friends you collect everywhere you go. You have such a special ability to foster genuine bonds in so many different places, and it is so fulfilling watching you be who you are. I couldn't be luckier to know you and get to hug you everyday this summer. I love you.

Dalia – I am so impressed with you. No one could have come into the group as gracefully as you did. From the very first day, you carried yourself with so much confidence while still being incredibly kind and approachable. You never let the transition get to your head, and you made sure to be inclusive to every single person in the group. It was so clear that you were here to have fun, make friends, and fully embrace everything camp had to offer, and you did exactly that. You brought such a cool, laid-back energy while also showing how much you cared about the people around you. Your kindness, openness, and genuine spirit made such an impact on this summer. I am so glad you were here. I love you.

Dylan – You are the definition of a quiet leader. You don't need to be the loudest voice in the room for everyone in this group to think the absolute world of you and respect you so deeply. You lead by example, never wrapped up in the drama or needing the spotlight, but just genuinely happy to be here and soaking up every moment. You're so kind to everyone, always down for whatever we're doing, and you never, ever complain. That attitude is rare and so valued in this group. Your presence makes everything feel calmer, lighter, and more fun all at once. We are so lucky to have you, and I hope you know how appreciated you are every single day. Keep coming back forever. I love you.

Eden – You are a hilarious little bundle of joy and cuteness, and you have this magical way of taking everything that's great, and making it exceptional. So many of the million jokes this group has exist because of you, and I love how your creativity and humor just pour out in everything you do. But beyond all the laughs, you are also one of the most empathetic and sweet people I know. You care so deeply about the people and things that matter to you, and it shows in every interaction. You make this group brighter, funnier, and more loving just by being yourself. I feel so lucky to know you and to call you my friend. Never change. I love you.

Jenna – You are truly one of the funniest people I have ever met. You have this effortless ability to make me laugh every single day, whether you're trying to be funny or just being yourself. You bring such a lightness and joy to everything we do, and it's so clear how much you love camp. I'm so proud of the summer you had, from how hard you worked at volleyball to how you constantly encouraged the girls around you to get involved and make the most of every activity. You couldn't have had a more seamless summer, coming back and forth between volleyball tryouts with no hesitation, and absolutely killing it. You make everything more fun just by being there, and this group is so lucky to have your energy. Keep coming back forever. I love you.

Josie P – Jopo. My little snail. You are so loved by every single person in this group, and it's honestly impossible not to adore you. You're one of those people who seems to be good at absolutely everything, and I've just truly never seen you struggle. You just thrive here at camp in such a natural, effortless way, and it's so clear that this is a place where you belong. I love watching you interact with everyone, make people laugh, and just be fully, unapologetically yourself. You bring so much joy, talent, and personality to this group, and we are all better for it. Please keep coming back forever, because camp wouldn't be the same without you. I love you.

Josie R – It has been so amazing getting to know you this summer. You have such a deep sense of emotional intelligence, and it's so lovely to see how well you know yourself, your boundaries, and your priorities. You're always looking out for me and for everyone around you with such real, genuine care. And on top of that, you are unbelievably witty. You're always ready with a perfectly timed, smart little joke that made me die laughing every single time. You bring such a unique mix of wisdom, humor, and warmth to this group, and camp wouldn't be the same without you. I have no doubt you're going to be here in 60 years, still making everyone laugh. I love you.

Kathryn – You are so undeniably and unapologetically yourself, and it's the best thing about you. You're hilarious, fun, campy, and such an important puzzle piece in this group. Camp truly wouldn't be the same without you. You're more aware than you even realize, and you have this amazing ability to make everything more fun the moment you get involved. Whether it's a big event or something small, your energy and personality just make it better. Never stop coming back, because camp needs you and all the joy you bring. You are such a special part of this place, and I'm so lucky to have spent the summer with you. I love you.

Lexi – You are such a sweet girl, and your love for camp shines in everything you do. From the moment you arrive, it's clear how much this place means to you. Your spirit and positivity light up the group, and you have a way of making camp feel like home for so many people. I'm so grateful to have had you as part of this summer and to see you grow and enjoy every moment. Keep being your wonderful self, because you make camp a better, happier place just by being you. I love you.

Lila – You cutie patootie. I'm so happy I got to know you before the summer even started and then got to have you as my camper. You are the only person I know who could be on crutches at camp and still have a constant smile on your face. I don't know anyone else who could handle that with the kind of grace, positivity, and determination that you did. You should be so proud of the summer you had because I am so incredibly proud of you. Thank you for your endless love and sweetness. It never failed to make me so happy. You brought so much light to this group just by being you. I love you.

Livy – You might be the cutest person in the world. I love the way you carry yourself everyday. You take advantage of every minute to be with your friends, you don't take things too seriously, and you are the most aware blackout camper. You know what's going on with everyone and are so incredibly present in every situation when you're needed, and you also make me die laughing everyday without even trying with your countless questions and comments. You are so wholesome and happy by just existing here and it's so evident how much you love camp and camp loves you. Keep being silly and awesome. You are going to thrive next summer. I love you.

Lucy – I don't know how to begin to encapsulate your life changing, insane, and remarkable summer into a short paragraph, but I will just say that you are truly an unbelievable person. Your love for camp is so evident and translates in everything you do. When you came back after the week you unfortunately had to miss, it was clear that the group regained the necessary puzzle piece we had been missing. You are such an important presence, constantly there for everyone to match our energy and make us feel so loved. The group owes our summer to you for constantly bringing a positive attitude and immense gratitude to everything we did. You had the summer of your life and I hope you know how proud I am of you and that being your counselor and friend through it all has been the greatest gift I could ask for. I love you.

SHIRES

Lysol – I'll be honest, I was nervous with you coming late, but it was insane how quickly I loved you. You made one comment at a circle time and I was instantly obsessed. You are so real, so funny, and so kind. I love your love for camp and how chill you are about everything. You're always happy, never complaining, and always ready to give the most genuine, and sometimes brutal when needed, advice. You bring such a fun, easy energy that makes every moment better, and I'm so glad you were here this summer. Keep coming back forever. I love you.

Nat – You have so much energy, so much fun, and so much passion, and it is contagious in the best way. You feel things so deeply and care so strongly about this group and its success. You want to have fun and you want everyone to have fun together, which makes such a difference in the way this group feels. Never stop caring and never stop being exactly who you are, because that is what makes you so special. You bring excitement, heart, and joy into every single thing we do, and camp is better because of it. I am so glad I got to spend this summer with you. I love you.

Sammy – You are so graceful in everything you do, and I have truly never seen you make a mistake. You always seem to say the right things and handle every situation without complaints, always with a smile on your face. You lead this group so seamlessly, never caring about the credit, and that is such a rare and admirable quality. You have such a deep understanding of people and situations, and it was so amazing to watch you navigate this summer with such ease. Getting to know you and being your friend has been such a gift, and I feel so lucky to have had you in my group. You are incredible. I love you.

Sasha – You are calm and subtle in such a refreshing way, and I don't think you get nearly enough credit for how emotionally intelligent and all around smart you are. It's so clear how much you care for the people you love. It is shown in quiet, meaningful ways that really stick with people. And you are hilarious. You know you make me laugh so hard, and it's one of my favorite things about this summer. I'm so glad I got to know you better (and Shadow, of course) because you've added so much fun and warmth to this group. You make camp a better place just by being here, and I hope you keep coming back. I love you.

Siena – What is there to say? You are an angel of a human. The way you care so deeply for your friends is something so rare and special. It's impossible not to feel loved and appreciated when you're around. You are such a joy in all of our lives, always bringing silliness, happiness, and a light to everything you do. You have all the right priorities in life, and you constantly amaze me, doing everything right without even trying. It's effortless for you to make people feel good, to spread positivity, and to just make camp more fun. We are all so lucky to know you, and this group wouldn't be the same without you. Keep being you. I love you.

Sloane – You can do it all. I can always count on you to be participating in every sport, getting involved to the fullest in any silly activity, and it's so evident how much you care to get to know the people around you. I'm so proud of you and the summer you've had. It's hard to transition into a group that's known each other for years, but I think you really came into yourself this year. You stayed true and honest to yourself through everything, and confidently prioritized yourself and what you needed to make your summer the best it could be. You know who you are so confidently and that is such an important quality to have. I know you're going to be the best Scribe and such a successful staff member. Keep coming back. I love you.

Sloanerman – You are such a positive, happy presence all the time, and it is so clear how much you want everyone around you to feel the same. You have the best intentions of making sure people are happy, and you care so deeply that you are always ready to be there for anyone who needs you. That kind of heart is so rare and so appreciated in this group. On top of all that, you are hilarious. Your quotes are unmatched, and some of my very best memories from this summer are thanks to you. You bring so much light, love, and laughter to camp, and I am so glad I got to spend these weeks with you. Keep being your amazing self. I love you.

Sloaney – Words can't deScribe how much I love you. I love how you are the most sweet and caring person, always there for your friends, and truly wanting the absolute best for them. I can't remember the last time I've met somebody that's genuinely so selfless and well-intentioned. I love how you wear your heart on your sleeve. It's so admirable that you feel and care about things as much as you do, and it makes you such a reliable and trustworthy shoulder to cry on. You are empathetic and compassionate in a subtle way, proving that even in this group you don't have to be the loudest to be a leader that's loved, adored, and cherished by all. Keep doing what you're doing and being the perfect girl you are.

I love you.

Sophia – Watching you acclimate to this place was something I'll always remember. You are someone this group needs. You know who you are and you are who you are, yet you continuously took risks in such amazing ways. You stepped out of your comfort zone time and time again, proving that anyone can learn to love and belong in this place no matter your age. Seeing you crying to leave camp (although sad to see) was one of my happiest moments of my summer. You learned to embrace your silly and most genuine self and ended up just completely diving into everything camp had to offer. I am so incredibly proud of you and the summer you had and I am so excited for you to kill it next summer as a 7-weeker. I love you.

Zoe B – ZJ. You impress me so much each and every day. There is never a time I have seen you without a huge smile on your face. Your ability to bring silliness and positivity to every single situation is so admirable and seriously so important. No matter how you feel in a situation, you handle everything with grace and maturity, validating others while understanding that not everything needs to be taken too seriously. You lead in such a subtle and infectious way where when you decide to speak up, everybody listens. This group is so incredibly lucky to have a presence like you. Please keep coming back forever. You are going to kill it as a Scribe and staff member. I love you.

Zoe D – Our girl. You are one of the funniest people I've ever met, in times where you're trying to be and when you're not. You absolutely thrived this summer and I couldn't be prouder. Your emotional intelligence shines through everything you do and every decision you make. I admire so much how you view and philosophize life. You are living and you are learning, taking notes of your mistakes and successes, and striving to become a better person unapologetically. Getting to know you has been so amazing and fulfilling, and I can't wait to see all the amazing things you're going to accomplish in life. Stay the determined, motivated, and incredibly loving girl you are. You will be a Scribe and you will kill it.
I love you.

To my staff – I truly could not have done this summer without each and every one of you. You all bring something so incredibly special and unique that makes this group what it is. Noa, you are my girl. I am so proud of everything you have done, and I cannot wait to see you be a group leader next summer because I know you will absolutely crush it. You are so deeply loved by the kids, and your natural instincts and emotional intelligence are unmatched. Duo forever. Laura, Lauren, and Zae, having you three on this team made everything better beyond words. You are so dedicated to your specialties, and always showing up for the kids with endless energy and care. It's clear that we're the best staff on camp. You truly get what camp is all about. And camp loves you so much. Please keep coming back.
I love you so much.

To the Shires of 2025 and the Scribes of 2026.

You are truly the best group of girls that I've ever seen at Robin Hood. You bring immaculate energy, embody everything there is to love about camp, and most importantly, truly love and care for each other so much. I am so lucky to have had the chance to witness your awesomeness every day this summer. Hearing your many original songs, observing your one-of-a-kind humor, and being there to give each of you as many hugs as I could, made this summer my absolute best ever. Thank you for welcoming me into your group and allowing me to be a Shire again, gaining 28 fun-loving, adorable, creative, genuine, hilarious, empathetic, perfect best friends. I know that you will be the best Scribes that this camp has ever seen.

I love you all so much.

HELLO MY PERFECT SCRIBES

Camp Robin Hood

Everyone grab a Diet Coke, a cheese stick and some Dot's Pretzels, pause on the trolling and sit down on a megabed to strap in and relive the best summer to ever exist. It's me, Goldman-NYC-Yale-White Color War captain 2025.

We started opening day zero off with a bang with most of your arrivals and a night full of Cozy and bonding. On real Opening Day we learned how to correctly spell reveillE (reveillAYEEEE) in the best Scraxon opening day shirts of all time while greeting the rest of the camp! We ended the day stargazing in the rink which is where we picked our Green & White song! Best Green & White song ever. Remember when we saw the deer? The next day was our first Sunday Sundae scooping ordeal! Remember when we had a food fight? (I may or may not have started that). Remember when we gave up on the scoopers and started clawing the ice cream? 10/10 method. After cleaning ourselves off, we went straight into a very intense game of Infection. Remember when Maria won both rounds? Beginner's luck if you ask me. Right after Infection we got in a van and took a trip to Mcdonald's! So so fun. Not that we even needed it because that was the day we finally stalked our fridge.

On Monday we had our first campfire. Remember when you guys laughed through the entirety of teaching the "Goodnight Song?" Classic trolls. Later that night we got to watch "She's the Man" at Woody's. Pretty sure Woody was more into it than you guys. By Tuesday we had finally made it through the heatwave. Remember our daily dunks and swimming laps? So awesome. #10for2. Tuesday night we did a sunset pontoon ride. Remember when I actually docked the boat? Never letting you guys forget about it, sorry. Remember Sophie's messed up finger? She really does need a tool. Remember when you guys ran Girls Camp cookout? That was quite the operation and you guys actually killed it tbh. Very proud moment for me. The Green & Whites are definitely a well oiled machine when we put our minds to it. I then went on a night off and apparently you guys gaslit Perin and Izzy into taking you guys to Cozy.

Remember your princess dresses from your Walmart trip? Do you also remember when you went in the lake with them and then decorated the Girls Camp field soccer goal with them? Remember when Woody enlisted Carly, Brooke and me to coach at Laurel South? Missed you guys so much and I'm sure you had a very productive day without me. Remember the true crime documentary at Woody's. Lol.

Remember our epic (semi) daily ab workouts? #Green & Whitesareathletic. Then there was our EPIC 4th of July. You guys absolute ATE. Specifically our dining hall decorations. That was the best in years. Remember having to dig the inflatables out of the storage containers from under the mattresses at the plot? So fire. Classic MVP Ryston for setting those guys up. Remember our New Hampshire public park firework vibe and then we got Cozy? What a day. Remember our second DMC pontoon ride where I may or may not have struggled docking the boat? Goated bonding moment. THEN THERE WAS BEACH DAYYYYYYY. The rain and clouds did not stop Sophie from getting sun poisoning. Remember Junior Camp Talent show? Who knew those Jesters would have such a big impact on the Green & White dance. They really tied it all together. APT amiright @Ratner @Eliana? Hey Brooke (Fuhdictator), remember FNOO ;)? Sanielle looooved the Green & Whites. We had a fantastic time visiting the new ODT and thinking about solutions for social justice problems.

Alright guys get ready…MOUNT WASHINGTON!!! Where to begin. That was a serious hike and an incredible accomplishment. Remember when Eliana dislocated her shoulder and she had such a good time that wasn't even the highlight? Daf for president seriously. I mean, what would we do without him? I'm still so proud of you guys for doing so well on that hike. It was hard, it was hot and you still made the most of it and had the best time. That is a fantastic Green & White group right there. I would also go as far to say that that was the biggest bonding moment with the Saxons. Another fantastic group. Perfect people to be my baby's counterpart. Alright, time for So You Think You Can Dance. That was hands down the best Green & White dance I've ever seen with very much your guys' own perfect twist. It doesn't end there. Let's talk about that mf (mega fun) Green & White SONG. Best I've ever heard. Again, beautiful with your own twist. Ratner, how bout that handstand doe? Brooke, how bout that receiving end? I love that you guys took toothbrush by storm. That was awesome. Wish I could relive it. Remember when Woody told me I would not get captain if you guys did that? Hehehehe.

Next up: PVD. Meeting your parents was nothing short of fantastic. I got to see why you guys are so littttttt. Unfortunately, I did have to miss your Public House excursion but I heard it was the best time ever and looooved seeing your cutie perf pics. We then had a very quick excursion and only two days later, we left bright and early for the best Excursion everrrr!! We started off strong with lobstering and made friends with Captain Dicky and Jason. While one boat got lucky with the captains, the other got way luckier and caught so many lobsters! Remember when I made you guys wear semi-cute outfits to Buffalo Wild Wings? Remember the waterpark and the carnival? I think we can all agree surfing was the highlight. Remember our awesome hike? Washington had nothing on the Summit Peak trail. Then to everyone's surprise, Green & White BROKE the night we got back. So awesome so crazy. Best break ever tbh. Those drones were sick. The next five days were absolutely electric and even with so few of you, you all killed it and had the best last camper war ever. THIS ISN'T PARADISE. THIS IS WAAAAAR. I miss it everyday. We then locked right into Green & White speeches at the coolest house in America. Thank you Sophie Deane.

We definitely needed some chill time post-Green & White and to spend time writing and reflecting on your campers days. We got home and you gave such beautiful speeches I am so proud of you all. The "in ten years might" have been the highlight. I'm very much looking forward to my pin straight white bob. Although we didn't have the Green & White surprise that night, the next night was perfect. We started with The Surprise from your Great Grandmama, then stargazed with Cozy! The rest of that night is history amiright. Next was Founders Night. You guys so kindly gifted Andy a beautiful STEN sign for his birthday and even better, repainted the Girls Camp sign to return it to all of its glory. Finally, we have come to our last evening activity which consisted of Family Feud and SS and a megabed cuddle at the end of the night. Remember when you helped pack the little boys? Remember when we had to organize every bag on camp after Award Night with Rick, Daf and Julie? That was honestly awesome. Aaaand we got to celebrate our big award winners @Sophie @ Brookie. Remember when we beefed with the FYA boys over the volleyball court? Naturally, we won that argument. Remember when we hung out on the tennis courts and at the far far ;) As soon as the busses rolled away with all my babies, camp was quiet and empty.

SCRIBES

Alexandra – You are so beautifully in touch with your emotions and with the feelings of those around you. You truly get people, and your ability to handle difficult situations with such grace is rare and admirable. You care so deeply, and you're always there for your friends in a way that makes us all feel supported. You have this incredible mix of vulnerability and strength. I love you so much.

Brookie cookie – You are one of the kindest people I've ever met. You're friends with everyone, you make people feel included, and you're always willing to help out without hesitation. I've loved watching you grow over the years into such a strong, thoughtful, and confident person. You are such a steady, positive force in this group. I love you so much.

Carly – You are an absolute firecracker. You're hilarious, always quick with the perfect line, and you throw yourself into everything with so much energy and positivity. You're also incredibly caring – you give your all to the people and things you love, and you never, ever complain, no matter how hard the work is. You're the kind of person who can turn even the most boring task into something fun, and your joy is contagious. I love you so much.

Eliana – Fine, you are the funniest person I have ever met. As a matter of fact it's not even a competition and I think you should do stand up comedy for a living. I'm not kidding. You truly are one of a kind. Furthermore, you think so deeply about everything which makes you so self-aware and compassionate. You manage to be both the comic relief and the wise soul in any situation – and that's a rare combo. I am honored to be called your twin. I love you so much.

Elle – My munchkin, it is so evident how deeply caring you are. I can always count on you to be blunt and honest even when it's hard which is such an amazing and special trait in a person. You are so thoughtful and such a ride or die friend that everyone needs in their life. You make people feel safe enough to be their real selves, and that's one of the most beautiful gifts you can give. I love you so much.

Evvy babyyyy – You light up the world. To know you is to love you. Your maturity and wisdom shine through in everything you do. You think so deeply and care so much about others. Everyone needs an Evvy in their life. Your presence makes people feel understood, and you always leave a room warmer than you found it and you're one of the most grounded, genuine people I know. I love you so much.

Fiona – You are the most carefree person in the world while caring so deeply about those around you. Your one-liners are unmatched and the energy you bring to everything you do is just simply awesome. I envy your outlook on life and am making it my mission to adapt it. You remind everyone to not take things too seriously while still showing up for the people who matter to you. I love you so much.

Lila S – You are the goofiest human being in the best way. You're one of those people that comes more and more out of their shell the longer you know them and getting to know you is just sooooo incredibly lit. You bring so much fun and charisma everywhere you go and you're able to cheer anyone up at any time. You also somehow manage to make even the most ordinary days feel like an adventure. I love you so much.

Maria – You were such a great addition to the group this summer! Seeing you thrive here was so awesome and the way you threw yourself into camp was amazing. The summer would not have been the same without you! I love you so much.

Marni – You are wise beyond your years. You have this incredible combination of maturity, humor, and kindness that makes people feel understood and appreciated. You see the bigger picture in life, but you never miss the little moments that matter. You have a way of making everyone feel seen, heard, and valued, and that is such a gift. You're just a fantastic human being in every way. I love you so much.

Ratner – You never EVER fail to put a smile on my face. Your hilarity radiates, but your kindness does more and you are so compassionate and kind. You're such a mush I just want to squeeze you as I'm writing this. You make people feel lighter just by being around, and I hope you know how much you're loved. I hope you feast tonight. I love you so much.

Sadie – I am so incredibly excited and proud that you made a place for yourself here this summer. Watching you thrive and be so happy filled my heart with so much joy. You are also one of the most selfless people I've ever met. You make people feel welcome instantly, and you have a quiet strength that's impossible not to admire. I love you so much.

Sophie – aka best in camp dancer, you are really an incredible human being. You have no problem standing up for what is right and are just such a rock to everyone in this group and beyond. Your open-mindedness and empathy is inspiring and I am just so in awe of the person you are. I want to be like you when I grow up. You've taught me so much about strength and compassion just by the way you live. I love you so much.

LOVE MY PERFECT SCRIBES

We had the summer of our lives together. I am so proud of all of you and the luckiest person in the world to get to call you my babies. I love each and everyone of you beyond words and am eternally honored to have been your Green & White GL. I am absolutely ecstatic to watch you continue to grow in this special place. Best. Summer. Ever. Let it live on in our hearts forever!!! Mic drop

Robin Hood FNOO

FOR THE NEEDS OF OTHERS

In the fall of 2024, a group of 14 campers re-entered The Realm after a short hiatus in hopes of bettering themselves, camp, and the world. Titled FNOO, named after the daily prayer performed before every meal by Chuck Illig, the project brought together campers dedicated to change and taught them strategies that transformed a dream into a goal. Led by Danielle and Adam Lippard, they planned the upcoming summer, deciding on key fundraising ideas that fostered fun, education, and charity within the Camp Robin Hood culture. The group settled on a clothing drive, education board, and tournament all in the name of FNOO. After three days of working and strategizing, the campers exited The Realm, returning to the real world with a new mission.

When the FNOO Youth Advisory Board returned for CRH's 98th consecutive summer, carried by the momentum of months of hard work, they were thrilled by 500 clothing donations, a shocking and exciting number that only fueled bigger goals for the following summer. Later in the season, at the start of the first annual FNOO Week, the Challenge Cup began. Each group picked a cause, anything from diabetes research to climate change, something to fight for.

Groups of all ages then competed for the top spot. The Archers, a small array of 11-year-old boys, clinched the award, earning $1,500 for Make-A-Wish.

The opportunities of FNOO are unlike anything else at camp, Something enriching and fulfilling that allows a person not only to want change, but to become a change-maker.

GREEN & WHITE 2025

As campers ran to the rink, drones lined the sky outlining Robin Hood specific shapes and events such as Tug of War and Archery. There was no doubt that this was not a fake break; Green & White 2025 was about to begin!

When the last car left Camp Robin Hood on Parents Visiting Day, all eyes turned to Green & White, the most exciting five days during the whole summer! Every year, campers spend their time waiting anxiously for the sound of an air horn, unsuspecting music through the speakers, or anything out of the ordinary from daily camp life that could signal the start of this special tradition. Will it be early morning before the sound of Woody's voice wakes up camp? Or would it be during lunch as campers scarf down their meal, ready to sprint from the dining hall towards any unusual sound?

This year, Robin Hood did not have to wait long for the much anticipated event as the night of July 23rd brought one of the best 'breaks' in recent memory! Around 9:00, as campers ran to the rink, drones lined the sky outlining Robin Hood specific shapes and events such as Tug of War and Archery. There was no doubt that this was not a fake break; Green & White 2025 was about to begin!

Congratulations to Lily Drye, Max Corbin, and Ella Jaffe who captained the Green Paradise and Tamer Fishman, Olivia Goldman, and Olivia Ginsberg who captained the White Heist!

The next morning Green & White got off to an electric start after the bean pick, with a never been done before event, the Rubix Cube! Both teams surrounded the participants, cheering loudly, knowing this would set the tone for the next five days. In the end, the Green team won both rounds to give their team a quick 10 point lead! The first day of Green & White was one sided as the Green team built a 220 point lead headlined by a massive morning and ending with wins in volleyball by the female and co-ed staff teams.

The second morning brought sunny skies to The Realm as campers and staff put on their bathing suits ready to jump in Lake Ossipee for the swim meet! With the sun shining and camp spirit on full display on the beach, we had one of the closest swim meets ever! After three hours of swimming the final tally was Green, 354, and White, 342. In the afternoon the White team came to play and slowly bit into the Green team's lead. After a split in male and female staff softball the margin of the Green team lead was only 112 heading into Day 3!

The gorgeous summer weather in Freedom continued into day 3 as not a cloud was in the sky for the track meet. Once again, this all camp event proved to be another even match up. Never before has camp seen such equal teams in the lake and on the fields! After both teams ran, threw, and jumped, the final tally of the track meet was 458 to the Green and 450 to the White. White continued their comeback on day 3, highlighted by 5 points to the White Scout/Tumblers for picking up towels! Day 3 also brought us Talent Night as the entire camp, judges included, watched select campers sing, act, and dance their hearts out! Amazing job to all who participated! At the end of day 3 the margin was a slim 65 points.

The morning and rest hour activities on day 4 saw the White team take the lead with strong performances especially in Junior Camp. Day 4 also brought us the Flag Presentations! Both flags looked phenomenal – well done flag makers! Congratulations to the Green team for winning both the Presentation and the Flag.

Heading into day 5, the War was up for grabs! White's strong morning propelled them into the lead, a lead in which they would never relinquish. As is tradition, day 5 concluded with both teams coming together in the barn to sing both their team songs as well as our camp's traditional songs such as the alma mater and The Sun of Victory. With suspense lingering in the air as the score was read, the final tally was White: 3,542 and Green: 3,408. Green & White 2025 brought competitiveness, sportsmanship, unity, and camaraderie and we look forward to Green & White 2026!

Final Score:* Green 3,408 | White 3,542

Green 3,408/ White 3,542

– 134 to the White Heist–

Camp Robin Hood 1927 2025

Welcome to Paradise
GREEN FIGHT SONG

Hey Judges, can you see drones flying?
Been only four days since we wrapped up PVD.
Picked the right bean, not even trying.
And entered Paradise, we got the better three,
White's so ZBT.
Grab your SPF, the UV's higher than before.
You'll catch us surfing by the shore.
Wear your leis, soak in these rays,
we're cruising through this war.
WE ARE GREEN PARADISE.
PS 11, yeah we're day ones.
Ginsberg loves speciality, and Tamer cheers them on.
Comper Stoff Tennis – Goldman's favorite.
Season our steaks before we finish up this song.
That was a heist gone wrong.

Called up Rob
He read your minds and said it's going Green.
White Heist has nothing on this team.
Scraxons 20, COOPER STRAUS
we're living Andy's dream.
WELCOME TO PARADISE.

[2x] Bring back slow clap
AFK Green (amazing friendly kind)
Pregnant goat farm
We're the fun team
Rip the grandstand
Heist is boofy
Got the Drye twins

[1x] 'DISE IN HIS-TRY!/ [2X] 'DISE IN HIS-TOR-Y!

Dear Judges, can you keep a secret?
Ella runs middle camp – she's Quilling everyday.
Lily's a Cali girl by nature.
6-7 years, don't matter – Max is here to stay.
This crew sweeps all day.
Pay attention, 'dise is making waves in history
We call it 5; was never 3.
Grab a seat and hit the be beach, bask in our victory
This is Paradise
WE ARE GREEN PARADISE.

Already Gone
GREEN ALMA

Passing by the sign one last time.
Silence falling over the pines.
All the tears we shed have fin'lly dried.

Feeling like moments ago
We arrived back in our home.
How did the time just fly right by?

They say that its just goodnight,
But why does it start to feel more like goodbye

I wish I could know
If I'll be back here again,
But the winds past Ossipee
Have a way of changing plans.

But I want you to know
That this feeling is forever,
So no matter where I go
This place is always home.

Driving through the sign the first time
Feeling like the stars just aligned.
[JC] Magic in the trees will never die.

Every year our bonds get stronger,
Yet coming back is always harder.
[SC] But we have to keep his dream alive.

We know that we soon must go,
But until that day, we're here and so

Judges you should know
And lay down all your trust.
[SC] We will do for them
[SC] The same you did for us.

Cause they need this place,
Where strife and care are far
[JC] And the magic stays alive,
And Freedom feels like ours.

Cause Freedom here is ours.

Freedom here is ours.

The Anthem
WHITE FIGHT SONG

It's a night break
At the rink there's drones
And the infirm
Not doing what they're told
The judges back for summer 98
Picked the white bean
It was fate for three
Since Day 1
It was a robbery
We planned the heist, took everything from Green

PRE-CHORUS:
Andy knows we have the better team
Green isn't ready for our scheme
White's gonna steal this war away

CHORUS:
Green we're coming for you
You know that there's trouble in paradise
We're gonna scream FIGHT WHITE FIGHT
Judges listen and
Grill up our steaks now
Tap all your canes down
Green
There's no room for YOU (point to Green)

Green team
What a goofy three
Max Corbin
Is so fratty
And Lily Drye is back for her third summer
Ella Jaffe
Stays at 12 years old
Power outage
PVD still goes
A family affair with the double OGs

PRE-CHORUS:
Goldman's bringing kindness to The Realm
Ginsberg's finally out of her shell
And Tamer is an athlete, can't you tell?

CHORUS:
Heist is Scotty's favorite
You know that there's trouble in paradise
We're gonna scream FIGHT WHITE FIGHT
Judges listen and
Grill up our steaks now
Tap all your canes down
Green
There's no room for YOU (point to Green)

BRIDGE:
READ THE SCORE, IT'S TIME
GREEN DON'T CRY ON OUR DAY
HIJACKED THE FIGHT
WE CELEBRATE THE HEIST
TONIGHT

Green
This should feel humbling
Judges listen and
Grill up our steaks now
Tap all your canes down
Green can't take the heat
White wont face defeat
Boo
We almost feel bad for you
SC: BAD FOR YOU!
This war is over
Green can't recover
Just read the score now
White let me hear you
Another losing Green team
WHI-ITE
Another losing Green team
HEI-IST
We've won the war
TONIGHT

The Night We Met
WHITE ALMA

When the world starts to feel hollow
And the pull from home stands firm
We await the love that binds us
To our summer haven we return

While we'll try to tell ourselves
These few days can be enough

Memories still come rushing back
Making thoughts of leaving far too tough

We return and it's nothing new
You know this feelings true
Say goodnight but please not goodbye

SC: So unsure what we're s'possed to do
JC: Come back we still need you
Your hearts still here, it never left

As the buses draw ever nearer
And our eyes well up with tears

Soon we'll be a band of brothers again
For another 60 years

John and Joan saw it through
Andy it all came true
Share this moment while it lasts tonight

You wrote history right before our eyes
We'll carry what you built with pride
The feeling that we hold so tight
Trust us to keep it alive
